HERE'S HOWE

By Mame Roberts

DID YOU KNOW?

The history of Howe would not be complete without the story of this ancient landmark

This ancient landmark is a little old building which has never known a bit of paint. Its windows are wooden shutters, and its floor is just plain earth. Its furnishings have been of before the Civil War period. Yet, what an important part it has played in community life.

There was, in the history of this building, a family of Hannas, Skelt Hanna and his four sons who established a blacksmithing business in Howe. They were stalwart men and good blacksmiths. Skelt Hanna started the business with a cobbler's shop, then as the time demanded, a blacksmith shop as this was the time when horses and mules had to be shod, as well as many other blacksmithing jobs. The dynasty of Hanna blacksmiths went on till the generation died out or moved away. But the little old building stayed on just as it was built. One wonders how it has stood the ravages of time for almost a century.

It has not lost its usefulness in the present decades. There has never been a "Gone Out of Business" sign on the door. The old anvil and hammer have been turned to a different use—keeping farm machinery in repair, sharpening cycles, plows, lawn mowers. and hoes and many other important jobs to keep things moving in the community.

V. W. Haizlip has been the recent genial proprietor keeping up the traditions of the past—service to the community.

When you pass this little old building, think of the part it has played in Howe's history, the almost century old Hanna Blacksmith Shop, located on Howe's first Main Street, now Hughes Street.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Wilson and daughter, Carlene spent the week end in San Antonio visiting their niece and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. T. Townley. Mrs. Wilson reports they saw something unusual enroute to San Antonio — RAIN. They were in a storm and downpour in central Texas.

COMMISSIONERS COURT PROCEEDINGS

The Grayson County Commissioners' Court met at 10:00 on Tuesday, November 5, 1963

All parcels of right of way on Highway 75 South have now been secured, but the state has appealed the awards set on some parcels as being excessive. Contracts are now ready to be let for the completion of 75 South to the Collin County line.

Mr. W. K. White appeared before the Conrt in regard to the telephone company having done damage to his fence. He was informed that this was a civil matter and not handled by the Commissioners' Court.

A discussion was held regarding a County Judge and Commissioners' Conference to be held in February at A. & M. College. The Commissioners and Judge were urged to attend.

The Court accepted the resignation of Seabron Hearell, Juvenile Officer of Grayson County. The Court has written a letter to Mr. Hearell expressing their appreciation for the fine work he has done with the young people of this county including the program he set up with the Austin College students and our juvenile problems.

Mr. Forest Griffin of Denison was appointed to fill this position. He has been associated with the sheriff's department for a number of years. He is very competent and will make a devoted juvenile officer.

TRIBUTE PAID WAR DEAD

Washington (AP) — Under a cloudless blue sky President Kenedy placed a red, white and blue wreath at the Tomb of the Unknowns today (Monday) to honor the nation's war veterans, living and dead.

Several thousand spectators crowded about the area at Arlington National Cemetary as the hatless president strode with Gen. David M. Shoup, the Marine commandant, to the tomb.

While the croud stood silent the president, helped by an army sergeant, placed the wreath in front of the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier and between the Unknowns of World War II and Korea.

Then as the bugler played taps, the president stood at attention.

The ceremony was at 11 a. m. (EST), the hour the guns stopped firing along World War I's Western Front just 45 years ago.

In a brief speach Gen. Shoup deplored that although man has made great strides in science and space he "has not yet learned to live in enduring peace with his fellow men.

"We cannot practice the deception that somehow, without alertness and conscious effort on our part, an everlasting panacea may develop which will abolish for all time man's oldest plague—war.

"... The invisible spirits of of these thousands of gallant Americans" buried in Allington Cemetry have this hope:

"That some day there will be a meeting at the summit which shall become as everlastingly important as the Sermon on the Mount."

Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Sloan motored to Lindsey, Oklahoma They report a very nice visit with their daughter, son-in-law, three grandaughters, a grandson-in-law and four great-grand-children. All at one place.

RIGHTS MEASURE SOCIALISTIC

ACCORDING TO SENATOR RICHARD RUSSELL

Dublin, Ga. (AP) — Senator Richard Russellblasted House Republican leaders today, asserting they had let President Kennedy talk them into supporting a socialistic civil rights bill.

Russell, leader of Southern senators opposed to civil rights legislation, said in an address that the bill approved by a House committee masquerades "under the false title of civil rights."

He singled out what he termed two of its most evil features—the public accommodations and fair employment practices sections — to illustrate his contention that it would "move this country down the road to statism."

Under the public accommodations section of the bill, Russell said, "No person operating a business, whether large or small, would have any right to select those that he will invite to do business with him."

He called this a violation of private property rights and "a threatened crime against the whole pholosophy of liberty for which our government stands."

Russell called the fair employment practices section "the rankest sort of state socialism." He said it would permit a federal bueaucracy to tell employers whom they might hire and promote "as well as prescribe all appropriate pay and conditions."

Russell said it was expecting too much "of the little embattled group of Southern Democrats in the House to defeat all of the organized forces in the House that are arrayed against them."

But he made it clear that Southerners in the Senate will make use of the fillibuster and all other tactics availible to them to battle the lebislation.

Muscles on Girls

Auburn, Ala. (AP) —"I'm old fashioned," complained Athetic Director Jeff Beard. "I still say, I don't like to see nuscles on pretty girls."

All the same, Auburn, whose once-beaten football tigers are among the nation's best, is turning out female athletes, too, while rugged guys like Beard moan in dismay.

Thirty-eight shapely coeds spend an hour a day, five days a week running the dashes, broad jumping, high jumping, putting the shot, throwing the discus as part of their academic work.

It's an experimental class in physical education under the smiling direction of Auburn's newly appointed varsity track coach, Mel Rosen.

It all started several months ago when more than 40 girl students suggested track classes as something new in the physical fitness kick. When the fall quarter started in September, it was added to the curriculum—purely on a voluntary basis.

Only four of the 38 girls who volunteered for the initial experiment are physicial education majors. and only one, freshman Marilyn Jo Smelko of Crystal Springs, Miss. had had previous experience.

"She ran track in high school," said Rosen, "and she is one of our best preformers."

To prove that, the demure Marilyn, who wouldn't weigh over about 110 pounds with a full meal, got off a practice broad jump of 15 feet 9 inches. She's an art major.

Surprisingly, the coach says the coeds are easier to teach in some events than the men are. "They're more graceful."

But Beard, the athletic director, still isn't convinced. "I'm having a hard time getting used to it," he protested.

For the moment, though, he needn't fret too much about muscels. If the girls have them, they're in the right places.

WATCH OUT FOR THE PULL OF THE WORLD

By Ralph Burke

Out of a very sad heart Paul once was forced to write, "Demas hath forsaken me, having loved this present world, and is departed into Thessalonica" (2 Tim. 10, KJV). What happened to Demas has happened to thousands more.

The pull of the world got him! Oh, he was a very talented young man. He was chosen as helper for one of the greatest men in Christian history, the Apostle Paul. No doubt he was thrilled with this new work at the beginning. It was a rare and priviledged thing indeed to be picked by the great preacher. What an honor to work by the side of Paul! Then there came travel, adventure, activities, meeting many interesting new people. But there was little money in this job. We do not know when the spiritual deterioration commenced within Demas. It came slowly, unnoticed even by Demas. What was happening was this: he was shifting his attention, his affection, from Christ to the world. He lost interest bit by bit in the truth Paul was proclaiming, and then his enthusiasm for Christ and the church was gone. And Demas was gone too! Back to the marts of trade in Thessalonica for this young man! The secularizinz process had him.

Through the centuries the church has not lost so much in doctrine as in spirit. When the Spirit of Christ was lost in the early church, then the church lost its vitality.

The warm hearted evangelism flurished in the first century of the Christina church b ought transformation to the world. The powerful Caesars entertained no thoughts that the small Christian movement would eventually invade their domain transforming the official religion of the Roman Empire from paganism to Christianity. Yet all this did happen! How? The triumph of Christianity came about with the steady marca and corageous efforts of Spirit-filled Christians who had sold out "lock, stock, and barrel" to the cause of God. They had a passion for saving lost men and women through the power of their personal testimony and the proclamation of the Gospel message that sets all men free! How could the Caesars and paganism hold out against this silent but ever conquering revolution of Christianity? All strongholds went down! The Christians were "more than conquerors" (Romans 8:37).

Then a strange thing happened to the church. What had happened to Demas was now multiplied on a large scale. When the church stepped from the dungeon to the trone, barying fortunes came her way. The conversion of the Roman emperor Constantine in A.D. 312 brought emancipation to the followers of the Christian way throughout the Roman Empire. It was in this warm-hearted official sanction that the Gospel mesage began to be neutralized. Ritualism and forms and ceremonies of Christianity began to be substituted for the life-giving Christian faith. Spiritual decline became inevitable. Soon the fires of the sixteenth century reformation were kindled by Martin Luther.

The rediscovery that "the just shall live by faith" was a revolutionary event in Chrstianity. The light of Luther's torch fell accross the path of John Wesley and his coworkers in England. These fires of revival reached across ocenas to other lands, eventually girdling the globe with the Good News. Such has happened—and always will—when men sell out completely to God. For us to-which will it be? Yes, "Demas has forsaken me, having loved this present world," and I look back on life, I can see many changes, but one thing has remained the same: "Jesus Christ is the same yesterday and today and forever" (Hegrews 13:8). Today can be the day of discovery for you.

THINKING OUT LOUD

By Leroy Hollingsworth

The Good Lord has endowed all men with the five senses of touch, taste, smell, sight and hearing. But in order to successfully use these to the fullest extent, man needs to develop a sort of sixth sense. It is sometimes called "horse sense" of "common sense".

It is not to be confused with education or training, for we have seen persons who were highly educated, but were sadly lacking in this homely virtue. On the other hand, we have seen others who had very little formal education, but had developed this sixth sense to such a high degree that they lived very successfully and useful lives,

In this modern age education and training are becoming more important each day.. So everyone should strive to get the very best education and training possible; however the ideal combination is to see a person who is well educated and trained, and who has also developed this socalled sixth sense, for it enables him to exercise sound judgment, to make the right decisions, and to do a better job of separating the true from the false in every day living.

In some of the old time school readers were the following lines:

The mind of man has no defense
To equal plain old common sense.
This lovely virtue do not despise
If you would be both happy and wise."

I believe these lines are worth remembering by us today.

HOUSEWIFE SEES LAWN SINK

Alhambra, Calif. (AP)—"We were sitting on the front porch when all of a sudden a big patch of lawn started to move, then it dropped out of sight," a housewife declared.

"Nothing has ever happened to us in this house before," she said Monday, "but when your front yard suddenly sinks 18 feet, that's something."

Mrs. Esther Baker said the hole appeared over the week end. Police were summoned. "An officer looked into the hole, suggested we fill it up, then left," she said.

"But then we discovered that the bottom of the hole apparently is the top of an old Indian or Spanish well. and that means that it could go down another 50 or 100 feet."

UNDERGROUND SCHOOL PLANNED

Fort Worth, (AP) — Suburban Lake Worth may build an underground junior high school in order to avoid the noise of the jet bombers.

The school board decided Monday night to submit a $950,000 bond issue to the voters November 26 to build the subterranean school house which would contain 21 air-conditioned class-rooms and a cafeteria.

Board members said the 1,710 students lose up to 10 percent of instruction time because of the jets landing and taking off at Carswell Air Force Base about 1½ miles away.

Albert E. Brown, board president, said the noise is a problem even at football games. "When the referee sees an airplane coming, he calls time out until it passes over," Brown said.

Recent guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jude Smith were Mr.. and Mrs. Dellon Bumgardner of Carthage, Mr. and Mrs. Bailey Harris of Van Alstyne, Mrs. Ernest Smith and Mrs. Gladdis Smith, husband and daughter of Sherman.

HOWE, ANNA TIE

Phil Caldwell gave the home fans something to shout about on the opening kickoff he took the ball near the 30 yard line and ran standing up into the end zone for six points. Gene Stevens carried over for two more and the score stood 8-0 Howe.

Eight times the Coyotes pounded within Howe's 20 yard line and each time the Bulldog defense held for downs, Anna not being able to reach pay dirt. Finally with only three minutes left in the fourth quarter Anna blocked a Howe punt and tackle John Stice scooped up the ball and carried it over for a tuchdown.

Fullback Randy Rollins powered across for a 2-point conversion to give Anna an 8-8 tie.

Billy Corbin, Jeff Jaresh, Lacell Brown, Gary Yonce and Stevens all played big roles in the valant Howe defense.

JARRING OPENING

San Antonio (AP)—A finance company opened its new office here in a big way Monday.

A car plowed through the front of the Texas Consumer Finance office causing $5,000 or so in damages.
