

Howe's That

It is officially August and that means that football season is officially here. Those that give out the sites and sounds of the festive Friday nights in towns all across Texas are tuning up and shaping up and perfecting their crafts.

This edition is very football-heavy because, well, that's what most people want. However, next week, we will cover the volleyball, cheerleaders, cross country and all other fall sports before we dive head first into Friday night lights.

Speaking of Friday nights, if you haven't heard, I'll be broadcasting all Howe varsity games live and it will be streamed to howenterprise.com. Grandma's and Grandpa's from all over the country can tune in and hear their favorite sonny-boy. The broadcast crew will consist of myself doing play-by-play, Michael Mosier as color analyst and Stephen Braswell spotting.

The booster club will "Pass the Helmet" after each touchdown this year in hopes to raise money. I was thinking maybe Brother Roger Tidwell should think about this at FBC Howe.

Football Time in Texas

Last Monday officially kicked off the football season with two-a-days

After winning nine games in 2010 and claiming the district and bi-district championships in that year, the Howe Bulldogs have only won seven games in the three seasons since. Howe has had three different head coaches in the last four years, but second-year Head Coach and Athletic Director Zack Hudson has everything in place to change the entire look and feel of the program from the 3-7 team a year ago.

History has, in a way, repeated itself this summer in Howe. It was continued on Page #2

Press box lifted in place

Wednesday morning at 8:30 am, a crane lifted the new press box into place as several visitors watched on including Superintendent Kevin Wilson and President of the Board of Trustees Greg Akins (as seen above). The structure weighed 12,500 pounds, which is twice the weight over the previous press box. It was constructed by Roger Brown in his shop. He's been working on it for a solid month trying to get it ready in time for the first game.

Gas too high

Gas is always considered too high to most consumers, but in this case, it was dangerously off the charts. A semi-truck carrying gasoline for Wal-Mart high-centered Friday morning around 8:02 a.m. The driver was a 48 year-old man from Sherman and was not injured in the accident. There was only damage to the truck and concrete barrier and no other vehicles were

Bulldogs work on the art of the slot-T offense on Monday

1981 when second-year Head Coach John "Buck" Smith sold the superintendent on expanding the press facilities and adding a new scoreboard to Bulldog Stadium. 33 years later, second-year Head Coach Zack Hudson sold the superintendent on a major expansion to the same stadium that has completely made-over the facility. Good athletic directors most always come in the form of good salesmen. Buck Smith sold not only the superintendent, but also his players. Smith kick-started the program in the '80's, which became by far the most successful run since the 1940's for the Dogs. Hudson is trying to do the same thing on the same field.

"Last year was so new to everybody. It was a new philosophy." said Hudson. "We had a lot of change. The kids bought in. They wanted to win. Leadership tends to revert back and it's going to revert back this year at some point in time. But when it reverts back, it will be from last year, which was better. It's going to always do that, but every year it's going to be better."

Buck Smith began his tenure with a co-district championship in 1980 and left after a district championship in 1984. During that time, they were a power veer running football team led by Randy Geer, who is still one of the greatest running backs in the history of the program. Geer has three of the four longest touchdown runs in Bulldogs history with the longest being a 98 yarder. He still sits as third overall in rushing touchdowns and fourth overall points scored in Bulldogs history. However, Hudson doesn't have a stud horse such as Geer in the program. At least, not one that has stepped forward yet. What Hudson does have is the same mentality of pounding the football up the field by way of the ground game. Under new direction of Offensive Coordinator Dale West, the Bulldogs will feature a slot-T offense that works off of timing and disrupting timing. It is a ground game that is best suited for small school programs with lineman without beef and not having to rely on having a big cannon of a quarterback.

If you're love of football has thrived on the college spread offensive style of throwing the ball 70% of the time, you could find yourself discouraged in the stands on Friday night. But Hudson would rather win football games than look pretty getting beat.

The stadium will look very different this season, but the football will look a lot like the '80's. The more things change, the more they stay the same.

Coach Zack Hudson has everyone buying in

Zack Hudson is a man on a mission with the Howe Bulldogs

Most coaches travel from town to town and in Texas that could mean many miles in between. Howe Bulldogs Varsity Head Football Coach, Zack Hudson is no different.

Hudson grew up in nearby Rockwall and played tight end for the Yellowjackets who were a one 4A high school town back then.

"It was a pretty cool town and now nobody knows anybody." said Hudson. "I used to go through that town and know everybody."

Hudson came out of a really talented class that sent 11 players to the collegiate level of football. In 1994, Hudson and his Rockwall Yellowjackets were in the same district with Highland Park, Terrell and Greenville. They won the district championship by beating Highland Park, 29-21.

Hudson and his teammates grew up through the system at Rockwall under the same coaching staff led by Head Coach Flint Reisen and Offensive Coordinator Doug Stephens. They reached outstanding levels, however, a new coach came in to replace Reisen and things never gelled. Even with that talented class, they became average.

Reisen, Stephens and Hudson all still communicate weekly and are very close. Stephens is the president of the 7-on-7 program in the State of Texas. He and Todd Dodge (who coached at Rockwall for a short time) started the organization. Once that program grew bigger and bigger, sponsors such as Adidas approached them and then it went national. Hudson was a part of that group along with Stephens that became the leaders of that program.

"We were traveling all over the country. We went to UCLA, Tennessee, Central Florida, Notre Dame and all of these schools and put on these massive tournaments for Adidas." said Hudson. "It was a very good learning experience and we saw lots of good athletes."

Out of high school, Hudson went to Navarro College and finished up at Texas A&M Commerce where he played ball for both.

His first job out of college was not a coaching or teaching position. He actually took his computer science degree and went to work programming computers for Verizon.

"They stuck me in a cubicle and made me program computers and I drove everybody so insane they told me I had to get out." said Hudson. "It took me eight years of coaching to finally get my salary up where I made more than I made the first year out of college, but I've enjoyed my life ever since."

After being emergency certified to teach/coach, he coached at a junior high in Garland for the fall and moved up to the varsity in the spring with Garland Lakeview for three years with his former Rockwall coaches.

As happens in the U-Haul business of the coaching profession, the staff was leaving Lakeview and Hudson's wife Carrie was offered the volleyball head coaching position in her hometown of Weimer (why-mer), Texas.

"I wanted to get out of the big school and see what the small school was like." said Hudson. "They offered me a job down south so I took it."

He coached at Weimer for a year as the defensive coordinator before being hired at La Grange, where he stayed for four years as defensive coordinator. He then U-Hauled his family back to Weimer where he took the athletic director position.

Leaving Weimer was not an easy chore because it was, after all, his wife's hometown. But Hudson,

Rain halts TxDOT's plans on US75

Paris – Due to last week's rain and contractor scheduling, the concrete paving work scheduled this week on U.S. Hwy. 75 from FM 902 to Shepherd Drive has been tentatively rescheduled for Aug. 18, weather permitting. The paving will take place at night, from 9 p.m. to 9 a.m., and the inside lane of the roadway next to the concrete barrier will be closed while the work is underway.

TxDOT approves funding for three road improvement projects in Northeast Texas

Paris — As part of an ongoing effort to improve safety and relieve congestion, the Texas Transportation Commission recently approved more than $4.5 million in funding to make improvements on three roadways in Northeast Texas.

Highway 19 Construction LLC was awarded a $415,187 contract to replace the bridge and bridge approaches in Fannin County on CR 3335 at Pot Creek. In Grayson County, R.K. Hall LLC received a $1.5 million contract to widen the roadway base and subgrade, and widen and seal coat FM 902 from the Cooke County line to U.S. Hwy. 377. In Hunt County, D.L. Lennon Inc. was awarded a $2.5 million contract to widen FM 2101 from State Highway 34 to FM 2947.

“County roads and bridges are vital to the connectivity and economic prosperity of Texas communities,” said Commissioner Jeff Austin III, Texas Transportation Commission. “We are committed to doing our part to keep transportation moving in the metropolitan and rural areas of our great state.”

Grayson College South Campus in VA seeking specialized students

Last spring, Grayson College started a welding program with adjunct professors, but now have hired Doyle Roy to be the full-time instructor at the Van Alstyne campus. The idea is to ramp up the program for the highly industrialized Grayson County population.

Beginning students will be placed on a virtual welding machine to learn and iron out their weaknesses before they are actually placed in live welding situations. That will get a lot of practice on the new virtual machine which was able to be purchased through a grant.

Alan McAdams, who oversees the program says that they will run a controlled group with a certain number in the virtual welder and some in the welding booth and see which group has excelled the furthest, which will give them an idea on the learning curve on the new virtual welder.

This will be the first semester that Roy will have with all of the equipment ready to go. It has everything that the main campus in Denison has, but a smaller version. Students seeking opportunities in the welding field can contact Kim Weber at the Grayson College South Campus and have until August 21 to do so.

Dual-students (students who attend high school and college at the same time) have thrived in these classes. They take courses in their junior or senior year in high school and by the time they graduate, they've already taken care of two to four classes for their degree.

McAdams said three or four students have recently walked the stage at Grayson with their level one certificate a month before they graduated high school. One student from Whitewright just finished his level once certificate and has not even entered his senior year yet. By the time he graduates high school, McAdams says he can finish everything up in the summer after graduation.

Terry Lee and Deanna Gidney of Mckinney, Texas are pleased to announce the engagement of their daughter, Brandy Nicole Gidney to Brandon Lively Davis of Flower Mound, Texas. Brandon is the son of Marilyn Davis of Howe, Texas.

Brandy and Brandon are both graduates of Howe High School. They will be united in marriage on December 16th, 2014 at Castle Chillon in Montreux, Switzerland."

The couple met at Howe High School and were high school sweethearts. Their first date was at homecoming in 2001.

Faith

by Debbie Wallis

What's the secret of living a joy filled life? History may tell you it changes with the times. I simple life from my grandmother's childhood is nowhere near today simple lifestyle. Simplicity isn't the secret. Success isn't either; it can change by the end of the day. People have always tried to find joy in something or someone outside themselves. Happiness is not rooted in what we own, how much money we have, or even how we spend it. Happiness is not rooted in how many people see you as wonderful or loves you in return. Happiness comes from who God says you are. No one can claim a perfect life. Is it possible that God weaved joy into our being?

1 Thessalonians 5:16-18, "Always be joyful and never stop praying. Whatever happens, keep thanking God because of Jesus Christ. This is what God wants you to do." God does not set you up for failure. He will never tell you to do anything that He has not already equipped you to be. As children of God, you have a calling, a responsibility to express and demonstrate joy by the way you live. Trusting God with all your situations, good and bad, and believing He has great plans for you will not happen if you don't know what plans He has. Read His Word as a book written with you in mind. Joy is an outward sign of faith in the promises of God. Joy sums up emotional and spiritual health. It's a state of mind that comes with deliberate obedience and trust in every word God has said. Joy must be cultivated like a crop through loving yourself and loving others with the love of Jesus.

Our culture promotes the idea that solutions must be deep and complicated to be valuable. In most cases that is far from the truth. Lasting solutions are surprisingly simple. Joy has already been placed within you, but it must be released. Keep your thought fixed on God and godly thinking will naturally permeate your life. Joy is not random and unpredictable. You must make your thoughts agree with God and you'll see a change in your happiness. At first you'll notice it in your own head, and then in your words, then your actions and your circumstances.

"Do not conform any longer to the pattern of this world, but be transformed by the renewing of your mind. Then you will be able to test and approve what God's will is-His good, pleasing and perfect will," Romans 12:2. When your minds are renewed, circumstances take care of themselves. Don't worry about being perfect, perfection doesn't exist apart from God.

The joy of the Lord is happiness that brings enduring worth to life. It's the contentment that fills the soul (mind, will and emotions) even in the midst of stressful circumstances and a bitter environment. It's the happiness that can smile through tears. The joy of the Lord is unshaken by success or failure. It's deeply rooted and gives peace and contentment no matter what the problem is. None of this removes personal responsibility. Life happens and we all make poor choices along the way. Bad things happen to good people. What you do with life's circumstances is your choice.

You can't worry without thinking worrisome thought. You can't be afraid without thinking thoughts of fear. You can't think of hope and happiness and be depressed. A happy memory is experiencing joy and a gloomy memory is experienced as present pain. You cannot be joy filled without thinking thoughts of joy. 2 Corinthians 10:5, "take captive every thought to make it obedient to Christ." Our thoughts, like our actions, have consequences. As hard as you may try, you can't think one thing and experience something else.

God loves you and He desires for you to live life joyfully. If you don't have a Bible please contact me and I will provide you with one.

McAdams says that they have articulation agreements with local high schools. The college will meet with all local ag teachers and learn what they are teaching.

"We'll look at their expectations of their students in that course," said McAdams. "If that matches up to one of our courses, we just give them credit for it. They don't have to take a test or anything. They just have to show that they took that course in high school and that they made a B or better. If they did, they get credit for it without having to pay for it."

These articulation agreements are also for drafting and integrated computer systems and electrician course.

Grayson College South Campus has also hired Bill Weidner as the Director of Electrical Technology Program. Weidner came from Everest College in Arlington and has been working hard to get the program started. The machines in the lab are brand new. The contractors just finished installing them two weeks ago.

Weidner has been doing electrical work since 1980. He's a master electrician and has been the president of his own company.

"I bring in the president of a company mentality. My dad was an electrician for 65 years. My grandfather was an electrician for 60 years. My brother has been doing it for 45 years and my two nephews do it," said Weidner.

It's a 42-hour certificate program that takes approximately one year to a year and a half. The associates program is 62 hours and the basic math and science on the end which takes two years.

This is the only electrical program of it's kind in North Texas. An 18 year-old can be taught the fundamentals of electricity, the code book, basic code, basic residential and also motors, controls and automation. It's also geared for the helper who already has his license and the journeyman that's already been in trade for 10 years or even a master electrician who's looking to rebuild.

Weidner says that Encor Wire has helped with materials and donations and are sending students in. Tyson Foods are also helping with materials, donations and students. In this heavy-laden manufacturing area that we are in, it makes sense to have these programs available to young students that are about to be dumped into the workforce locally.

"I've got a program here where as soon as the students get here, I'm going to send their resumes out to the Grayson County contractors and tell them about my students and hopefully they'll put them to work," said Weidner. "It's a blessing that I can help put them to work and help mold these young men and women and satisfy the Grayson County need."

Because of a grandfather program several years back, Weidner estimates that 10-15% of electricians never had training or went to school for electrician work.

"I'm real excited because I have a way now that I can bring these folks that really don't know what they want to do. They can live at home, go to school here. If I can get them in to my class and get them placed for $10 an hour working for a contractor, what a blessing," said Weidner.

Grayson also has a safety program at Grayson College South Campus. The first semester will be geared with intro courses and students have options for their Associate in Science in Safety or the four-year Bachelor Science in Safety that transfer.

"A gas fuel tanker semi-truck was traveling southbound on Highway 75 in the left-hand lane. The driver reached over for an item and turned the steering wheel, causing the truck to leave the roadway and strike the center concrete barrier. The truck ran up the barrier and "high centered" on the barrier for about 285 feet before coming to a stop." Sherman Police Sgt. D.M. Hampton said.

The Texas Department of Transportation came out to assist with traffic control by shutting down the left hand lane, Hampton said. As of Friday afternoon the left lane of the highway is still blocked and traffic was slow through that area.

The wreck closed the highway from the Park Street exit to the FM 1417 on-ramp. Traffic was diverted to the frontage road and then back onto the highway.

Grant responded to a single vehicle crash on northbound US 75 at Young St. Upon arriving, he approached a 23 year old Van Alstyne man standing next to the wrecked car. When Officer Grant noticed a pistol on the dash of the man's car, the officer attempted to detain and handcuff him. The man fled on foot, crossing the highway to the west and into the grassy area where Officer Grant caught him. After a short struggle, Officer Grant subdued and cuffed him. Officers recovered less than two ounces of Marijuana and a loaded .45 caliber revolver from the suspect's car.

A witness at the scene, Jimmy Lough, reported seeing the suspect removing baggies from the car and discarding them in the grass just after the crash and before the officer arrived.

"I stopped and the guy started throwing his drugs away. said witness Jimmy Lough.

"The officer showed up and tried to arrest him and he ran right past me and into traffic. They jumped the barrier and then the cop arrested him. It was a crazy thing to be a part of."

Officers also seized over $1,900 in currency and intend to file civil forfeiture proceedings. The suspect was charged with Felon in Possession of a Firearm, Resisting Arrest, and Possession of Marijuana less than two ounces. Arrest, and Possession of Marijuana less than two ounces.

Superintendent Wilson said that with the last press box serving the same facility since 1971, he anticipates that this one, which is made more sturdy should last even longer.

Brown admitted to being a little nervous as the crane lifted his most recent project.

"It's a load off of my back." Brown said. "I can't wait for football season to start so people can come here and see the improvements to the stadium."

being from North Texas, had some family of his own here. His father died young, while Hudson was still in high school and that left his grandfather and uncle as the only family on his dad's side.

"I was leaving South Texas about four or five times a year to tend to my grandfather." said Hudson. "I had to leave the practice field because he fell and had a stroke. I was driving four and a half hours to try and be by his side because I'm the only one left. We were either going to move him next to us or we were going to try and move up here."

That's when Hudson put together a short list of schools that he'd be interested in. The criteria was that it had to be a small school that was high in academics.

"I know Joey McQueen (former Howe head coach) and some people that were already in this area." said Hudson. "I interviewed for the Whitewright job even though it lacked a little in the academics but it was in the area. I was a finalist there, but I just pulled out of that. It wasn't a good fit."

Hudson said that the role of the superintendent can make his job great or not so great. His visit with Kevin Wilson made him feel comfortable.

"Mine and his personality fit together. We're different so it fits together a lot." said Hudson. "He does a lot of things behind the scenes to help me out that I don't do well. And then I try to help him out. We have a good working relationship. I felt like this was a place that needed help and I felt like Howe needed me."

Wilson, who was looking for some changes in the athletic department recommended the hiring of Hudson to the school board before the 2013-14 school year.

With a year under his belt, his impressions of Howe are that the kids have a chance. He sees it taking some grooming and molding of kids and community members of getting over the level of just making the playoffs.

"I have higher standards than making it to the playoffs. I've been at schools that if your standard is making the playoffs, you would get fired. Point blank, period." said Hudson.

Hudson says that one of the main reasons he chose Howe was

SAP Quality Consulting
Scott Frantz
President
903-819-7276

because Howe meets that standard academically. He says that because of that, it's much easier to reach that standard athletically in a small school.

"If you got kids that want to win, you've got a chance. Howe wants to win. Everybody knows that." Hudson said. "Getting over that hump of just making the playoffs and changing the mindset that there are 16 weeks to play instead of 11. Our midset is not making the playoffs. Our mindset is playing the best football, basketball, baseball we can at the last game of the season so when we hit the playoffs, we're playing the best we can play."

His philosophy on parents are a little different than most coaches as well. All of the parents have his cell phone number. He understands that parents can affect the kids mindset by what might be being said, which in turn can affect the team.

Hudson says that the 2014 version of The Howe Bulldogs are going to be a lot better than the 3-7 team from a year ago. Simply being in the system should help.

"They're going to be better. They want to be better." said Hudson.

"Last year was so new to everybody. There was a lot of change, but the kids bought in and they wanted to win."

The Dogs have lost a lot of linemen from last season, but have retained the vast majority of the skill position players (running backs and receivers). With only 10 seniors and seven full-time returning starters, they will rely heavily on younger players and new faces.

"They've got a fight in them and it's exciting. It's just different in practice. The pace is much faster." said Hudson.

The pick up in tempo could very well come from new Offensive Coordinator Dale West. West is a fiery young slot-T formation guru who brings a lot of electricity to the practice field. He also is implementing an offense that should show electricity from the moment the huddle is called.

"We will control the football. We dabbled in it last year in the second half of the season." said Hudson. "I felt like this group and this community just fit with what we're doing. It took a year to figure it out. I guarantee that we'll have the best defensive end in the district in Ty Portman. It took us seven weeks to figure out where to play him. He gave people fits the last three games of the season."

One thing that has Hudson fired up is his new coaching staff. They hired five new coaches and he says it's the best hires he's ever made.

"Not only do they know football, but they know basketball and softball. We're able to utilize them throughout the entire year." said Hudson. "I think those well-rounded coaches are better coaches because they're not so stuck on one thing that the kids don't lose interest."

Hudson said that the best thing about his coaching staff is that they are all great human beings that do what's right so that the kids get that mentoring from the right source.

"That excites me almost as much as anything because the kids enjoy being around them. The parents are not going to complain about their kids being around our coaches."

Hudson's wife Carrie coached volleyball for seven years and they had their first child, (Kai who is seven). Carrie Hudson coached for another year after adding the little one to the family, but soon afterwards attained her doctorate. After their move to Howe, she taught junior English last year before taking over the co-op special education program over various surrounding school districts including Howe.

"Then I have a bouncing three year-old about to turn four and she's daddy's biggest fan." said the athletic director talking about his daughter Bodie. "Kai has loved her teachers and Coach Simmons. I get to go home and hear her chants."

Hudson said that when you take your wife from her home town, it can be difficult, however, he says it only took about two months and it was an easy transition because of the people of Howe welcomed them with open arms.

"Everyone kind of took my wife and kids under their belt and showed them around and what this community has to offer and it's been great and we love it here. My wife loves it here. And that makes everybody happy." Hudson said with a big smile on his face.

He anticipates staying in Howe for a long time but did admit that he gets one or two job offers each year just from people that he knows.

"I get phone calls just like a lot of athletic directors do, but I've never put out a resume because I'm happy here." Hudson said. "These kids are very refreshing because they're raised right. When you come here and you tell the kids to hustle and there aren't four of them arguing with you. It's refreshing. You get to go home with a smile on your face. You don't get into arguments with a 15 year-old kid because he won't run fast. We do 16 - 110's (110 meter dashes) after practice. I've done it for nine years and these kids do it better than any kids I've ever had and I'm talking about La Grange that we took to the semi-finals. These kids do it because we ask them to and it makes them better. They do it faster and better than any teams I've ever had."

From what Hudson said, this group of Bulldogs seem to be, if nothing else, extremely hard workers. They don't complain and they pick up their teammates. When you're talking football, those elements are major building blocks for championship-caliber teams.

"It says a lot about their parents to be honest with you." said Hudson. "People don't realize what their influence does."

It was Hudson, who sold the plan to remake Bulldog Stadium to Superintendent Kevin Wilson. He was asked to take a look at the softball field (on east Davis Street) and provide insight on improvements. He took two coaches with him to look at it and realized there wasn't enough room to make major improvements on the facility. That's when they came to Leon Thornhill and asked about the possibility of purchasing his land adjacent to the athletic complex.

They drew up a plan and took it to Wilson and said the money would be wiser spent to do it right and have a facility that will last for 25 years and still be usable.

"We knew that the field house had to be upgraded. That was in the five-year plan when I got here." Hudson said. "The softball field was the first thing that needed upgraded and after that, the baseball field. So I brought the plan in to do it all at one time."

A lot of community members came together and the plan came in under budget. With that said, the ISD took on a lot of the cost internally which saved the district approximately $400,000.

"To me every dollar spent, as a tax payer, was spent with the best intentions and without anything to make things easy on us." Hudson said. "We wanted every dollar to be for the kids and for the community to have something to be proud of. And that's what every dollar went to."

When opening night at Bulldog Stadium rolls around on September 5, the complex will look totally different from the one that was closed down last November.

"People don't realize that when the field looks nice, the kids have a better attitude." said Hudson.

"The parents feel better and more comfortable when the facilities are in good shape."

In recent years, the old field house wasn't even housing opposing teams. A lot of schools would not utilize the area because of the conditions and would spend their halftime on a bus instead. Things like that become embarrassing to a community and no longer will that be an issue.

"No longer will that ever be an issue and an embarrassment for Howe, Texas. It's gone." said Hudson.

A former opposing coach who is now on the Howe staff commented that it was the worst field house he'd ever seen. However, those days are gone. The oldest active football stadium in North Texas (opened in 1935) has a brand new look and feel to it.

Coach Hudson seems to be good for Howe. We know he's a great salesman. He sold the district on massive immediate improvements to the athletic complex. He even sold his wife on leaving her hometown for Howe, Texas. The final test comes if he can sell the kids on changing their own expectations that they have for themselves. It should be a fun fall.

Rain and tropical storms have pelted regions in the South part of the U.S. but Howe is still as dry as a powder house.

It rained in Sherman two or three weeks back, in spots, but a few clouds and a bolt of lightning now and then is all we've received.

Sunday night was the latest promise.

Howe State Bank Pres. Ray Houston and family returned over the weekend from a vacation trip to Colorado, and Ray says they were either in rain or could see rain falling all the way across New Mexico--and that's supposed to be dry country.

Maybe things will get better, or wetter.

ON GETTING ALONG WITH THE WIFE

A department store in Illinois recently advised husbands who had forgotten to buy their wives a box of their franchise brand of candy to try this regimen:

1. When someone tells you the children are beautiful...say they take after their mother.

2. With your arms around your mother-in-law say you know why her daughter is such

3. Feed her the first bite of our candy...at the same time look into her eyes.

4. When you're holding her chair while she sits down don't forget a gentle squeeze of her waist...as she gets seated.

5. Be sentimental...call her baby, darling, pussycat, honey-baby.

6. Watch her closely at parties, interrupt any man who spends more than ten minutes with her.

7. Once in a while, unobserved, take out the garbage.

8. Tell her you never believed it could be like this.

9. Tell her not to wear her skirts, 'that short'...say what she has is for you alone.

10. If you're both in shape carry her across the room.

11. On the day the repairman is coming...get terribly jealous.

12. Remark, sweetly, that she doesn't need any make-up.

13. Be sure to put the biggest portion of the egg roll on her plate.

14. Tell her you love her.. even when she is diapering the baby.

15. Grow sideburns just because she is wild about them...even if they kid you about them.

16. Ask her to feed you chicken soup when you're sick.

17. Take a nibble at her ear when she's stirring up your favorite cake...and..

18. Send her a schmaltzy card on an unimportant holiday.

MAYOR DUG WORTHAM, left, accepts legal papers giving the city ownership of the Hanning Street General Telephone Company building. Making the presentation is District Manager E. I. Jenkins of Sherman. The building is located across the street from the present city hall.

Building given to city by General Telephone Company.

GENERAL TELEPHONE GIVES BUILDING TO CITY

City of Howe was recipient last week of a relatively large concrete block building, compliments of General Telephone Company. Making the presentation of deed and other legal papers was E.I. Jenkins, District Manager of General Telephone. Accepting for the city was Mayor Dug Wortham. The presentation was made at regular monthly meeting of the council last Thursday night.

The structure, located directly across the street from the present city hall, formerly housed the telephone company's switching equipment here, prior to construction of the new larger building on Bean Street.

Immediate use by the city has not been determined, but discussion has included a marshal's office and jail, or city hall. Included in the gift to the city was the 40 x 85'ft. lot.

In making the presentation, Jenkins told city officials that "It is a pleasure for me to present this surplus property to the city of Howe, with no strings attached." The company had advertised for bids on the property on completion of their new building, but, according to Jenkins, all were unsatisfactory.

Wortham expressed thanks and gratitude on behalf of the city for the gift.

In other business, council approved payment of bill for July, totaling $1,000.

come for the month was listed at $6,257.43. Included in the bills were numerous street repairs and a $2800 repair bill on the old water well.

Accepted the resignation of City Marshal John Clark, and approved the employment of a new marshal, Stanley Coco, who assumed the duties this week. Clark resigned due to other business interests.

Discussed prosed budget for the coming year, listing $66,833.50 for expenses and $71,150.00 income. Council members were given copies of the proposal to study prior to approval at next meeting of council.

Approved passage of an ordinance requiring a $25.00 non refundable deposit and a $1,000 bond for door-to-door salesmen here. The permit will be good for 15 days.

Approved an additional dog ordinance, requiring owners to keep pets restrained on their own property.

Increased the charge for tax certificates for title transfers to $2.00.

MOBILE HOME PARK HEARING TONIGHT

Public hearing on request for a special use permit for an ultra - modern mobile home park is scheduled tonight (Thursday) at the high school library. Both the City Planning Commission and the City Council will meet with the developers of the project and other interested citizens for the hearing.

Site of the proposed park is between Highway 5 and 75 in North Howe, with 442 feet fronting on Highway 75 and 374 feet on Highway 5.

Chub Jones, representing the developers, appeared before the commission about two weeks ago to present the plans for the park.

According to Jones the proposal, named Westgate Mobil Home Park, would be "one of the finest and most modern in the State of Texas". Plans call for 160 home spaces, averaging 3800 square feet, with solid foundations, skirted homes, patios with covers, off street parking for two automobiles at each location, cable TV, underground utilities, ample street lighting, paved streets with curb and gutter and a full time groundskeeper. Other facilities for residents of the park would include a swimming pool, play area with play equipment, club house, laundry facilities and a boat storage area. A masonry and panel fence along Highway 75 is included in the architects' drawing.

The representatives said they would present pictures and colored slides of similar home parks at the August 13 meeting.

Four Injured In Monday Collision

Mrs. Ann Bowden of Howe was uninjured Monday in a two-car collision near the exit to Texas Instruments north of Howe. Four persons were treated and released from Wilson N. Jones Hospital. The four were all occupants of the second car involved.

Injured were Tanya Cagle, 4, 814 South Lyons, Sherman. Treated and released were Elsie Cagle, 21, driver of the car, Donna Cagle, 22, and Cynthia Cagle, 5.

Encounter Crusade Begins Sunday

John R. Eisagno, pastor of First Baptist Church in Houston, is the evangelist for the Grayson County Encounter Crusade beginning Sunday night in Beard Stadium and running through Friday.

All services are at 8 p.m. Thirty-eight Baptist Churches in Grayson County have joined forces for the six-night evangelistic program. The following week all of the churches will hold its own revival service.

Rev. Eisagno came to Houston in February this year after serving as pastor of First Baptist Church in Del City, Okla., for five years. During 1,400 to 4,300; average Sunday School attendance went from 600 to 1,700; training unior attendance went from 11/5 to 600 and the church received approximately 1,800 members by baptism and over 2,000 by letter.

Also during his pastorate, the church added four buildings and increased its staff from 3 to 12 members. The church led the Oklahoma state convention in Baptisms all five years and the Southern Baptist Convention 3 years.

He is the author of several books and has addressed Baptist Assemblies throughout the nation and has spoken before most of the state conventions in evangelistic conferences.

Rev. Eisagno, a native of August, Kan., is a graduate of Oklahoma Baptist College.

Commissioners Meet Monday

Election returns concerning the consolidation of the Tom Bean and Whiterock School Districts were canvassed at the regular meeting of Gray-

In the Tom Bean District there were 58 votes for consolidation and three against while the Whiterock district voted 11 for and 15 against. Inasmuch as the propositior did not carry in both districts the consolidation effort was defeated.

In other business, District Clerk E. R. Brodhead was authorized to employ a V. O.E. student during the 1970-71 school year at an hourly rate of $1.00 per hour.

The Court authorized the Grayson Collin Electric Cooperative, Inc., of Van Alstyne erative of Van Alstyne to relocate their utility lines on Farm to Market Road 1333. The county's cost, amounting to $1,128.50, will be taken out of the road and bridge fund of Precinct 1.
