THE HOWE ENTERPRISE, THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 9, 1971--VOL. VIII--No. 8

Overhead Janell Russell telling her son's grandpa why it is a bit of people can't read so well.

Janell said she learned the information in a psychology class somewhere -- she's trying for a degree so she can teach people to read 'n write or something.

Anyway, Janell says this psychology prof said the reason some people can't read too well is that they didn't crawl enough when they were babies.

Now being short on psychology, can't for a life of now understand how crawling a lot could improve your ability to read.

Kind of like the new first grader, when the teacher informed the class that "if anyone needs to go to the bathroom, hold on two fivers."

Asked one little boy: "How in the world did that help?"

There is the story about the village idiot who was watching the blacksmith make horseshoes. The blacksmith drew a white hot shoe from his anvil and dropped it onto the dirt floor to cool.

"The idiot picked up the horse shoe and immediately dropped it. The blacksmith grimed and asked: "Was it hot?" "Now," replied the idiot, "It just doesn't take me long to look at a horseshoe."

Last week, Texas Governor Preston Smith issued an order to state officials to go ahead with salary raises of teachers and state employees in defiance of President Nixon's wage-price freeze.

On Sunday Governor Smith said he would obey the courts if they say he cannot implement the raises.

..... Didn't take Governor Smith long to look at his horsehide, did it?

Football season is here again, and this year's Bulldog squad has their work cut out for them -- following winning of the Regional Championship last year. And, according to the "know," this is the last year for Class B football in Howe. Next year we graduate to Class A, which will be an even harder up to us.

If you haven't been up to the local football field lately, Friday night would be a good time to see what a fine job the Booster Club has done to provide seating for the fans. Old bleachers have been moved to the east side and longer higher (more seats) and a new press box has been installed on the home side. Labor has been donated by the booster members and others.

Telephone rate hike request shelved for another 90 days

City Council last Thursday again denied a rate increase to General Telephone Company, since, according to individual councilmen, "service is no better than when we considered the request 13 or 14 months ago." Council had agreed to reconsider the rate hike request in 90 days following the original request in June, and has any decision on improvement in service.

Council agreed to again consider the request, based on service improvements, in another 90 days. Any rate increase approved now would be stayed during the current price-wage freeze, it was determined.

Representatives of the telephone company told council that some improvements had been made, and the exchange in Sherman had been unseasoned moving operations from one tower to another, causing some problems in switching operations. The representatives also said that studies here "reasonably good service," indicate Howe is receiving as compared with studies of other cities.

Service complaints aired by city officials included failure of the direct dialing system, with an extra charge added for operator assistance; high-rate telephone rates than Sherman, and slow answering of operators.

In other business, council help the line on a $500 water deposit demand and a $1,000 sewer tap charge on Westgate Mobile Home Park. Owner Manager Club Jones appeared before council to seek a pro-rated pay-out, based on rentals, or some other form of relief from the immediate cash outlay for the services. Jones said his firm had re-located a six-inch water main from across a pasture to run alongside Highway 73 to assist future development of the city. "This required additional fire plugs, and also provided better service to existing houses in the north end of town.

Cost-study for a new 500,000-gallon water storage tank and new water line was begun following record usage during this summer. New 160-unit mobile home park and a 100-unit apartment complex now under construction will eventually be added to the need for additional water, council determined. Federal grant for approximately 50 percent of the cost may be available, members were informed.

Board considers building needs

Need for an additional building program to keep pace with continuing increasing enrollment was discussed by school board members and administrators at regular meeting Monday night.

With an additional first grade added this year, plus kindergarten, and a special education class scheduled next year added to the increasing enrollment, discussion indicated the board would like for five additional classrooms and a cafeteria or canteen. Superintendent Charles Thompson was authorized to determine the amount of bonds that could be sold to finance a building project. One room in the new elementary building was separated by a partition for the addition of a first grade class this year.

In other action decisions, the board instructed school principals to enforce school policies adopted by the board earlier this year. Only change in the policies pertains to students riding in automobiles with other students, which was prohibited in the original policies, but was amended due to hardship created in some students. Youngsters may ride in automobiles of others, with parental consent.

Board instructed Thompson to check on a special education program with Sherman, to determine if local students needing the service could be tested by Sherman for possible attendance there, or if a large enough group requires the program, making application with the state for financial assistance for the program here. The problem came up again when the mother of one student appeared before the board seeking ways to enroll her son in the special ed class. She had appeared before the board prior to beginning of school in an effort to possibly enroll him in such a class this year. Conflicts on whether or not the program was supposed to have been started here this year were evident during discussion of the program.

Under the program, slow learners are eligible for special instruction, but parents are required to request testing of students for the classes.

Board also employed a new first grade teacher, Mrs. Lois McAllister, for the added first grade; voted to advertise for a service contract for the schools air-conditioning system, and voted to have administrators prepare a monthly financial statement for board members.

4 H Rodeo to be held October 9

By BILL WEST
Asoc. Co. Agricultural Agent
414 club members continue to show their leadership ability in other fields. An example is Debbie Melton, Howe, e l e c t o d president of her class in high school. Debbie has been an outstanding 4-H member for many years.

Now is the time to start looking for your steer if you are going to enter the Loy Lake show next year. The steer must be owned and reported by November 15.

A 4-H junior rodeo has been planned for October 9 to climax National 4-H Week. The junior leaders assigned to this activity are Steve Waddle, Sherman and Terri Barnes, Denison, and the adult leaders are Mrs. V. L. Gaines and Mr. Benny Hively. Many hours of work must be devoted to this activity to assure its success.

Other activities are: Achievement banquet on October 23 with leadership from Debbie Goghly, Debbie Melton, Jerry Gaines, Mrs. Janice Treusch and Mrs. Helen Melton; county horse judging contest on November 13 with Jim Lucas, Cindy Oddy and Mrs. Fred Sipes in charge; county rifle contest on December 4 with leadership coming from Steve Melton, Marla Oakley, Mrs. Stanley Oakley and Mr. Ernest Melton; and the Share-De-Fun Festival is scheduled for January 22.

COMING EVENTS: County Council on September 11 and National 4-H Week October 3-9.

Final payment of $1,700 to the company was also approved in September expenses.

August expenses totaled $17,683.77 with income listed at $4,397.48.

Bank balances show $14,794.75 in the operating fund, and $5,263.78 in the general fund. Income included $5,880.85 water revenue, $18,533. taxes, $250.00 Texas Power and Light Co., and $86.00, police department.

Region X Report

Growing school and program

The situation now, and in the future, in which Board members and school administrators must create and maintain public understanding, confidence, and support of public school programs is further complicated and made more difficult by the ideological competition for the attention and for their tax dollars. So, school people, including Board members and school administrators, really have no choice other than to develop the necessary communications and public relations competence, and to use that competence, in order, to adequately guarantee quality public school programs.

It is essential that administrators everywhere begin now to recognize that honest effort to establish and maintain public understanding, confidence, and support of school plans and programs are normal and essential aspects of the local school system. The objective of the Board of Trustees and administrators is to inspire people in the community to provide adequate financial and moral support for school programs will probably become more serious in the next few years.

Attention should be given to planned community relations program in individual schools under the direction and leadership of principals, counselors, and teachers. In all schools of the district there should be evidence at all times that the administrative leadership is doing the following:

- 1. Policies practices and procedures that insure democratic participation in policy and decision making on the part of citizens, teachers, and students.
- 2. Maintain clear line of communications with staff members and the community.
- 3. Develop and administer an instructional program responsive to student and community needs.
- 4. Provide student morale and staff morale as chief goals of the school.
- 5. Be available to students; ready, willing, and eager to discuss their interests and concerns at all times.
- 6. Inspires and encourages involvement appreciation and staff involvement and student commitment efforts.
- 7. Keeps on-going and wide-formed concerning the schools activities, needs, and opportunities.

Stays alert to changing community conditions that affect the school.

AARP offers retired persons benefits

The September meeting of the AARP, there are many retired people in Grayson County who have long been members of the American Association of Retired Persons, "AARP." Recently organized local chapters in this area. You have already what services you have been receiving from AARP. A local chapter can serve you further and also help you serve others.

The 3 million AARP members have a vast potential for service to our communities and to our country. It would not you like to be one of the 3 million? If you are 60 years of age or older you are eligible to join.

One of the next meetings of Chapter 300 at the Trinity United Presbyterian Church, Hicketta and Burton St. in Sherman, September 13, 10:00 to 1:30 p.m.

Rev. Thomas E. Amey, who is well known in this area will speak on his Lake Texoma Memory.

Olma Mae Sadler, Former resident, dies in Dallas

Miss Olma Sadler, a 76-year-old resident, died early Saturday morning in a Dallas hospital, following an extended illness. Services were Tuesday afternoon at the United Methodist Chapel with Rev. C. J. Graves as officiating pastor. Burial was in Memorial Park Cemetery.

Daughter of a pioneer Hereford, Miss Sadler was born in Sherman, the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. E. Sadler. She lived in Here most of her early life and was educated in the local schools, but had lived in Dallas for many years since 1968. She was a member of the Pleasant Home United Methodist Church in Dallas.

Miss Sadler is survived by two sons, Willie Lee Sadler and Miss Nellie Sadler, both of Dallas.

Johnson is my light and my salvation: when shall I see thee? Johnson is the strength of my life: Of whom shall I be afraid? - Psalms 27:1

UNFAIR TO ALL!

A fundamental principle of law says that after a certain length of time the right to institute an action terminates. This principle is called the statute of limitations. There is, for law, however—the Civil Rights Act of 1964 contains no such provision with regard to retroactive financial adjustments of employment. The main purpose of the Civil Rights Act was to do for all as a philosophy of discrimination. Equal opportunity to lead to more jobs, higher level jobs, promotions and training. The retroactive financial adjustments was not intended. Yet financial penalties, often based on a new interpretation of the law, have become widespread. Payments, when required, may go all the way back to 1964, the date the Civil Rights Act became effective. Too frequently, they are granted to groups or classes of employees. In authority on the subject has pointed out that there is no other law that permits back pay awards without a reasonable means of limitation. For example the limit is two years in the Fair Labor Standards Act. As the Civil Rights Act was enacted it prescribes that any such award is to be up to the level of the law and the equal opportunity. In the long run, the retroactive liability imposed on an employer by a law with no statute of limitations would seem to inevitably weaken the effectiveness of the law and hurt the very people it is intended to help.

The cause of civil rights and equal opportunity is poorly served when a mere alteration of the interpretation of the rules can be used as a measure of retroactive justice. Civil rights and equal opportunity are two-way streets upon which both employer and employee should be free to travel.

GIANT GIVEAWAY!

Remember, the deficit in the federal government's budget for 1971 fiscal year will be $20 billion—about $100 for every person in the country. Fiscal 1972 will probably show a similar deficit of $23 billion or more—another $100 of annual debt for everyone in the country. In fact, the federal deficit will approach $50 billion. The total debt of the federal government stands at $400 billion—more than $1,000 per person. Interest on this inconceivable total equals approximately $40 billion a year.

What pressure increasing for expanded welfare programs, health insurance, housing, medical care and so on without cuts, the prospect is the more bleak for bringing the public debt under control appears to be virtually nil—as far as the outlook for controlling inflation. The one factor that could change the picture is a public awakening to the futility of the present strategy. It is time to give our children a future that inflation destroys their value.

Fifth grade students pose at tables of Indian display

Fifth graders study life of Indians

Friday morning, the fifth graders assisted by Mrs. Easter, cooperating teacher. A program was presented to the cooperative, or team, both sections of the class by teaching which is being introduced into the elementary school this year. Both sections of the fifth grade cooperated in collecting and making objects connected with the life of Indians in America. Mrs. Shields who teaches the social studies to all the fifth grade.

Social Security

One of the common questions received by the Sherman social security number of his my spouse or child need a social security office in "Will it be her own, even though he or she had never worked?" Formerly, the answer would have been "no," according to Cae Jones, District Manager of the Sherman social security office. Now, however, all persons who may be eligible on a worker's record will be encouraged to have a social security number of their own. If they have already had a number, but lost it, they will need to get a duplicate.

Dorchester water system costs studied

Cost estimates on the proposed Deere-Dorchester water system should be ready in the next two weeks, the City Council was informed at a Thursday night session.

Dorchester city officials reported they still are taking applications to join the new system. They urged prospective applicants to contact Mayor Tom Harman or any of the council members for information.

OUTDOORS IN TEXAS
 BY VERN LANDROF

Most outdoorsmen have at one time or another suffered from poison ivy... that irritating, itchy skin rash that seems to spread with every scratch.

Here's a simple prescription which will provide much desired relief: Mix 25 Aspirin tablets and two ounces of camphor gum in a pint of rubbing alcohol... and apply to affected part of the body twice daily.

This poisonous ivy plant is an American climbing plant with a somewhat vine-like habit. Actually, it is a species of sumac, with leaves in groups of three. It is poisonous to many persons by touch.

A variant name of the poison ivy plant is poison oak or poison sumac.

It can be identified by its trifoliate leaves, golden flowers, white berries and an irritant oil. It is the oil which renders the heritage poisonous to touch.

"Poison Sumac" differs from "poison ivy" in that the plant is a shrub or tree usually six to eight feet tall, and is found in the swampy lands. It's leaf-stalks bear clusters of smoothly greenish yellow seed pods.

The whole plant is poisonous to taste or food. Give it wide berth!

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Compromise for Creditors
Miss. Courts will settle alone when two heirs may come to her door.
"We're from the application form," they announced, "and we are going to repossess your house."
Despite her protests, they pulled into the house, seized the stove, and carried it away. Her living room stinks all over the place.
Understandably upset, Mrs. Olson determined to sue the couple for damages. In fact, the mortgagee told the judge: "Maybe my boys did get a little carried. I am willing to pay for cleaning her rug, but hold them from that. They're no harm. After all, she was here in the house."
However, the judge held him liable not only for the rug but also for the "damages" - that is, extra damages imposed to teach him a lesson.

The law is lacking in logic, especially when "it's a tight shirt" by creditors in the possession of merchandise. To discourage such tactics, most courts will award punitive damages to the debtor, over and over again, until her house goes.

This is especially true when the repositor returns to personal violence. Thus, a court awarded punitive damages to a housewife after her washing machine was repossessed at the point of a pistol.

In another case, a furniture dealer told a widow who could have extra time to pay for her washing machine had to have an operation, but while she was in that hospital he took her home and she died and decomposed with the furniture.

Here, too, a court held ample grounds for awarding punitive damages.

Nevertheless, the law does not favor the lender who is repossessed. By going a court order to simply taking back - without force, threats, or even coercion - what is rightfully his.
