

Howe's That

So Donald Trump won the 2016 Presidential Election. Most people didn't really see that coming. Could it possibly be the exchange for the Cubs World Series? What is known is that rural, hard-working, middle class America raised up and gave an overwhelming flip of the eagle to Washington D.C. The American public exclaimed loudly that they were done with Obamacare, the Clinton Machine, Miley Cyrus, Jay Z, Cher, Beyonce and Barbara Streisand. They voted to put Toby Keith's boot in their assentational attitudes.

Just after Miley Cyrus' tearful video, a youthful America then staged protests in large cities and all over college campuses. But what would one expect from a generation that never faced consequences such as losing. This is the generation that had the scoreboards turned off if they were losing too badly. This is the generation that were told a wooden spoon was a tool of child abuse. This is the generation of participation trophies. This is the generation that has their feelings hurt and are offended by everyone and everything.

This is the first time mommy and daddy can't go make things right for them. It's not really their fault. They didn't turn off the scoreboard.

In the end, both parties should be ashamed of themselves. There really is no winner when everyone looks bad. But for the sake of the country, everyone needs to just focus on the Dallas Cowboys' success.

P&Z to hold public hearing tonight for new apartments

A request for an apartment complex was listed on this month's Howe City Council and Planning and Zoning (P&Z) agendas.

The city is calling for a public hearing at tonight's P&Z meeting as well as Tuesday evening's city council meeting.

Phillip Shaffer, the owner of the property at 501 N. Collins will appear before the P&Z and council to make a case for an apartment complex on the same site he approached the P&Z and council two months ago for a motel. With the property being located along Howe's ribbon of commerce, US Highway 75, it is currently zoned commercial. However, Shaffer is requesting to move the property to multi-family.

Also, Terri L. McDonald will approach both the P&Z and council to request a Special Use Permit at 712 S.

Ricketts St.

The Tuesday council agenda also lists that new Howe Community Library Director Melissa Atchison will recognize summer volunteers and give a report on the library.

Current business includes discussing and considering to sell excess equipment which includes a dump truck and backhoe.

The Howe Development Alliance will present to the council a request to again participate in the Texas Workforce Commission Teacher Externship Project for 2017.

Discuss, consider and act upon Grayson County Tax Assessor-Collector 2015 Annual Tax Report (10-01-2015 through 09-30-2016).

Simmons gives emotional speech at Veterans Day program

Steve Simmons holds up the flag at the end of his speech on Friday.

The Howe High School National Honor Society held their annual Veterans Day Program the the HHS Gymnasium on Friday morning. Each year they ask a veteran to speak about their experiences. This year the group chose longtime Howe Coach and Elementary P.E. Instructor Steve Simmons to give a fifteen minute talk to the entire student body of Howe ISD and to the veterans that were present in the audience. Simmons

The Howe Bulldogs (8-3) claimed victory over the Grandview Zebras (8-3) in the first round of the playoffs. They were able to do so because they have a head coach willing to lay it all on the line for a chance to become champions. Howe slot back Brent Masters scored with 1:30 left in the game to put the Bulldogs within one, trailing 28-27. After a late hit on Masters in the endzone and a personal foul penalty on Grandview's Kameron English, Howe had the option of moving the ball half the distance to the goal and Howe Head Coach Zack Hudson took that penalty which made his decision easier to go for two instead of kicking the sure extra point by super-accurate junior slipper swinger Brice Honaker. The heavy decision being weighed was gave a 30-minute emotional speech recapping the heroic efforts of veterans.

The Presentation of the Colors was done by the local Boys Club Troop 45. The Howe High School ASL classes led the Pledge of Allegiance to the US Flag and Texas Flag. Dreanna McAdams sung the National Anthem to open the ceremonies.

A Howe student led prayer and then each veteran in the audience was recognized individually followed by a thunderous applause.

Three fourth grade students read essays on the contributions of veterans. Ben Garribay, Kai Hudson and Mia Wilson each read their essays to the audience.

The that time Simmons was introduced to the audience as the speaker by Allie Morgan. Simmons served a member of the U.S. Marine Corps from 1984-1990 serving as a field radio operator at the rank of corporal. He received the Platoon High Marksmanship Award at the expert level with an M-16 rifle. During boot camp training at Parris Island, South Carolina, he served as religious lay leader. He participated in Gallant Knight and Gallant Eagle in Twentynine Palms, California - the largest joint military peace time operation in US history at that time.

Among many historic events of courage by veterans, Simmons spoke of what the US Flag means to him.

"Our flag stand for honor. Our flag stands for courage. Our flag stands for blood, sweat and sacrifice. And our flag stands for freedom. And our flag stands for our veterans. And for everything our flag stands for, when the Pledge of Allegiance is recited and when the National Anthem is played, I stand for the flag!" Simmons boldly shouted.

Coach Bruce Elvington also spoke about the meaning of Arlington National Cemetery.

The Howe High School band played each song of the Army, Navy, Air Force and Marines. Veterans from each group stood to their song.

an extra point for overtime compared to going for two from the one yard line and having a great chance to win the game. Howe, who has gone for it all year on fourth down and short and sometimes semi-short situations from near midfield, has earned the head coach the nickname of "The Riverboat Gambler." Howe had been turned back on two crucial fourth downs near midfield earlier in the game, but in pure Howe fashion, the Dogs never panicked and continued to be aggressive and when it came time to win the game, the Riverboat Gambler laid all his cards on the table. As it turned out, it was a full house including Matt Griffin, Tanner Hartsfield, Clay Marshall, Chase Harvey, Connor Jackson, and Tim Helpenstell. The ace in the stack was Tyler Grisham, who ran behind the deck and pushed it in for the tying and go-ahead points. Howe led 29-28, but Grandview and their high-octane offense still had 1:30 on the clock to try and win it themselves.

The Bulldogs' kicker Honaker has been asked to pooch kick and onside kick for the vast majority of the season, but Hudson called on his strong leg to bang it deep and pin back the Zebras. Honaker responded with a kick that went five yards deep in the endzone, allowing no chance for a return and pinned Grandview back to start from their own 25 yard line.

From there, Howe's defense kept it's cool while Grandview imploded with two unsportsmanlike personal foul penalties which backed them up to the six yard line. Grandview, who had scored on trick plays to stay in the game and eventually take the lead had no trickery left and on fourth down came up two yards short of a first with 24 seconds left. Moments after Howe took a knee to end the game, Grandview's Devonte Crownover was tossed from the game. Howe let the clock roll and began to celebrate their back-to-back-to-back bi-district championship.

It is the fourth playoff win for Hudson, who ties Jim Fryar with the most in Howe Bulldogs history. Fryar accumulated his four in five years as Hudson has four in four seasons. Overall, it was the 28th win for Hudson at Howe which leaves him one behind Buck Smith. Only Norman Dickey (55), Jim Fryar (41), and Davey DuBose (34) have more wins. Howe has won 20 of their last 30 games in which the streak started Oct. 17, 2014 versus Tom Bean where they set a school record with 608 rushing yards and 618 total yards in a game.

Grandview uses a no-huddle offense with a very quick uptempo pace which allows them to run many plays and wear out a defense. The Zebras ran 78 plays compared to Howe's 62. Normally, Howe dominates in that category. It was also only the third time all season that Howe was outgained in yardage in a game. Grandview put together 401 total yards on 39 passes and 39 runs compared to Howe's 330 yards - all rushing. Only Gunter and Pottsboro has outgained Howe in yardage in a game all season long and the Dogs lost both of those contests. It is not the first time this season, however, that Howe has given up over 400 yards and won. The Dogs allowed 403 yards to Muenster earlier in the year and won the game, 37-31.

Howe normally starts the game on defense as they prefer to defer the coin toss, however Grandview won the toss and elected to have Howe with the ball to begin the game. It proved favorable for the Zebras as Howe had to punt. Grandview would start at their own 31 yard line and put together an 8-play drive, but Howe linebacker Dylan Moreau would sack Zebra quarterback Landon Moon and force a punt.

Howe put together a patented 16 play drive that went 75 yards and took an unbelievable 6:38 off the clock. It might have never happened if it weren't for a 33-yard run by Mason

Riggs on a 3rd and 7. Grisham later plunged over from the 1-yard line to give Howe the first lead of the night, 7-0 after the Honaker PAT.

Howe linebacker Andrew Griffin made an outstanding play to stop Grandview's middle screen on fourth down which gave the Bulldogs the ball at their own 44 yard line. Howe capitalized with an 11-play, 68-yard drive that took 5:21 from the clock and ended with a Jaden Matthews 2-yard touchdown to give Howe a 14-0 lead after the Honaker PAT with 5:22 left in the second quarter.

Grandview and Howe were each forced to punt on their next possessions before the Zebras started a drive from their own 14 yard line with 2:26 left before the half. Moon hit a streaking receiver on a slant route on a 3rd and 8 for 56 yards, however, Hartsfield saved the touchdown with a tackle at the five yard line. With 2.6 seconds on the clock, Moon was brought down by Andrew Griffin to end the half. Grandview came into the game averaging 48 points per game, but were shutout in the first half.

The Zebras opened the second half with a Howe-like 11-play, 59-yard drive that took 3:21 from the clock and Moon scored on a 5-yard keeper. That cut the Howe lead in half at 14-7.

Momentum swung on the next possession as Howe was stopped on a 4th and 3 at midfield. Grandview took advantage of the opportunity and scored on a swing pass - Moon to Joshua Nash to Crownover for 35 yards. After the PAT, that left the game tied at 14 with 4:45 left in the third quarter.

To make things even more interesting, Howe faced a 4th and 1 from their own 46. Four plays later, they were turned away just inches short of the first. This time, however, Grandview was also turned away as Howe's heart and soul linebacker Hartsfield stepped in front of an intended receiver and picked off the pass to give the Bulldogs the ball at their own 28 yard line. Unfortunately for Howe, that drive ended with a Matthews punt.

Grandview took the ball at midfield with one minute remaining in the third quarter in a tie game. They drove 14 plays and scored on a reverse slot back pass from English back to Moon who had ran a pattern to the corner of the endzone. The touchdown gave Grandview their first lead of the night and 20 unanswered points. Hartsfield blocked the extra point which as picked up by Brennan Ross, but he was brought down around the 25 yard line. All of the momentum had swung to Grandview with 8:03 left in the game.

After a good return by Matthews, Howe started at their own 48 and quickly drove the needed 52 yards on 8 plays. By this time, Grandview wanted no part of Grisham and he scored from 4 yards out. Howe regained the lead, 21-20 with 5:16 left.

Grandview then drove 56 yards on 7 plays and scored on a 37 yard Moon to Rollison pass. The successful two-point conversion gave Grandview the 28-21 lead. But Howe had 3:31 on the clock and needed 62 yards to score. Not giving in to pressure, Howe never threw the ball once and never panicked. They methodically drove the field and Masters popped one from 19 yards out to put the Riverboat Gambler ready to lay them all on the table.

Howe will play Jefferson (9-2) Friday night at 7:30 in Lindale, Texas at Lindale Eagle Stadium. The game, as always, will be broadcast live at howenterprise.com, but we urge you to make the drive to support your hometown kids. They deserve it.

Men of Faith now meeting on Wednesdays at FUMC

Bruce Evans and men of the community have began a Wednesday night "Men of Faith" meeting for Howe area men. The meetings take place at 6:30 pm.

"We put chairs in a circle, pray up, have a short message, and then go around the circle talking about any part of anyone's faith that they want to express. It's that simple. We' don't ask anyone to defend their faith, nor attempt to teach anyone or correct anyone." Evans said in a statement.

The first meeting was held last Wednesday in the portable building at First United Methodist Church in Howe.

"This group is about supporting each other in our walks with Christ with understanding and sharing." said Evans.

with Christianity forever. One night an atheist boastfully proclaimed his satanic doctrine to a poor countryman. "Everything," he ranted, "will be abolished--churches, Bibles, clergymen. Yes, even the word God itself! We shall remove everything that speaks of religion." The listener gave a quiet chuckle. "Why do you laugh?" demanded the other. The peasant pointed to the stars and replied, "I was just wondering how you and your crew would manage to get them down!" Nothing prepares us to read the Word of God more than an appreciation of His sovereignty. Look to the heavens and realize God's sovereignty.

"The joy of the Lord is your strength," Nehemiah 8-9
The walls of Jerusalem had just been completed but there was something lacking. The Israelites had finished rebuilding the walls of Jerusalem, but their lives were in shambles. They spent seventy years in Babylonian captivity. "But see, we are slaves today, slaves in the land You gave our forefathers so they could eat its fruit and the other good things it produces. Because of our sins, its abundant harvest goes to the kings You have placed over us. They rule over our bodies and our cattle as they please. We are in great distress." Nehemiah 9:36. The people had forgotten their spiritual heritage while captive in a foreign land. They had forgotten their native language and couldn't understand God's word, but most of all they had forgotten God. As a result their lives were in great distress. The people could see the connection between the sins of their own hearts and their situation. They had experienced its destruction. As they were on rock bottom they began to realize that God has a wonderful message of salvation. It is in His joy that they could find strength to put their lives back together. Revival begins with the truth of the Word of God. It begins with each personal decision to follow the teachings of Christ. During the French Revolution many leaders were determined to do away

In the book of Jeremiah, Ezra read the Law of Moses to the people. The priest went through the crowds teaching the meaning of message. The Bible has a distinct message for our lives. The people saw the relevancy of the message were to their lives. God's word began to make sense to them because they saw themselves in it. As we study the Bible we can see God's concern and care for His people. Jeremiah had prophesied the destruction that the Israelites were now suffering. But he also gave them a promised that their mourning would turn to joy. God promised to bring them from the land of captivity and Nehemiah described how they would return. The Lord says: "I, the Lord, will bring My people back from Babylonia and everywhere else on earth. The blind and the lame, the expectant mother and women that is about to give birth will come and be a part of a great crowd. They will weep and pray as I lead them. I will lead them to walk by streams of waters. They will walk on level ground and not stumble. I am a Father to Israel, My favorite children," Jeremiah 31:8-9. This is a message of care and hope. The book of Nehemiah reveals the fulfillments of Jeremiahs prophesy. The Israelites were living it and the relevancy of the word of God. When they understood the message of salvation and how it applied to them personally they rejoiced! The joy of the Lord becomes our strength as we realize that we can only come to God from where we are. As they stood there with their lives in shambles they grieved over their sins. They weren't told "I told you so" or "you should have known better" or "look what a mess your life is in". But they are told to go and celebrate because this day is sacred to the Lord. It was the Lord's joy that made it a sacred day. God had deliberately led them to this moment in time. It wasn't just a lucky day, it was the day of the Lord and He had fulfilled His promise to set them free! The Israelites were returning to God on this special day! There was a celebration in Heaven as the angels gathered around to rejoice for the coming home of sinners! The best day in a person's life is when they cry as the relevancy of the Word of God is being made real to them. "Sing to the LORD, you saints of His; praise His holy name. For His anger lasts only a moment, but His favor lasts a lifetime; weeping may remain for a night, but rejoicing comes in the morning," Psalms 30:4-5. Mourning and regret comes when we realize that we lived our life wrong but joy comes when we discover God's instructions on how to put our lives back His way. When the Word of God is opened and understood, people begin to understand themselves. It is through knowing God that you begin to know who you are through His eyes. You are made in God's image and it is here that you can discover the joy of the Lord as your strength.

It's difficult to build upon what's right until you confirm what's wrong. It's the wrong that keeps us on rock bottom. As we spend time in God's word He reveals the wrong in our life and teaches us the correct way to live. We don't like to be rebuked, but God's ways puts us back on the proper course. The resounding message of repentance runs through out the Bible. We don't like negative messages and initially repentance comes across as a negative message, but in reality it's the only thing that can lead us to a very positive step forward. When we take that step into God's will, we discover that our strength is the joy of the Lord. Jesus says, "Except you repent . . . you will perish." Until we approach God with an attitude of repentance, the Bible's message for us will remain foreign. There is a dire need for the world to change the direction it's headed. But that only comes through changing our minds about what's right and it requires knowing and acknowledging what is wrong. It's in turning to God that we realize our emptiness. There was a void in the Israelites that brick and mortar could not fill. They had experienced the famine that had been prophesied to Israel before the Babylonian captivity. "The days are coming", declares the Sovereign LORD, "when I will send a famine through the land - not a famine of food or a thirst for water, but a famine of hearing the words of the LORD. Men will stagger from sea to sea and wander from north to east, searching for the word of the LORD, but they will not find it. In that day the lovely young women and strong young men will faint because of thirst," Amos 8:11-13.

Our Nation has voted for change and change it will see. The joy of the Lord is everlasting and who is president does not change it. The debt of disagreement during this election shows the need for every Christian to be a witness of the salvation of Jesus Christ.

Learn about antiques and collectibles with Dr. Georgia Caraway

This week's column explains various definitions and classifications for silver items. Although some view silver as difficult to care for and prefer using stainless or other easy-care metals, many are coming back to decorating with and using silver objects in their homes. I attribute this to the shabby chic look and to the hugely popular style of steam punk (also known as neo-Victorianism and romantic-gothic). This look includes the use of industrial elements made of wood, metals, polished brass and leather. And allows for and encourages UNPOLISHED tarnished silver!!

The STERLING standard, is a term denoting 11 1/10 ounces of pure silver in 12 ounces Troy weight of metal with the remaining metal being copper. (Troy weight is 12 ounces instead of 16.; a troy pound is 20 pennyweights.)

With the introduction of the US Stamping Act of 1906, silver was comprised of 925 silver of a total 1000 (.925, 92.5%) of pure silver with the remainder being copper. American sterling is marked sterling or 925. Sterling is malleable and durable due to the addition of copper. One gram of silver can be drawn into a wire more than a mile long.

HALLMARKS in England can indicate sterling, as denoted by the lion passant (heraldic animal walking to the left with the farther forepaw raised.) This marking system was established in England in the 1300s. Any piece that is made of sterling—92.5% pure silver—is stamped with hallmarks, proof that the silver meets all requirements of the silversmiths' guild, or hall, thus the name hallmark.

Four marks are shown on English silver pieces--the maker's mark, the English sterling standard mark of the lion passant, the town where the material was assayed or tested for purity, and the year in which the object was produced, and perhaps a 5th mark for the duty mark (attests that the duty was paid—used between 1784-1890).

Prosperous folks in America in just about every city of any size took coins to the local silversmith to be melted down and fashioned into spoons, tankards, porringers, and other household items. The great majority of American COIN SILVER dates from about 1790 to 1870. Master craftsmen were proud of their work and identified their items either with initials or their name on the back or bottom. In addition, the words coin, pure coin, dollar, standard, premium, or letter "c" or "D" were placed on the silver to indicate that it was 900 out of 1000 parts silver—the standard of coins at the time. Some silversmiths added the town of origin or the American eagle.

GERMAN SILVER is made of nickel, copper and zinc to imitate silver but is slightly more gray in color. The German silver name was dropped during WWI and the term nickel silver was used thereafter.

Unlike the French and English, the Mexican government showed little interest in regulating the quality of their silver. Until the 1950s, Mexican silversmiths showed little regard for the 925 standard for sterling. Some of the MEXICAN SILVER stamped sterling falls below the universally accepted standard.

SILVER PLATE falls into two categories. Electroplate uses the method of covering one metal with a thin layer of silver by electrolysis. Copper, brass, nickel or German silver, and bronze were commonly plated with silver. The acronyms EPC, EPBM, EPNS, EPWM are often seen on silverplate objects. Quadruple plate is the method where electrodes are used to attach 4 layers of ionized silver liquid to

Texas History Minute:

Dr. Ken Bridges

Dr. Bridges is a Texas native, writer, and history professor. He can be reached at drkenbridges@gmail.com.

Sometimes the most unlikely people are the ones who change the world. Those remarkable individuals who find the inner strength to remake themselves can remake the world around them. Tech giant and Texas native James Henry Clark is one such individual.

Clark was born in Plainview, a medium-sized Panhandle ranching community, in 1944. He was very bright, but he was distracted by a troubled home life. His parents divorced in the 1950s, and his mother worked very meager jobs to try to support the three children. He steadily got into more trouble at school. When he was in high school, his various misdeeds got him suspended. Frustrated, he dropped out at the age of 16. Needing work and looking for adventure, he joined the navy.

The navy changed his life. The service offered many educational opportunities, and Clark earned his high school equivalency diploma and became interested in electronics. After his stint in the navy, he found himself in New Orleans and began making plans to restart his education. He went to night school at Tulane University hoping to gain enough credits to be admitted into a regular college program. Eventually, he gained admission to the University of New Orleans, majoring in physics. He earned both a bachelors degree and a masters degree within a few years. Along the way, Clark married and had two daughters.

In 1974, he earned a Ph.D. in computer science from the University of Utah and was quickly offered a teaching position at the University of California at Santa Cruz. The one-time high school dropout had in just over a decade earned a doctorate and become a college professor. While this turnaround in his life would by itself be an inspirational story, it was just the beginning of the journey for James Clark.

Clark wanted to do more than just teach. He started doing research and consulting work on the side. In 1978, he began work as a professor of electrical engineering at Stanford University. Much of his doctoral work had focused on the emerging field of computer graphics, most of which were still very primitive and unsophisticated by modern standards. He continued his research into creating high-quality, three-dimensional computer images. Working with his students, they created a system called Geometry Engine.

In 1981, Clark left Stanford, borrowed $25,000 from a friend, and started Silicon Graphics, Inc., based on his Geometry Engine. Most of his team from Stanford followed, and the graphics firm became increasingly successful. The corporation worked not just with other corporations, but by the mid-1980s, also found a lot of success producing increasingly sophisticated graphics for movies.

The company was earning tens of millions of dollars by the early 1990s when he began clashing with investors who wanted to restrain his creative style. As a result, he quit and immediately formed a partnership with fellow programmer Marc Andreessen. In 1993, just as the Internet was starting to become widely accessible to the general public, the two announced the creation of Netscape, an extraordinarily successful web-browser program. The new company became a billion-dollar sensation by the time it was sold to America Online in 1999.

Clark continued with other ventures, including a collaboration that eventually became the medical information site WebMD. He has since been known for his charity work, including creating the James H. Clark Center for Biomedical Engineering at Stanford and a scholarship program at Tulane.

Two girls that have played softball together since the age of five enjoyed a great moment together on Thursday as Kayla Anderson signed with Harding University and Madisyn Hargrove signed with North Central Texas College.

than what she had planned at Midwestern. "I've looked forward to this since I was in seventh grade." said Anderson. "I was committed to Midwestern, but when their coach left, I had to scramble. I got a visit and a tryout and the coach liked me." "She's worked long and hard for this." said Loretta Anderson, mother of Kayla Anderson. "She's had this dream in mind and we're proud of her." Madisyn Hargrove's mother Misty was emotional and said that it was dream come true for the family. "Everything that I've worked for is written on that paper." said Madisyn Hargrove. "I've known some people who have gone there and I got some great feedback." Hargrove has everything paid for in her scholarship except for half of her meal plan. She will start workouts this summer, but won't move in until a few weeks before school. "There's been a lot of beat up shins from catching her behind the plate to get here." said Hargrove's father Mike. Both girls are starters on the Lady Bulldogs basketball team, so it will be a few months before they even put the gloves on to prepare for their upcoming softball season.

Comptroller Glenn Hegar Distributes $34,540 in Monthly Sales Tax Revenue to Howe

Howe continued to move up a little in the sales tax revenue department. The total released from the Texas Comptroller Glenn Hegar was $34,540.63 which is up from last month's $24,829.01. Overall, The City of Howe is up 1.25 percent from this time a year ago, however, the city experienced 6 percent growth in 2015 from 2014. Howe would need a remarkable "shop local" campaign between now and the end of the year to see the same increase as 2015.

HOWE COLLINSVILLE

Howe lost to Collinsville 8 to 6 last Friday night. The score at the half was 8 to 0 for Collinsville. Howe scored at the start of the fourth quarter on an 80 yard pass and run from Gary Moody to Steve Cordell. The try for two points failed.

Howe lost the ball five times on fumbles, twice on pass interceptions and twice on side kicks by Collinsville. That is a total of nine times Howe lost the ball and we had a total of eight penalties for a total of 17 mistakes, not counting the missed blocks and tackles. Otherwise the figures were in Howe's favor.

Next Friday night Howe plays S & S at Sadler.

A COMMENT

As we all know one week ago last Saturday night was Halloween. Have you stopped to think how considerate our young people were? Many towns double their police force on Halloween. Property is destroyed, windows are marked, and a lot of extra work is caused. Many times trash cans and old cars are piled in the streets. As far as I know we didn't have this at all in Howe this year. I don't know about years past because I didn't live here then. The young people went "Trick or Treating" and those who came to our house were thoughtful and considerate. It was a joy to have them. For one, I want to congratulate them on their good behavior. We have good kids in Howe. I pray God will help them to grow into mature and responsible citizens. They are making a fine start.

DENISON DRYS WANT VOTE ON LIQUOR

Denison:—An organization seeking to dry up liquor and beer sales in Denison has been formed here and will seek a local option election at a time yet to be determined. An organizational meeting was held Sunday.

Armed with statistics purporting to show a major increase in law violations after liquor was legalized in 1960, the group is known as the Denison Council on Alcoholic Problems. Drive-in cater operator Ed Jantzen was named president. Three other officers are Baptist ministers, H. C. Garber, Darold Baldwin, and Barnett Rippetoe.

Several other special committees were named to complete the organization.

No timetable for filing of the formal petition request with the county clerk for the election has been set up yet. Two previous meetings of smaller groups were held prior to Sunday's gathering which was attended by approximately 500 persons.

Council officials were pleased with the turnout, noting that announcements from local church pulpits was the only publicity.

Speakers at the meeting brought out statistics on local arrests to back up their call for an election effort to vote Denison dry. They cited an increase of driving while intoxicated arrests from 40 in 1959, Denison's last dry year, to 85 in 1963; total arrests up from 951 to 1,929; drunkenness arrests up from 357 to 1,220 and other similar increases.

The city income from 1963 1963 liquor and beer licenses bees, $1,761, was compared to $1,822 received from dog licenses.

One teenage girl stood with tears in her eyes to protest the freedom with which boys and girls can buy alcoholic beverages here.

Jantzen noted that the campaign to vote Denison dry is not so much aimed at the people who sell liquor but rather against the general evil of alcoholic beverages.

Denison voted wet in July of 1960 by a margin of only 70 votes out of a total of 5,190 cast.

Mrs. C. T. Keith of Amilario is guest in the home of Mrs. A. M. Ferguson.

PATROLMAN HAS ACCIDENT

A Texas Department of Public Safety employee, Roger Maynard, on Sunday afternoon decided to go out in the country and practice a little on a "quick draw". While there as he was engaged in this necessary practice as he pulled his gun, a 45 out of the holster and was cocking it at the same time the gun caught on something and his thumb slipped of the hammer and the gun went off, the bullet striking him on the right thigh about the front pocket ranging downward coming out just above the knee; passing through about seven inches of the flesh of his leg, but not touching the bone.

This happened when he was alone in Mr. Bill Mayo's pasture where he was shooting into a bank. He was able to get to his car and drive home where he enlisted the assistance of Mr. Mayo who took him to the Wilson Jones Hospital in Sherman where he was treated and released.

He only missed one day at work and returned to his duty Tuesday where, currently it is giving driving tests to those applying for driver's license.

HOWE'S THAT

The Howe Enterprise

THE HOWE ENTERPRISE, THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 11, 1971, VOL. VIII--No. 17

They finally made it — Communist China was recently voted a member of the United Nations, and the Republic of China, one of the founders, was booted out.

Reminds me of a group of which I was a member a few years ago. Bunch of us boys in the neighborhood got together and organized a club. Our first action was to vote that no other members would be voted into the club. Shortly thereafter, a five-foot eleven, 200 pounder (the reason for the exclusion clause) made it known that unless he was admitted to full membership in our organization, he would kick down the club (smoke) house and bloody a few noses. At a called meeting, he was unanimously voted in to replace "Skinney" McDougal, who resigned.

It was a bad decision. In our haste, we forgot that Skinney owned the club house and most important, the largest collection of comic books.

As for the United Nations — do you know who was among the first to come out and say they were going to support the decision? Who else but Senators Humphrey, Kennedy, McGovern and Muskie.

Quote from Senator Barry Goldwater:

"The United States should quit the United Nations and send its headquarters off to Moscow or Peking."

Goldwater is right. The only thing the United Nations ever did was and is to serve as a propaganda platform for the Communists.

And we taxpayers are kicking in $139 million a year to assist them.

They shouldn't have kicked out "Skinney" Tiawan.

Bill Hall, formerly of Howe, was in town Monday visiting friends and "sightseeing", as he put it. Bill said he is a former employee of "The Howe Herald", which was owned by a couple of his brothers some 58 years ago.

Maybe some of the youngsters around here will remember Bill and the Herald.

In case you haven't noticed, pipe-wrappin', anti freeze, jacket weather is upon us.

Thanksgiving is just around the corner, and Christmas and the New Year are less than six weeks away.

Thirty-six shopping days until Christmas.

The reason mistakes are so hard to face, is that they are, oh, so hard to erase.

City ordinances screened by council

Enforcement of existing ordinances was discussed at length by city officials at regular meeting last Thursday.

City's dog ordinance will receive more attention in the future, after it was determined the canine's are again increasing in number, running loose, and otherwise creating a problem.

Probability of employing a part-time police officer, who would also handle the dog problem, was aired, though no official action was taken.

Weed and grass ordinance, pertaining to property owners not mowing or having property mowed to comply with the ordinance was also studied, with violators to be notified by mail in the future prior to action by the city. Ordinance calls for mowing by the city, charged to the property owner, for violations.

In other business, council turned down a proposal by the Pittsburg Tank and Tower Co. to clean and repaint the city's water tower at a cost of $2,035, pending examination by someone selected by the city.

Denied a request for placement of a mobile home in the

for a three county area, Grayson, Fannin and Cooke. The radio network will link law enforcement departments over the area, and was provided under a federal program.

South part of the city. Council also adopted a policy for denying placement of mobile homes except in the general locality of the homes already on location in the city. The policy was recommended by members of the Planning and Zoning Commission;

Determined method for garbage pickup charges for business firms, which is based on "amount and type" of refuse picked up;

Turned delinquent city tax list over to an attorney for collection;

Discussed vacancy of the Municipal Judge's chair next January. The position is currently filled by Councilman Jimmy Don McMillion. Judge can either be appointed by the Mayor or elected by qualified voters;

Heard a report by Mayor Lloyd Butts that a contract had been let by the Regional Planning Commission for radio equipment for law officers.

Cindy and Steve Beck has opened a new auto repair shop in Howe

Howe's that Advanced Automotive opens in Howe

by Lana Rideout

"Mom always liked you best!"

- A favorite line from two of my all time favorites, The Smothers Brothers.

Last Thursday night my husband and I enjoyed a live performance by this singing comedy duo who have been performing for 48 years. (My how time flies!) My younger sister and I were big fans of these two back in our teenage years. I can still sing from memory some of their comedy routines. My husband has always enjoyed their antics through TV appearances and their own TV show.

We knew we were in for a treat when just before the beginning of the show, we heard a familiar voice say, "Two minutes till show time ... two minutes." Then soon we heard "One minute till show time." Followed shortly by "Five minutes till show time."

When Tom and Dick Smothers came onto the stage, the audience applauded loudly and for the rest of the show we all enjoyed their zany comedy singing, a performance by the YoYo Man (aka Tom Smothers), and a brief slide show w/movie clips about their career.

One of the songs they sang was "Impossible Dream" from Man of LaMancha. They sang it beautifully, but then Dick asked Tom to explain the meaning of the impossible dream. Tom launched into an explanation that made little sense. Often Tom gets going on some sidebar as if talking just to hear himself talk. It sounds as if he is making it up as he goes. Dick stands by looking at him in exasperation and chides him for not knowing what he is talking about.

These two guys are in their late 60's, but they put a lot of fun and energy into their performance. I hope they go for another 48 years!

Steve Beck and his wife Christy have recently opened Advanced Automotive, a complete auto repair service, in Howe. They are located at 412 W. Haning Ave, at the corner of Highway 75 access road.

The Becks live in the Pilot Grove area with their daughter Aundrea, 12. Steve has 20 years experience in auto repair. He has worked for Daniels & Fry in McKinney, Hyundai of Sherman, Steve's Auto Repair in Van Alstyne and other repair businesses.

Christy says that her experience comes from her father who has 40 years experience in the business. "I have heard him tell of problems with a car one evening,, then announce to the family what it took to fix it the next." In addition, when she got her first car, the maintenance was her responsibility. She had to fix it herself when something went wrong.

They offer Complete Auto Service, including but not limited to State inspections, tires, engine service, foreign and domestic, and both have their A/C license for air conditioning service.

They are open Monday through Friday from 8 till 5 and Saturday from 8 till noon. Stop by 412 W. Haning and visit them, or call 903-532-1841.

Transportation improvements hit record high FM 121 in Van Alstyne project to start Spring 2007

Sherman, TX - Work to improve mobility in Texas has hit an all time high with the Texas Department of Transportation awarding a record $5.3 billion in construction projects in fiscal 2006.

Local projects that began during the 12-month period include:

US 75 Safety Bond project, which includes adding concrete median barrier from FM 902 to Travis Street in Sherman. The contract was let for $2.1 million and should be completed in November.

FM 121 project in Van Alstyne will reconstruct the roadway from a 2-lane road to a 4-lane facility with a raised median and left turn bays. The project let for $3.2 million and work is scheduled to begin in spring 2007.

FM 87 new location project in Fannin County was let for $1 million and work should begin in early 2007.

"We are working every day to reduce congestion, enhance safety, expand economic opportunity, improve air quality and increase the value of transportation assets," said Mike Behrens, TxDOT executive director.

The $5.3 billion in transportation projects easily surpassed the previous yearly total of $ 4.5 billion in fiscal 2005 and nearly doubled what was spent statewide just four years ago.

State transportation leaders say nearly half of the money used in fiscal 2006 was the result of innovative financial tools - including the Texas Mobility Fund and State Highway Fund bonds - authorized by the Texas legislature and approved by Gov. Rick Perry and Texas voters.

"The mobility fund and highway fund bonds provided $2.4 billion more in transportation improvements since August of last year," said Behrens. "That translates in better mobility and safety for Texas motorists."

The mobility fund provides new revenue for transportation, while highway fund bonds allow the state to borrow against existing transportation dollars.

Other tools being used to speed transportation projects include:

*Regional mobility authorities to enable communities to take control of transportation issues and accelerate solutions.

*The Texas metropolitan mobility plan to provide preects, empower local leaders to solve local transportation problems, increase competition to drive down costs, and demand consumer-driven decisions, Behrens added.

Progress is being made locally to improve transportation. The Sherman Area Office of TxDOT utilized partnerships with local governmental entities to speed project construction. The City of Van Alstyne was responsible for providing the extra right-of-way and ensuring utilities were clear for the FM 121 project, and Fannin County provided right-of-way and utility relocation for the FM 87 project. TxDOT's Safety bond program financed the US 75 median barrier project.

Sherman Area Engineer Kevin Harris said, "We have been heavily involved in working with the new tools made available by HB 3588 and HB 2702, as well as partnering with our local officials to develop needed projects in our area. City and county officials, economic development corporations, as well as private developers are coming forward with an open and willing attitude to work together with TxDOT in achieving the common goals of improving safety, mobility and expanding economic opportunities in our area."

Paris District Engineer Bobby Littlefield congratulated Harris and his staff stating, "I want to thank Kevin and his staff for their hard work and dedication that allowed the Paris District to get these local projects funded, designed, and let to construction. I commend these employees for their efforts in bringing improved safety and mobility to the citizens of Grayson and Fannin Counties, and we will continue to be aggressive in developing highway improvement projects in this area."

dictable transportation funding to the state's eight largest urban areas so they can plan better.

*Pass through finance agreements so local governments can accelerate needed transportation improvements.

*Comprehensive development agreements which allow private investments in the Texas Transportation System.

*Low interest loans from the State Infrastructure Bank to help local governments fund transportation improvements.

Still, not enough funding is available to meet the state's rapidly growing transportation needs, according to Behrens.

"We have an $86 billion gap between what we can afford and what we need to do to meet the mobility needs by 2030," said Behrens.

To bridge the gap, TxDOT will use all financial options to build transportation proj-
