

Howe's That

The Howe Youth Football upcoming 5th and 6th grade team has won the Red River League Super Bowl each of the last two years that these classes have been paired together. On their Facebook page, it lists those accomplishments and team photos holding the trophies in elation after the wins. That could have played into an enthusiastic group of newcomers that want to be on a special team. Over the weekend, the team that usually fields 16 or so players now has double that amount at 32. How would you like to be Head Coach Mike Portman trying to get 32 players playing time in four 7-minute quarters. I have a feeling there are going to be quite a few disgruntled parents by the end of the season. But Portman makes the big volunteer bucks for a reason. One would imagine there will be candid conversations tonight before the first practice at Hash Field.

Varsity football games will once again be broadcast here on howeenterprise.com this fall starting with the first game with the defending state champion Gunter Tigers at home on Sept. 1. We've upgraded our system and hopefully by then will have tested all aspects and will have no technical issues with the new format. If you are a part of a business that would like to be involved in the audio broadcast please let us know. It is extremely affordable.

Also, FBC Howe is sponsoring the Howe Bulldogs Coaches Show with Zack Hudson and Ryan Litchfield, the youth minister there will be producing the coaches show with all of his fine shiny gadgets. Therefore, the coaches show will see big production upgrade as well. There is room for one more sponsor of the coaches show. Contact us at news@howeenterprise.com.

When 'someone needs to...', it's been Thurman

Howe youth sports volunteer Scott Thurman (back row middle) sets a high bar for future generations.

At the youth ballfields, the phrases were often heard, "Someone needs to build a better bathroom", "someone needs to build a better concession stand", "someone needs to empty the trash cans", "someone needs to mow", "someone needs to fix the backstop", etc. Most of the time, it was Scott Thurman who put his time and sweat into the majority of those concerns. Even when he worked tirelessly on projects, he still heard

New coordinators lead annual football camp, discuss philosophies

recommended by him to take the job when he left," said Segleski. "We struggled a little bit being in the same district with Argyle, Celina, Carrollton Ranchview, Frisco Lonestar, and their numbers were a lot higher than ours, but kids always really played really hard and I'm really proud of what we did there."

New Howe Defensive Coordinator Mike Segleski is the former head coach at Aubrey and was hand-picked by the the state of Texas' winningest high school football coach G.A. Moore to succeed him in that position there in 2012. Segleski, who has since spent the last three years at Princeton.

Segleski will be in total command of the defense which will be new for Hudson who has always been the head coach and defensive coordinator.

he's done here with the defense," said Segleski. "Being able to have that control is great and I have a lot of respect for him. Watching them take the state champions (Mineola) down the wire speaks for itself and it's definitely a great opportunity."

Segleski says the kids in camp this week reminded of his days of being the defensive coordinator at Pilot Point and Collinsville years ago because of the attitudes of the kids along with their work ethic.

"They're going to play hard-nosed defensive football because that mentality is already in place," said Segleski. "So that's what I look for."

He said that Howe will continue to run a simple 3-4 style of defense due to all of the spread offenses. It's the same style as what G.A. Moore used at Celina. His philosophy is to play hard and fast instead of using exotic schemes.

New Offensive Coordinator Michael Hartsfield said that the camp was a great way to see the kids abilities outside of just summer workouts and he thinks the future is brighter than people may think.

"Clay Barnett is a prototypical wing-T running back and he's going to be a freshman," said Hartsfield. With the freshman class coming, the seventh grade class and the sixth grade class, that's when we expect fun times here in Howe. We will make some serious runs just like Howe has recently."

Hartsfield thinks the varsity can win right away depending on how the kids adjust to the switch from the slot-T to the wing-T. While the offenses are very similar in style, the terminology is a big difference and there will be a learning curve for the kids in the program.

"We're still going to run the football," said Hartsfield. "We're going to block down, kick out and run it right down them and see what they can do."

With the wing-T, Hartsfield expects to be able to take advantage of 6' 6" senior wide receiver Ty Harvey.

"Instead of throwing the ball one time a game, we might throw it 10," said Hartsfield. "In Howe, we're not going to out-athlete anybody and that's why we're running the wing-T and still going to run the football. Howe has run the ball for over 4,000 yards the past two years, so that's going to be our bread and butter. But we're going to be able to throw the ball with a purpose and accuracy. We can be 7 of 10 and back those safeties up. It's hard to get a read with 11 guys in the box. Harvey is a red zone threat and we have Devin Porter who is a 6' 3" tight end and that's great for the wing-T bootleg."

Camp was well attended with about 35 kids overall.

LED bulbs that has saved the city money. Thurman was able to work with Howe City Administrator Joe Shephard and the city council to help cover the cost of the city improvements. His labor was a donation to the city, to the community, to his kids, and to all Howe kids.

Texas Instruments has been the gift that keeps on giving to Howe. A story was featured a few weeks ago on Linda Wall and her volunteering contributions to the business community of Howe thanks to a relocation by her family to the T.I. plant in Sherman. The youth of Howe have now been the beneficiary of a relocation to plant just north of Howe. Thurman, originally of Eufala, Oklahoma, was able to land a position at T.I. thanks to his brother Brad, who had been recruited there also. Scott and his new bride Joyce moved to a new house in Dorchester in June of 1997 and had their first child, a daughter named Taylor, in 2000. Three years later they had a boy named Austin.

Taylor played softball one year and their team went undefeated which Thurman knew she'd be hooked, but decided to only play that one year. But son Austin took to baseball and was hooked.

complaints from those that wanted "someone" to do something. Thurman took it upon himself to build a better restroom facility at Ferguson Field a number of years ago. The prior facilities were not something a lady would want to experience. After completion of that project, he worked to complete a much larger restroom facility at Bi-Centennial Park for the two fields (Hash and North) to share. Not to be done, Thurman worked to construct a new concession stand at North Field, new concrete dougouts, backstop and netting at North Field and spearheaded the project to replace all of the lights on both fields with

The Scott Thurman family.

Jay Quintero called and asked Thurman to be his assistant coach that first year.

"I didn't know baseball at all," said Thurman. "In high school I played basketball. I knew basketball - I didn't know baseball. I only played t-ball one year growing up."

Thurman agreed to help him and in the first practice of the season, Quintero's home catches on fire which led to him not having time to coach which left Thurman in charge of a team in a sport he knew very little about.

"That week I went to my brother Brad's practices and learned his drills and tried to figure it all out," said Thurman. "Luckily it was 6U and all I needed to teach them was how to hold a bat and put on a glove and throw it.

Thurman figured his coaching duties would last for one season and he would be able to hand it over to someone who knew the ins and outs of the game.

"But as I've learned, once you get a guy who's willing to coach, he's always asked to coach," said Thurman.

Coaches that volunteer their time to the maintenance of the fields are not only asked to coach again, but they are often asked to join the baseball board.

Getting involved in coaching 6U meant that he and his family were spending a lot of time at Ferguson Field where he quickly found out that his daughter and wife would not use the restroom facilities at the park because they were in such disrepair.

Thurman went to Shephard, whom he'd had never met, and told him that the bathrooms were horrible and asked if he could tear them down and build new ones. Shephard told him that if he was willing to volunteer to do it, he would let him. Thurman offered to pay for the building in hopes of families that use it would pitch in on the cost. At that point, Shephard told him that the city would reimburse him for the cost of the building if he brought him the receipts.

"I didn't even know Kent (Akins) back then. And in hindsight I was insulting Kent (the youth baseball commissioner) because I didn't get the baseball board's permission and didn't even let them know I was doing it," said Thurman.

The moms enjoyed such an improvement at Ferguson Field, they wanted new restroom facilities at Hash Field as their kids progressed from one field to another.

"When Austin went over there, that's when I started on those," said Thurman. "I had great help from Kent and Adam Riggs and several other dads."

Thanks to Riggs bringing his wife to board meetings, the voice of the mom was heard and the restroom agenda was never tabled and it came number one on the agenda.

While Thurman was working on the restroom facility, a citizen stopped by to tell him he was wasting his time because no one would clean it. Thurman's response was that he hoped if the community had something that they weren't ashamed of, they would feel the need to maintain it.

The larger restroom between Hash and North Field cost a significant amount more than the small bathrooms at Ferguson which meant Thurman had to go in front of the city council to request funds for the project. The city agreed to pay for half of the building and funds were to be raised for the remainder.

"I had a target of $8,000 and for that project the donations came pretty easily," said Thurman. "I just hit every business and for $500 they got their name on the plaque on the building."

Magni-Fab helped with some metal inside the building and Akins helped with painting the CLOSING IN WINDOWS at the Elementary School Building is underway this week as one phase of the remodeling program undertaken this month. The window openings are to be closed with the exception of narrow vertical fixed windows. Air-conditioning, lowering of ceilings, new electrical wiring, and repainting the interior will complete the program. Contractor for the work is N. R. Langford Construction Company here. Program is financed through a $60,000 bond sale approved by board members last month.

Howe Enterprise September 3, 1970

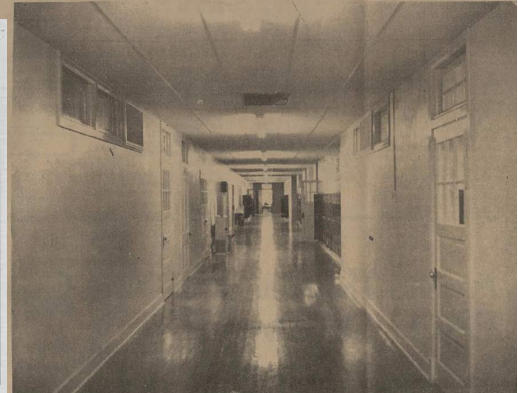

Students returning to the Junior High School this year found a 'new look' in the interior and exterior of the building. Hallway, top, glistens with new paint in addition to new lower ceilings, new wiring and lighting fixtures, and water coolers. Air-conditioning was added with windows removed and closed in, except for smaller vertical glass. Lower photo shows one of the classrooms.

Friends are the greatest blessings in life

I was thinking the other day about how wonderful it is to have friends and how rare it is to have good ones. I believe we can all agree there are levels and categories with the people we know that range from those who seem like a brother or sister to the casual acquaintance. Our special friends help celebrate our victories and console us when we fail and we can trust them with everything. You know that if anything serious were to happen, they would be by your side all the way to the end. In this day and age of electronic relationships, it's refreshing to have someone we can confide in, to sit down with and be transparent as we share our heart. We were not created to be an independent island to ourselves but rather are given an internal sense of the need for love and to develop a covenant bond with others.

Friendship is all about sincerely caring for another person without any false motives or reasons. We realize that many people who know us are not really connected with us and that is alright. We accept that we will not be best friends with everyone and no doubt that most of our casual friends also have this same mutual feeling about us. Have you ever been talking with someone and as they ask how you are, they instantly move on to another subject before you hardly have a chance to answer? I believe that true friends ask about us out of sincerity and are really interested in what is going on in our life. Those who are happy when we are on the mountain and cry when we are going through a dark valley can be placed on our short list of individuals who love and care about us. Donna Roberts is quoted as saying, "A true friend knows the song in my heart and sings it to me when my memory fails."

The story of Jesus praying in the garden of Gethsemane just before he was to be crucified, allows us to see a brief moment of His human side and how He really wanted the spiritual and emotional support of His friends as He was going through a very difficult time. Within this mental image we can know that God definitely understands about loneliness and the value of having someone walk with us in our journey. Jesus knew that His time was near and He asked three of His closest friends to accompany Him to this quiet place where He could spend some time praying to His Heavenly Father. When they arrived, he asked them to stay awake and pray as He was going on a little further down the path. As He walked away it's clear that He felt an overwhelming sadness and anguish as His words are recorded, "My soul is exceedingly sorrowful, even unto death: tarry ye here, and watch with Me." You can read the account in Matthew chapter twenty-six and verses 36-56, which also includes Him falling on His face and crying; "O my Father, if it be possible, let this cup pass from Me: nevertheless, not as I will, but as Thou wilt." After a while, He returns to hopefully receive some positive encouragement but instead finds them asleep. This happens on three separate occasions and the last time He stood over them and with compassion said to sleep on now and take your rest. Even though they could not hold their eyes open does not mean they did not love Him because they truly did, (and by the way, I would say we would have not been able to stay awake either). My point is that we all want our closest friends around us when we are walking through our experiences whatever they are. There is an old saying that explains how there comes a time in our life when we realize who actually matters, who never did, who is not around anymore and who will always be there. When we are in the hospital or in the nursing home and our family and friends are holding our hands, we can thank God for giving us our greatest blessings.

Dr. Holland lives in Central Kentucky with his wife Cheryl, where he is a Christian author and community outreach chaplain. Request a free copy of his new CD at: billyhollandministries.com measuring kiln temperatures accurately and the new ware types Black Basalt and Jasper Ware.

Jasperware soon became their most popular design. It is noted for its matte and unglazed bisque finish and is produced in a number of different colors, of which the best known is a pale blue that has become known as Wedgwood Blue. Relief decorations (typically in white but also in other colors) are characteristic of Wedgwood jasperware. They are produced in molds and applied to the ware as sprigs and to form female or male figures, vases, and other designs,

In 1987, Wedgwood merged with Waterford Crystal to create Waterford Wedgwood, an Ireland-based luxury brands group. Waterford Wedgwood was purchased by the New York City-based private equity firm KPS Capital Partners in 2009, and became part of a group of companies known as WWRD Holdings Ltd., an acronym for "Waterford Wedgwood Royal Doulton." In 2015, Fiskars Corporation (best known for its orange handled scissors) acquired WWRD.

Dr. Georgia Caraway, and her friends, opened the Howe Mercantile at 107 East Haning in April 2015. Store hours are Wednesday through Saturday noon until 8 p.m. Come see the two new vendors in the shop, Smitten and Kay's Kreations. In the next two weeks Yvette will be adding aromatherapy and essential oils to the Mercantile. And we are negotiating with a maker of pure goat soap to be offered in the shop for sale. Georgia, former director of the Denton County Museums for 14 years, has written five Denton history books and hopes her next book will be the history of Howe. If anyone has photos that she can copy, please bring them to Howe Mercantile.

Q. What is the difference between pottery marked Wedgwood and Wedgwood other than the obvious "e"?

A. That "e" is very significant. Real Wedgwood does not have the "e." There are copycats of Wedgwood-like wares that are marked with the "e" to trick buyers and collectors into thinking they have purchased the real more valuable pottery. Wedgwood wares do not have the quality and do not have the value of the true Wedgwood.

Wedgwood, is a fine china, porcelain, and luxury accessories company founded in 1759 by Josiah Wedgwood. In 1765, Wedgwood created a new form of earthenware, which impressed the then British Queen consort Charlotte of Mecklenburg-Strelitz who gave official permission to call it "Queen's Ware." This new form sold extremely well across Europe.

In 1766, Wedgwood bought Etruria, a large Staffordshire estate, as both a home and factory site. Wedgwood developed a number of further industrial innovations for his company, notably a way of framework.

Tina Stracener, who was concessions chair for many years expressed her desires for a new concession stand at North Field that didn't have a floor that was uneven from one side to the other.

"We first though we could level it, but then we knew it wouldn't survive," said Thurman. "We again went to the city and asked for help. Joe was so easy to work with and I think the world of him. But he's also very honest, and if the city couldn't afford it, he would quickly let me know.

The concession stand cost came to $6,500 which the Howe Youth Baseball chipped in a portion.

Thurman also made another trip to the city council to upgrade the lighting at the ballfields. The community development eventually paid $18,000 to upgrade them all to LED bulbs which actually saves the city money on the cost to run the lights. But Thurman gives the credit to Eddie Reese, a baseball volunteer employed by GCEC for tackling that project and getting the best price for the upgrades.

Thurman, who was hesitant to do an article, but agreed to do so in hopes that the next generation of volunteers can be recruited. He also agreed to do so in order to hopefully transform those that say, "someone needs to..." to "I need to."

Thurman also wants to let those know that the Howe Youth Baseball organization loses $30 per kid at registration. The only way the volunteer organization overcomes that loss is by hosting tournaments, concessions, selling sponsorships, and selling t-shirts.

"It don't take much of a mistake for that money to be gone," said Thurman. "Those tournaments are hard work and they are hot."

Thurman said that his relationship with Akins, Riggs, and the board members sparked him to want to get some projects going.

"I never wanted to be in charge. I just wanted to be the worker bee," said Thurman. "I do wish we had nicer facilities to start with. People kept staying, 'quit throwing money at those old fields'. But my response was - until there's really a game plan for new fields, lets worry about this generation. I've got one son and he's going to play

Texas History Minute

Dr. Bridges is a Texas native, writer, and history professor. He can be reached at drkenbridges@gmail.com.

The twentieth century transformed the United States from a moderate power only loosely involved in world affairs into a superpower where most questions of foreign relations revolved around American goals and intentions. Much of this transition began taking place during the period just before and just after World War II. Numerous treaties were ratified, planning was required, and many discussions took place in the U. S. Senate. An important part of this work in creating a global role for the United States came from a one-time, small-town attorney from McLennan County, Texas.

Thomas Terry Connally was born on a farm near the small community of Hewitt in McLennan County in August 1877, just after the end of Reconstruction. He graduated from Baylor University in 1896 at age 19 and earned a law degree from the University of Texas in 1898. Immediately after graduation, he enlisted in the army to fight in the Spanish-American War. He believed in the role that America must play in world affairs, but in the meantime, moved to Marlin in Falls County to set up a law practice.

After respected terms in the state legislature and as Falls County Prosecuting Attorney, he was elected to Congress in 1916. America entered World War I in 1917, and Connally, at age 40, briefly resigned from Congress to join the army once again. After his return, he was put on the House Foreign Affairs Committee where he actively supported President Woodrow Wilson's leadership on the world stage and plans for American entry into the League of Nations, an organization dedicated to world peace founded by Wilson. Because of bitterly divisions over the League, American entry failed.

Connally was elected to the U. S. Senate in 1928. He eventually came to serve on the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, becoming its chair in 1941. He supported President Franklin D. Roosevelt's efforts to help arm the Allies as they fought against the Axis Powers. America could not afford to shy way from the demands of a dangerous world. Connally's role as Foreign Relations Chair proved to be invaluable as the nation worked with nations across the globe during World War II.

As World War II neared an end, Connally supported new American leadership in world affairs following the war. Roosevelt himself had supported the American entry into the League of Nations years before and now supported a new organization similarly dedicated to peace and justice among the nations of the world. Roosevelt had referred to the Allies as "the United Nations" since the United Nations Declaration in 1942 and pushed for the creation of a formal organization that united the world's countries.

Connally was a natural choice to serve as a delegate, one of 850 from 51 nations. He met with delegates gathering in San Francisco, California, from other nations to form the United Nations in April 1945. He was named vice-chairman of the Conference on International Organization that formally created the UN. He served as a representative to the first UN conference in London later that year and the second UN conference in 1946 in New York, which later became its permanent headquarters. He also helped the UN begin expanding beyond the initial World War II allies in 1946 by securing the admission of Afghanistan, Iceland, and Sweden to the assembly.

Connally won re-election in 1946. Nationally, the Democrats lost their majority in the Senate in light of President Harry S. Truman's unpopularity. Connally lost his chairmanship of the Foreign Relations Committee but stayed on the committee. He took back the chairmanship when Democrats regained the Senate in 1948. With the Cold War with the Soviet Union deteriorating, a new treaty appeared before the committee that would also have lasting repercussions.

The North Atlantic Treaty allied the United States and eleven other nations into the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. Connally pushed its approval through committee, and it was ratified in the Senate in July 1949 by a vote of 82 to 13. NATO would be the first permanent alliance that the United States had entered into since it allied with France during the American Revolution. NATO became the cornerstone of America's defense against any communist expansion in Europe during the decades-long Cold War.

America's commitments abroad faced another test with the outbreak of the Korean War in 1950. Connally's committee helped provide Truman with the congressional support he needed in organizing for the latest war. Connally also openly defended Truman's controversial firing of Gen. Douglas MacArthur in 1951 for publicly criticizing him.

Connally decided not to seek re-election in 1952. After his retirement, he remained in Washington; and though 75 years old, he opened a law firm. He died in October 1963. He died in a world that now looked to America for leadership to defend the free world.

here, so let's make this as good as we can."

The story of Scott Thurman's volunteerism would be wrapped in a nice shiny bow if it weren't for the constant vandalism done to his buildings that required such hard work and dedication.

"It hurts, you know," said Thurman. "When we did the concession stand, that metal was part of the budget and we knew going in that we had to protect this building. We just tried to replicate what they had done at Ferguson. I just never really thought that our storage units would ever come in to play. I thought we were just locking out kids from taking our chalk and just being mischievous. I never would have dreamed that and an adult or adult-sized person would kick in the door."

He built "prison gate" on the front of the concession stand at the North Field which was recently pulled back in order for someone to gain entrance.

"I placed them three feet in the ground with concrete," said Thurman. "I never dreamed anyone could bend that. I swear they had to hook their car up to it."

Thurman says that they've never lost anything of serious value. No money is left in the concession stands. But what is costly is the $200 doors that have to be replaced on a constant schedule.

While Thurman has been a worker bee volunteer, he says that he's not special and that everyone can help.

"It's like nails on the chalkboard when someone says, 'someone needs to,'" said Thurman. "Someone needs to empty these trash cans. Why does that have to be a board member or a coach? These people have already donated their time to actually get your kid on the field. But it's rare to see a dad go, 'this trash can needs emptied, I think I'm going to go empty it.' Usually the trash cans are already mounded over and people are still trying to put things on top of them. Those trash cans are really a pet peeve of mine because I've mowed the field, I've weed-eated the field, I've drug the field, all before your kid got here. Now I'm coaching your kid and you're throwing trash on the ground for me to pick up."

But none of that even is a part of the actual game where the volunteer coach then gets lambasted by parents if one of the 14 players on the roster doesn't get ample playing time.

"It's tough," said Thurman. "My son didn't always play all-stars. So I get it. I understand how your feelings are hurt. I feel like I had a lot of patience with a lot of those phone calls and letting them know that the coaches are just doing the best they can."

He also stated that sometimes it's the parents that are the reason that their kid might not get picked for all-stars.

"Sometimes the coach has to look at the parents. If they think they're going to have a shot at going to state, that's many weekends together and days in a hotel together and everyone has to get along and trust that the parent will do what the coaches ask," said Thurman. "Such as, please don't swim before our game. If you don't have a parent that's going to listen to you on that and you've worked hard to get there and then the kids walk out dragging knuckles because they've been swimming all day, it can make a difference on which parents get picked for all-stars."

Thurman's contributions to Howe youth sports are not something someone can take lightly. It is not for the faint of heart, the thin-skinned, but even those types can contribute in their own way he believes.

"You see it all the time on Facebook, 'someone needs to', No, you're a part of the community. But Howe is not unique, this happens in every town we play."

As Thurman steps down from the Howe Youth Baseball Board, the old George Jones song fires up in the background, "Who's Gonna Fill Their Shoes." Without his efforts, each of the ballfields would likely still have restrooms unusable and concessions unstable. The time that he spent for the betterment of his community, his family, and your family is to not go without recognition, although unwanted by Thurman. He just wants you to pick up your trash.

STATE—

Absolute social equality of negroes and white persons, including permission of intermarriage, was the aim of the communist party in Texas, witnesses told the Dies committee at Beaumont Friday. Negroes would be allowed to govern those areas in which their population is predominant, the committee was told. It was also pointed out to the committee that many teachers and student leaders in state-supported schools were members of the communist party.

State Democratic leaders foresee a gigantic task ahead of them in carrying Texas for the Democratic nominees for president and vice-president, according to reports from Dallas which were gathered from delegates returning from the national convention. A fight comparable to the Hoover-Smith struggle of 1928 is being anticipated, it was said.

The State Fair of Texas released the 1914 premium list over the week end and disclosed that exhibitors will be offered the largest premium list in the history of the fair. Total premiums offered will total $125,000.

The governor's race developed into a free for all this week with every opposing candidate training his guns on W. Lee O'Daniel. The Governor has been letting no grass grow under his feet and has been making numerous speeches over the state. He declares that he has enough votes to gain re-election without a run-off and is admonishing his audiences to cease worrying about the governor's race and to concentrate on candidates for the legislature.

REV. LEON ENGLAND

A FAMOUS preacher once said, "I always roar when I have nothing to say."

Rev. Leon England, young pastor of the First Christian church never roars. He always has something to say. He has been pastor of the Howe church three years. He is 21 years old. He is a graduate of TCU, receiving his B. A. degree in June. He is serving as assistant pastor of the First Christian church in Greenville this summer, in addition to his work at Howe, and plans to continue his studies at TCU this fall.

He is gifted with a good personality, poise and dignity. His earnestness and enthusiasm comes from a love of his work; his ability to prepare and deliver sermons comes from hard work. One of the hardest things he has to do, he says, is to remember names and he is making this his hobby.

This youth, who is making the ministry his life's work, is getting a good start. He has already gone a long way, and great things are predicted for him in the future. He is an example of Christian youth entering upon a life's work with earnest devotion and determination. He is popular with all who know him.

O'Daniel Apt to Have Run-off

By RICHARD M. MOREHEAD
 United Press Staff Correspondent

Fort Worth—(UP)—The men whose business it is to know public opinion say that Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel will lead the ticket next Saturday in the Democratic primary—but that anything can happen if there is a run-off.

A statewide poll of newspaper editors and political writers shows that O'Daniel, now campaigning again with his sound truck and hillbilly band, will be well ahead in the first primary—polling 40 to 47 per cent of all votes—but that he might be defeated in a run-off.

Indications are that the Governor's second-primary opponent, if he has one, will be either Col. Ernest O. Thompson, Jerry Sadler, Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson or Harry Hines. Thompson, 1933 runner-up, apparently had a slight lead over the others as the race went into its final week but a last-minute swing of sentiment could put any of the four in the favored spot. Sadler is particularly strong in populous East and Southeast Texas, reportedly "neck and neck" with O'Daniel at Houston.

Sample opinion as reported to the United Press included:

An Austin correspondent for three large papers— "O'Daniel must win in the first primary to be re-elected. Opposition will not be such pro-Thompson, pro-Sadler, or pro-anybody as it will be anti-O'Daniel. O'Daniel will get 40 per cent of votes in first primary, and it is between Thompson and Sadler for second place. The one who gets in the run-off will beat O'Daniel."

Gregg county and East Texas— "Sadler strong, running close to O'Daniel, who probably is leading Hines a poor third."

Another from Gregg county — "East Texas will go majority for O'Daniel with Thompson and Sadler behind."

Austin correspondent for a state wide newspaper— "O'Daniel is easily high man and it looks like he will get 40 per cent of the vote in this (Austin) area. Thompson, Mrs. Ferguson, Sadler and Hines should run in the order named."

Another veteran Austin writer— "O'Daniel will get 42 to 47 per cent of the vote in the first primary. Thompson now gaining, Hines losing, others standing still. If Thompson gain continues to election day, he's rather sure of being runner-up. Former defeatist attitude of anti-O'Daniel people will cut first primary vote somewhat— probably 1,100,000 total vote in July. In run-off, sensing opportunity to defeat O'Daniel, there will be considerable number of votes cast against him by people who did not vote in July."

Houston (A survey of several newspaper men)— "Sadler and O'Daniel out in front, with neither definitely out-stripping the other."

Fort Worth — "Observers are guessing who will be in run-off with O'Daniel. . . Thompson appears to be second choice."

HALF-BROTHERS MEET FIRST TIME ACCIDENTLY

Sweetwater—(UP)—Two half-brothers, Leo Hinchaw of Sweetwater and Aubrey Hinchaw of Magnolia, Arkansas, met accidentally here recently for the first time.

The Sweetwater Hinchaw learned that a customer in the shop was from Magnolia, Arkansas, and asked if he knew Oscar Hinchaw in that town.

"He's my father," replied the customer.

"He's my father, too," said the barber.

Aubrey Hinchaw was traveling through Texas in charge of a convoy of lumber trucks.

RAIN BRINGS POSTPONEMENT OF VISITING DAY

The heavy rain of Saturday afternoon and Sunday morning caused abandonment of the plans for the "visiting day" here Sunday afternoon, after it was decided to be too muddy to attempt the tour. A large number of out of town visitors had been expected, some of them calling to learn whether or not the program had been called off.

It is thought that another attempt will be made to hold the tour on Sunday, August 4.

Canyon Man to Coach Here

Wesley Cox of Canyon has been elected athletic coach for the Howe high school, it was announced this week. The vacancy in the first grade has not yet been filled.

Mr. Cox is a graduate of the Wilcox Christian college, holding a B. S. degree. This will be his first teaching and coaching position. He played football at the college four years, filling the guard position.

Mr. Cox is to be married in August and expects to bring his bride here about the middle of the month. He will start fall training September 1, he said Wednesday.

PRESS MAGAZINE CARRIES HELEN BRYANT'S PICTURE

The picture of Helen Bryant was carried in the July number of the Texas Press Messenger official publication of the Texas Press association. The captor described her as an interested attendant at the annual convention which was held in Mineral Wells last month, and stated that she was recently pictured in a write-up of the Howe beautification program in the Rotarian.

Britisher Knits and Predicts Victory

Austin—(UP)—The spirit of the British Lion has showed itself on the Texas banks of the Colorado river.

A transplanted Englishman by the name of Noel Evershed is doing his part toward seeing England "stick it through." And into every stitch that Evershed knits into stockings for British Tommies goes some of the indomitable spirit that Englishmen say will carry them through.

To Evershed, there is no doubt as to the outcome of the war. "England," he says, "is going to stick it out," and he comforts himself by remembering the dark days of the Spanish Armada and the era of Napoleon. The channel stopped them both.

Evershed knits in public, especially on the capitol grounds. He says that he isn't ashamed of it, that practically all men in England knit and that it would be good for all men to knit.

The Britisher learned to ply the needle long before he came to Texas 50 years ago in search of wealth. He said the Duke of Windsor had the knitting habit, too, but that "he was not much good that one."

Evershed spends some of his time painting. He said he didn't need a model as he possessed a "photographic mind. All in all, he's British as beef and proud of it."

Betty Gamble, Jane Flo Lowe and Laverne Lowe, all of Dallas returned Tuesday after a several days' visit with Mr. and Mrs. Robert Harrell.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Davis, Johnnie Lee George, and Melba Jo Gathwright of Sherman are on a vacation trip to the Rio Grande valley and Mexico. They will return in two weeks via New Orleans.

UNDER THE Dome at Austin

By JOHN WAGNER
 United Press Staff Correspondent

Austin—If you are playing "will there be a run-off", a current favorite in indoor political games, perhaps these figures below will give you something to speculate on according to State Comptroller George H. Sheppard:

The total vote registration this year is about 1,260,000.

10 West Texas counties there are about 300,000 voters.

North Central counties, including Tarrant and Dallas, there are approximately 245,000 voters.

Five Central Texas counties have a voting potential of about 200,000.

Forty counties in South Texas have about 195,000.

In East Texas—the candidates' paradise—there are about 320,000 voters, including Harris county which this year has over 100,000.

The big question in this political game is whether his opponents can force Governor W. Lee O'Daniel into a run-off. To stem a run-off, the Governor will need 630,000 votes, or better. To get this he will need to repeat his 1938 success (when he polled 573,166 votes), plus a large share of the quarter million voters added to the rolls this year.

In 1938 O'Daniel had majorities in 10 of the 18 counties in the state which have vote registrations in 1940 of over 10,000. He lacked a majority in Harris, Dallas, Tarrant, Galveston, El Paso, McLennan, Travis and Wichita. But he did take Bexar, Grayson, Gregg, Hidalgo, Jefferson, Nueces, Smith, Cameron, Lamar and Rusk.

This year the eight counties where he lacked majorities in 1938 have grown still larger in voting strength. Harris county, for instance has gained 26 per cent. All this group are well above the state average of 11 per cent increase in registrations.

On the other hand, the 10,000 voters-plus counties where O'Daniel did have majorities have all slipped under the 11 per cent average increase.

In West Texas, Taylor county was the only one of that section's five most populous counties last election in which O'Daniel polled a majority. It's registrations this year are up about seven per cent. El Paso and Potter counties, both E. O. Thompson strongholds, hiked their poll tax lists about 20 per cent this year.

In 1938 Governor O'Daniel didn't fool away much campaign time in West Texas, making a stand at Abilene about his strongest bid. This year his schedule up to the week ending July 20 looped through the heaviest vote districts of the state, following his "maybe my only rally" at Waco in populous Central Texas.

Always a Lieutenant-Governor but never a Governor has been the lot of Coke Stevenson. Junction rancher-banker. Not once since Stevenson went into office as the Lieutenant-Governor of Texas has Governor O'Daniel quit the state's borders and thereby allowed Stevenson a short-time reign over the governorship.

During Pat Neff's first term as governor he never allowed his Lieutenant Lynch Davidson the privilege of affixing a signature as governor.

A lot of Texans who "roll their own" are pretty cranky about the kind of cigaret papers they use. Though they very seldom notice it, that paper is generally made in France out of flax straw. Now the State Commissioner of Agriculture J. E. McDonald reports that the French source for the paper is threatened to be cut off and that perhaps Texas can replace the loss.

"Before long, if experiments now underway prove successful, the nation's smokers may be contentedly drawing on their favorite brand of fags, all wrapped up in cigaret papers made from the straw of Texas flax," Commissioner McDonald says.

His optimism is reflected in the fact that flax is a coming crop for Texas.

HOWE, GRAYSON COUNTY, TEXAS, THURSDAY, JULY 27, 1967

NUMBER 8

HOWE'S THAT ?

O.K., kids, report to school Friday — if you have ordered a school annual.

Superintendent Thompson said the annuals have arrived and will be distributed at 7:00 p.m. Friday at the high school.

Count 'em

Thirty-four new homes have been constructed in Howe since January 1 —slightly over six months. That's already more than were constructed in any recent previous year, according to City Manager Cannon George

Last year 22 new homes were constructed, according to building permits, and in 1965, there were 22.

Several persons have contacted the city office recently wanting directions to the city dump grounds. All we can do is pass along the information— maybe it will be large enough to see from Farmington road soon.

The new dump area is southwest of Howe — take Farmington road to the first road to the left, then south to the first road to the right for about one-quarter mile, and there it is, on the south side of the road.

If the local school district is forced to tax bank deposits, hope they deduct notes against depositors — we know of a couple of cases where it will lose instead of add to the evaluations.

Ray Houston at Howe State is having difficulties with his property.

Someone recently hitched onto a horse trailer and drove away — Ray hasn't see hide nor hair since.

Things worked out a little better last weekend, however. He was attending a business meeting in Dallas and left his auto in the hotel parking lot. Someone "borrowed" it for a while.

It was found later parked on the street near the parking lot, less a half tank of gas.

Friend, to policeman who had formerly been a salesman:

"How do you like the new job?"

Policeman: "Swell — the pay is good, the hours okay, and the customer is always wrong"

If something goes wrong, it is more important to talk about who is going to fix it, than who is to blame.

GCDC Hears Plans For Council Of Governments

Proposed constitution and by-laws for the creation of a Council of Governments in Grayson County were explained to members of the Grayson County Development Council last Thursday night at Holiday Inn. Presenting the proposals were Dr. Harry Shytles, chairman of a Sherman Chamber of Commerce committee and Worth Campbell of Denison, chairman of a seven man GCDC committee appointed to study the Council of Governments plan.

Name proposed for the new organization by Dr. Shytles was "Sherman-Denison Metropolitan Area Council of Governments". After reading the proposed by-law and constitution, District Judge David H. Brown expressed disagreement with the proposal, in the way members of the government would be selected and the name of the organization. Judge Brown made a motion for further study by the GCDC committee which passed.

Judge Brown expressed the belief that each of the smaller cities should have a representative each. Under the proposed plan, cities over 20,000, Sherman and Denison, would have one representative each, school districts one representative each with the smaller districts, with enrollments under 5,000 having one representative together; the smaller towns with more than 1,000 population would have only one representative together, as would towns under 1,000 population. The county also would have one representative on the proposed 17-member board.

At least 51 percent of the membership would be elected officials, Shytles said.

Other members would include one representative selected by Grayson County Junior College, two by the Sherman C of C, two by the Denison C of C, one by the GCDC not a resident of either Sherman or Denison, one by the Sherman Good Government League, one by the Denison Development Council steering committee, and one by the board of trustees of Austin College in Sherman.

The Council of Governments would be responsible for employing a county planner and passing on applications for federal grants and aid throughout the county.

Van Alstyne was host for the July meeting. Attending from Howe were Mayor Doug Wortham, Chamber President Ray Houston, Fred Newton and Bob Walker.

TAX HEARING IS POSTPONED

GOING UP — This was the scene earlier this week at the location of the new Dairy Queen Store in Howe. Workmen hoisted the huge sign into place in preparation for the Grand Opening Saturday. Arnold Sasser, operator, said the new store would be open Friday afternoon in order to test all the new equipment.

GRAND OPENING HERE SATURDAY

Grand Opening of a local Dairy Queen Store is announced this week for Saturday, July 29.

Local operators of the new service are Arnold and Lynn Sasser of Howe.

To celebrate the event, the owners are offering specials on various features of the Dairy Queen. The Drive-In will be open from 10 a.m. until 10 p.m. daily.

The Dairy Queen features a large dining room, drive-in window service, and is completely air-conditioned.

Mr. R. M. Klose, owner of the Texas Dairy Queen franchise, said that the trade name has been in Texas since 1947, with the initial Texas Dairy Quenn in Austin. At present there are 283 Dairy Queens in Texas, with 70 in the Dallas-Fort Worth area. Operators own from one to as many as 20 stores, he said, with the average being 2.2.

Granting a franchise for a town the size of Howe is very unusual, Klose said. Requirement is usually for around 3,000 people in a given location.

Supplies for the stores are bought on contract, and the drive-ins are advertised nationally.

Contractors for the building and service companies are this week sponsoring advertising for the new Howe facility.

Hearing for a request for an injunction to stop Howe School District from approving the new tax roll and collecting taxes under the new assessment rate has been set for Thursday, August 3, Superintendent Charles Thompson said this week. The hearing had been set Tuesday, July 25, but was postponed following a request by district representatives.

The hearing was set by District Judge R. C. Vaughan after LaFern O'Hanlon of Sherman filed a suit against the local district.

District representatives said the suit was filed by O'Hanlon to make a test case of the Howe district in a bid to force Howe school district to assess the more than $2,000,000 in bank deposits here.

Under state law, bank deposits can be assessed, but the law is made inoperative because banks are not required to make public individual deposits.

This is the first suit of its kind filed in the state of Texas, although one had been filed earlier in New York State and was defeated.

The suit was filed following an equalization of all property in the district by a Ft. Worth firm contracted by the local school board. The equalization program hiked the district valuation from $2.8 million to $5.2 million. Then the board increased assessed valuation from 30 percent to 45 per cent and lowered the tax rate from $1.90 to $1.60 per $100 valuation.

Another Howe Future Farmer, Lynn Cavender, was honored with a state agricultural proficiency award. Lynn is the son of Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Cavender. He was named state winner for proficiency in agricultural mechanics for 1966-67.

Young Strawn, the organization's Star Lone Star Farmer of Texas, was selected from 10 finalists on the basis of his farming skills on his parents' 2,000-acre diversified farm. He was cited for raising 50 acres of milo, 50 acres of wheat, 35 acres of oats, 20 acres of hay, 23 head of breeding swine, 31 head of breeding beef cattle, and 17 head of feeder cattle.

He was simultaneously named Lone Star Farmer for Area V, qualifying him for the state post. Strawn is currently vice-president of Area V FFA chapter and former district president and reporter. HOWE'S THAT

THOSE OF YOU who are having trouble with your workers being off due to illness might be interested in looking over this "sick leave policy" which came into my hands this week...

SICKNESS: No excuse. We will no longer accept your doctor's statement as proof as we believe if you are able to go to the doctor, you are able to come to work.

DEATH (other than your own): This is no excuse. There is nothing you can do for them, and we are sure that someone else in a lesser position can attend to the arrangements. However, if the funeral can be held in late afternoon, we will be glad to let you off one hour early, provided your share of the work is ahead enough to keep the job going in your absence.

DEATH (your own): This is acceptable as an excuse provided (a) two weeks' notice is given in order to break in a new person for your job; (b) if two weeks' notice is not possible, call in before 8 a. m. so that a sub may be provided; and (c) this must be verified by your doctor's signature and your own. Both signatures must be present or the time will be deducted from your annual sick leave.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE (for a operation): We are no longer allowing this practice. We wish to discourage any thought you may have about needing an operation. We believe that as long as you are employed here, you will need all of whatever you have and should not consider having anything removed. We hired you as you are and to have anything removed would certainly make you less than we bargained for.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE (rest room): Too much time is being spent in the rest room. Our time study man has ascertained that three minutes, 15 seconds constitutes a "gererous" break. In the future, we will follow the practice of going to the rest room in alphabetical order. Those with names beginning with A will go from 8 a. m. to 8:03 15 seconds, those with B from 8:03 15 seconds to 8:06 30 seconds, etc. If you miss your turn, you must wait until the day when your turn comes again.

Thieves steal $21,000 truck at Catchings

A Truck rig, valued in excess of $21,000, was recovered Monday morning after being stolen Sunday night, The Sheriff's Department reported

The truck and 40-foot trailer was driven from the Catching Farm Supply lot on Highway 75 south, and was discovered by a Gunter man Monday morning, turned side ways on a country road near Gunter.

The thief, or thieves, apparently didn't heed a sign on the gate of a chain link fence surrounding the business. The driver herded the big rig through the front gate knocking down the gate, part of the fence, and the sign, which read: "Stop, Check Out Equipment Here."

Police Chief Mike Rolling discovered the damaged fence

Roadrunners win at Grand Prairie meet

The Howe Roadrunners won the senior girls north central Texas park and recreation track meet at Grand Prairie in their final meet of the summer. The Howe harriers will continue to work out, however for the 100 relay to highlight the opening of the Centennial celebration on Aug. 11.

The Grand Prairie winners included a first in the high jump for Sandra Bowen and a second in the long jump, while Jaci Dickey was third in both events, plus winning first in the 440. Teresa Knight was third and Laura Mark was fourth.

In the 100 yard dash, Sandra Bowen was second, Jaci Dickey third and Kathy Presson third.

The same trio plus Teresa Knight won the 440 relay, according to Walt Schneider coach.

Football hopefuls to report Aug. 9

All boys interested in participating in football during the 1972 season are requested this week to report to the field house Wednesday, August 9 at 7:00 p. m., Coach Norman Dickey said this week.

Athletes are also asked to contact either Dickey or assistant coach Tommy Skypworth prior to the August 9th meeting to obtain insurance and physical examination forms.

The 1972 edition of the Bulldogs will participate in two scrimmage games prior to the season opening game Friday, September 8 against Anna on the local field.

Entering Class "a" competition this year, the Bulldogs will meet Princeton there September 15, Sanger, there, September 22, and Allen here on September 29, before making their debut into the Class A District against Wolfe City on the local field. Whitewright will be the October 13 foe, with Van Alstyne here October 20, Bells there, October 27, Pottsboro here, November 3, and Leonard, there, November 10.

The game against Allen on September 29 has been designated as Homecoming game, which is the week of the Howe Centennial.

Howe was the Class B Regional Champions in 1970.

Coach Dickey said Tuesday around 47 boys are expected to report by "workout" time.

Former resident killed in collision

Two men were killed about 3 a. m. Thursday when their vehicles collided almost head on just north of Gunter on Highway 289.

Killed were Charles Ray Mitchell, 39, a welder of Gunter, and William Allen Hutto, 28, an auto salesman of Richardson. Hutto was a former resident of Howe.

Both men were pronounced dead at the scene by Peace Justice Don Flesher of Van Alstyne.

Highway Patrolman Jack Griffin said Mitchell's vehicle was traveling south on the highway and the Hutto vehicle north when the two cars collided just north of the Gunter city limits.

Services for Charles Ray Mitchell, 39, a welder, were held Saturday in the Tom Bean Baptist Church, Rev. Houston Garner and Rev. Birdie Jones officiated. Burial was in Oakhill Cemetery at Whitewright under the direction of Flesher Funeral Home of Van Alstyne.

Howe's that...

MANAGING STRESS IN YOUR LIFE - Stress comes from changes in life that are unavoidable, but each person can learn to master his attitude in coping with stress. Here are some ways to help:

1. Rethink expectations about what you expect to receive from life. You may be harboring some unrealistic expectations which lead to unrealistic behavior, and, therefore, unrealistic trauma.
2. Be responsible for yourself, the decisions you make and the actions you take. Instead of looking for others to blame for mistakes, shoulder them yourself. This can just as easily lead to taking credit for successes.
3. Learn to live in the present. Enjoy the successes and gifts of life as they come to you. Too many people spend their time preparing to get somewhere and fail to enjoy where they already are. It's an important attitudinal and person skill.
4. Acquire a sense of leisure. Stress builds up from hyperactive behavior and compulsive choices. By planning regular leisure time to enjoy life, an individual can sustain longer.
5. Learn to live from inside. While many individuals look to others for approval or assurance, you can avoid undue stress by looking to yourself for approval.

(Note: These points were made by Claude Dollins, author of "The High Energy Professional," who addressed Texas journalists at the recent Texas Press Association convention held in Austin.)

YOU ARE FRONT PAGE NEWS to the weekly newspaper. The Howe Enterprise is interested in what is happening to you. A story that may seem trivial to you may be just what everyone in town would like to read.

IF YOU CALLED THE FIRE DEPARTMENT in Howe, do not know how many firemen are available to fight your fire or what type of equipment they would be using? If you are like most people, you probably haven't given it much thought. You take it for granted that someone would come. And most likely, there would be someone who would.

In the State of Texas there are 1,840 fire departments. Of these 64 are staffed by full time paid employees who are on the job and ready to answer the alarm. Seventy-six of these Texas fire departments are a combination of paid and volunteer firemen. But the largest group of firemen in the state work totally as volunteers, giving their extra time to protect their community, giving their time for training, giving their time to work on equipment to keep it as up to date as possible.

In Howe, the fire department is made up entirely of volunteers. The department currently has 13 men and two women who are active in the training exercises and who are available to help fight a fire emergency. The Howe Volunteers are seeking new members. If you would be willing to give a few hours each month to the regular meetings and some other time when an emergency arises, come to the next meeting - Tuesday, August 2, at 7:30 p.m. at the fire hall, located on the corner of Haning and Hughes (across the street from Mack's Cash Grocery). Recent training exercises have dealt with the use of ladders and with the use of canvas to hold water to be pumped on a fire. If it sounds like something you would be interested in learning more about, come to the meeting.

Howe Band Named To Top Five In Concert

In state competition last weekend in San Antonio, the tape by the Howe High School Band placed in the top five concert bands in Texas. This is the first time for Howe to qualify for state competition in concert band.

The other four bands in the top five were Olney, Stratford, Aubrey, and Dripping Springs. Howe competed against Dripping Springs in the 1982 state marching competition in which Dripping Springs placed fourth and Howe placed second.

Judges for the concert band contest were Bill Shipp, Don Aleman, Jerry Finnell, Don Owens, and Ken Griffen.

Band practice begins Friday, July 29, 9 a.m. to noon, for freshmen only. Monday, Aug. 1, the freshmen will meet again 9 a.m. to noon. Full band meets Monday night, 7 to 9 p.m. The Full band will also meet Tuesday through Friday, 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., and on Tuesday and Thursday nights, 7 to 9 p.m.

Training For Fire Emergencies

CPR Courses Slated

The Grayson County College Health Occupations Division has scheduled three cardio pulmonary resuscitation (CPR) courses for August.

The first course will meet from 9 a.m. to noon, Tuesday and Wednesday, Aug. 2 and 3; the second, from noon to 3 p.m., Aug. 8 and 9; and the third from 4 to 7 p.m. Aug. 16 and 17.

The basic rescuer course requires six hours for certification. Fee is $10.

The courses are open to the general public. For more information on registering call Grayson County College, 465-6030.

Council Appoints Parks & Recreation Board

The Howe City Council appointed six residents to a Parks and Recreation Board at the regular council meeting Thursday, July 21, at 7 p.m.

The committee members are Jim Ogle, Merle Bearden, Gerald Hickox, Vincent Hash, Andy Kizer, and Don Seelye. The main reason the committee was set up is to regulate the use of the new Community Center (formerly the Christian Church), but they will also work on other areas for the city for parks and recreation needs.

The board will meet in the near future to set goals and discuss ideas concerning improving parks in the city and other areas that fall under their jurisdiction.

The city council also read a letter of resignation from City Councilman Jack Berry. He gave no reason for the resignation from council, but his family has been living in Colorado for several months. Berry has been shuttling back and forth from Howe to Colorado during that time.

The police report for June 16 through July 21 was submitted to the council from Chief Ken Vickers as follows: arrest - 4, tickets written - 31, warnings - 11, complaints - 4, motorist assist - 15, police dept. assist - 12, alarms & open doors - 3, cattle on roadway - 2, disturbances - 4, accidents - 7, burglary - 1, stolen vehicle recovered - 1, vandalism report - 1, assault report - 1, and prowler report - 1. Miles per 24 hour of patrol averaged 113.86.

Council approved a resolution presented by Jean Norman for the Howe Library which involves authorizing the library to be a part of the new system of the NETLES library system which has moved the headquarters from Dallas to Garland. The Howe Library receives many valuable services through this system. This resolution was merely a technicality because of the move of headquarters.

Council also approved on first reading a sewer ordinance required for the EPA Sewer Grant in order to satisfy government requirements regarding toxic chemicals being banned from the Howe sewer system.

The resignation of David Bement from the Howe Planning & Zoning Board was accepted. Bement's letter stated he did not have the necessary time to devote to the important work of this board. Council asked that current P&Z members make recommendations concerning a replacement to be appointed at the next council meeting.

Tim Black asked the council if he could hook up to the city water lines. He owns property just outside the city limits on Hwy. 902 east of town. He was advised that according to the City Code book he must be in the city limits to be connected to city water mains. (Chapt. 10, Section 6, pp. B). Black then said he would like to have his property annexed into the city. (The annexation will require a public hearing and an ordinance.)

City Administrator Joe Fenton said that Lee and Sons Trucking would like to bid for the trash contract for the city for a five-year period. (The firm has the current contract with the city, which contract expires Oct. 1, 1983.) Council authorized Fenton to advertise for 5-year bids for the trash contract.

Mayor Jerry Kirby then asked council's permission to suspend the rules in order to talk about a number of items. He said since none were on the agenda no action could be taken, but several matters needed to be discussed. Council agreed.

Kirby said he had reached an agreement with Rex Thackerson of Video Vision Cable TV on serving the Timbercreek residents. Video Vision will hook up the cable in Timbercreek at the same hook up price as the rest of the town provided 18-20 homes will be hooked up for a minimum of two years.

The mayor informed council that he and Fenton had appraised the city personnel and that the council should review these records. He also asked council to consider replacement for Jack Berry to be made at the August meeting.

Kirby asked Councilman Duward Mills to explain what was happening concerning uniforms for city employees (for the three outside workers). Mills said that when he and the other council voted several months ago to rent uniforms he thought it was for a one-year contract. But he has learned that the contract was for three years. He said he feels it would be better for the city to buy uniforms at about $25 each instead of renting at a cost of $25 a week for three years. The uniform question will be on the agenda for the August meeting Mills said.

Mayor Kirby told council that 1.3 miles of city streets were paved by the Grayson County road crew with oil and chip on Tuesday, June 28. He stated that the city had enough material to do two miles of street that was 20' wide, but the streets around the middle school were about 47' wide and some of the other streets were wider than 20'. The cost of the materials was about $8,000 (Labor and machinery costs were provided by the county, a service available to all small cities in the county, Kirby said.)

The next street to have major repair will be Quinlan and some of the short areas of street jutting off Quinlan. Kirby said a lot of drainage work will need to be done on Quinlan to prepare it for the repair which will be done sometime next spring or early summer.

Barn Fire Kills Race Horse

A former race horse was killed in a fire that leveled a barn about a mile east of Howe Friday afternoon, July 22.

The 9-year-old thoroughbred stallion belonged to E.R. Crouse of Sherman, who leased the barn and acreage from Beatrice Jones of Rt. 2, Howe.

Mrs. Jones said she had been outside ten to fifteen minutes before the fire and had noticed nothing. Then while inside the house, talking on the phone, she noticed black smoke. She called the Howe Fire Dept. at about 4:30 p.m.

Just before the call came in, Howe Volunteer Fire Chief Jerry Park, who was at City Hall at the time, noticed smoke and went out to investigate. He found the barn engulfed in flames.

Nine members of the Howe Volunteer Fire Dept. responded with three fire trucks. The firefighters spent about 50 minutes at the barn, dousing flames to prevent the fire from spreading to Mrs. Jones' home. The barn was located to the east of the house, about 100 or so feet away. Luckily the wind was blowing from the south, and the house was never in any immediate danger from blowing cinders.

According to Park, the cause of the fire has not been determined. He speculated that it could have been electrical in origin. He said he found no evidence of arson, but that would be investigated by the Grayson County Sheriff's Dept.

Crouse said he couldn't estimate the monetary value of the horse, but said it had sentimental value. "He didn't win a lot of money, but he was a heck of a good horse," said Crouse, noting that the animal had good blood lines.

Mrs. Jones said she had been "to many fires" with her late husband, H.E. Jones, who was a volunteer fireman, "but this one is different" (since it was on her own property).

She said she thought the barn may have contained a refrigerator for animal medicine and a radio, but she was not sure if either was hooked up to electricity.

The Howe Volunteer Fire Dept. has answered several calls in the past few days.

On Thursday, July 21, two firemen went to a grass fire at 7:45 p.m. at property belonging to Cliff Hestand of Sherman. Light damage was reported.

On Wednesday, July 20, at 10:30 a.m. two firemen responded to a fire at Dorchester. An air conditioner in a travel trailer was on fire, but the fire was under control before the firemen arrived.

Two Howe firefighters responded to a small grass fire at the intersection of Hwy. 75 and Hwy. 902 late Monday afternoon, July 25. The volunteers spent about 30 minutes at the scene extinguishing the flames which were reported shortly after 4 p.m.

Howe's That . .

IMAGINE not being able to read the sign on the door of a public restroom and having to watch for someone who is your sex in order to know which one to enter!

Last week I saw a gentleman on "Good Morning, America" talk about his experiences trying to make it through life unable to read. He is a regular on the ABC "Hour Magazine" show and recently went public with his experiences.

The Howe Community Library wants to begin an Adult Literacy Program by January 1993. Jean Norman of the HCL Board and Librarian Peggy Bradley recently explained to the Howe City Council the HCL goals in regard to such a program.

The HCL Board is requesting funds from the Howe City Council for this project. Their request was for $8,000 which may be out of reach in this present economic situation.

The HOWE ENTERPRISE urges the City Council to consider finding some funding for this program. Those of you who are able to read this editorial, if you agree that this is a worthwhile program, contact a council member and express your opinion.

All people need to be able to read the directions on prescription medicines, know how to read street and highway signs, and be able to tell which door is marked "Ladies" and which one is marked "Gentlemen."

THIS AND THAT - I have begun a program of walking at the track several days a week. I noticed last week that some painting has been done at the stadium getting it ready for the upcoming football season.

The school supply lists and other school information is found in this issue of the paper. Much of it will be repeated next week. It's hard to believe it's almost time to start school again!

Where Are They Now?

by Rose Peters
July 10-12 Wolf Point, Mt. 69th Annual Wild Horse Stampede. The rodeo is so named because the word stampede is older than the word rodeo (according to their legend).

The people were very happy. It was the greenest I'd ever seen. They had received lots of rain. The weather was cool and comfortable, instead of so hot you can't breathe.

The drive up from Belle Fourche, S.D., which takes six hours, is very beautiful. You get to see lots of wide open spaces. It's amazing to see hills (almost mountains), canyons and wilderness for miles and miles. You get to see several large herds of sheep, deer, and antelope. I wonder what the early pioneers thought as they crossed that land!

The name Wild Horse Stampede fits. This rodeo gets real wild. There is a wild horse race, where a team of 3 tries to put a saddle on an unbroken horse. A team consists of an anchor (a guy at the end of a lead rope), a mugger (whose job is to get the horse stopped) and the guy with the saddle. More men end up on the ground than horses are ridden. It gets to be quite a contest of wills. The horses or the men!

After Wolf Point is over, we'll go home for a few days. But first we'll drop the trailer off at Burwell, Neb, which is our next rodeo.

Christa Sprowl Receives Houston Livestock Show Scholarship For $10,000

Christa S. Sprowl, daughter of Charles and Martha Sprowl of Rt. 2, Howe, was awarded a $10,000 four-year Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo FFA scholarship at the FFA StaTe Convention in Amarillo on July 15.

A 1992 graduate of Tom Bean High School, she was ranked second in her class. She was president of the FFA chapter as well as president of the National Honor Society.

She plans to major in agricultural business at East Texas State University. She was one of 50 scholarship winners.

Members of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service choose the FFA scholarship recipients. The selected students all demonstrated academic excellence and strong leadership skills. All FFA recipients must pursue a degrees in agriculture or life sciences at a Texas college or university. Scholarship funding is provided by revenues earned at the Annual Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo. The Show has committed more than $3 million in education funds for the upcoming school year.

Delinquent Taxes Being Pursued

Grayson County residents who have not paid their delinquent taxes to the county, local schools, and cities still have a few days to do so," said R.J. Hagood delinquent tax attorney for Grayson County, Howe Independent School District, and City of Howe.

FFA News

by Tonya Troxtell, FFA reporter

The Howe FFA Chapter just returned from spending a week in Amarillo. While there they attended the 64th Annual Texas FFA Convention. This was held the week of July 13-17.

The chapter members learned ideas that will better the program not only for the state but for the local chapter as well. The Convention sessions were attended by all that went. Those attending were David Chumbley, Angie Lawson, Tonya Troxtell, and Willie Holloway. Each person voted in the delegation on important issues such as the Texas candidate for national office and state president.

Thursday night a dance was held and all who went participated in the social event. This convention brought new opportunities for the Howe FFA Chapter.

Chris Garner and Marta Riggins received the Lone Star Degree and pen. We would like to thank Mr. Lankford for putting up with us and allowing us this wonderful opportunity.

School Board Meets

Bill Dedman spoke to the Howe School Board Monday night, July 27, and asked them to reconsider selling reserved seating at home football games.

At the June board meeting the board voted to sell 224 seats in the center section of Bulldog Stadium for $25 per year as reserved seats. The money was designated to be used to build extra bleachers.

Dedman said he feels the price is too high and many Howe families will not be able to afford this cost. "Whatever the program, Howe has always come through," he stated, saying that volunteers in Howe have raised funds for purchasing fire trucks, a track, etc. "Let's try the old way to build new bleachers," he added.

Supt. Dr. Wayne King noted that the board's action was not taken quickly or in a rash manner. A committee of several community members as well as school personnel studied the matter before submitting the proposal to the board.

The board took no action on Monday night allowing their prior decision to stand and sell the reserved seating as planned.

In other action, the board:
*Held a public hearing on the Site-Based Decision Making Plan. There were no public questions or comments. Later in the meeting the board approved the plan as submitted.

*Approved a committee to study the school's sex education curriculum. A meeting with concerned parents and community members was held the end of June to inform them of what the school is presently teaching. Dr. King stated that approximately 75 people attended that meeting. Those named to the committee were ones at that meeting who had indicated a desire to serve. The committee will be chaired by Don Gilstrap and Tom Skipworth. Those attending the meeting indicated they feel the school is doing a good job, but want to look into other ways to help build positive self-esteem in students.

*Approved preliminary drawings from architects for a large activity center for elementary students. The building is being proposed to be located in an area between the northwest side of the elementary building and the west side of the library. A detailed proposal will be presented at the Aug. 17 board meeting for final approval. This proposal must be submitted to the state by Sept. 1. (Funding for this project will come from the state.)

In addition the board approved the TASB health insurance renewal, a waiver request for 5 days of staff development, and a resolution allowing the CED to collect 15% penalty on delinquent taxes.

The board set breakfast and lunch prices at the same as the past two years: breakfast is 60 cents; lunch, K-4 is $1.25, 5-12 is $1.50, and adult is $1.75.

The board accepted the resignations of Mrs. Hendricks, elementary special education teacher; Tracy Beaty, middle school teacher and coach; and Dan Sieck, high school science teacher.

The board employed Jean Martz in the elementary special education position. The other two positions are yet to be filled.

Howe's that ...

by Lana Rideout

Pottermania has arrived - I spent most of the weekend reading the latest (and last) Harry Potter book. I started reading Saturday morning around 9 am, taking occasional breaks throughout the day, and completed a little over half of the book by about 6 pm.

After church Sunday, I picked it up again about 3 pm and finished it just about 8 pm.

I won't give any hints as to what happens, but I will say it was very good. I am sad because it is the end of the Harry Potter saga, at least according to author J.K. Rowling. There are still several Harry Potter movies to look forward to. I haven't even had the time to go see the latest HP movie. Hope to do so soon!

Many libraries and bookstores took advantage of the "Pottermania" to have special programs with folks dressed as characters from the popular books. Some appeared in last week's Enterprise and we have a few more this week.

The stories have sparked a renewed interest in reading (as opposed to sitting in front of the TV or Nintendo, etc.).

If you haven't stopped by the local library lately, drop in and see what is new. In addition to books, you will find videos, magazines, books on tape, and more.

HOWE 9/10yr Win All-Star District Tournament

Howe Youth Baseball continued its winning tradition by winning the district level tournament this season.

Howe started the tournament defeating Pottsboro All-Stars in four innings by a score of 11-1, outstanding defense and hot bats were contributing factors to this victory.

After delays due to the rain, the tournament was moved from Whitewright to Bonham, where the Bulldogs faced Bonham and suffered their one and only loss of the tournament 8-7. Later that day Howe faced Tom Bean All-Stars and won a close game 5-2, after the Bonham loss, the Bulldogs were back on track.

Howe, now in the semi-final round, traveled to Pottsboro to face the Cardinals again, both teams with one loss, looser is out. Well Howe once again brought their A-Game to put the Cardinals down one more time 11-1, this victory put Howe in the Championship Game facing Bonham, the only team to defeat Howe in the earlier round of the tournament.

Needless to say, the Bulldogs showed up to this game, defeating Bonham 14-2 in just 4 innings to earn a spot in the AAA North 9/10 State All-Star Tournament held in Celina.

In Celina the Bulldogs faced top ranked Broken Bow All-Stars in the first round and lost a heart breaker after leading 3-0 through the first 3 innings. The second game was against Pilot Point All-Stars, where again the Bulldogs had a 4-0 lead through 3 innings only to come up short again, both were very tough losses for the Bulldogs, a team that just was not used to loosing.

The Bulldogs had a great tournament, contributing pitchers were Troy Watson, Easton Ross, Andrew Austin, Quinton Harris, Dalton Felder, Brice Harvey, and Caleb Ake. 1st Base played by Quinton Harris, 2nd Base played by Caleb Ake, Shortstop played by Easton Ross, Troy Watson, Andrew Austin, 3rd Base played by Evan Bailey, Catchers for the Bulldogs were Andrew Austin and Easton Ross. Outfielders consisted of Jeremy Casteel, Brice Harvey, Nick Wilson, Dalton Felder, Brennan Ross, Tanner Compton. Thank you parents for all your support, you should be proud of your boys, they truly had a year to remember.

HOWE Mayor pro tem Haigis presides at regular city council meeting

by Lana Rideout

On Tuesday, July 17, the Howe City Council held their regular monthly meeting with Mayor Pro Tem Sam Haigis presiding in the absence of Mayor Michael Jones. The full council was in attendance.

City Administrator Steve McKay advised that the city would be spraying for mosquitoes every Wednesday evening between 8:30 and 9 pm for at least a month and will continue as needed through the end of the summer.

McKay also reported that street work is set to begin the week of July 23. Streets on the list include East Tutt, East Young, Quinlan and Denton.

He told the council that a few city residents were affected by the recent flooding and stated that the FEMA packets are available at City Hall for anyone needing one.

Howe Community Library Director Becky Hogenon gave the council an annual report on the library activities for the past year. She cited an increase in the Summer Reading program from 27 average last year to 40 this year.

She noted that there have been a number of new programs at the library and all have been well attended and well received in the community. She also asked for approval of new patron registration/check-out forms for the library. The council tabled this item for more information.

The council appointed Tim Glendenning, as the administrator and Bob Hellenberger as the engineer of the North Hughes Street grant project. Howe has received a $125,000 grant from the Office of Rural Community Affairs for repairs to Long Street, North Hughes, and Patterson

Police Chief John Cherry discussed the need for National Incident Management System (NIMS) training for council members and city officials. Cherry said, "All of our fire department employees and police officers are NIMS compliant. Now we need to get the other city officials compliant."

AUSTIN Comptroller announces changes in August Sales Tax Holiday

Comptroller Susan Combs announced that the date for the annual sales tax holiday has changed from the first weekend of August to the third weekend of August. Combs also said backpacks, a standard item on many kids' school supply lists, can now be purchased tax free during the sales tax holiday.

"From now on, the sales tax holiday will occur on the third Friday, Saturday and Sunday of August," Combs said. "This year, the date is Aug. 17-19."

Since many school districts are now starting their school year later, the 80th Legislature changed the date of the sales tax holiday to move it closer to the first day of school.

During the sales tax holiday, children's and adults' clothing and shoes priced less than $100 — and now backpacks that cost less than $100 — are exempt from state and local sales taxes.

"The Legislature responded to parents' requests to add backpacks to the list of tax-exempt items," Combs said. "Backpacks can be expensive, especially for parents who have to buy them for several children. A tax break helps."

Combs also announced that, starting in May 2008, energy-efficient appliances will be exempt from sales tax during the three-day Memorial Day weekend. Certain appliances with a federal Energy Star rating will be tax-free, including washing machines, dishwashers, ceiling fans, dehumidifiers, programmable thermostats and incandescent fluorescent light bulbs. Air conditioners priced at $6,000 or less and refrigerators priced at $2,000 or less can also be purchased tax free.

"Texas consumers will save about $8 for every $100 they spend on qualifying appliances," Combs said. "Even more importantly, they will reap savings on their utility bills by purchasing energy-efficient appliances, and the demand for electricity will be reduced."

The Comptroller predicts families will save about $52.1 million in sales taxes during the August sales tax holiday.

Howe's That

The press box at Bulldog Stadium came down on Friday morning. It was 43 years old and built just before the 1971 season. It took many modifications over the years. In 1981, it was extended about four feet to the south to make more room. Just before the 1990 season, Head Coach Joey McQueen and football player Jon Norwood constructed the second level film deck. Since then, not much has taken place to it. The victory light was installed on the back of it in 1977 and it was removed on Thursday before the building's removal.

A new one will take its place this week as Roger Brown has completed the first level and it will be put in place by a crane. It should be interesting to watch the much larger press box go up.

In last week's edition, we journeyed back in time with Steve Simmons learning of his childhood in Georgia and his teenage years in Texas. We also discussed his college years at McMurry State. But everything changed in his senior year in Abilene, TX.

"I had to go an extra year in college to get my degree because of my poor grades at first. But my fifth year, I got my greatest thing in my life, my wife." Simmons said while holding back emotions. "If I ever had a fantasy of playing for Bear Bryant at The University of Alabama, or play for The University of Georgia or wherever my fantasy goes, I've got to meet Doreen, wherever it is. It would've been cool to play at Alabama, as long as I met Doreen. I would be cool to do a lot of things in life, but as long as I met Doreen."

Simmons said that he loved his experiences at McMurry State because of the friends that he made and the experiences that he had, but at the top of the list was Doreen.
