May we never forget the loss of lives in the tragedy of a planned terrorist attack. May we also remember the unity that our country had the following days, weeks and months following the tragedy.

It was the worst day we have ever seen or experienced, but it brought out the best in all of us. America was not built on fear but by courage.

We Remember.

Howe's That - by Lana Rideout, September 10, 1981, Howe Enterprise:

OPINIONS - Everyone has an opinion on something. You have your opinions and I have mine. Sometimes we agree and sometimes we don't. Sometimes we change an opinion when we receive new information or hear a different argument.

How do you form your opinions on different matters? Usually there are several sides to an issue. You need to check out all sides, get information from different parties involved, listen to all information and

Two big events planned in Downtown Howe for late October

The Howe Area Chamber of Commerce and Keep Howe Beautiful will be shutting down both Haning Street and O'Connell Streets in the downtown area on the evening of Oct. 27. The chamber is hosting the second annual "Downtown Howe-lloween Festival" while at the same time, Keep Howe Beautiful will be hosting the "Howe Texas Chili Cook-Off" as a fundraiser for the outdoor flower garden area at Summit Gardens (the 1893 building that once was the First Christian Church).

The chili cook-off will begin on O'Connell Street at 4 pm while the trick-r-treaters will arrive on Haning Street at 6 pm. Both events are planned

Longtime Enterprise editor passes

Lana Lorene Rideout
May 18, 1944 - Sept. 4, 2018

Longtime Howe Enterprise editor Lana Rideout has passed on Tuesday, September 4, 2018 at the Meadowbrook Care Center in Van Alstyne, Texas. Lana was born on May 18, 1944 the daughter of John Leo and Anna Louise Brown Bullard. She was iconic in capturing Howe's history from the late 1970s through just a few years ago. She was a community leader involved with the Howe Community Library, Howe Chamber of Commerce, and Howe Historical Society just to name a few.

She is survived by her husband Dale Rideout of Howe, TX, son, Kirby Rideout, two daughters, Susie Dickey and husband Gary Don and Jamie English and husband Mark. She is also survived by 11 grandchildren and her sister, Carolyn Diane Bullard.

Memorial services were held at 11:00 AM on Saturday, September 8, 2018 at the Western Heights Church of Christ in Cameron Blesi rushed for 133 yards on 17 carries Friday night to lead the ground game. Michelle Carney/Howe Enterprise

Howe traveled to Sadler on Friday night to take on a depleted Ram team that started their third-string quarterback. Their sidelines resembled a crutch factory and Howe took complete advantage of the opportunities and ran wild for 338 yards rushing and 350 overall. Howe's running back committee was led by Cameron Blesi who ran 13 times for 177 yards while his counterpart Austin Lee rushed for three touchdowns on the night.

The Bulldogs led 27-0 midway through the second quarter and then played cat and mouse with the Rams for the remainder of the game.

Howe won the coin toss and elected to receive. It proved to be a good decision as the Dogs drove 69 yards on their initial drive on seven plays. The big play was a 51-yard run by Blesi that eventually would lead to a 19-yard touchdown by Lee. A botched snap and hold on the PAT had Layton Elvington trying to fire the ball into the endzone for the 2-point conversion, however, the pass fell incomplete when Elijah Campbell and Devin Porter each tried to grab the ball simultaneously.

S&S, with wide receiver-turned quarterback Cole Sloan in shotgun formation on the first play of the game had the ball sail over his head which resulted in a Howe recovery at the 9 yard line by Arturo Lowder. Three plays later, Blesi scored on a 2-yarder behind Parker Blount and JC Helpenstell. The 2-point conversion failed and Howe led, 12-0 with 6:58 left in the first quarter.

The Rams next possession ended on a punt that gave Howe the ball at their own 37 yard line. Again, Lee capped off the drive with a 17-yarder. The drive was 6 plays and 63 yards and took only 3:04 off the clock. Blesi ran in the 2-point conversion and Howe's lead bumped up to 20-0 with 1:30 left in the first quarter.

S&S took the ball into the second quarter during their next possession but turned the ball over on downs. Howe punted for the first time which set up a 7-play drive by the Rams that ended on another bad snap that gave the Bulldogs the ball at the Ram 7 yard line. Lee plowed over for his third touchdown of the first half and after Calley Vick's PAT, Howe led 27-0 with 5:17 left in the second quarter.

The Rams finally found the end zone before the half when Joey Baggs (who was later also injured) ran it over from the 18 yard line. The 2-point conversion was no good and Howe led 27-6 with 3:54 left in the second quarter.

Howe's next possession started at their own 37 yard line and ended seven plays later on a fumble near midfield. The Bulldogs got it back

Lana Rideout did it all in Howe

In the fall of 1977, The Howe Enterprise, owned by Jim and Nita Echols at the time, was nearly sold to Jim Denney, who also owned The Van Alstyne Leader. However, even after several publications by Denney, the sale fell through and the Echols retained ownership. The problem was that Jim Echols had already taken a position in the eastern part of the country, assuming he had sold the business. That left his wife Nita to stay and run The Howe Enterprise full-time until they could find a buyer. Nita Echols began to tell Lana Rideout that she could do the job as editor. After a few trials, she decided to accept the position as editor of Enterprise in December of 1977. A few days later, Lana's husband Dale Rideout purchased the paper as a Christmas present for Lana and for 38 years, they became the voice of Howe, Texas.

Lana Rideout in March 1981 posing with a special edition involving the termination of a police chief.

"She (Nita) started telling me that I could do it. So I did," said Lana Rideout in a 2014 interview. "A few things that helped me was that in college, I had a journalism class. I really enjoyed doing this for Howe especially because I had my kids there and all of their friends. It just made me feel like I could help get the stories out right. I had enough background to do that."

Throughout the years, the soft-spoken Lana Rideout implanted herself knee deep into the local business community. She was instrumental in the Howe Chamber of Commerce, serving as president for a period of time. She was also on the Friends of the Library board for many years and helped form the Howe Historical Society. She also served on the volunteer fire department.

Lana was even named the 1987 Norma J. Wallace Citizen of the Year by the Howe Chamber of Commerce.

Some people may not know that Lana was diagnosed with breast cancer in 1996. She is a survivor in so many ways. Dale encouraged her to write about her experiences throughout the early stages and that created so much encouragement from the citizens of Howe. It ended up helping both her and the readers. With the surgery and all of the chemo treatments, she missed one day at the office running The Enterprise and that was due to the surgery date.

Back in 2014, we asked Lana what her biggest story was that she wrote about. She quickly responded with a fire that overtook the Enterprise office downtown.

"I had worked all night at Anderson-Clayton," said Dale Rideout. "I came in and went to bed and hadn't slept very long until Lana called me and wanted me to bring the camera because the buildings were on fire and she said she couldn't go in and get hers. Now THAT is a newsperson."

If there was ever such a thing as a survivor's mentality. Lana Rideout represented that as well as anyone in our community. She took a tiny town newspaper and kept the train rolling for 38 years through one of the most difficult times to run a successful business in Howe, Texas. She beat recessions, the downfall of print media, the uprising of online media, and even breast cancer. She endured and survived, all with a smile on their face. That is until last week when her body gave out.

We at The Howe Enterprise will always admire the work she put in to cover our city and she'll always be documented forever as town editor.

Paper Hires New Staff

Jim Echols, owner and publisher of The Howe Enterprise announces that Mrs. Dale Rideout has been hired as the new editor of the paper. Mrs. Phil Eversoll is to serve as advertising and business manager.

Mrs. Rideout lives in Howe with her husband, an employee of Anderson-Clayton Foods, and her three children: Kirby, 10, Susie, 8, and Jamie, 5.

Mrs. Rideout is a graduate of Abilene Christian University and has lived in Howe for five years.

Mrs. Eversoll, also a Howe resident, is attending Grayson County College. Her husband is retired from Routeman-Texas Laundry in Sherman.

Mrs. Eversoll has one child still at home: Tim Jones, a freshman at Howe High School.

"GOP Party in the Park" to be held

The November General Election in Grayson County is starting off with a big boost of enthusiasm from the local Republican grassroots. William and Sharron Welch, Bobbie Erwin working with the Grayson Republican Women's Club will help host a campaign kickoff for local GOP candidates on Sunday, September 16 at 1:30 pm. The "GOP Party in the Park" will be held in historic downtown Whitesboro, Texas at Trollinger Park.

"This is going to be a wonderful community event that brings together families and provides a time of fellowship between local, state and federal leaders and our citizens. We are blessed to live in the United States and even more blessed to live in Grayson County, Texas and we will not take that for granted," said William Welch, a veteran and long-time grassroots conservative.

The event will host local, state and federal candidates on the Republican ticket with a nostalgic flavor of small-town America. "We are going to have hot dogs, snow cones, popcorn, lemonade and all types of fun games for the kids. We encourage everyone to come out and get involved. Our future is too important to leave in the hands of others," said Glenda Coulson, a retired teacher.

A recent planning session was held in Whitesboro to coordinate the event that included Bobbie Erwin, Sharron and William Welch, Liz Morelan, and Wilma Bush, County Clerk.

"Any way you slice it, Grayson County is doing extremely well and that didn't happen by accident," said Grayson County Clerk Wilma Bush. "We have consistently maintained strong conservative leadership that is committed to the proven principles of fiscal responsibility, safe streets, and faith and family."

Election day is November 6 and early voting runs from October 22 through November 2. The deadline to register to vote is October 9.

The event is free and open to the public and all are invited to participate.

Former Howe Bulldog leads Hendrix College in tackles

Hendrix College sophomore linebacker from Howe, TX, Tanner Hartsfield, was all over the field in the win against Lyon. He recorded 11 total tackles, and he anchored a defense that forced two turnovers and gave up only 86 yards on the ground.

Hartsfield was a member of the 2014, 2015, and 2016 playoff teams for Howe that racked up five playoff wins in eight playoff games.

Every person chooses their own path

I had a serious conversation the other day with a middle aged man and we talked for a couple of hours about God. I’ve known him for years and we’ve had these discussions before but I noticed he has become stronger in his opinions which by the way are based on atheism. He is a likeable person, hard worker, great husband and popular. He is also a very talented artist and sculptor and concentrates much of his art work on the dark world of the supernatural. He has studied Greek mythology and loves any type of art work about this subject and is also very much into modern superheroes or any type of figure or being that has special abilities and powers. He collects books, posters, paintings, sculptures, comic books, and creates incredible statues of these creatures and has a waiting list of people around the world who want to purchase his work. I’m glad that he is gifted and successful but of course concerned that he will not consider the one who has all power and authority and is the creator of all things.

I know from our past conversations that he was not raised with any type of religious instruction or influence and never even entered a church until he was married in one. He loves history and has read about spirituality and has come to the conclusion that religion has always been used as a way to calm the masses and distract them from the discouragement and suffering of being controlled by tyrannical governments. To be honest, I’ve not really known that many atheist and as a Christian minister, I find it disturbing to hear someone say they believe God is nothing more than a figment of the imagination. He goes on to say that everything we see and know came from nothing and the Bible is just a storybook filled with fables and legends. He is also strongly convinced we are not spiritual beings and there is no such thing as an eternal life after this one. Of course, in between all of these statements, I spend a considerable amount of time explaining what the Bible says all the while realizing that I am using a resource that he does not consider reliable. Even though he has made up his mind against the Almighty, I also have faith and believe that with God no situation is hopeless and anything is possible.

I understand that God has given every person the free will to believe whatever they want and as we look around, we can see that people have definitely taken him up on that. In today’s world, it’s becoming more common to hear people say the Bible is not true and that all the thousands of gods and religions in the world are all the same. I’ve walked with the Lord for much of my life, and have come to the realization that we cannot change someone’s mind. We can relay God’s message and demonstrate his character, we can pray and confess that God will intervene, and we can hope the Holy Spirit will influence and persuade an individual to consider turning to Christ but the rest is in God’s hands. The gospel of Jesus has the power to convict the human conscience and stir the soul but ultimately each person who hears how God so loved the world that he gave his only son to be crucified and save us, will either choose to accept his offer of salvation or walk away from him. The individual who embraces the God of the Bible becomes a Christian while those who reject him have simply made the decision to acknowledge an alternative idea and follow another path.

I could fill the entire newspaper with reasons why everyone should become a follower of Christ but I know there are others who could also do the same about their own worldviews. I could tell stories from the Bible and I could share about those who were once unbelievers and have now miraculously turned to God and are excited, grateful, and filled with joy and peace. But you know, I’m not really thinking I can make anyone love God and like I said, I certainly cannot spiritually redeem or save anyone. In all honesty and sincerity, I just want to communicate about God’s infinite love for all of us and will pray that someone will want to know more about him.

Texas History Minute

Dr. Ken Bridges

Enter Text Here. Walton Walker distinguished general who defended the nation in some of its most pressing battles. The native Texan commanded troops during the heated battles of World War II and in the chaos of the Korean War. He liberated countless peoples in the defense of democracy, and his brave stands later prevented the collapse of an ally.

By 1942, Walker, already a general, had been a veteran of World War I and was serving with Gen. George S. Patton training American troops in the Mojave Desert. By February 1944, he was sent to Scotland to prepare his troops for the upcoming invasion of Normandy. Patton assigned Walker's XX Corps to be part of his Third Army assault deep into Nazi-occupied France.

A last-minute change put him at Utah Beach during the D-Day invasion on June 6. The commander of the XIX Armored Corps had fallen ill, and Walker was given temporary command. He led his troops on their successful invasion on the beaches of northern France, advancing steadily forward under heavy fire. As he would be throughout the war, Walker was often close to the fighting. He was given a silver star for his actions that day.

Six weeks later, the XX Corps arrived in France, and Walker resumed command. In August, Patton unleashed his aggressive plan to sweep aside Nazi resistance in France, with Walker's men leading the charge. Patton's plan worked perfectly, one that cemented itself into military legend. Walker's XX Corps charged deep into France, retaking hundreds of square miles for the Allies and taking thousands of prisoners in a matter of weeks. They became known as the "Ghost Corps" because the Nazis never knew where they were hitting next, and wartime press restrictions never explicitly identified them in real time. German defenses collapsed in response to the relentless attacks. Patton personally awarded Walker the Distinguished Service Cross for his leadership under fire.

By February 1945, Walker's forces were in Germany where they assisted in the liberation of the Buchenwald concentration camp. More than 21,000 people were held as slave labor for the Nazis as the Nazis systematically exterminated anyone they deemed undesirable because of their racial or religious heritage. Walker continued to move forward, linking up with Soviet troops in Austria as the Nazis surrendered.

Patton and Walker were very complimentary of each other's leadership in the war. Patton wrote Walker in August 1945, "You pulled a tremendous load in whatever success the Third Army had."

He was next assigned to the Far East, commanding the Eighth Army. He spent months re-training the post-war set of recruits. In June 1950, they faced their greatest test yet when North Korea launched a surprise attack on South Korea. Gen. Douglas MacArthur, commanding American troops in the region, ordered Walker to South Korea to mount a defense while he remained behind in Japan.

Though the United Nations condemned North Korean actions and dozens of nations would support the Allies, Walker's Eighth Army and the disintegrating South Korean forces were essentially on their own in the face of a confusing attack. Out manned and outgunned, Walker quickly organized a mobile defense to keep the North Koreans off-balance and settled into a defensive position in the southeast by July. Rather than let South Korea fall, Walker gave the command "stand or die" and dug in to rebuild their forces and eventually hit back. The Pusan Perimeter, as it was called, held firm under Walker's leadership despite constant attacks. Because of his actions, South Korea did not fall.

in the meantime, MacArthur planned his daring counteroffensive behind North Korean lines. MacArthur's September landing at Inchon and quick liberation of the South Korean capital at Seoul stunned North Korean forces. Walker, carefully coordinating with MacArthur punched out of the Pusan Perimeter and raced to meet MacArthur's forces further north. North Korean forces fell back in a panic.

Within two months, Allied forces were preparing to retake all of North Korea. Walker quietly voiced his concerns about China invading North Korea as the Allies approached their border. MacArthur dismissed his concerns. By November, China had invaded, overwhelming the Eighth Army. He steadily pulled back, destroying the industrial infrastructure of North Korea in the process.

The Eighth Army was preparing to regroup when disaster struck. He was riding in a jeep to inspect the front lines and personally give commendations to his troops when he was killed in a head-on collision. He died two days before Christmas 1950 at the age of 61, at a time when the army still needed his leadership.

Though Walker is often overshadowed by other figures of World War II and the Korean War, he has many admirers around the globe. In 1971, a group of Korean War veterans established the General Walton walker Memorial Foundation to honor his memory. The foundation offers scholarships to descendants of Korean War veterans. In 1987, the South Korean government unveiled a memorial to Walker in Seoul. In May, he was inducted into the Ft. Leavenworth Hall of Fame, joining such generals as MacArthur, Omar Bradley, Dwight Eisenhower, and George Marshall. Today, he is perhaps most well-known to commuters in the Dallas area as the namesake for Walton Walker Boulevard, a portion of Loop 12.

Lying in State

Why do we visit the Capitol when a great American life comes to an end?

Samuel Moore-Sobel is a freelance writer. He is currently working on a memoir and publishes a blog which can be found by visiting www.holdingontohopetoday.com Follow him on both Facebook and Twitter.

I remember the first time I trekked down to the United States Capitol to honor a great American life. I was ten years old, intent upon paying my last respects to the late President Ronald Reagan. I had eagerly watched the retrospectives on television, attempting to commit each moment to memory. It all seemed so important and incredibly regal. A historic moment in time, one that captured the attention of a nation.

I convinced my mother to travel with me into Washington, D.C. We arrived just as evening was beginning to descend upon the beautiful city. We stood in line for several hours, seemingly wading through the empty bottles of water littering the path ahead. The wait would extend past twelve or thirteen hours, and my mother had to work the next day. We left in the wee hours of the morning, returning home with a heavy heart after missing my chance to say good-bye to our 40th President.

“The rotunda of the U.S. Capitol has been considered the most suitable place for the nation to pay final tribute to its most eminent citizens by having their remains lay in state,” according to the Architect of the Capitol website. Government officials or military officers lay in state, while private citizens, such as Billy Graham, lay in honor. The ceremony enhanced by the fact that most coffins rest upon the catafalque made in 1865 for the coffin of our 16th President, Abraham Lincoln.

Rep. Henry Clay was the first to receive this honor upon his death in 1852. Since then, thirty-four people have lain in state before being laid to rest. Senator John Sidney McCain, III, was the 31st man to receive such an honor on Friday, August 31st. Desiring to pay my last respects to a great American hero, I stood in line outside the Capitol building. Surrounded by thousands of others in the blazing heat, we shared stories amongst ourselves of the late Senator as we commiserated over the inevitable humidity experienced in Washington during August. “I got his signature in a book,” one woman said, showing fellow bystanders a picture on her cell phone. “I am really treasuring that now,” she said wistfully.

Anticipation builds as one rounds the staircase leading to the intended destination. Standing expectantly on the outskirts of the hall, almost reluctant to enter. I felt unworthy to pass the threshold, feeling as if I did not belong. I once interned on the Hill, and had passed through this part of the Capitol countless times before. This time, passing the statues of Ronald Reagan and Dwight Eisenhower while taking in the view of the sculptures lining the perimeter, felt so entirely different. As if the moment at hand had transformed this once familiar place into something entirely new. Amazed at the glory housed within these hallowed halls.

The line moved towards the coffin draped in an American flag. The wreaths displayed nearby, the Capitol police officer standing guard. The majesty of the moment was overwhelming. One could have heard a pin drop in the room, as we attempted to reflect upon the life of such a hero. Suddenly, a group of police officers approached. A changing of the guard was being carried out before our very eyes. The tapping of the shoes, the dress blues. The final, choreographed salute. Leaving hardly a dry eye in the room.

Hours later, my brother would ask a simple question. “What makes us go see someone lie in state?” He was baffled by the practice, wondering why Americans choose to indulge in this respected tradition. Perhaps it has something to do with participating in a communal national activity. A symbolic practice communicating our love of country. A practical way to participate in the life of our great democracy. By honoring those who came before us, paving the way for the life we live in the present. A way of saying thank you for their service to the nation we all love.

I walked away with a sense of sorrow mixed with pride. Sad to have lost an American icon, mourning over the collective national loss. Yet grateful for a man who in many ways “appealed to our better angels,” if I may use a line often invoked by the historian Jon Meacham. As we said good-bye to a man who in many ways embodied the American spirit, we were given time to examine our collective national soul. “The whole is greater than the sum of it’s parts,” Aristotle once wrote. A nation, coming together in a state of grief, quietly reminded of the need to heal the divisions and fissures currently tearing at our national fabric. If accomplished, a seemingly suitable way to honor the legacy of a man whose public life, in the words of Meacham, “was largely about hope.”

evaluate it. I also believe you should be willing to change an opinion if new evidence is offered that you believe is valid.

I read a lot of opinion type articles. I receive several weeklies and a couple of daily newspapers. I always read (or at least skim) the editorial page and the letters to the editor. I also read news stories and magazine articles on many subjects. I am usually searching for ideas for this column as I read, so I jot down notes if something catches my interest.

When I offer my opinions on this page, I don't expect everyone in town to agree with me. In fact, I expect some people to get upset or stirred up either in favor of the editorial or against it. Editorials call for action of some type. If we just sit back and “let George do it,” there can be little progress.

Living with children

John Rosemond
Q: I am reading your book “The Well-Behaved Child” and have a question that it doesn’t address. I am a single mom with children from two different fathers. One of my ex-husbands (my son’s father) and I have arranged to do regular “child-exchanges.” One weekend, all the kids go to his house and on another weekend, they all come to mine. My 11-year-old daughter (by another father) frequently complains of being in some type of pain – stomachaches, headaches, and most recently, pains in her feet that (she says) prevent her from walking. Doctors have been unable to find a cause for any of her problems. I’ve even had her see a therapist, but that didn’t help at all. My daughter says she hates the exchanges and that they are what’s making her sick. I know that this particular ex-husband can cause a lot of drama, but even when an exchange goes smoothly she comes back complaining of aches and pains so I’m not sure that’s the real issue. I don’t know what to do any more and hope you can help us.

A: It seems to me that the solution to this problem is the most obvious one: Stop including your daughter in these child-exchanges.

I had to read your question three times to make sure I was understanding correctly that the man with whom you are exchanging children is not your daughter’s father. That’s somewhat odd. Furthermore, for you to include in these trade-offs a pre-teen girl who is not his daughter constitutes putting her emotional and even physical health at risk. To be blunt, you should not be sending a girl to the home of a man to whom she is not related unless you are able to be there the entire time. I am not suggesting that he is engaging in inappropriate behavior with or around your daughter; I am, however, more than suggesting that you aren’t using good common sense here.

I don’t know what sort of “drama” this man is capable of creating, but that description alone leads me to think that the emotional climate in his home is or can quickly become very disruptive, even threatening. Given the highly unusual nature of the arrangement you’ve worked out with him, I’m not at all surprised that your daughter is complaining of various aches and pains. Nor am I surprised that doctors can find nothing wrong. The aches and pains in question are most likely psycho-somatic.

Don’t misunderstand me. I’m not saying that your daughter is inventing her aches and pains, that they’re “all in her mind.” I’m saying that these visits obviously stress her out (in fact, as you indicate, even the anticipation of an “exchange” stresses her out) and it is not all that unusual for stress to manifest in the form of physical ailments of one sort or another. Furthermore, prolonged stress can eventually cause serious physical problems.

I can’t help but think that if you stop including your daughter in these “exchanges” her physical problems will quickly disappear. These days, being a pre-teen girl is not as carefree as it once was. Your daughter doesn’t need this completely unnecessary complication in her life.

How do I ask for a pay raise?

Taylor Kovar

Hey Taylor - I’ve been at my current job for three years and I’m starting to feel like I’m due for a raise. I also feel like I won’t get one until I ask and I’m terrified of asking and getting turned down. Should I just do it? I love my job and would love it even more if my income went up! - June

Hey June - It’s a sad but true reality that some employers won’t give employees their due until they make a formal request. If you’ve been there for three years, like the work, are good at your job, and others have seen pay increases, then you have every right to expect a raise. It should come without you having to ask, but sometimes we have to go the extra step.

I have clients who I’ve helped navigate through similar situations in the past. Every company is different, so you have to find the angle that works for you and your position before making the request. That said, this type of delicate situation is often best handled by a formulaic approach. Essentially, you need to make a pitch as to why the company will benefit from paying you more. Like any good project pitch, you need to structure it properly.

The hardest part for most people is the introduction; opening a conversation about how great you are and why you deserve more money can be uncomfortable. I find people have more success with this part when they make it about the company and the future: “I love the work we do here and I want to be a part of it for a long time.” Assuming that’s true, it shouldn’t be too hard to say and it opens up the second part of your pitch - the evidence.

As a valued employee, you’ve accomplished a lot over the last three years. Think about those successes, then put a future-tense spin on them: “I’m going to keep increasing our XYZ, just as I increased XYZ by 20% over the last 18 months,” etc. Again, these should all be true statements. You don’t have to brag and you don’t have to sound needy; you’re simply pointing out that a pay raise for you is nothing more than an investment in the company.

At that point, you’ve arrived at your conclusion, in which you reiterate how glad you are to work there, how you appreciate your boss or manager taking the time to meet with you, and how you’ll respect whatever decision is made. If you aren’t properly compensated for your work, you may have to rethink your relationship with that company. However, it’s more likely you’ll get what you deserve and your employer will appreciate you speaking candidly.

Never be afraid to ask for fair pay, June. As long as you do so with confidence and integrity, you’re doing the right thing. Good luck!

HOWE'S THAT?

Last Friday night's scrimmage game with Era's Hornets proved what a lot of coaches tell their charges:

Spirit and desire are as important as any other phase of a winning football team.

The Bulldogs scored first in what started out as an easy scrimmage game.

However, Era completed a pass for a score a little later, and from that point on the "Hornets" played a different ball game.

And all it took was their initial score which changed their minds from losing to winning.

Coach Dickey's is drilling the boys this week, however, on preventing that psychological boost in the opposition.

Mrs. C. C. Jones was in the office other day. Said their son, Mike, had won fifth place in the Mr. U.S.A. Physique contest this year, held August 17 in Scranton, Pennsylvania.

Mike has been in the top spot in the annual contest for the past few years.

He also received another honor on August 20, when he was presented a degree from Stephen F. Austin in Nacogdoches.

Mr. and Mrs. Jones attended the graduation services.

School daze!

A newcomer to Howe — contemplating starting to school here called one of the elementary teachers recently, inquiring:

"Do you teach the — grade?"

"Yes."

"Is it true? I heard you were a mean teacher!"

No comment.

It can rain!

Recording in Howe during last Friday's downpour registered 1.3 inches, in about 30 minutes. The deluge was about tops for the area, however, as various reports in the area revealed lesser amounts of moisture.

And it was continuing Wednesday.

Fall temperature readings also contributed to a pleasant Labor Day weekend.

And, the Howe area was relatively quiet over Labor Day, accidentwise.

Texas Residents Of Less Than Year May Vote For President

Voters who have lived in Texas less than a year must apply for a ballot during a 15-day period beginning Friday, September 6 if they want to vote for President and Vice President in the coming general election, Paul E. Lee, county clerk, has announced. Applicants must appear in person at the clerk's office.

This will be the first time that persons having less than one year's residence in the state will be able to vote in a presidential election, Lee said.

A law passed by the Texas Legislature last year permits a voter to vote for President and Vice President, but for no other offices, if he will have lived in Texas at least 60 days on election day.

Lee added that a person who had been issued a voter registration certificate, voter identification card, or other document showing that he was a registered voter in the state from which he moved should take the document with him to the clerk's office when applying for a ballot.

Applications must be filed with the clerk by 5 o'clock on Friday, September 20. However, the voters will not actually vote until the period, October 21 - November 1, when they will return to the clerk's office and cast their ballots.

Persons voting in the presidential election under this special procedure need not be registered as voters in the county where they now live.

Lee emphasized that this voting procedure applies only to persons who will have lived in Texas less than a year on election day. If a person moved to Texas before November 5, 1967 he must be registered with the county tax assessor-collector in order to vote in the general election Nov. 5, and he will also vote in the regular manner on election day. However, only those persons who became residents of Texas after October 1, 1967, may register at this time and they must register by next October 5 in order to vote in the election on November 5.

Dorchester Men Deliver First Bale Of 1968 Cotton

A 553-pound bale of cotton, the first for the 1968 season at Dorchester gin, was brought in last Thursday by Frank Hejny and his son-in-law, Billy Murdock, both of Dorchester.

Kimbell Gin Manager W. J. Tucker said the cotton was of the Lankhart variety, drawing 25 cents per pound. The bale, with 15-16th-inch staple, weighed 2,100 pounds with 800 pounds of seed. Going rate for seed is $52 per ton.

Actually, the bale was brought in Wednesday afternoon, with the ginning Thursday morning.

The partners said the bale was their first initial bale produced for marketing.

Hejny and Murdock farm 170 acres, and expect about three-quarters of a bale per acre. The farm is northwest of Dorchester.

Bulldogs Host Whitesboro For Friday Scrimmage

Howe Bulldogs this week will host Whitesboro in the second pre-season scrimmage game.

Action is scheduled to begin around 8 o'clock Friday night. Last Friday the team came out second best in an encounter with Era on the local field.

All members of the squad saw action during the scrimmage, including 11 freshmen.

First scheduled game will be next week against Bells' Panthers. First home game October 4 against Celina.

Baptists To Ordain Two Deacons At Sunday Services

Sunday has been designated "Honor Our Deacons Day" at First Baptist Church, it was announced this week.

The seven deacons of the church will be honored at the morning services and also at a reception following the evening services.

Two men, Alton Norman and Gerald Hickox, will be ordained as deacons during the evening services.

Special speaker for the service will be the Rev. G. B. Bradshaw of McKinney, retired missionary of Collin Baptist Association.

Deacons presently active at the church are: Ray Henderson, chairman, S. V. Tolbert, Charles Thompson, Glyn Hestand, Jack Norman, Jimmy Carroll and James Russell.

Time of the service Sunday evening is 7:00 o'clock. The public is invited both to the ordination and the reception to follow.

Receives Degree At East Texas St.

Martha Gail Gunn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Gunn of Howe, received her Bachelor of Science degree August 23 from East Texas State University.

Her major was Elementary Education with a specialization in Physical Education.

She is presently employed by the Arlington Public Schools as a fifth grade teacher in Myrtle Lee Thornton Elementary.

School To Open Monday; Students Register Friday

Registration of school students will begin Friday morning at 9:00 o'clock, with first day of classes Monday, September 9.

Opening of the fall term, originally scheduled one week earlier, was postponed in order to complete preparations at the latest addition to the local system, a new six-room elementary building, situated southwest of the new high school building.

A faculty meeting has been scheduled for Thursday at 9:00 a.m., Supt. Charles Thompson reported. Faculty for the term has been completed with the exception of a girl's basketball coach, Thompson said.

First graders are not required to be present for registration Friday, according to Mrs. C. L. Pool, principal. Parents of the children are to register the beginners in the west wing of the new building. Requirements include a birth certificate (if not already filed at the school), and proof of smallpox vaccination.

Latest additions to the faculty are Larry Miller, high school science teacher, and Mrs. Lucile Waldrop, six grade teacher.

Gymnasium To Be Complete In October

Following completion of the new elementary school building last week, construction of the new gymnasium is expected to be completed before the middle of October, it was reported this week.

N. R. Langford Construction Co. of Howe is contractor for the two school additions.

Outside work on the gym is about complete, with workmen ready to begin laying the hardwood floor.

Booster Club Tickets Available This Week

Membership tickets to Howe Booster Club were on sale this week, Dave Hamons, president of the organization, reported.

Membership cards may be obtained from any member of the club, Hamons said. Members will be out in force at Friday's scrimmage game with Whitesboro, prior to an organizational meeting to be held later this month.

Money derived from memberships and other projects of the club is used to support school athletic programs, including the summer baseball league.

HOWE'S THAT

"It was just an accident," was L. H. Linker's comment on accomplishing a golfer's No. one ambition last week. The high school principal and a couple of other Howe men, Jesse Stonebarger and Rickey Reedy, were chasing golf balls on the Grayson Co. Junior College course at the time, and L. H. sunk the approximate 150 yd. ace on the number five hole. Finally got him to admit, however, that it wasn't just an accident; that he was really aiming at the hole at the time.

Other members of the hole-in-one-club say the principal will receive a medal for his accomplishment.

Labor Day weekend was relatively quite, insofar as accidents involving local citizens are concerned. However, Sam Wortham and son Ernest, and Sam's grandson, Danny, didn't fair so well Friday a.m. about 6:30.

The trio was enroute to Lake Texoma for a little early morning fishing while Ernest and family were in from Michigan, their home.

The three hooked Sam's fishing boat to Ernest's pickup, and the youngster climbed in to a camper on the pickup while the men climbed aboard the cab. A quick trip across the expressway to tank up with gasoline, and the trio headed back under the bridge and up the East access road to the freeway.

They made it to the freeway and were cruising along peacefully, when all of a sudden a car hit the back of the boat and motor, shoved the boat up through the camper on the pickup, and otherwise generally put the fishing expedition out of commission.

Sam said he planned to retire from fishing next year anyway, but the incident hastened his plans a few months.

Another accident earlier in the week caused a car owner considerable expense, although no personal injuries were involved.

The W. E. Yonce's had to be towed back to Howe following an accident near Allen, which put their car out of commission with a busted radiator, battery, air conditioning condenser, grill, bumper and the like.

They collided with a dog on the freeway.

"We're ready," Coach Norman Dickey said this week of the 1973 edition of the Howe Bulldogs. The team has a pair of scrimmage games under their belts and will open the '73 schedule Friday night at Anna against the Coyotes. Game time is 8:00 p.m.

The Bulldogs scrimmaged the Prosper Eagles on the local field two weeks ago, and met Whitesboro there last Friday night in pre-season action.

In Class A this year, the 'dogs will play Whitewright, Van Alstyne, Bells, Pottsboro and Leonard for district honors. Pre-district games will be Anna, Princeton, Sanger and Allen.

Starting offensive lineup for the Bulldogs, Dickey said, will

(Complete rosters may be found on page four)

B team, seventh and eighth grade teams will meet the same foes as the varsity squad, Dickey said, on Thursday nights, at the opposite location of the Friday night varsity contests. Only exception may be the Sanger game, which was indefinite, he said.

Coach Norman Dickey calls plays in huddle during scrimmage contest Friday night. Bulldogs will meet Anna this week to open the 1973 schedule.

Leads scarce in August 27 burglary here

Local and county authorities are still seeking leads in the burglary August 27 of the Super S Food Store.

"professional" burglars took more than $10,000 in cash and checks, five days' receipts, in the early morning caper. One small hole was drilled at an angle through concrete to open the floor mounted safe, indicating the burglars "had experience."

Store owner-manager Stanley Frances said most of the loss was in checks, some of which have been replaced by persons making purchases at the store during the five day period.

"The loss wasn't insured," Frances said, "and we are grateful to those who have replaced the checks."

Fresh fish for festival

Fresh catfish meal was added this week to plans for the Chamber of Commerce-sponsored Fall Festival here Saturday night, September 22.

Ray Bledsoe, concessions chairman of the festival, said the fresh catfish will be served "with all the trimmin's" and coffee or tea. Serving will begin at 5:30.

Tickets will go on sale this weekend by Chamber members, at $1.50 for adults and $1.00 for children.

Approximately 22 booths have been reserved for the occasion, with school classes and civic organizations in charge.

Chairman of the event is Mrs. Pat Tilley.

Total of the new budget approved by the board is $538,797. Of this amount, $66,846 is bond money not yet paid to contractors on new buildings nearing completion.

Assessed valuation of the school district is $10,780,800, with a tax rate of $1.69 per $100. Of the rate, $1.23 goes for maintenance, with 46¢ to the debt service, interest and sinking fund. Estimated reve-

Labor Day quite in Howe

Labor Day weekend in Howe was quite, insofar as auto accidents are concerned, according to Police Chief Mike Rollins.

"It was just like any other weekend," the chief said.

One Howe woman was treated and released from a Sherman hospital, however, following an auto accident in that city. Carolyn Allison, resident of Westwood Manor apartments, was a passenger in one auto involved in a two car collision at the intersection of Cherry and East Streets in Sherman.

An accident on the expressway here early Friday morning destroyed a boat, motor, trailer and camper and damaged a pickup and car. Passengers in the pickup was Sam Wortham with his son, Ernest, as driver. Danny Wortham, son of Ernest, was riding in the camper. Officers said a car driven by a Sherman man struck the boat and trailer behind the pickup. No injuries were reported.

Four-way stop signs on access roads

Hanning Street and the East and West access roads have been designated as four-way stop intersections, officials said this week.

Additional stop signs were placed on the East access road last week, with those on Hanning street remaining, and two signs are to be placed on the West access road this week it was reported.

In the past, vehicles on Hanning Street were required to stop, giving access road traffic the right-of-way.

Standing are Program Chairman Jack Norman and Secretary Gail Catching.

Howe's that...

I read an article about the different uses of newspaper (after you finish reading it of course). How many uses can you think off? Here are a few to get you started: obtain information, advertise something you have to sell, line shelves, temporary rain hat, make paper dolls, swat flies, make kites, save and give to paper drive.

I especially recommend the last suggestion. Save your old newspapers for the Howe Boy Scouts. Much of the funding for their worthwhile programs comes from the sale of these papers. The next pickup is still about two months away due to problems, but we want you to continue your support of the scouting program. Besides helping the scouts, you help the environment when you recycle your old papers.

I found the following rules in an article in the Dallas Morning News a while back. They are interesting and thought provoking.

- Basic Rules to Help Prove that Schools Don't Work:
- 1.) Tell your child you are sorry he has to go to such lousy schools.
 - 2.) Let him know there will be a lot of kids and teachers there he won't like.
 - 3.) If his teacher gives lots of homework, agree with him that she is mean.
 - 4.) If a teacher assigns no homework, agree with him she is lazy and dumb.
 - 5.) Above all, do not go meet the teacher yourself and find out what the real homework situation is.
 - 6.) If he fails tests, discuss loudly with your spouse the failure of the teacher to cause your child to learn his material.
 - 7.) To help your child overcome his sense of failure, buy him a T-shirt for his room.
 - 8.) Stay out of libraries.
 - 9.) Never buy magazines or books for your home - it's the school job to have plenty.
 - 10.) Don't put up a globe or maps in your home.
 - 11.) Avoid discussing subjects covered in school classwork at the dinner table.
 - 12.) If he asks you for help with a school assignment, read through the book and then inform him it was written by fools in code language and that no one could possibly understand it.
 - 13.) Never go to parent-teacher conferences.
 - 14.) When annual house is held, steam into the building with a list of complaints long enough to monopolize your child teachers from the other parents and to keep you from seeing the art show, the science fair exhibit and the book report display and thus avoid recognizing that your kid isn't participating in anything.
 - 15.) If he is sent to the vice for sailing workbooks out the window, berate the teachers for not being able to hold his interest.
 - 16.) If he talks dirty, say learned it at school and there's just nothing you can do about it.
 - 17.) When he comes home with a sorry mid-term report, tell everybody they better get the good teachers in that school or this kid isn't going to learn anything.
 - 18.) And never, never ask yourself how come some of the kids in the very same classes, with the very same books and the very same teachers are turning into college scholarship candidates.

PTA Makes Plans

The Howe PTA Executive Board met recently to make plans for the new school year.

Reports were presented from committee chairmen. Ideas for projects for the coming year were presented.

Possible projects mentioned were additional loud speakers for the football field, air-conditioning for the middle school cafeteria, and additional playground equipment for the elementary building. Profits made through the concession stand of the football games will be used to finance the projects.

All parents of school-aged children are encouraged to be members of the PTA. Dues are $1.00 per person per year. Meetings will be the second Tuesday of each month beginning Oct. 10.

Various programs will be presented at these meetings, some will have the students participating and others will acquaint parents with the special programs available through the school.

All parents are encouraged to be involved in PTA. It means parents and teachers working together for the good of the school.

Annual Affair

When the 1977-78 Howe High School annuals arrive this year, there will be a date announced for an annual-signing party. Everyone who bought an annual will be invited to gather in a designated place where everyone, even former students, parents and friends, will have the opportunity to enjoy the annual together and collect signatures and well wishes for his friends. The yearbook is one solid memory for each one to take with them.

Note: the annuals are not in yet, so there is no need to call the school. Just watch for all the details in the Howe Enterprise.

Those who cannot attend the party may pick up annuals any time after that date. No annuals will be given out early.

With a little cooperation this party can be a great success and hopefully turn into an annual affair.

High School Officers Named

Class officers for Howe High School have been selected.

Freshman officers are: President Guy Williams, Vice-President Kanette Cadenhead, Secretary Karen Banner, and Treasurer Leigh Ann Salling.

Junior Officers are: President Tod Corbin, Vice-President Ellen Wardlaw, Secretary Karen Vincent, and Treasurer Dee Ann Dykes.

Senior officers are: President Caroline Corbin, Vice-President Vince Bailey, Secretary Donna Murdock, and Treasurer Valerie Stewart.

Student council officers are: President Bobby Hawkins, Vice-President Royce Hanning, Secretary Sherry Smith, and Treasurer Vince Bailey.

Junior student council representatives are David Monk (Bennett), David Norman (Douglas), and Mark Dykes (Finney).

Senior student council representatives are Phillip Farris (Jarma), Sonja Justice (Penn), and Terry Potts (Atchison).

Bulldogs Set To Play Pottsboro Friday

The Howe Bulldogs begin in earnest their quest for District 16-A championship with a game against Pottsboro at Howe Friday, Sept. 8, at 8:00 p.m.

The Bulldogs lost a scrimmage to Celina last Friday, but Head Football Coach Blackie Wade is not too concerned over the loss.

"The scrimmage proved to be somewhat disappointing after the Bulldogs proved they could make the big play," Wade says, "move the ball, and for the most parts control the defense of Celina. Although, this was only a learning session and not a real game, the feeling of game type conditions was one of mixed emotions. We did learn much from the scrimmage, and we had many points that were encouraging," Wade adds.

One injury, a hairline fracture of the hand of sophomore Jeff Hawkins, also marred the scrimmage. The injury is expected to keep Hawkins out of Friday's game.

Pottsboro, a 14-A team, was 11-2 in last year's games. Only three starters, two offensive and one defensive, are back with the team this year. Pottsboro's team is somewhat weaker this year, but tackle David Waggoner(215) is the key to the team, according to Coach Bert Glascock.

Howe coach Blackie Wade is looking forward to Friday night's encounter with Pottsboro. "The potential is there, the desire must come out," Wade remarks, "the effort must be put forth. Our Bulldogs have the kind of talent to upset anyone. We learned from our mistakes and nothing that went wrong last week can't be corrected. The Bulldogs are hitting very well and will get better each week," Wade adds.

Booster News

The Howe Athletic Booster Club held its regular Tuesday night meeting at 7 p.m. at the high school.

We were honored by a large attendance consisting of the Junior Varsity team which were introduced individually by their proud coach. A film was shown of their scrimmage against Celina. Their powerful defense held Celina while the offense moved well. As if in a planned movie, the only score came on a pass play that was completed after the clock ran out, with Howe's number 30, Thomas Pettit, scoring. Good going, team.

The JV's will play at Pottsboro Thursday at 7:00 p.m. From here it looks like a win for the Bulldogs.

Probably the highlight of the evening was when instructor Donna Jarma introduced her talented cheerleaders that were selected for this season.

In favor of the Bulldogs. Offense showed Howe with 236 yards on 38 carries with a 6.2 yard per carry. With five runs over 18 yards, 4 backs with over 5 yards per carry and with 2 backs with over 75 yards rushing.

The defense held Celina to 155 yards rushing on 41 carries of 3.7 per carry, completed 2 of 11 passed for 42 yards and 2 scores. Big difference was fumbles with Bulldogs making 8 and losing 6. Bobcats made 4 and lost 1.

It is to be remembered that this was a scrimmage. This practice is of much help to see who can perform well and where he will fit in position the best.

Come Friday night at 8:00 at the Howe Bulldog stadium, we predict that the Pottsboro Cardinals, 1977 regional champions, will get their first 1978 loss to a scrappy Bulldog team.

The Booster Club discussed filming of the 7th and 8th grade game to be played on Oct. 20th. This would cost about $35 and if enough parents are interested in doing this too and if the money could be raised by donations it will be done. We would like to see an interest generated here by the parents of these fine youngsters.

The membership drive has now topped 110. We would like a lot more. We want to point out that our club is for all sports. These are amateur athletes that work hard to provide entertainment for us through our school system. Let's share their pride and back the Howe Bulldogs.

Junior High Games To Start Sept. 14

The junior high football game scheduled for Sept. 7 has been cancelled due to a new UIL regulation, according to Howe Middle School Principal Tommy Skipworth.

The first game for the junior high will be Sept. 14 at Aubrey at 5 p.m. Thirty eighth grade and twenty-five seventh grade students are involved in the program.

Other games on the junior high schedule are Sept. 21, open; Sept. 28 at Wolfe City; Oct. 5 Cooper at Howe; Oct. 12 at Van Alstyne; Oct. 19 Honey Grove at Howe; Oct. 26 at Leonard; Nov. 2 White-wright at Howe; and Nov. 9 Belis at Howe.

Football Tickets

Tickets for the football game will be available at the high school, the middle school, and Howe State Bank until 1:00 p.m. on Friday.

High School Principal Donald Gilstrap stated that there will be people at the game to help with the parking and asked for cooperation in making the parking go smoothly.

The first three or four parking spots are reserved for handicapped persons, he noted. Please leave these free for them.

Special Council Session Tonight

The Zoning and Planning Commission met Tuesday night and passed a zoning change on a piece of property along the access road from Young Street to Haning Street.

This change from R1 to R3 will be the subject of a special session of the city council tonight, Sept. 7, at 5 p.m.

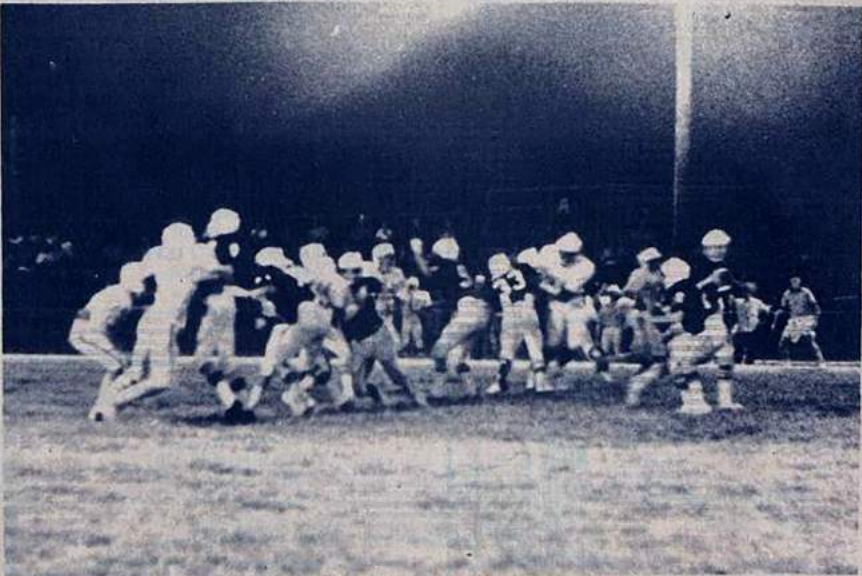

City administrator Jerry Hallmark reported some problems with water leaks in the Western Hills are on Tuesday and Wednesday of this week.

Off Street Parking Required At Football Field

With the approach of football season, Police Chief Bill Smith notes a need for care in parking at the football field.

All parking will be inside the gate. Howe residents and visitors will enter at the gate on Hughes Street and cars will be parked north of the north goal posts and west of the field house.

Cars parked on the road will be ticketed, Smith adds.

BULLDOGS scrimmage Celina Friday, Sept. 1, getting ready to show their stuff in the beginning game against Pottsboro Sept. 8.

Howe's that...

I'M FINE

There's nothing whatever the matter with me
I'm just as healthy as I can be.
I have Arthritis in both my knees
And when I talk, I speak with a wheeze.
My pulse is weak and my blood is thin,
But I'm awfully well, for the shape I'm in.
I think my life is out of whack
And I have a terrible pain in my back.
My hearing is gone, and my eyes are dim,
Most everything seems to be out of trim.
The way I stagger sure is a crime
I'm likely to fall at any time.
But all things considered - I feel fine.
Arch Supports for both my feet
Or I wouldn't be able to walk down the street.
My fingers are swollen stiff at the joints.
My nails are impossible to keep in points
Complexion is bad, due to dry skin.
But I'm awfully well for the shape I'm in.
My dentures out, I'm restless at nights,
In the morning I'm a frightful sight.
Memory's failing, head in a spin,
I'm practically living on aspirin.
But I'm awfully well for the shape I'm in.
Now the moral is as this tale unfolds--
That for you and me who are getting old,
It's better to say I'm fine with a grin,
Than to tell everybody the shape we're in.

[Editor's Note: Thanks to Maxine White for submitting this little poem.]

DON'T EVER GO INTO THE BASEMENT!!!!!! - That was a "memorable" line from a scary movie I recently watched on TV called "Funeral Home." It was pretty good advice because the things that were going on in the basement were gruesome, indeed. Recently, in the Dallas Life Magazine supplement of the Dallas Morning News, Paul Coggins wrote an article called "Lessons For The Living" in which he gave some advice for folks based on the happenings in horror movies.

Such advice as "never investigate mysterious sounds" is good for people with deranged killers in the attic or basement. How about "never go camping?" Folks in "Texas Chainsaw Massacre" and "Friday the 13th, Parts I and II" learned this one the hard way.

And of course, anyone who saw "Psycho" knows why you never take a shower.

The piece of advice I liked best was "never keep knives in the kitchen." How many movies have you seen where the murderer, who apparently never carries his own knife, sees a knife lying on the kitchen table. Next thing you know that knife has been used for another gruesome murder.

If you are a fan of horror films, you also know that just when everything seems to be going right, when it looks as if the killer has been caught or killed, you know that you are really not safe. The music tells you that although everything appears to be all right, something terrible is about to happen. Quick, cover your eyes! But curiosity will surely get the best of you and you will have to see what is about to happen.

News of Howe ISD

We have new tables and chairs in the Middle School lunchroom. There was some sentiment expressed when we moved the old white benches out. Many of our students' parents ate lunch on those old tables. Because of sanitation and ease in adequate cleaning, the time has come for replacement. I hear the students and teachers like the new tables.

We had an excellent crowd in Coppell Friday. Thanks for your support. You are reminded that the game this week is in Garland Memorial Stadium at 8:00 p.m. versus Royce City. The game is on Saturday night.

I came across the following poem which I would like to share:

With Apologies to None
When I am introduced as a teacher I am usually asked what I teach. I reply, "I teach the little ones." Often the response is a flat "Oh." I can never tell whether it is an expression of sympathy or disinterest.

I wish I had a chance to say something like this:

Where else would life look as bright to me as it does amid an energetic group to whom nothing is impossible?

Where else could I walk into a room and see so many eager faces turn to greet me?

Where else could I wear the same thing time after time and so often be told that I look pretty?

Where else could I guide the first letter formations of a chubby little hand and think that some day it might write a book or an important document?

Where else could I so quickly forget my own aches because of skinned knees, bumped heads and broken hearts that need my consolation?

Where else could I feel so close to my Maker when little children learn to read because of my help?

Yes, I am a teacher, Mr. and Mrs. America, and I love it!

School Board Holds Two Meetings

The Howe School Board held two meetings Tuesday Aug. 30. The first meeting, at 7:30 p.m., was a hearing on the 1983-84 budget. No citizens appeared to comment or question the board.

At 7:45 the board reconvened for the following business:

The 1982-83 budget was amended.

The 1983-84 budget was approved. Total proposed budget is $1,353,428.

The tax rate was set at .592 per $100 valuation.

Plain paper copiers were purchased for each building for the use of the teachers and staff.

Following an executive session, the board:

Approved the resignation of Sondra Williams and Lucy Wheeler.

Hired Freddie Chancellor as middle school custodian.

Approved a two-month leave of absence for Norman Bennett, high school math teacher. (Bennett will be working in a movie role in Kentucky.)

Approved the purchase of some carpet.

voted most congenial student and graduated with an "A" average.

Mrs. Weissert is married to Joe Weissert and her children are J.J. and Shonda. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. John Williams of Ravenna. She graduated with an "A" average.

KICKING THE PAT is Steve Dobbins, #80. Robert Perkins, #32, blocks a Coppell Cowboy. The Bulldogs beat Coppell, 13-7, Friday, Sept. 2.

Bulldogs Stop Cowboys, 13-7

The Howe Bulldogs opened the 1983 football season with a 13-7 win over the Coppell Cowboys. Touchdowns came when Mike Vickers caught a pass from Quarterback Mark Wheeler and Randy Geer made a 42-yard run to the end zone.

The Bulldogs took the lead with just 13 seconds left in the first quarter when Wheeler threw a 30-yard pass to Vickers. The PAT kick by Steve Dobbins failed.

The touchdown play was set up when Robert Perkins intercepted a Cowboy pass at the Coppell 45. Howe spent the next four minutes marching toward the goal.

On Coppell's next possession, they were able to keep the ball for only 18 seconds as Dobbins intercepted a pass at the Howe 24. A few minutes later the Cowboys got the ball back and made a drive toward the goal that ended with a TD halfway through the second period. The PAT kick was good to give Coppell a 7-6 lead over the Bulldogs at the end of the first half.

Howe received the kickoff as the third period began, but four plays later had to punt. Geer fumbled the ball on the punt, but made a good recovery and Coppell was set up mid-field. Four plays later the ball went back to Howe.

Dennis Foster caught the punt at the Howe 18. Perkins moved the ball for a first down to the 30. Geer carried the ball twice and caught a pass to set up the Bulldogs at the Cowboy 42. On the next play Geer sprinted to the end zone on a 42-yard run to score. Dobbins made good the kick for the 13-7 score with 5:30 left in the third quarter.

Coppell made a determined effort in the last two minutes of the game in a TD drive that was stopped by the Bulldog defense.

Several good defensive plays in the last half of the game contributed to the Bulldog success. Andreas Liss, who was able to play only part of the game due to a foot injury, intercepted a Cowboy pass near the end of the third quarter. Dennis Foster blocked a Cowboy pass on a fourth down situation, and Mark Wheeler intercepted a pass near the end of the game. Making good defensive tackles were Liss, Wheeler, James Simmons, Vickers, Geer, Ernie Willis

Perkins, Foster, Ricky Rothwell, Pat Gilstrap, Greg Allison, Kyle McKinney, Matt Hamner, Dobbins, Mark Montgomery, and Tony Cantelmo.

Geer carried the ball 19 times for 108 yards. Perkins gained 43 yards on 10 carries. Geer caught three passes for 37 yards. Bulldog coach Buck Smith said, "We moved the ball well. I thought the offensive line and Geer had a good game for us."

Citing a problem with penalties (11 for 99 yards), Smith said, "I guess we had the first game jitters."

Howe will play Royce City at Garland Memorial Stadium Saturday, Sept. 10 at 8 p.m.

JV's Shutout Cowboys

The Howe Bulldog JV football team won by a score of 57-0 as they hosted the Coppell Cowboys Thursday, Sept. 1.

Billy Covington put the Bulldogs on the board with two touchdowns in the first quarter. One TD was for 51 yards and the extra point attempt was no good. The other TD was for 19 yards. Michael Perkins scored the extra point.

Tony Boatman ran for 25 yards to score another TD for Howe in the first quarter. The PAT was no good.

In the second quarter Dwain Crawford intercepted the ball and ran for a TD, making the score 25-0. The extra point attempt was no good. Jeff Simmons then completed a pass to Michael Perkins which was good for another TD. Andy Turner kicked the extra point.

In the third quarter Covington again started off the second half of the ball game with an 18-yard TD. The extra point attempt was unsuccessful. The score stood at 38-0. Covington ran 35 yards for another TD and Turner made the PAT.

In the fourth quarter Covington scored two more touchdowns for the young Bulldogs. The extra point attempts failed. Time ran out with the score Howe 57, Coppell 0.

Howe's That

OFF TO SCHOOL - It seems that grandson Jordan has started school, pre-school that is. He is now attending a church-sponsored pre-school in San Antonio. His mom reports that he was very excited about his first day. He had a "Barney" lunchbox, but didn't eat much of his lunch at school.

Then one afternoon while he was resting, supposedly napping, he decided to get a little more creative than was needed. He decided to decorate the wall in his room. He colored some brown circles. Mom had him trying to wash it off, but he didn't have enough power to get it very clean. Fortunately Mom did get it cleaned up. Jordan's mom said she didn't spank him because she hadn't told him not to color on the wall. But next time (if there is a next time) she won't be so lenient.

I seem to recall that a couple of my little ones decided to decorate walls - there's just something about crayons in the hands of children under the age of three or four and all that space on the walls!!!

Grandson Christian stopped by to see me Monday morning while I was working at the office (Monday holidays don't help much in the newspaper business!). He and I played with some toys I have here at the office for just such an occasion. Then we colored - in a coloring book! He quickly decided that he didn't like the "hot" jawbreaker candy Papa had in his office. Fortunately Papa had some candy more to Christian's taste!

HOWE SCHOOL is back in session in a big way with lots of learning going on. Many teachers send photos and stories to the newspaper about things that are happening in their classrooms. The Enterprise is always happy to print these stories as time and space permits. We appreciate the time these teachers take out of their busy schedule to help let us know what's going on in education.

Also many of the coaches are very good to send reports on the various sports activities of Howe students. A special thank you to Coach Davis for reports on varsity football and to Coach Buck for reports on the girls volleyball matches.

See page six for the football report. See page eight for a photo of the Varsity Girls Volleyball team. (We also plan to publish photos of the JV and JV "B" teams). If you would like to help sponsor the volleyball page, contact the Enterprise at 532-6012. Businesses and/or parents are welcome to sponsor the page.

Council Passes Budget

The Howe City Council passed a 1993-94 budget of $1,101,962 at a special meeting held Thursday, Sept. 2. They also set the tax rate at $.49752 per $100 valuation.

Following an executive session concerning the purchase of property, the council voted to make an offer on the old Granny's building (located across from Yates Grocery) on Haning. The City is interested in converting the building into a community center/senior citizen center.

TU Electric Offers Relief On High Cooling Bills

Because of August's unusually hot weather, TU Electric has announced a plan to offer residential customers some relief from the resulting high electric bills.

The plan will allow customers who may have difficulty paying the full amount of this month's bill to pay as little as half of it now, and pay the remainder with October's bill payment, when electric use should be lower. No interest will be charged on the deferred portion.

"The weather in August has been hotter than normal, and many of our customers have been using more electricity than usual to keep cool," said TU Electric Chairman Erle Nye, noting that this area has just experienced the longest stretch of temperatures of 100 degrees or more since the record-breaking summer of 1980.

The extremely hot weather has increased electricity use by some customers to well over 50 percent compared to last August. In addition, TU Electric implemented rate increase, under bond and subject to refund, on August 3.

"We realize that the extremely hot weather this August caused increases in consumption for which our customers were unprepared, and we want to do what we can to help," Nye said.

Information on how to take advantage of the plan will be inserted into residential customer's bills. Customers can simply pay at least one-half of the bill they receive during September. The other half will be deferred automatically until the date their October bill payment is due. The deferred portion will be itemized on the October bill. Customers who wish to participate do not have to defer a full one-half of their bills. They may defer any amount up to a maximum of one-half.

Although there is no need to call to participate, a toll-free number -- 1-800-390-0543 -- is available to customers who have questions about the plan.

The company made a similar offer to customers during the summer of 1980. This August has been the hottest since that year of record-breaking heat.

TU Electric provides electric service to about 5.6 million people in 88 counties of Texas.

Pee Wee Bulldogs Post Two Wins

The Howe Pee Wee Bulldogs began their season Aug. 28 with a 16-0 victory over the Leonard Tigers. The offense was led by Heath Horton with 2 touchdown runs. The defense was led by Richard Earnhart, Billy Oswald and Sean Gray.

On Sept. 4 the Pee Wee Bulldogs beat Whitesboro, 28-6. Eric Pecina scored 3 touchdowns and Horton scored 1 TD. The defense was led by Glenn McCollum, Gabina Tinajero, and Gray.

The Pee Wee Bulldogs travel to Blue Ridge on Saturday, Sept. 11, to face the Tom Bean Tom Cats at 3:15 p.m.

Coaches are Billy Thompson, Gary Miller, Paul Earnhart, Mike McCollum, and Brian Thompson.

Indian Rain-Stick Theory

The Indian Rain-Stick made it rain last week ... maybe. Howe Middle School Resource students have learned about the saguaro cactus rain-stick sometimes thought to bring rain when used in ceremonial dances. (Even the meteorologist for a TV station had one last week!) It has a magical "rain-drop" sound, all the way to a gushing splash coming from within the spiny skeleton.

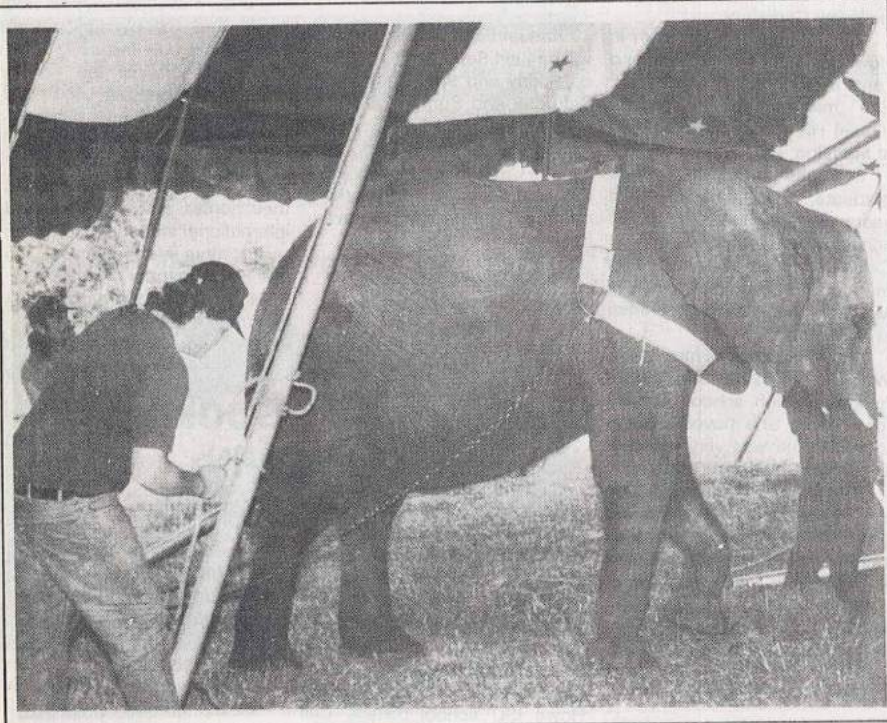

A Pteranodon, nearly eight feet wide, and a large Tyrannasaurus Rex greeted the students this year. Their study of the flying (27-foot wing spread) creature and the "King of the Tyrant Lizards" (7 tons) has continued since last year.

Students' interests in fossils from their area have been further sparked as "finds" have been discovered. Some of the fossils are in the classroom. Others are in students' homes and the Red River Historical Museum in Sherman, where the common ammonite is on display. Grayson County was covered, in the past, by an inland sea during the Cretaceous Period, 140-70 million years ago during which the ammonites lived.

Students will soon enjoy a "Spacesnak" made for our astronauts from NASA (freeze-dried ice cream, Astronaut strawberries and ice cream sandwiches) during a study of the future. Alice Horn, Resource teacher, found then at the Smithsonian Museum recently when she was in Washington, D.C.

Continuing knowledge about the past, present and future will keep the students' interests peaked all year in the HMS resource room.

Mark Your Calendar

HOWE AG BOOSTERS will meet Monday, Sept. 13, at 7 p.m. for a meeting and ice cream social. All interested persons are invited, especially parents of students in the Ag program, 4-H and Junior FFA.

PTA OPEN HOUSE - "Meet the Teachers Night" Tuesday, Sept. 14.

ANNUAL SALAD SUPPER sponsored by the United Methodist Women of Howe will be held Monday, Sept. 20, at 6:30 p.m. at the First United Methodist Church. Guest speaker will be Jean Norman reviewing Anita Bryant's story, "A New Day." Everyone is invited to come enjoy the fun, fellowship and food.

COMMODITIES will be given out at the Howe Community Center on Tuesday, Sept. 21, from 8:30-11 a.m. on first come, first served basis.

AFTER FOOTBALL party sponsored by Howe Youth Chamber will be held following the Sept. 10 football game in the high school cafeteria, from 10:30 p.m. until midnight. Money from sale of food and soft drinks will benefit Youth Chamber projects.

GRAYSON COUNTY FRONTIER VILLAGE will hold an Old Fashioned Picnic (bring lunch) on Sept. 25 from 1-5 p.m. The Village will close for the season on Oct. 25 (except for special tours). The Annual Fall Arts & Crafts Show will be held at the National Guard Armory in Denison on Nov. 5 and 6.

HOWE BAND BOOSTERS will meet Tuesday, Sept. 21, at 7 p.m. in the Band Hall.

GRAYSON COUNTY CHAPTER OF UNITED WE STAND holds its monthly meetings the second Thursday of each month, at the Grayson County Courthouse in Sherman at 7 p.m. Next meeting is Sept. 9.

NOTICE - The 7th & 8th will play Farmersville Thursday, Sept. 16, at Farmersville beginning at 5 p.m.

The JV football team will play Farmersville at Bulldog Stadium in Howe beginning at 6 p.m.

(This is a change from the previously published schedule.)

UP GOES THE CIRCUS TENT - Barbara the elephant helps put up the big top for the Culpepper and Merriweather Combined Circus which will hold two performances in Howe on Tuesday, Sept. 21. Proceeds will benefit the Howe Volunteer Dept.

Fire Dept. To Sponsor Big Top Circus

Lee Nichols has announced plans for the Howe Volunteer Fire Dept. to present the Culpepper and Merriweather Great Combined Circus in Howe. Proceeds raised from the event will go to support the many civic activities of the Howe Volunteer Fire Dept.

The circus will be presented on Tuesday, Sept. 21, with performances at 5:30 and 7:30 p.m. The location for the traditional tented circus will be East Davis and Hughes, south of the Ag Barn. Everyone is invited to come out and see the "Big Top" be pulled into the air by Barbara, the elephant, at 9 a.m. on the morning of the circus.

This circus began as the dream of one man. Robert "Red"

Johnson, started the circus on a shoe string 10 years ago. "We didn't have a tent much less an elephant. All we had was a desire to create a traditional circus," Johnson said.

Since that humble start, the circus has come a long way, now traveling on its own fleet of brightly painted trucks from 16,000 to 20,000 miles a year to cross America's heartland.

The Culpepper and Merriweather Great Combined Circus has appeared in The National Geographic Explorer series on national TV as well as being featured on "Entertainment Tonight" and "Ed Bradley's Street Stories."

Volleyball Report

Howe Girls Volleyball teams played Whitesboro on Tuesday, Aug. 31. The JV B won 7-15, 16-14, 16-14. Scoring were Amanda Sutherland & Wendi Lankford, 9 each; April Taylor, 5; Tiffany Orr, 4; Kara Royston, 3; Shannon Mitchusson, Lisa Schneider & LeAnn Brown, 2 each; Charity Falls & Jenny Lawson, 1 each. Season record: 2-0.

Coach Buck said, "The B team beat a tough Whitesboro bunch which had defeated them two weeks earlier. The B team had their best serving match of the season. This is the best our B team has played. They are showing terrific progress."

The JV team defeated Whitesboro, 12-15, 15-10, 15-8. Season record: 3-0. Julie Arnold, 9; Allison Martin, Jessica Robertson, & Sarah Schaack, 4 each; Shanda Calhoun, Michelle Hefner, & Kelly Tomberlin, 3 each; Courtney Williams, 2; Meiha Moreno, Tasha Johnson, & Tiffany Powers, 1 each.

The Coach said, "The JV started slowly but got increasingly stronger as the match progressed. The JV is playing very well as they should be. There's a lot of talent in our JV squad."

The Varsity lost to Whitesboro, 15-11, 5-15, 3-15. Season record: 4-2. Stephanie Anderson, 8; Meg Keene, 5; Stacey Harris & Heather Finney, 3 each; Jamie Middleton & Stacy Frank, 2 each.

Coach Buck said, "We lost our momentum in the middle of the second game and never got it back. Despite that we saw some very positive things both on a team and individual basis. Whitesboro has a real good team and our varsity showed me what I needed to see from them."

PTA Open House

PTA Open Howe will be held Tuesday night, Sept. 14. Everyone is welcome to come and visit each campus and visit with the teachers. The elementary building will be open from 6-7 p.m.; the middle school will be open from 7:30-8:30 p.m.; and the high school will be open from 7:15-8 p.m.

There will be a brief business meeting at 7 p.m. in the cafeteria. This will give everyone another chance to join the PTA and get involved with the Howe school. The membership drive continues through the month of September. Membership is only $2.50 per person. Parents, grandparents, and others in the community are invited to join the PTA.

GRAYSON COUNTY

Gov. Perry appoints Howe graduate to new 397th District Court Brian K. Gary could take oath and begin handling cases by Sept. 15

Howe High School graduate, and current Gunter resident, Brian K. Gary has been appointed by Governor Rick Perry to preside over the newly created 397th Judicial District Court of Grayson County, Texas. Gary could take his judicial oath and begin handling cases as early as Sept. 15, 2008.

Gary graduated from Howe High School in 1982. He then attended Angelo State University on an academic scholarship, graduating cum laude in 1986 with a bachelor's in business administration. Next Gary attended Texas Christian University where he was a graduate assistant, and earned a master's in business administration in 1988. After working a few years for the IBM Corporation as a marketing representative, Gary entered Baylor Law School. He graduated from Baylor in the summer of 1992 in the top 20% of his class. Gary was hired by United States District Judge Richard A. Schell to work as a federal law clerk. He worked in that capacity for Judge Schell from 1992-1993 before entering private practice.

Gary's first work in private practice was with local attorney Clyde Siebman. They had offices in Sherman and Plano. In mid-1994, Gary had an opportunity to move to a new, small firm in Dallas, Hartline, Dacus, Dreyer & Kern, L.L.P., which specialized in products liability litigation. Gary was the eleventh lawyer to begin work at the firm, and his work there included, among other things, representing various auto and forklift manufacturers in litigation and at trial. In that capacity, he handled and tried jury cases in various counties and federal district courts, across Texas, as well as in every state contiguous to Texas and along the Gulf Coast. He has also practiced in all federal districts courts in Texas, as well as many other states.

Gary became a full equity partner at the Hartline Dacus firm in January 2000. When Gary and his family first moved back to Grayson County in spring 2003, Gary opened up a Sherman office for the firm, where he was the senior partner. In 2005, Gary left the firm on good terms to start his own private practice based in Sherman. At the time he left the Hartline Dacus firm, it had grown to approximately 50 lawyers and had 3 locations.

Since starting his own firm, Gary has had a general civil practice representing plaintiffs and defendants, in both state and federal court. Much of that work has included commercial litigation, personal injury cases, insurance disputes, consumer protection and intellectual property disputes.

Gary has also served on the District 1-A Grievance Committee for the State Bar of Texas since 2005. District 1-A covers Grayson County and the surrounding counties. Gary was elected Chairman of the District 1-A Grievance Committee and has served in that capacity since 2007. Gary also served on the Local Rules Advisory Committee for the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Texas from 2005-2008, and is an invited member of the Paul N. Brown Inn of Court based in Sherman.

In winter 2006, Gary was hired by Grayson County District Attorney Joe Brown as one of the county's first special prosecutors to help reduce jail overcrowding. Gary worked in that capacity for approximately 16 months. During that time, he tried many cases to verdict and expedited the disposition of over approximately 160 felony cases involving Grayson County jail inmates.

Since moving back to Grayson County in 2003, Gary and his wife Cheryl have been very active in the community. Gary has served on the board of directors for the Grayson County Children's Advocacy Center since 2004. He also served as a member of the board of directors for the Gunter ISD Education Foundation (GIFT) from 2004-2007. Gary has also been a member of the Grayson County Republican Party Executive Committee and the Precinct Chair for Precinct 54 since 2004. Gary and his wife Cheryl have also been very active in their local church. Both have served in various leadership positions since 2003, with Cheryl being very active and leading in Children's Ministry. They currently attend Sherman Bible Church. The Garys have three children, Meredith, 10; Wyatt, 8; and Michael, 3.

Howe's that...

For over 31 years I have been the editor of this newspaper. One of the things I like best about this job is that I get to meet a lot of very nice people. Also I am privileged to have seen many youngsters grow up to become responsible citizens.

This week I have a story on this page about a newly appointed judge for the new District Court in Grayson County.

I have known Brian Gary since he was playing football with the Howe Bulldogs. His dad Sheriff Keith Gary lived in Howe many years ago before he became sheriff. His wife Uva taught school at Howe during that time. And Brian's younger sister Bebe was a best friend to my daughter Susie.

I was very excited to learn last week that Gov. Rick Perry appointed Brian to the new judgeship. Howe has a number of noted alumni and Brian's name can now be added to that list.

Hometown boy makes good! Congratulations Brian.

School has started and something else that I enjoy about being the newspaper editor is that I get to see a lot of school children who excel at various things. And I get to put their photos in the paper. And I get to tell about the good things they are doing.

Small town America makes me proud! And towns like Howe, Tom Bean, Gunter, etc. can be proud of their school districts and the people who make these towns a great place to live.

The Howe Bulldogs got off to a great start with a 49-14 win over the Blue Ridge Tigers last Friday evening. See page 7 for more sports photos and the game story.

HOWE CITY

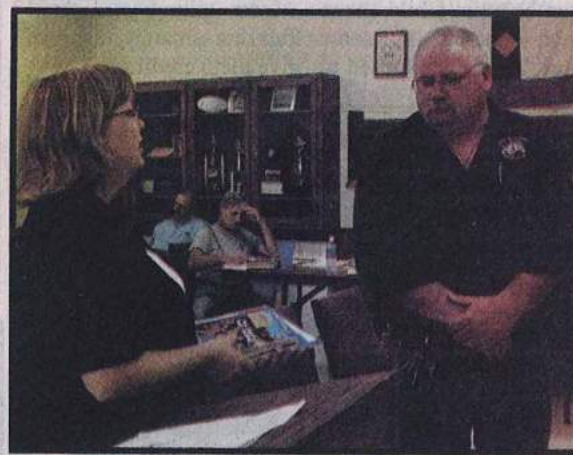

Council holds regular meeting

Howe Mayor Michael Jones and Howe Community Librarian Becky Hogenson presented certificates of appreciation to HCL volunteers thanking them for their many hours of service to the community.

Also Mrs. Hogenson presented some children's books to the Police Chief John Cherry and the Policed Dept. to be used as gifts to youngsters who may be involved in police incidents. These books give the children something to help keep them occupied during possible tragedy or other problems. The money for the books was donated to the library by the Friday Morning Coffee Bunch.

While presenting her 2007-08 library report, Mrs. Hogenson said the library has over 2000 registered users and during last year the library served over 11,000 city patrons.

Councilman Sam Haigis thanked Mrs. Hogenson saying, "I appreciate the good work you are doing ... the library is a great
