Take Your Bible to School Day is Oct. 4. Participation is voluntary and student-directed--meaning it's completely up to students, Christian clubs and youth groups to sign up online and then lead the activities in their school. Speaking of student-led activities, the students of Howe ISD led prayer at the annual "See You at the Pole" which takes place at the flag poles of campuses all across the nation.

No matter how big and bad you are, when a 2-year-old hands you a toy phone, you answer it.

There's a Red Box located at the Dollar General now. It's amazing what it takes to get one in town. There has to be a location with a certain verified amount of foot traffic. We applaud the Dollar General for being that location in Howe. In the 2010 City of Howe Comprehensive Plan, one of the goals for the town was to attract a video store. Well, it's a different time and a different concept, but we'll still beat our chest over a checkmark over the box.

Ever seen a baptist preacher get a 15-yard penalty at a football game? Well, it happened Friday night at Bulldog Stadium in Howe as public address announcer Roger Tidwell thought the referees missed a block-in-the-back call on Bonham. The officials were quick with the flag, and threw one on the 25-year veteran preacher of Howe for the remarks. Only Roger.

The Howe Bulldogs came wobbling into the game Friday night after suffering their first loss a week ago and facing the trials and tribulations of learning hard lessons that have nothing to do with football. With the term, 'discipline' displayed on the back of their helmets, the Dogs played without two starters, but the team showed a unity not seen before as they entered the field from the tunnel arm-in-arm.

Letter from the mayor

For anyone that has been outdoors, just about any time of the day or night, mosquitoes have been a problem since the rains started again in August. With mosquito trappings testing positive, with the West Nile Virus, in Van Alstyne and Gainesville, the City of Howe is taking steps to get ahead of the mosquitoes.

The city has contracted Noble Resources at 2646 FM 896, Leonard, TX 75452. Noble will spray before dusk on October 3, October 16, and October 30. The pesticides that will be used, while not harmful to human or animal, there is a chance that someone could have adverse reactions if they were to either inhale the spray or if it were to get directly on your skin. For these reasons, we ask that during the spraying, children, pets and older residents remain inside. If you do come in contact with the chemical, wash with soap immediately.

To help with the mosquito problems, please make sure there is no standing water around your home. Dump water out of tires, buckets, kid's toys and freshen pet water often. For places that can't be dumped or dried up, mosquito dunks are relatively inexpensive and can be bought at most stores that sell other mosquito products. When out use mosquito repellent with Deet.

For more information about West Nile Virus Prevention, go to Grayson County Health Dept.

Howe's stinky wastewater contract with Sherman hits the half-century mark

Fifty to one hundred year decisions frighten the death out of community leaders. Before marrying a decision with long term effects, every plausible defection must be reasonably calculated in that decision. To fix a short term problem, do you make a long term decision that could set back a community 50 years? The joint sewer contract with the City of Sherman will go down as one of the most disastrous decisions in the history of this community. Some say it was only the beginning of a 4-year period of head scratching decisions by former city council members.

According to a 1968 Howe Enterprise edition, the City of Howe was initially approached by the City of Sherman during the time Sherman was trying to obtain a grant to enhance the sewer treatment plant on FM 1417. For Sherman to qualify for the grant, they needed Howe's population to qualify. In the original 1968 agreement, Sherman provided Howe citizens wastewater treatment at a maximum of $0.14 per 1000 gallons. In March of 1986, Howe was paying a flat rate of $487.50 per month, or $0.60 cents per customer. According to the original 1968 contract, Howe was limited to 250,000 gallons per day. Due to rain infiltration,

Elijah Campbell scored his first career touchdown Friday as all eyes were on the Bulldogs Friday night. *Michelle Carney/Howe Enterprise.

Howe won the coin-toss to open the game and took the football. Everything went to script as Howe drove 16 plays and 57 yards and took the game's first 7:17 of the clock. However, the script changed when a penalty at the Bonham three yard line on first and goal set back the Dogs five yards who then failed to get in the endzone and turned the ball over on downs at the one yard line.

Bonham and their powerful offensive attack went to work as they 2:06 on six plays to go the 99 yards needed for the score. Warrior quarterback Tyler Rodriguez hit Noah Shellman on a 31-yard touchdown which was the first of five touchdown passes for Rodriguez and two to Shellman. Rodriguez finished the game 13 of 19 with 188 yards through the air.

Howe's next possession started at their own 30 yard line and was similar to the first drive as Howe drove 11 plays and took 5:48 off the clock, but this time points were scored as Howe receiver Elijah Campbell hauled in his first career touchdown on a 32-yard pass from Bryce Krantz. The PAT snap was botched, and holder Layton Elvington threw the 2-point conversion to Campbell. Howe took an 8-7 lead with 8:45 remaining before half.

The Warriors struck lightning quickly with only a 2-play, 71-yard drive that ended on a Rodriguez 30-yard touchdown pass to Jerrell Stewart. Bonham regained the lead, 14-8 after taking only :21 off the clock.

The Howe offense continued to keep pace as quarterback Elvington made an adjustment at the line of scrimmage and skipped into the endzone on a 12-yard trap fake. Another botched PAT snap left the game tied at 14 with 5:40 left in the second quarter.

Bonham continued to move the ball down the field on their next possession and went 60 yards on nine plays which ended on a Nick Rhineheart 9-yard touchdown reception from Rodriguez. Rhineheart was true on all PATs and Howe fell behind 21-14 with 1:01 left before half.

The Bulldogs are not known as a quick-strike offense, but fullback Camerson Blesi took the first play of the ensuing drive 77 yards to the north endzone. The score left Howe trailing 21-20 and gave Bonham the ball with :41 seconds left before

Summit Gardens getting closer to opening as wedding venue

Workers of L.A. Construction prepared the pouring of a sidewalk around the north side of Summit Gardens. The building was originally opened in 1893 as the Christian Church.

Summit Gardens is scheduled to open in the near future as a wedding and events venue. The 3-year long process of renovating the building had another step towards the finish line last week as a sidewalk and entrance way was poured. A walkway was also poured from the southern back porch to the brick walkway in the soon-to-be garden area.

The Summit Gardens committee is headed up by Jean Norman who also serves as chairman of the Howe Development Foundation (HDF) which will operate the non-profit wedding operation.

The venue is expected to bring in dollars to the community to support the local economy. An anonymous creditor allowed for the renovation to be sped up as the HDF will begin to pay back the debt in early 2019. An expected opening of the venue is hoped by the end of 2018.

The Summit Gardens committee is working on a pricing structure that will have to be approved by the HDF. The HDF is set to lease the property from the City of Howe on a year-by-year basis.

Boyd Dunn and Mike Barlow have spent countless hours donating their time for the construction of the interior and exterior of the building. Fundraising began in November of 2015 from the group initially known as "Save the Church." The group has now renamed the organization to "Summit Gardens" as the old structure seems to have been saved. At least one more major fundraiser is expected soon to try and relieve the debt quickly to the anonymous creditor.

The expected wedding rental cost will be around $1,500 on a weekend which includes a rehearsal date during the week.

Students meet at the pole for prayer

A small group of teenagers in Burleson, Texas, came together for a DiscipleNow weekend in early 1990. They came seeking God and little did they know how powerfully He was about to move. On Saturday night their hearts were penetrated like never before, when they became broken before God and burdened for their friends. Compelled to pray, they drove to three different schools that night. Not knowing exactly what to do, they went to the school flagpoles and prayed for their friends, schools, and leaders. Those students had no idea how God would use their obedience. - www.syatp.com

Learning about your antiques and collectibles with Georgia Caraway

have been curious about the history of the company that made them.

In the 1890s, Adolph Hostein, owner of the Syracuse [New York] Ornamental Company, developed a formula consisting of wood compound and casting fluids that could be poured into molds. The resulting casting appeared to be hand carved. The company manufactured a wide range of decorative accessories ranging from ashtrays to wall sconces. The Syracuse Ornamental Company became Syroco, Inc. in the 1930s.

In 1943 Walt Disney licensed Multi-Products of Chicago to produce a set of comic figures from the movie “Pinocchio.” Multi-Products did them in Syroco wood. Collectors insert a second “c” (Syrocco) to indicate an object made by a company other than the parent company, Syroco of New York. In addition to the Disney figures, Multi-Products did a series of 24 figures based on comic characters from the King Features Syndicate which were distributed as premiums by Pillsbury.”

Syroco-created souvenirs were made for the 1939-1940 New York World’s Fair.

And premiums offered by trading stamp companies in the late 1950s and 1960s were produced by Syroco.

Searching eBay and some of the popular price guides for Syroco items reveals that they are very affordable with most items offered for $5 to $40.

Some examples include: Indian Chief bookends, $35; Cherub wall plaque, $41; Indian Tie Rack, $37; Terrier Schnauzer tie/belt rack, $25; Scotty dog brush holder, $25; advertising clock, $46; Canada Goose tie rack, $15; elephant figurine, $18 and a horse tie rack, $18. One amazing auction offering was for a 1942 6-inch Superman figurine that was valued at $4,800 to $5,000. Last I checked bids on this item were moving faster than a speeding bullet and leaping tall buildings with a single bound.

Come see the Howe Mercantile Howe-lloween and Fall displays. And come on October 27 for our special Fall market under the Pavillion behind the Mercantile.

Dr. Georgia Caraway, former director of the Denton County Museums for 14 years, and her friends operate the Howe Mercantile at 107-109 East Haning. Store hours are Thursday through Saturday 12 noon until 8 p.m. She has written five Denton history books and one book on taking care of your antiques and collectibles. 50-year problem has Howe ready to open own plant.

Sherman maintained that the levels of infiltration were as high as 600,000 gallons and in March of 1986 filed suit against Howe for breach of contract.

Sherman cited expansion in both cities from 1968 to 1986 along with the Clean Water Act of 1972 for the need to improve their sewer system. At the time of the lawsuit, Sherman was in the middle of an $18.5 million expense updating their facility.

Former Howe City Administrator Dick Britton told the Howe Enterprise in March of 1986, "Sherman's suit is based on distorted fact and is no more than a devious attempt to weasel out of our longstanding agreement."

Britton noted then that Howe offered Sherman to increase its monthly fee by $500 per year for four years, making their annual payments jump from $6,000 to $25,000 per year. Sherman, he said, refused to consider the offer, instead wanting $60,000 to $70,000 annually from Howe.

Howe hired John Hill, a Sherman attorney, to represent the City of Howe in the case and soon afterward, Jerry Kirby resigned his seat as Mayor of Howe leaving Mayor-Pro Tem Marion Allison in the seat until an election. Ray Bledsoe was eventually elected mayor in April of 1987. City Administrator Dick Britton soon left.

Howe had filed a counter-suit on October 10, 1986 stating, among other things, that the contract was part of a series of agreements which give Howe part ownership of the sewer treatment plant. Howe also sought damages if the contract was declared void.

"I sat in that courtroom for five days when Sherman sued us," said Bledsoe in a 2016 interview. "The judge got up and said, 'I'm going to dismiss the jury. He said, 'that contract is not worth the paper it's printed on' (referring to the 1968 contract). The judge instructed Howe to pay Sherman for sewer and for Sherman to not discontinue service and for each city to come to an agreement. Bledsoe stated that he worked with Sherman's David Gattis and Howe would pay Sherman $3,000 per month on a temporary basis.

As we fast forward 30 plus years, Mayor Stanley told the city council in the August 2016 council meeting, "Our normal bill from Sherman is a little over $22,000 (per month) and recently they have been $60,000. This month should be closer to normal, but we haven't had many of those in the last couple of years (due to the amount of rain).

Although the city has adjusted the wastewater contract services budget expense from $310,400 in 2016 to $550,000 in 2018, they have not passed the bill on to the citizens. The adjustment would result in roughly $10-$15 per house.

"We're not asking for an increase from the citizens," City Administrator Joe Shephard told the council the same night. "We're just using funds from other places to cover that. We're not increasing the rates."

The best news for Howe citizens is that the city is currently in the stages of working with Tomlin Investments to create a wastewater treatment plant to move away from the Sherman agreement. Howe's future home development and commercial development growth depend a lot on how much capacity the current infrastructure can handle before the necessary plant is in place. The plant is designated for location at Blythe Road and Old Patterson Road near US Highway 75.

GRAYSON COUNTY, TEXAS, THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 19, 1968

NUMBER 10

JOINT SEWER CONTRACT APPROVED BY CITY

Contract for a joint sewerage disposal project was officially approved by Howe City Council at a called meeting Monday evening.

The contract was submitted to a lawyer Tuesday for approval in regard to a bond indebtedness on the present system, and if all is legal, the contract will be passed on to Sherman officials.

The contract, submitted by Sherman, remains to be signed by Sherman officials.

The contract involves an expenditure of around $87,000 for Howe, to be repaid by a 14-cent per 1000 gallon disposal fee to be paid to Sherman. Howe will furnish one-sixth of cost of the main line from the present plant to Sherman's "collection system" reportedly at Texas Instruments. The city will also secure right-of-way here, with Councilmen J. W. Reed and Carl Thompson named to the right-of-way committee.

Howe will have, under terms of the contract, a maximum of 250,000 gallons per day facility reserve, which will accommodate more than double the present population, engineers have determined.

The project was made possible by a federal grant to the two cities for the proposal.

Council also approved an ordinance regulating commercial and industrial sewerage, in line with bond and State Health Department requirements.

Have you noticed lately that conflict and disagreement are more abundant than unity? Though the average person would give peace as the answer to what they would like to have more of, we are bombarded with an environment that is filled with arguing, strife, and criticism. It seems that some people actually enjoy fighting and bickering as a challenge to see how many disputes and quarrels they can instigate and win. Wouldn't the world be such a happier place if we could all just get along and try to focus on what is good instead of being constantly disparaging and judgmental? We are reminded of the passage in Philippians chapter four and verse eight where Paul states, "Finally, brethren, whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report; if there be any virtue, and if there be any praise, think on these things." The writer realized that our minds are highly vulnerable to receive and express negative influences and is trying to explain that we would be much more calm and content if we could learn how to be less condemning and more optimistic. I know, some of you strongly disagree.

So, as we are surrounded by an ocean of disagreements, who has the wisdom and authority to know what is right and wrong? Every political, philosophical, and religious group on the planet will step forward and acknowledge they possess the absolute truth which has now increased the confusion beyond comprehension. As the world ponders about universal correctness, we are hearing more about how truth is relative to each individual. This suggestion proclaims there is no such thing as absolute truth but rather is a personal conclusion. On the other side of the fence, we find that Christians believe that Jesus

Unity is beautiful but very rare indeed

Christ is the absolute truth, the purpose and meaning of life, and the Bible has been given to mankind as our spiritual compass and instruction guide. Of course, there are many who will disagree.

Are Christians commanded to enter into this battle of arguing and strife? If Jesus were here today, would he be an outspoken, aggressive political activist? I don't think so. As a follower, I'm convinced we are called to demonstrate his character more than we are commanded to tell everyone how they should live. Christians are encouraged to promote unity as we read in I Peter chapter 3, "Finally, all of you, be like-minded, be sympathetic, love one another, be compassionate and humble. Do not repay evil with evil or insult with insult" also in Romans chapter 12, "If it is possible, as far as it depends on you, live at peace with everyone." Why is this important? Because when Christians climb into the ring to fight against something they disagree with, they are exchanging their spiritual authority for a destructive attitude of carnality which can easily develop into resentment and hatred. We are tempted to disregard God's warning about wrestling against flesh and blood but unfortunately, our arrogance would rather get ugly on the battlefield than go to war on our knees. Whether a Christian or not, our fleshly nature is filled with denial and vicious emotions but of course many would disagree.

The gospel is relaying the love story about Jesus being born, dying on a cross, and rising from the dead. This message is all about God offering to transform a conscience and redeem a soul for those who decide this is really what they want. So, instead of Christians arguing, criticizing, and harassing people about their views and lifestyle choices, we should just quietly demonstrate the character of Christ and pray that we will follow only what he is telling us to say and do. This includes letting go of the idea that we are somehow going to persuade or convince someone else to dedicate their life to God. I will make a statement here that some might consider a little on the pessimistic side but the majority of people on this earth will never accept Jesus Christ or come together in unity with those who do. Christians believe that God is everyone's judge, has all the answers, and the only one who can give us the peace, joy, and contentment we are searching for. However, yes, you guessed it, the majority of people on this planet disagrees.

The surprising fall armyworm

by Mike Mercant
Texas A&M Agrilife Extension

I’ve noticed something lately. People are consistently amazed when nature intrudes on their lives, as if it’s a great exception to some law that states “nothing unusual should ever happen to me.” Whether it’s hurricanes or a snake in the house, or something as mundane as a caterpillar outbreak, the usual reaction is astonishment. That seems to be the common thread among callers this week with regard to the latest fall armyworm outbreak.

I say “latest,” because fall armyworms are nothing new. According to Dr. Allen Knutson, extension agricultural entomologist in Dallas, fall armyworms are present every year; however, this year they are a widespread problem for hay producers and small grains producers across the state. “I’ve had calls as far west as Wichita Falls, south to Comanche and across east Texas,” he said. Locally, my turfgrass colleague, Dr. Lindsey Hoffman, and I have gotten many calls this week from concerned lawn owners, schools and reporters in the north Texas area.

The caterpillar stage of a drab brown moth, fall armyworm is known scientifically as Spodoptera frugiperda. It feeds primarily on grasses, though it has been reported feeding on dozens of non-grass plants and weeds. It earns the name “armyworm” from its habit, during times of major outbreaks, of marching, army-like, across fields and roads and yards, consuming everything in its path. This is one of those years.

Fall armyworm caterpillars can vary in color, but generally have three yellow dorsal stripes; an inverted, white Y on the face; and three stripes on the plate just behind the head.

Not to worry

While some farmers may be hit in the pocketbook by the outbreak, homeowners don’t have much to worry about. Armyworm damage in home lawns can be breathtaking, but it does not usually hurt the lawn in the long-term. Because armyworms feed on the leaves, and not on the critical roots and stolons, a little irrigation or a rain should restore lawns to their original condition within a week or two. Fall armyworm will feed on most common lawn grasses like bermudagrass and St. Augustinegrass.

Fall armyworms differ from many other caterpillar pests in that they do not survive the winter in areas where it freezes. In Texas, they probably survive winter only in far south Texas. As a result, whether you treat or not will have no effect on whether you are likely to see this caterpillar next year.

Lawn browning often appears to occur overnight, though armyworms need three to four weeks of feeding to do their damage. The last week or so of the larval stage is when most of the feeding, and damage, occurs.

If you want to treat for aesthetic reasons, standard residual insecticides like bifenthrin, cyfluthrin, permethrin, esfenvalerate, or carbaryl should quickly eliminate an armyworm invasion. These products are best applied as a spray; a hose-end sprayer is a convenient applicator.

Organic gardeners should either leave the infestation to run its course, or treat with the natural insecticide, spinosad. The organic gardener’s other favorite caterpillar spray, Bt, can kill armyworms but has a very short life on the grass and will be less effective than spinosad.

So don’t be shocked this fall if you see caterpillars in your yard, or marching up sidewalks or exploring the sides of your house. Unusual things like fall armyworm invasions can happen, even in your yard; but this one is no disaster. For more information, see <https://tinyurl.com/fallarmyworm>

Texas History Minute

Dr. Ken Bridges

Teachers can change the world, even just one student at a time. Edwin Kyle was one such teacher. The longtime Texas A&M professor and dean not only taught a generation of students but also helped modernize farming in the United States and across the Western Hemisphere. Perhaps known more today as the namesake for the home of Aggie football, Kyle built a worldwide reputation as an educator, scientist, diplomat, and humanitarian.

Edwin Jackson Kyle was born in the Central Texas community of Kyle in 1876. His father, Fergus Kyle, founded the Kyle in Hays County, just south of Austin. It has since exploded into a bustling Austin suburb of nearly 40,000 residents. He was also a former Confederate officer and veteran of the state legislature. It was his father who co-sponsored the 1905 bill with Sam Ealy Johnson, father of future President Lyndon B. Johnson, that allowed the state to buy the Alamo and preserve it as a historic site.

In 1896, he enrolled at the Agricultural and Mechanical College of Texas (which became Texas A&M University in 1963). As was the custom at that time, he became a member of the Corps of Cadets and underwent military training. He was so respected by faculty and his fellow students that he stepped into the position of Commandant of Cadets for three months after the previous commandant resigned. Kyle is the only student to ever serve in that role. Kyle proved a very skilled with his academic work also and graduated at the top of his class in 1899.

He traveled to Cornell University in New York where he received a bachelors degree in agriculture in 1901, followed by a masters degree the following year. In 1902, he was invited back to A&M as an agriculture instructor. In addition to his classroom duties, he had a large field on campus where he experimented with different crops.

By 1904, he was also put in charge of athletics. Seeing as there were few facilities for the football team to practice or play, he set aside a portion of his experimental field and began building a stadium. He purchased the lumber for bleacher seating and bought a grandstand, all out of his pocket for roughly $650(or more than $18,000 in 2018 dollars). Students began calling it Kyle Field in his honor. In 1911, he was named founding dean of the new School of Agriculture. The next year, he published Fundamentals of Farming and Farm Life, a classic work on agricultural education that was the standard for decades. His expertise as a horticulturist grew steadily. He wrote numerous articles on growing fruits, vegetables, and pecan trees. In 1941, the federal government asked him to tour Latin America to study their agriculture and to teach more modern techniques. Kyle formally retired from A&M in 1944.

However, even at the age of 68, some of his most important work was just beginning. That year, President Franklin D. Roosevelt appointed him as director of the Houston branch of the Farm Credit Administration, a program designed to help farmers with their finances and to help them with the means to modernize their farms.

In February 1945, Roosevelt nominated Kyle to become the United States Ambassador to Guatemala. With Roosevelt’s death in April and other emergencies surrounding the war, his nomination had some delays. However, he was approved by the Senate in May and sent to his new post in Central America by the new president, Harry S. Truman.

Kyle helped Guatemala continue to modernize its farming techniques during his time as ambassador. He quietly stepped down from the position in 1947. However, after his departure, the Guatemalan government invited him back for a special ceremony to receive the Order of The Quetzal. It is the highest award offered by Guatemala, given to Kyle in honor of his humanitarian efforts for that nation. He is the only American to ever receive the award.

After his return from Guatemala, he returned to Bryan and settled into retirement. The A&M Board of Directors formally named Kyle Field in his honor in 1956. Kyle died in December 1963 at age 87, a beloved figure in the Texas A&M community. His namesake Kyle Field in the years since has continued to be a focal point for the university community and has since expanded into a gigantic stadium capable of seating more than 110,000 people.

Van Alstyne gearing up for annual Fall der All festival

Fall is rapidly arriving and with it, Van Alstyne's annual Fall der All Festival complete with scarecrow parade, car show, exciting vendors, food trucks, music, dancers, and lots more including the Railcar Farmers Market.

It's time to get your scarecrows and pumpkins out and put them on display at your homes and businesses. Several years ago, many homes and businesses in Van Alstyne decorated with their homemade scarecrows, pumpkins, hay bales and big pots of fall flowers. It was so beautiful and the city was featured on one of the Dallas TV channels showing the handiwork of our creative citizens. This year, the scarecrows are already popping up everywhere and the Chamber of Commerce and Fall der All committee are looking for yours!

Plan to join in and be a part of the scarecrow parade. Put a float together, ride in the back of a pickup truck, or walk the route. Dress up in your finest scarecrow outfit, bring the kids, and help celebrate the arrival of fall. The parade will start lining up at 9 a.m. at the Community Center and the parade starts at 10 a.m. Who knows...you may win one of the prizes...1st Place: $100, 2nd Place: $75 or 3rd Place: $50. Worth the effort, huh? And look at the fun you will have and the memories you will be creating!

The committee is also looking for exciting vendors to display and sell their crafts and wares, so if you know anyone who might be interested (or interesting), send them to the Chamber.

Applications for the scarecrow parade and vendors applications are available on the Van Alstyne Chamber of Commerce website (vachamber.org), at the Chamber of Commerce office, 228 E. Marshall Street, or you can contact Vicky Guess at 903-482-6066 (Monday-Wednesday)

Fall der All, Saturday, Oct. 13. The schedule for Fall der All activities are posted on the Chamber website.

FROM THE TRUTH VS. “YOUR TRUTH” DEPARTMENT: The former is grounded in verifiable facts; the latter is the deceptive product of emotion. The latter, unfortunately, is usually represented by the loudest, most agitated mob.

FROM THE “FOR EXAMPLE” DEPARTMENT: Every so often, the issue of spanking rears its always ugly head and begins snapping at my heels. The latest example comes from a PTA group in Connecticut that has marked me “unfit for human consumption” because I supposedly (according to said group) believe in spanking. But I don’t “believe” in spanking. I am not zealous concerning spanking, pro or con. As concerns this thing we now call parenting, I long ago realized that unless my beliefs could be supported by a preponderance of anecdote, verified sources of wisdom, or good research, they were not worth sharing with others.

Concerning the volatile subject of spanking, the best research – meaning that which most closely adheres to the scientific method and is not contaminated by researchers’ feelings or preconceived notions – says that spanking, in and of itself, is not the harmful thing the mental health community has been claiming, zealously, for the past fifty years.

The research in question – the interested reader can look it up online – has been and is being done by professors Robert Larzelere of Oklahoma State University and Diana Baumrind of the University of California, Berkeley. They have found, independently and conjointly, that children who are occasionally spanked by parents whose love is unconditional score higher on multiple measures of well-being than children whose parents claim to have never spanked. The operative words in the previous sentence are occasionally, spanked, unconditional, and claim. In other words, the research findings in question certainly do not apply to children who are regularly beaten by parents who are motivated by anger rather than genuine and steady caring. Concerning parents who “claim” to have never spanked, Baumrind discovered, somewhat to her own surprise, that many such parents admit in confidential interviews that they have occasionally exploded toward their children in physical and emotional rages. She advanced the proposition that occasional, moderate spankings can and often do serve as a disciplinary “safety valve,” thus preventing abuse.

All things considered, spankings are by no means essential to the proper discipline of a child. In fact, proper discipline is not constituted primarily of proper consequences. That is evidenced by the fact that parents of the most well-behaved children use consequences sparingly, in fact. Many an obedient, respectful child has never been swatted.

FROM THE “OTHER SIDE OF THE PROVERBIAL COIN” DEPARTMENT: I do not agree with those in the Christian community who claim that biblical verses referring to “the rod of discipline” enjoin parents to spank. As I have said on many previous occasions – both in this column and elsewhere – there is a distinct semantic difference in the Bible between “a rod” and “the rod.” While the former is a reference to a stick-like object used, for example, as a symbol of royal authority or means of herding domestic beasts, the latter is clearly metaphorical. The Bible is not prescribing spankings for misbehavior (nor, however, does it eliminate that option). It clearly says what I say at every possible opportunity: the proper discipline of a child is accomplished not by “consequence-delivery-systems” but by parents who project a calm confidence in the legitimacy of their authority and focus, first and foremost, on teaching their children to think correctly and contain their emotions.

And that’s my last word on the subject...in my dreams.

How do I produce a Passive income with no time to spare?

Taylor Kovar

Hey Taylor - How do I produce a passive income if I have no time? Am I the only person who needs to sleep? I get so frustrated hearing about side hustles and passive incomes and feeling like there’s no way to join the movement because I don’t have hours to spare. - Beverly Hey Beverly - First of all, I very much empathize. Everyone talks about all the ways to earn money without acknowledging the time it takes, and that can be pretty annoying. Here are some things that can potentially generate income without requiring too much time or effort.

1. Rent something out. The first thing people think about is a spare room, and that’s a great option. If you have a room in your apartment or a guest house, that’s a good way to make money without taking on a part-time job. If you don’t have living space available, there are other things that can be rented. People offer the use of their cameras, sound equipment, video game consoles for parties, and all sorts of other things people want but don’t have the money to buy. If you don’t have things like this in your possession, you can still consider making the investment. Just make sure there’s a rental market for whatever you’re considering buying.

2. Online surveys and services. If the reason you don’t have time is that you’re already stuck at a desk 40 hours a week, you might be able to multitask and start your side hustle while at your main hustle. You won’t get rich, but there are dozens of companies that will pay you in cash and rewards points for completing surveys online. Lots of people try these out and then give up after a month or two because the gains aren’t significant, but if you’re looking to pad your wallet just a bit, easy surveys are a real option. You can also start working on freelance writing and copyediting. While it takes years to become a full-time writer, it’s not impossible to find companies that outsource small projects that will pay you anywhere from $5-$100.

3. Turn a hobby into money. Do you love baking or drawing or knitting or organizing? Start an Etsy page and sell things you make, or advertise your services as a professional home organizer and see if people will book you for an hour on a weekend when you’re available. If you’re searching for a way to make money, you probably aren’t going to find something that’s tailor-made for your abilities. Instead, you should see if you can create the opportunity that fits your schedule and skill set.

The thing I love most about searching for passive income and side hustles is how often these efforts lead to more fulfilling careers. Time might seem like an insurmountable hurdle, but where there’s a will there’s a way. Good luck, Beverly!

CRYSTAL GAZING

OVERCOME HEAVIER TEAM FAVORED TO WIN; LOOK LIKE CHAMPIONS

Looking every bit championship material the Howe Bulldogs plowed their way to a 12 to 6 win over a much heavier Anna eleven here Friday afternoon. The boys went in scappin and there was never a let-up by any man until the final whistle blew. The only bobble of the game came in the first quarter when a pass was attempted while the locals were on their own 31 yard marker. Trice of Anna intercepting and running for a touchdown. All other plays were heads-up football and the Bulldogs showed blocking and charging such as never before seen done by a Howe team. Compared to the exhibition of last week it looked like an entirely different squad, though few changes were made by Coach Pitts.

It would be difficult if not impossible, to name a star of the game. The club worked as one man and credit for the win must go to all who saw service. Francis was injured as he downed the receiver on the opening kickoff, but kept on fighting through the first quarter. He was removed from the game at the quarter when it was discovered that one eye was swollen shut and taken to Sherman for examination after emergency treatment here. It is believed that he has a fractured sinus structure but definite diagnosis will be impossible for several days, attending physicians report. Barnett was suffering from injuries and was removed from the game during the third quarter.

The Bulldogs will play Denison B here, next Friday, and are expected to win with little difficulty after the splendid showing made this week.

New telephone numbers were in effect here as of Wednesday morning at 6 a.m., Manager E. I. Jenkins reported.

He said the changeover at the local exchange would require about three minutes, and would be made while all lines were idle.

Bet that was impossible, even at 6:00 a.m.

We're printing new fire department numbers, in as small an area as possible, in case you would like to clip them for placement near your telephone.

New numbers are:
Day time—532-5511 or 532-5591
Night—532-5266, 532-5570, 532-6009 or 532-6119.

Numbers listed for daytime are the City Office and Mack's Cash Grocery. Night phones are G. T. McDonough, E. L. Bear-den, A. L. Reeves and L. A. Sanford.

Ever have one of those days when you shoulda stayed in bed?

We did, last Thursday — at least Thursday was one of a series of such.

We had taken pictures of Anna's football team, majorettes and cheerleaders the previous Monday, to print in their programs for Friday night.

Sent the film to a "24-hour" processing place in Dallas, and sure enough, three days later we didn't have any pictures. A couple of telephone calls determined that the company hadn't even received the film. With only one day left, we managed to find out that Bob Estep had a Polaroid, at his Anna home, which he agreed to lend for the "fast pictures. Being on the Anna school board, he also called and arranged for the players, cheerleaders and majorettes to "suit up" for another session at 3 o'clock.

We purchased a roll of film and headed south, with about five allowed for travel time. After a hurried stop in Van Alstyne, we rushed back to the car and—a dead battery. Losing a few minutes while a new one was installed, we headed for Anna, picked up the camera, rushed to the football field, aligned the group for pictures, grabbed the camera, and, sure enough — wrong film.

Per Cent Sales Tax

In Effect Tuesday

Citizens of this area will start paying a four percent sales tax on October 1st. This is brought about by the raising of the state sales tax to three percent and the collection of a one per cent sales tax within the city of Howe, which was approved by voters last Spring.

The four per cent tax will be handled in the same way the present two per cent tax is handled. Merchants will collect the tax with the sale, and at the end of each three months will make a report to the State, enclosing a check for the tax collected during that period.

A full three month period must pass before returns are made on the taxes collected, and after that the merchants have a full 30 days to make his report. Then the state office must figure the part due to the city and return that part to the city in a check.

The four per cent tax will not be as simple to figure as the two per cent tax has been.

The state has worked out a chart which must be followed in the collection of the tax and, although on a flat $1.00 purchase the tax is a simple four percent or four cents, yet the the divisions in the purchase between even dollar sales have been broken down more. Here is the way the sales tax on the first $2.00 will go:

- .13 - .37 is .01
- .38 - .62 is .02
- .63 - .87 is .03
- .88 - 1.12 is .04

Additional Telephone Improvement

Involved In Wednesday Changeover

Mayor Doug Wortham makes first official call Wednesday morning following changeover here to ultra-modern equipment installed in new General Telephone Company building.

What's my new telephone number? This is the question many Howe residents will be asking themselves for some time.

Wednesday, September 25 at 6 a.m., all Howe telephone customers received new telephone numbers because of the ultra-modern equipment installed in the new telephone exchange building on Bean Street. Supplemental directories and new numbers have been mailed to all Howe customers.

E. I. Jenkins, Sherman Division Manager for General Telephone said, "The new equipment is the most modern available. It has new features that enable us to locate trouble faster and a built-in alarm system that will notify us of any major problems."

Jenkins added, "Three additional Extended Area Service lines to Sherman were added and four additional long distance circuits were provided."

"The new building and equipment was necessary to keep up with the rapid pace of growth in this area" Jenkins said, "and we are confident this growth will continue."

Tigers Again This Week -- Leonard

Howe Bulldogs will get another opportunity this week to overcome a pack of Tigers, this time a little farther east, after bowing to the Whitewright Tigers, 32-13.

This week's game will be a little more evenly matched in the weight department, however

Coach Norman Dickey said this week that the squad should be in full strength this week, with Bill Cloud returning to the lineup as a running back, and John Keeton at a tackle position

Howe led the Class A Tigers at halftime, 13-6, but fizzled in the final two quarters against an average of 191 pounds in the Whitewright running department and an 186-pound average in the line.

Unable to move against the heavier team from the start, the Bulldogs scored twice on screen passes to gain the half-time advantage.

Jimmy Watson, receiver of both scoring passes, took the first for 70 yards from Quarterback Rickey Hanning on the third offensive play by the Bulldogs. The play followed a two yard pickup by Watson and a

HOWE'S THAT

Saturday night's Fall Festival was a fantastic success, if fun, food, and gross receipts are any measuring stick.

The Chamber of Commerce-sponsored event, in which civ-club, all school classes, and other organizations partici-pated, grossed more than $3,100, according to a survey Monday.

And folks really enjoyed the fresh fish fry, although serving was admittedly slower than planned, mostly because concessions chairman Ray Bles-oe and his cooking crew were serving fresh French fries, which take a little longer to cook. And, too, 300 people at about the same time were not expected for fish eatin'.

Ray has already promised to do better next year, however, with whatever it takes to speed up the serving. Helping Ray in trying to keep up with the business, in addition to Mrs. Ray, were Mr. and Mrs. Bill Wheeler, Mr. and Mrs. Mari-on Allison, Johnny Jones and Charles Parkman TP&L manager. Ol' Charley wasn't in the food stand at first, not until he had eaten his fish. Think he felt sorry for the other hun-gry folks. Anyway he pitched in and stayed until all the food was gone, and all this after having helped set up booths, string wiring, and the like. And, too, TP&L crew spent quite a bit of time putting up lights and the like last week.

Lot of people contributed a lot of work, merchandise, and other efforts, which helped to make the event the success it was.

Take Betty and Bill Will-ams, for instance. They pur-chased 72 stuffed Bulldogs for the Band Boosters booth, and had to quit before 9 o'clock, due to a shortage of Bulldogs. But the Band Boosters have boosted the possibility of a Howe band by some $200 profit from their efforts.

That low-flying blimp that cruised over the West part of Howe late one evening last week, was apparently at a low altitude on purpose, accord-ing to reports.

The thing sailed over White Auto store, the Exxon station, and Southward, with the tie ropes almost dragging across the buildings, according to witnesses.

News reports on the blimp, however, said the thing was merely on its way to a Dallas football stadium for a Monday night appearance with the Dallas Cowboys.

Store owners sometimes get unusual requests and telephone calls.

George Baker says he has had customers, during some

Fall Festival grosses $3,100

Howe's first Fall Festival, take-off of Halloween car-nivals held here in years past, was a tremendous success, based on participation, coop-eration and receipts of the Saturday night event. The fer-tival was sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce and chaired by Mrs. Pat Til-ley.

Climaxing the festivities was the crowning of three kings and queens, one each from each of the schools in the Howe system.

Sales, games, pony rides and other events added finan-cially to civic clubs and other organizations and individual school classes, to the tune of a grand total of more than $3,100, according to Mrs. Tilley. Band Booster organi-zation, one of the participants, grossed around $300 during the festival, moving a band program here closer to reali-zation.

Queens and Kings, crowned by Mayor Ray Houston to close the festival, were: Kindergarten, Lori Ann Dotson and Dennis Foster; seventh grade, Terri Straw and Darrell Bow-ers; and Junior class, Joe Gray and Patti Harp. Gifts were pre-sented to all the contestants, elected by their classes.

Winners in drawings for prizes for donations to Classes in-cluded Mrs. Edith Knappe, basket of groceries, June Corbin, 22 calibre rifle; and Betty Williams, giant stuffed dog.

Patrons of the festival con-sumed 140 pounds of fresh cat fish during a fish fry held in conjunction with the event. Concession booth was operated by the Chamber.

Merchants contributing arti-cles for the festival include Mamie's Beauty Shop, Linker's Antiques, La Princess Beauty Salon, Morelle's Fashions, White Auto Store, Robertson

Texaco, Howe State Bank, Howe Enterprise, Chism's Grocery, J&H Gulf, Landford Gun Shop, Howe Insurance Agency, Howe Drive-Inn, Reeves Cleaners, Buck's Fine Mack's Cash Grocery, Howe TV Service, Plaster Shop, Howe Laundry, Tilley's, Es-top Furniture & Appliance.

Chamber meeting

Regular monthly meeting of the Howe Chamber of Com-merce will be held tonight (Thursday) at 7:30 in the li-brary of the high school.

Agenda items include discus-sion of the Fall Festival, financial report, and future projects.

Sanger trips Bulldogs; Allen this week

Howe Bulldogs will contest the Allen Eagles in Allen Fri-day night after dropping their first game of the season last week. The team posted suc-cessive victories over Anna and Princeton before succumb-ing to the Sanger eleven, 29-6.

It was an even battle for one and a half quarters, until the visiting Indians began a chain of unpredictables in the form of a couple of pass thefts a pair of outside kick recover-ies, and picked off a Bulldog pitchout to leave the Bulldogs trailing by 23 points.

Sanger recovered a Howe fu-mble midway in the first per-iod to set up their initial TD, the score via a trap play on first down from the Howe 36. Kick added the seventh point.

The 'dogs got back into the game in the second period on a 65 yard drive, with aerials to ends David Hill and Dickie Thornhill covering 21 yards. Fullback Steve Allison hit the right side of the line from the one for the only Howe score of the contest.

Sanger began their Indian tricks on the following kick-off, returning the pigskin 85 yards for another six points, then booted the bonus for a 14-6 halftime lead.

Howe received to open sec-ond half action, and moved to their 44 before losing a fumble to the visitors. Two plays later Wendell Troxell regained possession for the Bulldogs via the same process, with the locals unleashing eleven offen-sive plays to the Indian 33, where a pitchout on an option play was intercepted and car-ried in for another Sanger score--20-6.

The eager Injuns unleashed an outside kick following the score, and took possession a-gain.

Following an exchange of punts, the Indians covered 74 yards of territory on first down to put the game out of reach for the Bulldogs--27-6. A two-point safety was added to the Sanger total following a high snap from center on a punting effort from the Howe end zone by the Bulldogs.

Although the Bulldogs lost the contest, they dominated the statistics depart ment with 12-4 first downs and 91-0 in the passing department.

Following the Allen game this week, the Bulldogs meet Wolfe City next week, prior to opening district play against Whitewright, on the local field.

B-team and seventh and eighth grades will play Allen here Thursday night, with the first game scheduled at 5:30.

Howe's that...

The victory light is burning again. The Bulldogs of Howe beat the Bulldogs of Alvord Saturday night with a score of 25-6.

Homecoming was a success. The Friday night pep rally was well attended. The bon fire took a while to get going, but when it did, it burned well.

The halftime activities at Saturday's game were very impressive. The band, majorettes, and drill team put on a good show. And of course the highlight was the crowning of the 1978 Homecoming Queen, Paula Wheeler. The queen was crowned and kissed by Bobby Hawkins, one of the football captains. It looked as if Bobby enjoyed his task. That kiss lasted a bit longer than necessary!

I recently had a long talk with someone in town. (I won't embarrass anyone by mentioning names although it was a very good discussion.)

Seems sometimes we all run into "I" trouble. This "I" trouble takes a doctor other than an ophthalmologist to cure. I know I have had this problem, and I'm sure if we are honest, we can truthfully say we all share the problem of ego.

The solution according to my friend (an I believe he is right) is to change from "I" to "we" and rely on our Maker.

There are a lot of people who say "I can't do that" or "I can't do this." They are right. "I" can't do it, but if we rely on God and decide that with His help, we will at least try, then we will find usually that "we" can do it.

After all it is no fun playing a game alone or doing a job alone. It always goes better with the help of a friend. Sometimes it is hard to find that friend to help, but there is One you can rely on whenever you need help.

When you change from "I" power to "we" power, you'll find things will go better. "I can do all things through Christ, who strengtheneth me." Philippians 4:13.

In my job, I'm getting to know more and more people in Howe. Some I knew slightly before I became editor and now I know them better. Others I've become acquainted with since becoming editor. One thing I know - I've got more friends now and it's a lot more fun than sitting at home watching a soap opera.

Of course if you've ever watched many of those daytime serials, they are full of misery, sickness, etc. Those things aren't much fun.

Some people live from day to day just to watch their favorite soap. Those characters become real, almost a part of the family.

I suppose there is some value in watching daytime drama. With all those problems the other folks are having, you feel a little better with your few problems. And also it gives a lot of actors and actresses a steady income (until they contract some strange disease because their popularity has dropped).

I confess that I have watched soaps. In fact I still follow the story line of two programs by watching them about once a week. I always thought it strange that the story can take two weeks for one day of time. Also children age quickly from birth to teenage in four or five years.

In college several of my friends and I were "hooked" on "As The World Turns." At that time it was only 30 minutes from 12:30 - 1:00. We waited until the last possible minute to dash across campus from the dorm to our 1:00 class. An of course the most exciting part always came at 12:50.

The daytime serials can also be time consuming to the housewife. When I was at home a lot, I always justified my watching them by doing some sewing or such at the same time. Now that I don't have time to watch the shows much, I find that I really don't miss them that much.

Auction Employees, Howe Police Aid Recovery Of Stolen Tractors

The alertness of two employees at Southwest Auction, Inc. in Howe (formerly Catching Auction) aided in the recovery of two stolen tractors.

Larry D. Turner, 33, of Shawnee, Okla. drove a flat-bed truck hauling a trailer containing two tractors to the auction Friday morning.

A routine check by Richard Miller, a former Sherman police officer, showed poorly altered serial numbers on both tractors. Miller notified his foreman, O.B. Powers, a former Howe and Van Alstyne police officer currently serving as the Howe municipal judge.

Powers notified the Grayson County Sheriff's Dept. Turner left in a hurry, followed by Powers and Miller in a truck.

Howe Police Chief Bill Smith was in the vicinity when the radio call came. Smith gave chase and stopped Turner just north of Van Alstyne on Highway 75. He held the man in custody until the Sheriff's unit arrived.

Sheriff Deputy Jerry Wiggins said the tractors were stolen from Ennis, Texas and Billings, Okla. Further investigation showed the truck's vehicle identification number had been altered and the trailer's serial number had been ground off. Deputies believe the truck and trailer are also stolen.

Turner was being held in Grayson County jail Tuesday in lieu of $20,000 bond on the theft charge.

BULLDOGS WIN HOMECOMING, 41-6

The Howe Bulldogs got off the a slow start Saturday night in their Homecoming game against Alvord, but finished with a 41-6 victory over Alvord.

Alvord scored the first touchdown of the game at the end of the first quarter.

The Bulldogs scored their first touchdown with an 11 yard run by Mark Dykes with four minutes left in the first half. The extra point was blocked tying the score at 6-6 for the first half of the game.

After the halftime activities the Howe Bulldogs exploded into action, scoring three touchdowns in the third quarter. Mark Harper scored on a 54 yard run, Ken Helvey scored on a 78 yard run, and Harper scored again on a 65 yard run.

In the fourth quarter Harper ran 24 yards for a touchdown and Helvey made the final touchdown with a 1 yard run with just seconds left to play.

For defensive standouts, Jeff Farris had 18 assisted tackles, 1 unassisted, 1 interception, and 1 fumble recovery. Phillip Norris had 7 assisted tackles and 6 unassisted. David Norman had 15 assisted tackles. Bobby Hawkins had 9 assisted and 1 unassisted.

The Bulldogs had 54 plays for 175 yards (3.2 average). They had 1 for 7 passes for 6 yards and 3 recovered fumbles.

The Howe Bulldogs will go up against Wolfe City Friday night, Sept. 29, beginning at 7:30 p.m. This game will open district play.

Wolfe City comes to this game having beat Fannindel 39-20, Lone Oak 12-7, and Committee 54-0. They have fifteen lettermen from last year and all 22 starters. They are an experienced team with speed and quickness.

Fall Festival Set

The Howe Chamber of Commerce will sponsor the annual Fall Festival on Saturday, Oct. 7, from 6:00 to 10:00 p.m. Carrie Waller and Bob Williams will serve as co-chairmen on the project.

The downtown area will be roped off at 1 p.m. and those who had booths last year will have the same space this year. Anyone who needs more information should contact Mrs. Waller.

School Board To Meet Monday

The Howe School Board will meet at 7:30 p.m. on Monday, Oct. 2.

Items on the agenda include a report on attendance and enrollment, the approval of reimbursement rate to transportation for extra curricular and field trip travel, review of some board policies, discussion of plans to deal with future growth problems, a representative from Latham and Stultz, discussion of liability insurance on facilities, and a review and signing of the official budget.

NOTICE

The speed limit on King Street from Hanning to the high school is 20 mph. Police Chief Bill Smith asks residents to please remember this and to observe the speed limit.

Also Chief Smith reminds motorists that the speed limit around all the schools is 20 mph, not 25 or 30 and slowing down. The 20 mph will be strictly enforced for the safety of our school children, Smith adds.

Boosters Salute Howe Homecoming

The Howe Athletic Booster Club would like to salute the whole Howe High School for a beautiful Homecoming performance the past Saturday night.

It was easy to see a victory in the making when you attended the pep rally Friday night at the high school gym, followed by the gathering at the bon fire.

Team spirit combined with the whole student body of boys and girls, doing your thing to its fullest extent, helps make the job for the teaching staff worthwhile. The victory light is shining as a symbol of your success. Let's keep it burning.

Come Friday night the Howe Bulldogs will have to be ready for real serious head butting when we host the Wolfe City Wolves. This is our first district game and a win could have a lot to do with how the district title might go.

We urge all fans to come our Friday night to the Bulldog Pit with your support and help promote a win for the home team.

Don't forget that Thursday the Junior Varsity team will do battle at Wolfe City. With a bye last week, they should be ready for action. Also performing will be the Junior High teams. These well-coached teams will show you some football at its best. If you have some one from your family or friends on these teams and you don't get to see them, you could be missing a star in the making.

We predict a close win over the Wolves. See you at the games.

Walt Schneider.

Council Holds Regular Meeting

City council held their regular meeting Thursday, Sept. 21, at 7 p.m. Council members present were N.D. Moses, Hugh Hawkins, Johny Blake, and Stan Francis. R.L. Cate was absent.

Discussion of fireplug near the Bethel Baptist Church was tabled for later meeting.

Leon Williams appeared to ask council about the possibility of getting city water to a tract of land northwest of Howe just outside the city limits. City ordinance prohibits running city water out of the city limits.

Jerry Justice asked council about the use of the landfill. The landfill is closed to those who live outside of Howe. Council decided to allow Justice to use the landfill for a $100 a year fee. Other cases will be handled on a per person basis.

John and Bob Neville of Eastland, Texas addressed the council on the possibility of a franchise for cable TV. If the franchise is granted, it would be a year before the cable would be available in Howe. They propose to bring in stations from California, Georgia, and other areas to offer a wide variety of programming. They estimate the cost at $850-900 per month with the city receiving 3% of the gross revenue. The Nevilles intend to come back next month with more concrete plans.

Council decided to keep the 1% sales tax on utilities (The state has dropped the 4%). The revenue to the city is about $3000 a year. If the tax were dropped, council might have to raise other taxes to make up the amount. Approximately 49% of the cities in the state have decided to keep the tax.

Thomas Nelson, Howe CPA was appointed auditor for the city. Zoning and Planning Commission members were reappointed. Those serving are Joe King, Bob Walker, H.K. Caldwell, Roy Williams, and Jimmy Bearden.

A street sign was approved for Timber Creek Drive. The question of street lights was tabled for further study.

Council decided to keep the meeting time the same.

Police Chief Bill Smith told council of the availability of a police radio package through the Texoma Regional Planning Commission. A mobile radio, two portable radios, and two chargers that cost $3800 are available with a 25% matching grant. Howe would pay $950 for the package. Chief Smith explained a letter was needed asking for the package and that it would take about a year to get the radios. Council okayed the letter.

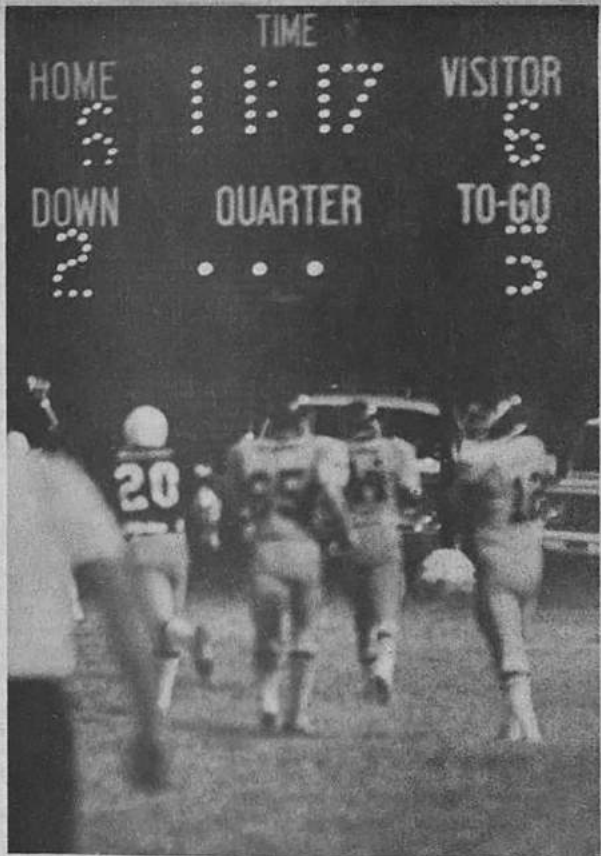

Council met Monday, Sept. 25, at 5 p.m. and approved the proposed uses of the revenue sharing. The funds are expected to total $11,220 and are to be used for a new patrol car, furniture for the new city hall, for the fire department, for entrance ramps for handicapped, for park fund, and for fire plug repair.

Present for this meeting were N.D. Moses, Johny Blake, and Stan Francis.

A book fair will be held at the Howe Middle School library the week of October 16 through 20.

HOMECOMING QUEEN-Paula Wheeler is escorted by football captain, Bobby Hawkins. Miss Wheeler, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Joe Wheeler, is a senior at Howe High School.

VICTORY-Ken Helvey, No. 20, made two touchdowns Saturday night. Mark Harper was responsible for three touchdowns and Mark Dykes made one. Final score was a 41-6 victory for the Howe Bulldogs.

Howe's that...

QUALITY EDUCATION - (Editor's Note: This is the third in a series of articles on public education written by Betty Pyle, president of the Texas Classroom Teachers Association.)

By now, we should all be familiar with the alarming statistics that show massive declines in student achievement test scores and the great increase in the number of functional illiterates that are graduated each year from our public schools.

Not since the U.S.S.R. launched the Sputnik satellite in 1957 have Americans launched such an outcry about the quality of public education. Most of the outcry has been the result of the public's growing awareness of the substantial drops in educational achievement since the gains made in the wake of the Sputnik challenge.

The decline in educational achievement in the past 10-15 years can be directly traced to trends in our public schools that have replaced disciplined learning. These trends have resulted in lower standards of performance expected of our students.

Study after study has shown that we need to reinvent the wheel of public education and to stress the importance of direct, structured instruction by skilled professionals. Another valuable point made by these studies is that the practices of many school districts have a significant effect on student performance and social progress.

Several practices that have become widespread in school districts across Texas are directly responsible for the lowering of student performance and teacher standards in the past 10-15 years. These practices include:

- *Allowing students to avoid tough courses by taking electives that will make no difference in their education or their lives outside of school;
- *Reducing the amount of homework, thereby discouraging self-discipline and further limiting the amount of time a student spends learning;
- *Inflating grades by giving students high marks for mediocre work;
- *Socially promoting students;
- *Following trends toward so called "innovative" programs while failing to emphasize the "basics" - reading, writing, and math;
- *Emphasizing extra-curricular activities, often to the detriment of academic pursuits;
- *Failing to teach "survival" skills, such as how to balance a checkbook.

Several studies have outlined programs that are designed to improve the quality of education. The most widely publicized, a study by the National Commission on Excellence in Education, calls the nation's educational system "a rising tide of mediocrity" that is leaving "our nation at risk."

If the outcry against the public school system is serious, then lawmakers, school administrators, school boards, teachers, parents, and students must work together to reverse the negative trends in learning. We must take a close, hard look at trends that emphasize innovation while discouraging basic survival skills. Curricula must be closely examined, particularly as related to its overall effect on education and learning of the basics. We must realize the consequences of eliminating certain requirements in education. Our children must be prepared to live in an ever-changing world - a world that places greater emphasis on technology, math, science, language, communication skills, history and politics.

This is not to say that we shouldn't be sensitive to the needs of our children, it simply means that we should be the leaders, the ones to set priorities and to distinguish between what students want to know and what they need to know.

Most important, the highest standards of education should be set and our children should be taught to expect to meet those standards. All of us need to believe what the recent studies have told us -- that schools can make a difference. Only then will they truly make a difference.

The team competed in live animal judging to win the tenth spot, according to Jim Rodgers, ag teacher and sponsor. The program also included a grooming demonstration on a beef

Bulldogs Crush Anna, 50-6

Howe Bulldog fans received a treat Friday night, Sept. 23, as their team trounced the Anna Coyotes, 50-6, in the first District 14-AA game for the two.

Scoring for the Bulldogs were juniors Robert Perkins with 3, Randy Geer with 2, and Dennis Foster with one. Sophomore quarterback Andreas Liss also scored a Bulldog TD.

Howe marched 44-yards on its opening possession to score with Perkins doing most of the work. He scored the TD with a 27-yard run up the middle with 7:37 left in the first period. Steve Dobbins added the first of six extra points on the PAT kick for a 7-0 lead for the Bulldogs, early in the game.

A few plays later James Simmons blocked a Coyote pass attempt that could have put them on the scoreboard. Howe regained possession of the ball and kept it until the last 30 seconds of the first quarter. Simmons intercepted an Anna pass at the Coyote 27 on the first play of the second quarter and set up the next Howe TD as Liss went into the end zone on a 5-yard run four plays later. Dobbins connected on the kick for a Howe lead of 14-0.

A short kickoff on the next play was scooped up by Foster to give the Bulldogs the ball at the Anna 32. Perkins scored a TD on a 26 yard run and Dobbins again made a point on the kick. Howe led 21-0 with 7:23 left in the first half.

For the next few minutes, the two teams seceded the ball back and forth up to the final two minutes of the half when the Coyotes connected on four straight passes to move the ball 69 yards for the single Coyote TD of the night. The PAT kick failed and half ended with a 21-6 lead for the Bulldogs.

The third quarter was scoreless and Howe started the fourth period with a good field position at the Anna 35 after a short punt. Liss tossed the ball to Dobbins for a 9 yard gain and on the next play Geer fumbled the ball but it was recovered for the Bulldogs by Ricky Rothwell for a first down. Two plays later Geer skirted the left side of the line for a 13-yard TD run. Dobbins added another point for the 28-6 score with 8:0 left in the game.

Anna moved to the Howe 22 to threaten a score, but Mike Vickers picked off a Coyote pass at the Bulldog 2 yard line. On the next play Geer exploded through the line and ran 98 yards for his second TD in less than a minute and a half. Dobbins added the PAT kick point for the 35-6 score and 6:52 left to play. Fifty seconds later Mark Montgomery intercepted the ball for the Bulldogs at the Howe 46. Perkins gained 15 yards and Geer rushed 30 to set up the Bulldogs at the 11 yard line. Perkins added 8 yards and Geer ran the final 3 into the end zone. Dobbins' kick was good and with 4:36 left in the game the scoreboard read 42 points for the visiting team of Howe Bulldogs and 6 for the home team, Anna.

On the next play Dennis Foster picked off the ball for Howe and two plays later Foster carried the ball 6 yards into the end zone to score the final TD of the night with 3:57 left on the clock. Vickers tossed the ball to Liss in the end zone to add two points for the Bulldogs final score of 50 points for the evening.

The interior linemen for Howe - Rothwell, Pat Gilstrap, Greg Allison, Kyle McKinney, and Matt Hammer dominated both sides of the scrimmage line to help the Bulldogs secure the win.

The Bulldogs will host the S&S Rams for the 1983 Homecoming game at 7:30 p.m. Friday, Sept. 30.

Howe	Stats	Anna
17	1st downs	11
53-407	rushes-yards	27-43
41	passing yards	122
448	total yards	165
3-5-0	passes	11-27-4
4-32	punts	7-30
3-2	fumbles-lost	1-1
4-35	penalties	2-10

In rushing, Geer gained 203 yards in 16 carries. Perkins made 187 on 22 carries. On the receiving end Mark Wheeler caught one for 22. Foster caught one for 10 and Dobbins caught one for 9.

BULLDOGS READY!! - On the line of scrimmage the Howe Bulldogs are set for action. Howe defeated the Anna Coyotes, 50-6, last Friday night.

Football Is Friday Night Entertainment

September, October, November... in Texas those three months bring Friday night entertainment to small towns and large cities across the state in the form of high school football.

And in Anna, Texas last Friday night fans on both sides were treated to the barbs and witticisms of an announcer who could rival Howard Cosell any day. He gave the play by play description as the Howe Bulldogs beat the Anna Coyotes, 50-6, and added his choice comments here and there.

The runners "picked up a lot of real estate" when they made good rushing yardage. The "Coyotes were snake bit again" when the Bulldog defense cut off their attempts to retaliate on yardage and TD's.

The quarterback who was "looking...looking..." for a receiver "looked too long" and got sacked behind the line of scrimmage.

One Bulldog - QB Andreas Liss made a TD for Howe when he "went through a hole big enough to drive a truck through!" At another point in the game Robert Perkins was described as a "tough little runner who goes down the field like no one else is there." In fact at one time in the game he gained about 10 yards with two Coyotes holding on to his shirt tail.

Near the end of the first half, with just "23 ticks left on the clock," a time out was called because of a "critter (dog) on the field" and the officials "made him move because he didn't have a ticket." On the sidelines some younger kids were playing a game of "football" with a styrofoam cup dreaming of the day when they could be "Friday night heroes." A few other kids watched and imitated the cheerleaders. When the game ended, the announcer gave the final score, 50-6, and said simply, "The thrill of victory, the agony of defeat and goodnight from Anna High School Stadium."

What's In The News

Floodlines

by Kathleen O'Toole
Those who lived through the pounding rains and raging waters of the Flood of '93 compared its fury to the biblical flood.

In the Old Testament account, 40 days and 40 nights of pelting rain flooded the entire earth. Only Noah and the occupants of the ark survived.

The story of Noah's Ark is a familiar one to most people in the United States. Yet, it is just one of the many ancient flood stories.

Because floods were believed to be punishments sent by the gods, flood stories became part of the religion and mythology of many ancient peoples.

Greek legend tells of Zeus, the king of the gods, who decided to punish humans for their wickedness by drowning them. He conspired with his brother Neptune, the Sea God.

Neptune made the oceans churn and Zeus sent terrible rainstorms. Only two good people survived - a man and a woman who had hidden in a trunk. The trunk landed on the top of Mount Parnassus, the only place on earth that was not under water.

When the floodwaters receded, Zeus told the two to scatter stones across the land. The stones sprouted into people, and the human race flourished once more.

Native American Indians also told many fascinating flood stories. The Sherente Indians of Brazil believed that long ago the gods were upset by the evil ways of humans. One god took the shape of an ugly, deformed man. As he traveled across the earth, he was scorned by those he met. Only one man treated him kindly. The disguised god told this man to catch a pigeon. When the man shot the pigeon with his arrow, the bird turned into a boat. Soon afterwards, heavy rains fell drowning everyone but the kind hearted man and his family. As Noah did, they rode out the flood on their boat.

Stories of ancient floods have been passed down for generations in many parts of the world.

Today, midwesterners in the United States are telling flood stories of their own. On this week's program, WHAT'S IN THE NEWS takes a look at the Flood of '93.

(WHAT'S IN THE NEWS, a current events program for social studies classes, is produced by WPSX-TV in cooperation with Penn State's College of Education. The program is funded in part by Amazin' Fruit, a product of the Hershey Foods Corporation and endorsed by the National Council for the Social Studies. It is used each week by several Howe Middle School social studies classes.)

HHS Cheerleaders

Being a cheerleader for HHS is a lot of fun, but behind the scenes work is going on. Preparing for pep rallies, decorating the gym, making run throughs, coming up with ideas and boosting school spirit are jobs these girls do weekly.

Keep up the good work! Melissa Boles, Lori Brown, Leslie Wiggins, Beth Judkins, Meg Keene, Terry Carson, Courtney Young, Tasha Johnson, and Corie Palya. Mascot is Jamie Middleton.

Howe Historical Society Formed

A large group of interested citizens met on Tuesday, Sept. 21 for form the Howe Historical Society. Following a meeting to discuss the need for such an organization in Howe and the legal requirements for forming the organization, several people volunteered to take part and get the non-profit organization incorporated.

M. E. Curtis, Jean Norman, Linda Wall and Carrie Waller were elected to be the incorporators. Scott Jones, Karen Krantz, Dale Rideout and Norma J. Wallace were elected to be the board of directors. Articles of incorporation have been written up and after being filed with the Secretary of State for Texas, the Howe Historical Society will be a legal non-profit corporation. The organization will then file with the IRS for a non-profit status to accept tax-deductible contributions.

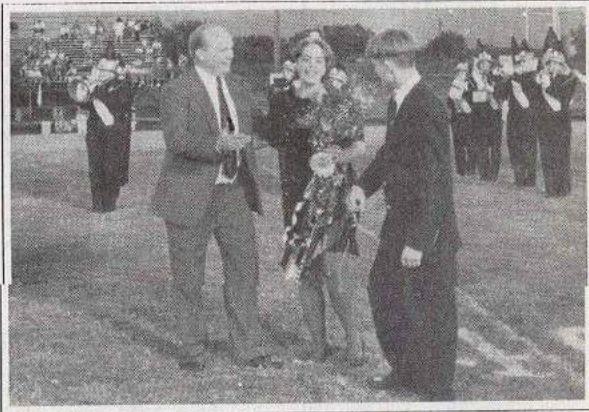

According to the Articles of Incorporation, the purposes for which the corporation is organized are: preserving the history and artifacts of the Town of Howe, Texas and to seek and make available information on its founders, its families, the culture and any other data relative to the settlement of Howe, Grayson County, Texas, having its beginning in 1876.

An organizational meeting will be held after the papers have been filed and returned from the Secretary of State. At that meeting a slate of officers will be elected.

The initial project for the Historical Society will be the moving and restoration of the Hestand house. This house dates back to the 1800's and has a unique architectural style with possibly only one other house in the state of Texas being designed in that style. Plans currently are to use the house as a city historical museum. A lot of physical, financial and organization help is needed for this project so volunteer all you can.

Please contact any officer listed above for more information or to volunteer your services.

HOMECOMING QUEEN - Heather Finney, daughter of Jimmy & Judy Finney, was crowned as 1993 Homecoming Queen by David Chumbley, right. Miss Finney is escorted by her father.

Pee Wees Are 5-0

On Saturday, Sept. 25, the Howe Pee Wee Bulldogs beat the Whitesboro Bearcats, 28-6.

The Bulldogs controlled the game from the start. The coaches are proud of the work of all the players.

Next opponent for the 5-0 Bulldogs is the Bells Panthers at Prosper at 2 p.m.

Middle School Teams Post Victories

The 7th grade Bulldogs blanked the Valley View Eagles, 14-0, on Thursday, Sept. 23, in Valley View. The Bulldog defense stifled the opposition to improve their record to 2-1.

The 7th graders have allowed just 6 points in 3 games along with only 7 first downs. The defense is led by Santiago Banda, Erich Hefner, Ricky Chapman, Jason Redden, Jarod Martin, Clint Grogan, Justin Merchant, Keith Lea, Brooks Foster, Jeremy Wade, and Harlan Owen.

The Bulldogs dug themselves a hole in the first half with penalties and could not score. But their first drive of the second half was capped by a Foster 45-yard TD run. Foster added the 2-point conversion to give Howe an 8-0 lead. The Bulldogs then put a time consuming drive together midway through the fourth quarter as Lea ran it in from 13-yards out.

"It was a good game for us except for early penalties," said Coach Sean Griffin. "Our boys take pride in their defense, and that's what you have to do to be successful."

Merchant had an interception return for 5 yards and Grogan returned one also for 35 yards.

The 8th grade Howe Bulldogs used their air attack to dominate the Valley View Eagles, 18-0, on

Howe's that...

by Lana Rideout

Do you know how your parents met? Do you know how your grandparents met? I do. Recently my husband and I visited my aunt who lives in Childress. We were talking about how parents met and she did not know how her parents met. Being the last member of her generation of that family, she figured she would never know.

However, my Mom who is the same age as my aunt did know the story because my dad's parents and my mom's parents met the same way. While visiting his brother in Whitesboro, my grandfather Bullard met his wife to be. While visiting his brother in the Mt. Pleasant area, my grandfather Brown met his wife to be.

Another interesting note is that both of these sets of grandparents got married in February the same year a week apart.

My Gran Bullard and Gran Brown used to tease each other, saying "I don't know why you didn't come to my wedding," each had the perfect answer, "We did not know each other back then."

My parents met at church in Fort Worth. My mom's family moved to the Diamond Hill area of Ft. Worth and started going to the Diamond Hill Church of Christ where my dad and his family were members.

My kids know that my husband and I met while attending Abilene Christian University (it was College back then). We had a class together and we also rode a church bus across town to attend a congregation there.

Now if you enjoy family history, and don't know how your parents met, how about asking them. Family get-togethers can be a good time to learn family stories.

Howe ISD PTA hosts Tax Ratification (Rollback) Election Presentation

The Howe ISD PTA is holding their General Meeting on Tuesday, Sept. 30, at 6:30 pm. The meeting will be held in the HES/HMS Cafeteria. The guest speaker for the evening will be Superintendent Kevin Wilson, and the featured topic will be the Howe ISD Tax Ratification (Rollback) Election.

Changes in the Texas public school finance system have made it necessary for Howe ISD to consider increasing its tax rate. HISD has proposed a tax rate of $1.46 per $100 valuation for the 2008-09 school year. This tax rate is an increase of 11.5 cents over last year's rate.

Mr. Wilson's presentation will explain our options as a district and show a long-term forecast of our financial picture with and without the tax increase. The meeting is open to the public, and everyone is encouraged to attend to learn more about this election.
