

Howe's That

Christopher Columbus discovered America just as Elvis Presley discovered Rock and Roll. In America, we are all about being first, therefore, we attribute things to people and say they were the first whether they actually were or not.

Columbus Day is a U.S. holiday that commemorates the landing of Christopher Columbus in the New World on October 12, 1492. It was unofficially celebrated in a number of cities and states as early as the 18th century but did not become a federal holiday until the 1937. For many, the holiday is a way of both honoring Columbus' achievements and celebrating Italian-American heritage. Throughout its history, Columbus Day and the man who inspired it have generated controversy, and many alternatives to the holiday have appeared in recent years.

Contrary to popular belief, most educated Europeans in Columbus' day understood that the world was round, but they did not yet know that the Pacific Ocean existed. As a result, Columbus and his contemporaries assumed that only the Atlantic lay between Europe and the riches of the East Indies.

The first Columbus Day celebration took place in 1792, when New York's Columbian Order—better known as Tammany Hall—held an event to commemorate the historic landing's 300th anniversary.

Howe's Dylan Moreau chases down Gunter quarterback Austen Gressett

According to MaxPreps.com, Gunter came in to Friday night's matchup with Howe as the 10th ranked team in the State of Texas as far as Class 3A, Division 2. But early in the second quarter, Gunter (5-1) found themselves trailing Howe (2-4) 14-0 in a strategic game of keep-a-way.

Howe was :33 seconds away from taking a lead into the half, but Gunter would score and eliminate all momentum that the Bulldogs had mustered all through the first and second quarters.

Howe won the coin toss and elected to receive to start the game, which proved to be a tremendous decision. Howe killed 8:45 off of the initial clock on their way to a 75-yard drive that was ended on a three-yard touchdown by Anthony Hawthorne, his team-leading ninth of the season. The drive saw a crucial fourth down conversion that kept the drive alive.

Gunter touched the ball on offense for the first time with only 3:15 remaining in continued on Page #2

Howe Elementary learns Fire Prevention

Fire Prevention Week was established to commemorate the Great Chicago Fire, the tragic 1871 conflagration that killed more than 250 people, left 100,000 homeless, destroyed more than 17,400 structures and burned more than 2,000 acres. The fire began on October 8, but continued into and did most of its damage on October 9, 1871.

The Howe Fire Department visited Howe Elementary on Thursday to educate the youngsters on the dangers of fire and the precautions to take to avoid the dangers.

Anthony Hawthorne racing for his ninth touchdown of the season.

the first quarter. After taking the ball at their own 39-yard line, they found themselves punting it back to Howe after only three plays.

Howe started another long drive, this one of 73-yards. It took 3:40 seconds off of the end of the first quarter and beginning of the second quarter and Hawthorne broke free from the Gunter 42-yard line on a 4th and 11 gutsy play call from Head Coach Zack Hudson and Offensive Coordinator Dale West. Hawthorne's tenth touchdown of the season put Howe up 14-0 after Brice Honaker's two perfect PAT kicks.

It was at that point in the game that the sleeping giant, Gunter, arose and started a drive from their own 42-yard line which ended up in pay dirt. The 58-yard drive ended when Gunter quarterback Austen Gressett found his receiver Haley Johnson open in the endzone from 16-yards out. A missed PAT left the score at 14-6 with Howe leading at the 7:43 mark in the second quarter.

For the first time, Gunter was able to grasp Howe's misdirection slot-T offense and forced a Bulldog punt which gave the Tigers the ball at their own 48-yard line. 52 yards later, Gunter's Garrett Hunter (who came in 5th in the area with 618 yards rushing) sprinted 26-yards to the endzone to cut the Howe lead to 14-12. Gunter tried to tie the game on a two-point conversion, but the Gressett pass was intercepted in the endzone by the Bulldogs and Howe retained the two-point lead.

Howe took the next possession and was again handled by the Tiger defense and forced to punt. That gave Gunter the ball at their own 47-yard line with 2:42 left before the half. Using all of their timeouts and whittling the yards and clock down, in perfection, Gunter used their massive offensive line that averages 250 pounds, to lead the way for Hunter's second touchdown of the evening. Gunter took the lead on that three-yard touchdown for the first time of the contest and only left :33 seconds on the clock before half.

Howe was unable to respond with such little time left and Gunter took the entire momentum swing into halftime with them. The score just before the half for Gunter changed the entire look, feel and complexity of the game. Gunter's halftime lead was 19-14.

Not only did Howe now find themselves trailing for the first time in the game, they now had to kick the ball to Gunter to start the second half. The Tigers took that opening possession and drove 63 yards and took 4:45 off the clock before Hunter scored his second touchdown of the night - this one from the six-yard line. Howe then trailed Gunter 26-14.

Howe's offense completely stalled out and had to punt for the third time in the game.

Gunter snext possession started at the their own 46-yard line. They put together a drive that was nearly as impressive as Howe's opening possession of the game. The Tigers marched 54 yards and took 6:37 off the end of the third and beginning of the fourth quarters. Gressett, the 6'1, 205 pound quarterback for Gunter, barreled his way over from the one-yard line. The Tigers extended their lead to 33-14.

Howe's final attempt to get back the early momentum stalled out when the Bulldogs turned the ball over on downs at the Tiger 34-yard line.

Gunter's 33-14 win marks the 11th consecutive win over Howe dating back to October 27, 2000. Howe's last win over Gunter was a 26-23 win in Gunter in 1997. At one point, Howe led the series 17-1, but now it stands at 17-12.

J.V. falls to Gunter, 35-20

Submitted by Stephen Braswell

The Howe JV Bulldogs were defeated by the Gunter Tigers last Thursday night in Howe by a score of 35-20.

Gunter received the opening kickoff and drove the ball down the field on a 58-yard drive that ended with a two-yard touchdown run. The PAT was good putting Gunter up 7-0. After the ensuing kickoff resulted in a touchback the Bulldogs started on their own 25-yard line. On the first play of the evening for the Bulldog offense, quarterback David Crees hit Copper Akins on a 75-yard touchdown pass down the left sideline. The two point conversion failed leaving the Bulldogs on the short end of a 7-6 score. The Tigers then took the Bulldog kickoff all the way down to the Bulldog nine-yard line and four plays later they punched it in from the one-yard line. The PAT was blocked but in a bad luck moment for the Bulldogs, the Tigers picked up the ball and ran it in to complete a two point conversion. The score put the Tigers in the lead 15-6 with the first quarter coming to an end.

The Bulldogs came back in the second quarter after a 48-yard drive that was capped when Akins scored his second touchdown on the night with an 11-yard run. Again the Bulldogs were unable to finish off the two point conversion and the half ended with the Tigers ahead of the Bulldogs 15-12.

After the mid game break the teams traded a couple of three and outs before the Tigers scored on a three-yard run after a 54 yard drive. The PAT was good and the Tigers were up 22-12. The Bulldogs were able to return the kickoff after the touchdown to their own 30-yard line. They put together a 70-yard scoring drive which was completed when Akins scored touchdown number three on the night. Zachariah Braswell drove across the goal line for the successful two-point conversion which made the score 22-20 with Gunter holding a two point lead. The Tigers then proceeded to take the Bulldog kickoff to the Howe 10 yard line and then scored on a ten-yard run on the next play from scrimmage. The PAT was good giving the Tigers a 29-20 lead at the end of the third quarter.

The fourth quarter became a defensive battle until late in the game the Tigers blocked a Bulldog punt and ended up with the ball at the Bulldog 13-yard line. Gunter ended up scoring on a 10-yard run and was successful on the PAT attempt which gave the Tigers the game ending score of 35-20.

With the loss, the Bulldog JV team falls to 4-2 on the season with their eyes on starting a new winning streak in Tom Bean against the Tomcats on Thursday October 16 at 7:00 pm.

Blessing tree at library

Shellby Armstrong earned the "Silver Award" in Girl Scouts for her project, "The Blessing Tree" at Howe Community Library. She put in over 50 hours of work so that people can write about a recent blessing and stick that note on the tree for all to enjoy.

The idea came from Librarian Becky Hogenson. From that initial idea, Armstrong recruited her grandfather Dean Armstrong to help her construct the branches. After 55 hours and 30 minutes, the project was completed on September 27. Silver Award is second highest award a Girl Scout can earn. The highest is the Gold Award which is equivalent to the Eagle Scout in Boy Scouts.

Halloween to compete with Bulldogs on October 31

Some moms and dads of ghosts and goblins will have to make tough decisions come Halloween night. The scary holiday falls on a Friday night, which in Texas means only one giant conflict - High School Football Time in Texas.

Howe will travel to Whitewright that night in an important district game with playoff implications on the line, but some of their best fans will be knocking on doors in the tree street district hoping for candy instead of touchdowns.

The City of Howe, in the same situation, several years ago, changed the holiday due to pressure from citizens that wanted to be able to do both trick or treating and watch their Bulldogs with a blanket and a Frito Pie. The City of Howe, of course, heard an outcry from citizens that were upset that a festive holiday could be changed. Since that time, Howe has said that no matter what, the holiday will be celebrated on its traditional October 31.

"I thought we did some good things throughout the night," said Head Coach Zack Hudson. "We were able to jump on them early but we struggled on both sides after our initial surge. I was not due to a lack of effort by our kids. Our kids played better than they have in the past couple of weeks. Gunter is a good football team that is coached well, they were able to settle down and do what they do best. We had a hard time on defense stopping their run attack but our kids fought till the end. We have another big test this week and if we stay focused on our goals and have another good week of practice we will be getting better as the season goes on and that is what we need."

Hawthorne was held under 100 yards for the second consecutive week. He finished with 81 yards on 16 carries. Stratton Carroll added 54 yards on 11 carries and Joaquin Lopez had his best rushing performance of the year with 33 yards on seven carries.

Howe will be home to play Tom Bean next Friday night. The Tomcats are also 2-4 and loss to S&S Friday by a score of 24-23.

1st & 2nd grade Bulldogs advance with win over S&S

submitted by Mike Stephens

On Saturday Howe's 1st & 2nd grade Bulldogs traveled to Collinsville to play the S&S Rams in the first round of the playoffs. The Bulldogs would elect to receive the ball and on second and four, quarterback Beau Stephens would hook up with tailback Braden Ulmer on a screen pass that Ulmer took to the end zone and put the 'Dogs on the board, Stephens would keep the ball to convert the extra point to make it 8-0.

The Bulldogs defensive line, led by Aris Fox, Will Ingram, Marco Tapia, Tank Tuner and Eli Stoner, would dominate the Rams line all day and give up very little yardage. On the 'Dogs third possession of the game the Bulldogs would run the quarterback option and pitch to Ulmer who would again take the ball half the length of the field for the score and convert to take a 16-0 lead to the half. The Bulldogs' Ingram would force and recover a fumble early in the third to give Howe the ball on the Ram 35-yard line. Howe recognizing double coverage on Ulmer would set up a pass play where Stephens would drop back to show pass and tuck ball for a 35 yard scamper to the end zone to put the Bulldogs up 22-0. Only after pulling the starting defense off the field with a minute left in the game would the Rams get into the end zone to make the final 22-6.

Howe will face Whitewright next Saturday in Trenton at 10:30 a.m.

3rd and 4th grade advance in playoffs

The Bulldogs are one win away from the Super Bowl

The Howe Bulldogs 3rd and 4th grade team (7-1) advanced past the first round of the playoffs on Saturday with a decisive 28-6 win over Trenton (2-7).

Tate Harvey raced 39 yards for the team's first touchdown in the first quarter. Harvey also carried in the two-point conversion. He added his second touchdown on a 44-yard scramble around the left side. The two-point conversion came up short and Howe led 14-0.

Cooper Jones ran 39-yards for a touchdown in the early part of the second quarter. Harvey ran up the middle for the two-point conversion.

Jones added his second touchdown on a five-yarder late in the fourth to give Howe a 28-0 lead. Trenton scored on a late 16-yard touchdown pass to bring the final to 28-6. Howe plays Blue Ridge next Saturday in Trenton at 1:30 pm. A win next week puts the Bulldogs in the Super Bowl for the second straight year.

Bill and Nell Ward experienced the emotional and financial roller coaster of having children with Muscular dystrophy. According to The Mayo Clinic, it's group of genetic diseases in which muscle fibers are unusually susceptible to damage. These damaged muscles become progressively weaker. Most people who have muscular dystrophy will eventually need to use a wheelchair.

There are many different kinds of muscular dystrophy. Symptoms of the most common variety begin in childhood, primarily in boys. Other types of muscular dystrophy don't surface until adulthood.

People who have muscular dystrophy may have trouble.

breathing or swallowing. Their limbs may also draw inward and become fixed in that position — a problem called contracture. Some varieties of the disease can also affect the heart and other organs.

While there is no cure for muscular dystrophy, medications and therapy can slow the course of the disease.

William and Christina Ward have since passed on due to the disease and their parents have made a crusade to help similar children with disabilities have an enjoyable and therapeutic experience through riding and bonding with horses.

Bill Ward, a lifelong soldier, now veteran, of the U.S. Army was stationed in Kentucky and he and Nell learned of a girl named Dana Hunt Smith, who was in a car wreck where she broke her back and became confined to a chair, but that didn't stop Smith. Her parents created a lift to mount her on her horse. She still rode competitively, but kept it hush hush. They were afraid if show people knew about her condition she would not be aloud to do what she loved. She was the young lady who started the inspiration that you can still ride and life doesn't have to end after a horrible life change.

While they learned of this girl having a successful experience with horse therapy, Nell Ward was taking her courses in psychology and that's when the idea first came about for the Ward family.

The Wards, who are original from Sherman and Wichita Falls, returned to Texas from Kentucky only to have Bill leave in 2005 for Iraqu and Afghanistan. He served our country overseas for seven years as 5th Special Forces Green Beret. During the time he was away, Nell began to start working on a property in the Luella community just north of Howe.

"What we wanted was to have some kind of center." said Bill Ward. "We just didn't know what or how or how big or anything else. So we just progressed from that time frame."

It took five years for them to get the fencing up and build the riding arena on the money they were earning by serving the country.

Nell became certified with PATH (Professional Association Theraputic Horsemanship) and the Wards' dream of being able to help children came to fruition in February of 2012 with the opening of Devine Equine Therapeutic Riding Center in Luella.

This past July, they qualified as a non-profit and do various fund-raisers for the business because their intention is to not charge families for the therapy.

"We know what it's like to be a one-income family and have disabled children." said Nell Ward. "One parent has to stay home or they may have multiple disabled children where both parents aren't able to work."

Bill Ward said the only reason

Faith

by Debbie Wallis

“How great is the love the Father has lavished on us, that we should be called children of God,” 1 John 3:1. We are children of God but we don’t always view ourselves that way. Your self-concept is how you think about yourself; it either agrees with God or disagrees with God. It’s impossible to live a joy filled life disagreeing with your Maker.

With every thought, your self-concept either moves you towards or away from the potential God has for you. “Finally, my friends keep your minds on whatever is true, pure, right, holy, friendly, and proper. Don’t ever stop thinking about what is truly worthwhile and worthy of praise,” Philippians 4:8. The more you judge your thinking against this truth the more your negative thought will vanish. You will view yourself and others with greater respect because you’re focusing on positive traits rather than judging them or concentrating on their negative. You cannot outgrow your self-concept; you can only replace it with the Truth of who you are in Christ. Refuse to live below what God intended for you. See yourself worthy of everything He calls you. He calls you beautiful and wonderfully made. He calls you the apple of His eye and says you are His child. God cannot be wrong and He cannot lie.

“As a mirror reflects your face, your heart reflects how you think,” Proverbs 27:19. Your self-concept is just that, your impression of yourself as a human being. It derives from a combination of convictions, assumptions, life experiences, memories and feelings. What you observe in your own life is a reflection of what is going on in your thinking. What we think is how we will act. “Just as you can identify a tree by its fruit, so can you clearly identify people by their actions,” Matthew 7:20. You were not born with a self-concept, good or bad, you acquire it with life and that means you can correct it if needed.

“For I know the plans I have for you, declares the Lord, plans to prosper you and not to harm you, plans to give you hope and a future,” Jeremiah 29:11. We live in a world where sin and bad things happen to us. No one is exempt from that. Some of you may have had worse events in life to deal with than others. God’s Word is still true for you. You can change your circumstances by agreeing with how God sees you. Refuse to live short of the blessings of being a child of God. You’ve got to do your part because you have a responsibility to believe, live and think how God wants you to. You cannot put drop oatmeal cookies in the oven and pull out a peach cobbler 12 minutes later. You have to change your thinking by deliberately choosing new responses that agree with your God-given potential, whether you feel like it or not. You cannot live a healthy and happy life on your emotions.

Your self-image, or that inner mirror, determines how you use your time, talents, knowledge, skills, and experiences. We all know people who have great talent but do little with. More than not, it’s the same people who spend time judging others who are using their talents. We know plenty of people who have few advantages but do great things. Make a decision today to stop beating yourself up in your thoughts and replace your view of yourself with how God sees you. The only way to love yourself and in turn love others with unconditional love is to replace your negative thoughts with His positive Word. The Bible is God’s Word in a written form for you. It’s only the Truth that can set you free from tormenting thoughts that put you down.

that the experience with their children didn't financially crush them was due to his military benefits which paid for a lot of it.

"It was still a lot of out-of-pocket (expense) for us and we realize the effects." said Bill Ward.

There are many tears shed a Divine Equine. Nell Ward has experienced non-speaking autistic children be able to verbalizing after one ride on a horse. The rider has to give different commands to the horse and the children quickly changes behavior.

"It does nothing but make you feel good." says Bill Ward.

"Usually every time we turn around here, we're crying. Our goal is to work with the disabled community." says Nell Ward. "If they don't get anything out of the ride, but they learn social behavior and to say hello or high five is enough for me to get my payment. Seeing the parents seeing their young or older children in a different light is so rewarding. They are seeing accomplishments from their children that they've never seen before and it's quite an experience."

Divine Equine has 37 volunteers and 19 riders at the moment. The complex houses six active horses and a total of 11 on-site.

They are now starting a veteran program because there are over 22 veterans a day committing suicide in the United States. The Wards feel like having the veterans help them can also, in return, help the veterans fill that void of service.

They are currently seeking sponsors for the veteran program because they don't want to charge the veterans in any way. They feel like their price has already been paid.

They teach how to get on the horse, how to get off and how to move and stop the horse. Some of the youngsters are quite intimidated by the size of the horse at first but quickly adapt and overcome their immediate fear. Depending on the disability, the person on the horse will either have one or two side-walkers to provide stability.

The perfect horse for the program is somewhere between 13 and 15 hands and is completely docile. In fact, docile enough to let the riders paint them first with water-color paint. The painting of the horses allows them to feel more relaxed before mounting the horse. Each riding sessions lasts for an hour. The veterans sessions lasts for an hour and a half.

With the permission from doctors, the youngest participant is two and a half years old and the oldest is 41. At one point, they had a 55-year old stroke victim, but he progressed enough to start walking and he eventually joined a local gym.

The Wards say that the motion of riding helps relax students. Children with Cerebral Palsy have their body twist so much from their disability that they end up having to get rods. The motion of the horse therapy on young Cerebral Palsy children keep their torso hips separated where they don't stiffen up on their body.

"The gait of a horse, through your hips is the same motion as if you're walking. That's why we encourage our Cerebral Palsy riders because it strengthens to core muscles." said Nell Ward.

One of the most special students was a girl named Emily who has Cerebral Palsy. She (pictured on page six) grew a bond with a horse named Diesel. Unfortunately, Emily had to get rods and is no longer able to ride and is no longer able to ride. Upon no longer being able to ride Diesel, she would still visit the horse and say, "That's okay Diesel. It's okay." The horse and girl developed a unique bond.

Divine Equine is holding a benefit for veterans in November. They are trying to raise money so that the veterans don't have to pay. On November 13 at the Elks Lodge in Sherman off of FM 1417, they will have a BBQ lunch and show a documentary called "Riding Our Way Back" which features a soldier who had a brain injury and Post-Traumatic Stress Disorder (PTSD) and started riding a horse at a similar facility in Mt. Rainier in Washington.

Bill and Nell Ward faced traumatic hardships as young parents and lost both of their kids due to disease. They turned heartbreak into a heartfelt passion for helping others in similar situations. They seek volunteers, horses and sponsors. For more information, please visit <http://www.divineequineriding.org/> and find them on Facebook.

Homeschool Career Day hosted by Church of Christ

Howe Church of Christ hosted a Homeschool Career Day last Monday on the site of the church. The event was designed to supplement the efforts of church members who homeschool, as well as families in the area.

"First of all, we are firm believers in the public school system," said Howe Church of Christ Pastor, Toby Soechting. "We have teachers in our congregation. But we have more and more families that are homeschooling their children so we're reaching out to them. Our building is a nice facility and our congregation is looking for a way to be a bigger impact in the Howe community."

The day presented opportunities for Howe Church of Christ to get to become more acquainted with some of the families in the area, as well as encourage Christian families. It also presented an opportunity for the church to become more familiar with the local police, fire and rescue personnel a bit better.

children in attendance and they were able to visit with fire and police of all over the area. The highlight was the flying and landing of the Air Evac Lifeteam helicopter.

Denison Detective John Watt was the master of ceremonies and led the group through the career day.

This is the the third annual event which actually started as a 9/11 program. Pastor Soechting's son Dustin Soechting, who went to Howe in the Howe ISD system, served in Afghanistan and was a Purple Heart Recipient did the talking during that first event. It eventually became a career day two years ago with local farmers and bee keepers that gave their insight to their careers.

"The purpose of it is for us to reach out and be a resource for our community and to be a resource to homeschooling families because we know that more and more are doing that," said Soechting.

There were approximately 40

Domestic Violence in the National Football League

Submitted by Don Mathis

There has been a lot of discussion about Domestic Violence in the aftermath of the elevator assault involving Ray Rice and Janay Palmer. Practically all of it ignores the fact that Janay threw the first punch. "Yes, but he didn't have to retaliate so hard," the detractors say. True, but she didn't have to initiate the violence either.

The media gave a lot of attention to Chris Brown after his felony assault of Rihanna in 2009. But lost in the media hoopla was the fact that she assaulted him first after seeing a text message from another woman on Brown's phone. The fact that Rihanna was slapping and striking Brown numerous times while he was driving, then attacking him with a high-heeled shoe was not important to the courts or the press.

But intimate partner violence is not rare. About ten percent of intimate partner relationships experience some form of partner aggression (slap, shove, punch, etc.) each year. to give credit to the NFL, less than one in ten engage in spousal abuse. What is not often mentioned, men and women engage in domestic violence at similar rates.

According to the National Intimate Partner and Sexual Violence Survey, more than five million men and nearly five million women experience some type of violence at the hands of their partners every year. The media spares us such details as when a recent Arizona Cardinal cheerleader or a star of the U.S. women's national soccer team is arrested for assaulting a loved one.

If an incident escalates, as it did between Mr. & Mrs. Rice, the female partner is more likely to be injured. Nonetheless, of all victims who require medical attention, one-third are male. Female initiation of partner violence is the leading reason for the woman becoming a victim of subsequent injury. One researcher has called it a dramatically more important factor than anything else.

Contrary to a lot of misconceptions, aggression between partners is often two-way. A comprehensive review of research found nearly 60 percent of all intimate partner violence is bi-directional. A Centers for Disease Control survey found that injury was more than twice as likely when the violence was reciprocal, compared to unidirectional violence.

Although physical abuse is not limited to any segment of society, domestic violence is more common among certain groups such as lower income couples, couples who are not in intact married relationships, and lesbian and gay partners.

There are more than two dozen different causes of domestic violence. Substance abuse, relationship instability, psychological disorders, and other factors are known to often lead to domestic violence incidents.

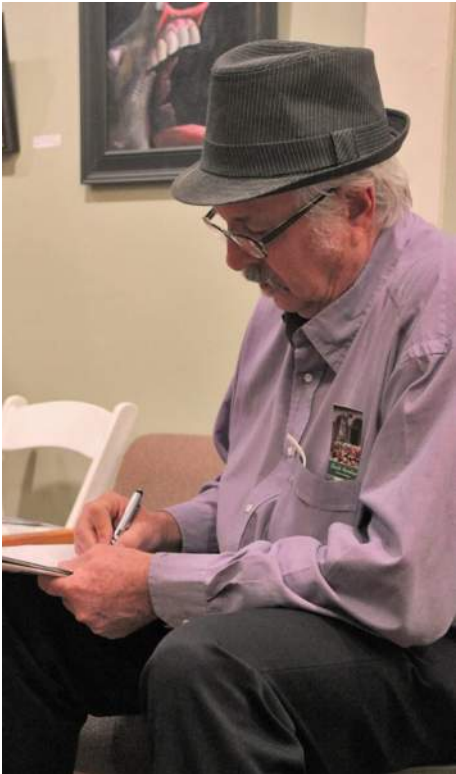

Although the U.S. is making steady progress in the national effort to curb intimate partner aggression, many victims of domestic violence face barriers to getting help. One study concluded that men are routinely excluded from receiving protection or assistance when they are victims of domestic violence.

Another analysis highlighted the discriminatory practices of many domestic violence shelters, concluding that lesbian and gay victims did not have consistent access to culturally competent services to prevent and address the violence against them. Very few domestic violence centers will counsel women how to curtail their own violent temperaments.

There are many who seek to prevent Intimate Partner Violence and injury to women but there is almost zero concern with violence toward men. Yet Deborah Capaldi, a social scientist at the Oregon Social Learning Center, finds that the best way for women to be safe is to not initiate violence against their male partners. Her research found that a woman's violence against a man was as predictive of his violence to her as his own history of violence.

If we seek to curtail women's violence towards men, we can attain the goal of reducing men's violence towards women. Those that reject this concept because it removes the fault of the man and places it on the woman are missing the point. We all want to live in a society free of violence.

Grayson County Fair

Howe sixth graders Brett Burnett and Gage Streetman prepare for a ride at this years Grayson County Fair.

The history of the Grayson County Fair dates back to multiple events according to notes made by Judge Vaughan. In 1868 the 1st fair was held in Sherman on south Rusk. In 1869 the fair was held around Fairview. Then, due to finances, the fair stopped until 1873 when they had a large crowd but again finances prevented them from the next fair until 1876 and the final fair was around 1879. In 1915/1916 the fair was back only to be interrupted by World War I. In 1920 a fair association was started and collaborated with Old Settlers park and the city of Sherman to erect some permanent structures at Old Settler's Park.

The Fair Association was incorporated in 1924 and the fair continued until at least 1933 before stopping again. In 1994, volunteers led by Ray Bledsoe and Harold Wright and many others worked hard to kick off the fair as we have it today.

Trunk 'r Treat - October 26

This year's Trunk 'r Treat events will not compete with Texas High School Football, as both churches that host the event on Sunday evening, October 26.

The First United Methodist Church will host their event on their parking lot of 810 N. Denny from 4 pm - 6 pm. Many food and games will be available.

Immediately following that event, The First Baptist Church of Howe will also hold their Harvest Fest and Trunk 'r Treat in the parking lot behind the Fellowship Hall on 100 E. Davis, Street. The time for FBC Howe's event is listed as 6 pm - 7:30 pm. FBC Howe will also have many games for children to play.

These two church-hosted events are fun for all ages and a great way to celebrate.

The Howe Enterprise

25 YEARS AGO THIS WEEK

25c

Vol. XXVII, No. 10

USPS 253240

Thursday, October 12, 1989

Howe's that...

NEW DEADLINE - Starting last week, the HOWE ENTERPRISE has new deadlines for news and ads. We are requesting all news articles, photos, and ads to be turned in by 5 p.m. on Mondays. Classified ads will still be accepted until noon on Tuesdays.

Last Wednesday, I drove to Denison to the DENISON HERALD building to take my paper to be printed. I have been doing this every Wednesday for almost 12 years. However, in the past, my deadline for arrival at the Herald has been before noon.

But now I must be there between 9 and 9:30 a.m. on Wednesday mornings. The reason? The DENISON HERALD has shut down the press and is now doing all printing at the SHERMAN DEMOCRAT building. The pages of the Herald and Enterprise are still prepared at the Herald building and then are taken by van to the Democrat building. The last run of the van is 11:45 a.m. - so my pages are needed early for them to be prepared for this run.

One advantage I have in this new system: I pick up the printed newspapers at the Democrat. This gets them to Howe a little quicker, depending on what time the papers come off the press. The Enterprise is run as soon as the daily run of the Herald is done. Anyway, this new deadline for me to get to the printer, necessitates me asking for news to be brought to me earlier. I would like to thank the people on the various school campuses who have had to adjust their writing schedules to help me meet this deadline. I get a lot of news from the schools and it helps me to have it as early as possible. I also appreciate the time many of the teachers and school staff take to try to help me get the news in the paper so parents and residents can be aware of the various programs and events.

CAMERA PROBLEMS - The past couple of weeks we have experienced problems with our cameras. I would like to thank Connie Fryar for helping provide photos of the football game last week and this week and a special thanks to her for the pictures of the Homecoming Queen and finalists.

DOUBLE THE FUN - In 1988 the Howe Bulldogs beat Aubrey, 20-0. That was fun! In 1989 Howe beat Aubrey, 40-0. Double fun!! I remember several years ago when we beat Whitewright, 33-0, one year and then the next year the score was 70-0. Way to go, Dog! Keep it up. Beat Celina this week!!!

THIS IS YOUR NEWSPAPER - If you know of a newsworthy event, please let us know. If it's news to you, it's news to us. Call 532-6012 or 532-6476 with your news story or bring your news by the office at 107 E. Haning.

Bulldog Fans, Join Send Off Of Football Team

All Bulldog fans are invited to join a special "send off" for the football team Friday, Oct. 13. The Bulldogs will be leaving from Bulldog Stadium to go to Celina for the first district game of the season. Parents, relatives, friends and area residents are asked to come encourage the team. Meet at the field at 5:30 p.m. for the big send-off and if you wish join the caravan to "Crush Celina."

Howe 6th Graders Keep Up With Current Events Via TV Program "What's In The News"

Students in Mrs. Franklin's 6th grade social studies classes at Howe Middle School are watching a 15-minute current events television program each week called "What's in the News".

Mrs. Franklin videotapes the program from the Regional Instructional Television Consortium (RITC) each week for showing to the class on Fridays. The HOWE ENTERPRISE will be printing each Thursday a companion article to the program that being shown to the classes on Friday. This will enable the students to make use of the newspaper article as well as inform the parents of this aspect of their children's education.

Howe ISD obtains this and many other educational programs from RITC through an agreement worked out between Region 10 and Richardson ISD. The satellite system and wiring for the school was installed at a cost of approximately $5000 several years ago. Howe pays a $1000 a year fee for the service which also includes training sessions for school board and administrators as well as educational programs for all grade levels. Teachers often tape programs for later use in classroom. The system also allows for live broadcast in the event of a shuttle launch or other important news event that teachers might wish their students to view.

The "What's in the News" series presents current events in a clear, concise vocabulary and style so that young viewers can readily understand the important issues and events of our time.

The series supplements many areas of the school curriculum such as:

- *develops vocabulary by defining unfamiliar words and phrases;
- *stimulates classroom discussion by posing "thought" questions;
- *improves composition skills through write-in activities;
- *encourages reading with a weekly newspaper column;
- *focuses on history by exploring the events behind today's headlines;
- *explains government structure and processes;
- *emphasizes diversity of cultures and people by highlighting lifestyles and customs around the world;
- *enhances geography skills with computerized maps and globes on which locations are identified;
- *updates science and technology advances in this fast-changing world.

"What's in the News" is produced by WPSX-TV, Wagner Annex, The Pennsylvania State University, University Park, PA in association with the College of Education and is funded in part by Federal Subsidies under the National Endowment for the Humanities.

WHAT'S IN THE NEWS

Pig's Tooth and Postage Stamps

by Kathleen O'Toole
When a well-known scientist announced in the early 1900s that he had discovered a fossil from the first human ancestor in the new world, his triumph quickly turned to embarrassment. The prehistoric tooth he had uncovered was soon identified as a pig's molar.

Such mistakes are not uncommon in paleontology, the study of fossils. One of the tasks of a paleontologist is to reconstruct what a prehistoric plant or animal looked like, often on the basis of only a few bones. That's like reproducing the picture on a one thousand-piece jigsaw puzzle simply by studying one piece!

Thomas Jefferson is another paleontologist who is remembered for a mistake he made. (Of course, he is far more famous as a founding father of the United States and the third U.S. President.)

Jefferson once studied a fossil claw. After careful examination, he announced that it had belonged to a lion. No ordinary lion, he said, but one that was bigger than any known member of the cat family.

In time, paleontologists identified the bone as the claw of an extinct giant sloth. Despite his mistaken analysis, Jefferson is recognized in the animal's name. It is known scientifically as "Megalonyx jeffersoni," or "Jefferson's giant nail."

Perhaps, Jefferson's most mistaken notion about dinosaurs was that they still exist. In 1804, when he sent Merriweather Lewis and William Clark to explore the American West one of their assignments was to scout for dinosaurs.

He didn't give the assignment in quite those words, because the word "dinosaur" wasn't coined until 1841.

Even though the word didn't exist, the fossils did. Throughout the 1700s, scientists had discovered and studied many huge unusual bones. These fossils did not seem to match the bone structures of any living animal. They resembled lizards, but their tremendous size set them apart from any lizard known to humans.

In the late 1700s, some scientists suggested that many types of giant lizards had once roamed the earth and were now extinct. Other scientists, however, believed that the terrible lizards had simply migrated and would someday turn up in an undiscovered land. The unexplored American frontier seemed a likely spot to Thomas Jefferson.

Although Lewis and Clark found no dinosaurs, the western United States, proved, in time, to be full of dinosaur remains.

In 1874, a discovery was made in Colorado that was back in the news recently.

The paleontologist who made the discovery named it "Brontosaurus," or "thunder lizard,"

Bulldogs Blank Aubrey, 40-0 District Play Begins Friday

The Howe Bulldogs celebrated homecoming in grand style with a 40-0 victory over the previously unbeaten Aubrey Chapparals, 40-0, Friday, Oct. 6. The win brings the Dogs to a 2-3 record and to begin district play this week against Celina.

In pre-game activities, Kelli Norman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alton Norman, was crowned Homecoming Queen. (see photos on page five)

"It was the best ball game we've played all year," said Coach Jim Fryar. "We were just clicking on all cylinders."

Leading the Bulldogs was senior quarterback Jay Skipworth completing 10 of 17 passes for 212 yards and four touchdowns with no interceptions. Skipworth is a leader in the area statistics for passes. In five games he has completed 52 passes for total of 838 yards, 11 TD's and a 2-point PAT.

The stubborn Bulldog defense held Aubrey to 77 yards rushing and 24 passing. Leading the defensive charge were Thomas Toxtell with 14 tackles, Blair Nilson with 13, Kevin Gray with 9, Daniel Williams with 9, Jn. Norwood with 8, Matt Cwender with 8, and Wade Carson with an interception.

The only scoring threats by the Chapparals came in the first quarter when Aubrey advanced into Howe territory. Their first drive ended in a punt. Their second attempt to score was stalled by a strong Howe defense at the Howe 30 yard line and the second attempt was stopped at the Howe 10. Both times Aubrey tried for a TD on the 4th down and failed.

During the first quarter, the Bulldogs controlled the ball only once, but could not advance the ball on four plays.

Midway into the second quarter, Howe took control at their own 12. On the first play out of scrimmage Brian Pettit ran for a first down at the Bulldog 48. Jay Skipworth completed a pass to Monte Walker for 5 yards. A pass interference penalty against Aubrey on the next play put the Dogs on the Aubrey 31-yard line. Three plays later Skipworth connected with Walker for a 32-yard TD pass. Steven Hawthorne added the PAT kick for a 7-0 score with 5:19 left in the first half.

Four plays later the Dogs took control at their own 35. They advanced on a 20-yard pass caught by Walker and a 17-yard pass caught by Jerry Covington. Then with a minute and a half on the clock, Covington caught a 31-yard pass and was tackled falling into the end zone for the score. Hawthorne's kick was good for a 14-0 lead for Howe.

The Howe defense held the Chapparals, then Hawthorne and James Boatman tackled the Aubrey punter on a bad snap. A dead ball foul on the Dogs set them up at the Aubrey 25. On the next play, Hawthorne caught a 25-yard TD pass from Skipworth to score with 38 ticks left to play before the halftime. Hawthorne's kick was blocked and the Bulldogs took a 20-0 lead to the fieldhouse.

As the third quarter began, Howe took the opening kickoff and managed to advance to the Aubrey 32 thanks to a long pass from Skipworth to Hawthorne. But a holding penalty on the Dogs and a quarterback sack stalled their drive. Aubrey had the ball for four plays and then Howe once more took control at their own 30. With the help of several carries by Clint Bray, the Dogs managed two first downs to advance to the Chapparal 30. A 5-yard penalty on the Bulldogs put them in play on the 35.

Two plays later Hawthorne caught the ball for a 35-yard TD with 3:52 left in the third quarter. Then Hawthorne added the PAT kick for a 27-0 score for the Dogs.

A 5-yard penalty was assessed on Howe for the punt. With an offside kick, Howe regained possession of the ball at the Aubrey 36 as Thomas Troxtell caught the ball in full stride. Yardage was gained on carries by Bray and Covington along with a pass reception by Walker. Covington carried the ball the final 30 yards into the end zone. A try for two points failed. With 1:42 left in the third period, Howe held a 33-0 lead.

On the next play, Skipworth managed to get the Dogs down around their own 39, but two plays later, as the fourth quarter was beginning, Wade Carson intercepted a pass around the Howe 40 and ran to the Aubrey 31. Bray carried for a first down at the 10. Carson took over as quarterback for the final quarter of play and successfully guided the Dogs as Walker scored the last TD of the night from 2 yards out. Hawthorne's kick gave the Dogs their final score of 40-0 with 10:12 left in the ballgame.

The Dogs controlled the play for most of the final minutes of the game with Aubrey managing only one first down.

The Howe Bulldogs start district play Friday, Oct. 13, at 7:30 p.m. facing last year's district champion and state semi-finalist Celina. The game will be played in Celina, a challenge for the Dogs and all fans are urged to attend the game and support the Howe Bulldogs.

JV's Continue Undefeated, Unscored Upon, Beat Aubrey 32-0

Thursday, Oct. 5, the Howe JV football team soundly defeated the Aubrey JV, 32-0, in a shortened game. The game was called with 2 minutes to go in the 3rd quarter when an Aubrey player was injured. He was thought of have suffered a dislocated hip, but later examination showed only a deep bruise.

Michael Bailey, Robert Arizmendi, Michael Norwood, and Damien Horton scored TD's to pace the Bulldog JV's attack. James Fulechek, Brandon Barnett and Scott Skaggs scored 2 point conversions. Defensively Fulechek, Scott Grogan, Jay Fred Carson, Monte Brown, Jay Bryant and Scott Ford all had good games. Aubrey never threatened to score the entire game.
