

Howe's That

This year's string of strep has been one of the most ferocious of any we can recall in recent years. The middle school has had more reports of strep than reports of dog-eaten homework. Although, it is true that it takes a dog quite a bit more work to eat an iPad than notebook paper. But back to the strep thing - we know one fifth grader that missed a week of strep and eventually had it turn to pneumonia. The fifth grade seems to be big targets for this super strand as it hit our home last week as well.

Summit Gardens

The Howe City Council officially approved the renaming of the former First Christian Church to Summit Gardens. The official title is "Summit Gardens - A Wedding and Event Venue", but I would imagine that most people will refer to it as Summit Gardens. The recently raised $12,500 should be enough to finish the project. The City of Howe has agreed to place sidewalks on the north side of the property which will connect from the back to the front.

The name was adopted by the Save the Church committee who sought recommendations from the public and the board.

The bell tower was finished with another coat of paint thanks to Rick Owens and his crew.

Hall of Honor tickets on sale

Tickets are now on sale for the Howe Hall of Honor & Awards Banquet to be held downtown on Friday, May 5 at 6:30 pm. Tickets are $15 in advance at the chamber office and at the door. The event will take place at the EDC/Chamber office and there will only be 100 tickets sold. Refreshments will be available.

Tidwell honored by former high school in Dallas

Twenty years ago this week, the City of Howe proclaimed April 27, 1997 as Roger Tidwell Day. The former North Dallas Bulldog was welcomed back to his alma mater last week to be recognized for the help that First Baptist Church of Howe has done in providing for the homeless students. North Dallas High School opened the "Roger Tidwell Clothes Closet" at the high school in his honor for the services he has provided from his leadership at the church.

Roger Tidwell

Tidwell was a 1976 graduate of North Dallas High.

Coaches hired by Howe ISD; Bulldogs to move from slot-T to wing-T offense in football

The revolving door of coaching happens from time to time, but this year hit the Howe Bulldogs quite hard and unexpectedly. Howe ISD Athletic Director said that he thought that he knew of one coach that would be leaving the staff, but when Football Offensive Coordinator Dale West left for the Athletic Director/Head Football coaching position in Collinsville and Wes Rhoten took the Offensive Coordinator job at Canton, and the resignations of Richard McAdams and Jordan Dusek, Hudson said that it turned into a

Mayor proclaims May as Motorcycle Safety Awareness Month

Nationally, May is the beginning of the cycling season for motorcycle enthusiasts. It is often sooner than that in Texas, but May is typically the month set aside to remind motorist to be aware of their two-wheeling friends that are hard to see in mirrors and blind spots. Because of that, Mayor Jeff Stanley officially declared Howe to be Motorcycle Safety Awareness Month by proclamation.

Members of Texas ABATE Confederation came before the council and gave a presentation about the need to remind motorists about the dangers of not being alert for cycles.

In 2013, 50 percent of all motorcycle fatalities

WHEREAS, today's society is finding more citizens involved in motorcycling on the roads of our country; and

WHEREAS, motorcyclists are roughly unprotected and therefore more prone to injury or death in a crash than other vehicle drivers; and

WHEREAS, campaigns have helped inform riders and motorists alike on motorcycle safety issues to reduce motorcycle related risks, injuries, and, most of all, fatalities, through a comprehensive approach to motorcycle safety; and

WHEREAS, it is the responsibility of all who put themselves behind the wheel, to become aware of motorcyclists, regarding them with the same respect as any other vehicle traveling the highways of this country; and it is the responsibility of riders and motorists alike to obey all traffic laws and safety rules; and

WHEREAS, urging all citizens of our community to become aware of the inherent danger involved in operating a motorcycle, and for riders and motorists alike to give each other the mutual respect they deserve;

NOW, THEREFORE I, Jeff Stanley, Mayor of the City of Howe do hereby proclaim the month of May, as Motorcycle Safety and Awareness Month in this city. Further, I urge all residents to do their part to increase safety and awareness in our community.

IN WITNESS, WHEREOF, I have set my hand and caused the Seal of the City to be affixed this 18th day of April in the year 2017.

happened at intersections and typically when a vehicle turns left.

"We asked the public and the citizens (that year) to watch out and look twice and be cautious in those areas." said an ABATE member who spoke to the council. "It worked as the next year intersection fatalities dropped from 50 percent to 39 percent. So people are looking twice and we sure do appreciate that."

2015 was the deadliest year in the last 50 yers for all vehicles including cars, trucks, and motorcycles. It was the deadliest year for motorcycles in eight years.

"We aren't proud of any fatality rates, but in Texas we were only a 1 percent increase, whereas the national average was an 8 percent increase for motorcycle fatalities." said the rider. "I don't think it's because any legislative was passed or any laws that were put in place. I think it's because of communities like Howe that are proactive and not only dedicate May for Motorcycle Safety Month, but dedicate the whole year for motorcycle safety."

Mayor Stanley and City Administrator Joe Shephard are avid motorcycle enthusiasts and both spoke of the importance of motorcycle safety and each commented about the death of a young rider recently in which they will be attending a funeral of on Saturday.

"We have buried too many brothers over the last few years." said Mayor Stanley. "It's always hard. Especially as young as this one."

Howe Middle School Art Teacher Diane Richardson takes the time to upload each piece of artwork that her students create to a website named Artsonia which is an international art gallery for students.

Wilson was nominated and received 1,193 online votes from the community and school district which gave him the honor of "Artist of the Week" in his grade division. Along with the honor, Wilson also won $50 to be used for the purchase of art supplies.

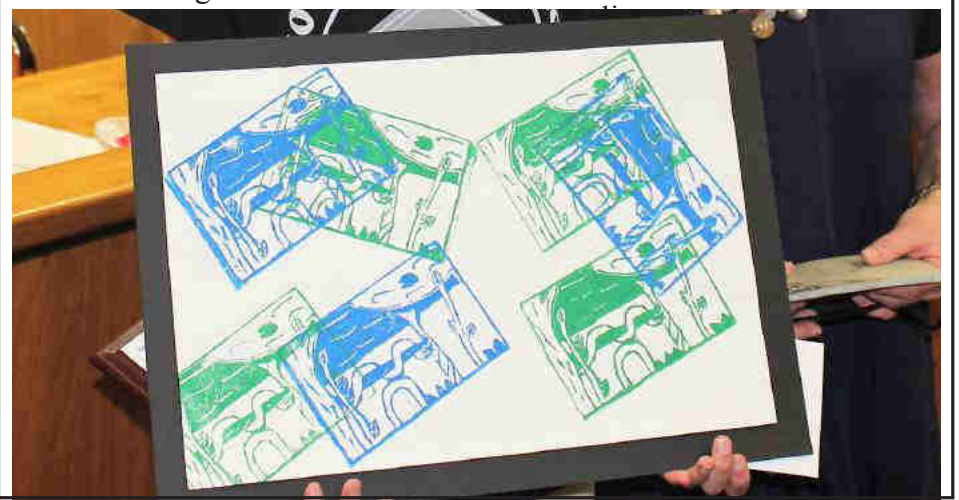

"Every once in a while we get a notification that one of our students has been nominated for the coveted title of "Artist of the Week." Richardson told the school board and audience last Monday night. "When you think about it being an international gallery and to be chosen from Howe, Texas to be a nominee is quite an honor."

His art piece was made with a linoleum stamp that he cut out and made a multi-print with multi-color.

"It was the process as well as the color that stood out." said Richardson.

Bulldogs drop district game to rival Van Alstyne, 6-5

Howe's all-state outfielder Brennan Ross slides in safely against Van Alstyne on Wednesday night. Michelle Carney/Howe Enterprise

All was well until the top of the third inning when Van Alstyne took advantage of every Howe (15-8) mistake. After cruising through the first two innings, Howe starting pitcher Peyton Reagan found trouble in the third when the Panthers scored three runs. From that inning on, Howe found themselves down 4-0 and trying to fight back to have a chance.

The Bulldogs did give themselves a chance the very next half inning when senior all-state outfielder Brennan Ross doubled on a liner in the right-center gap to drive in Jaden Matthews, who had been hit by a pitch, and Brice Krantz, who doubled to center. Howe would close the gap to 4-3 on Reagan's sacrifice fly to center that scored Ross.

In the top of the fourth, however, the Panthers extended their lead back to three runs on a double and a single. A terrific relay throw from center to home plate to nail down a would-be runner ended the inning and kept the Panthers with a 6-3 lead.

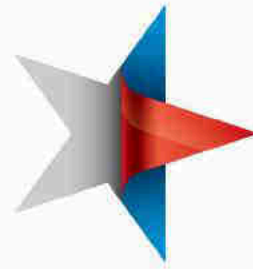

In the bottom of the sixth inning, tensions on the field and in the stands rose as Tanner Hartsfield was hit by a pitch to lead off the inning. Tyler Grisham made Van Alstyne pay as he completed a great at bat by fouling off a number of pitches until finding an inside fastball that he ripped off the base of the wall for a double that drove in Hartsfield. Krantz later drove home Hartsfield on a perfect piece of hitting to right field against the outfield shade to left. After six, Howe had cut the lead to 6-5.

Matt Griffin, who had come on in relief of Reagan, struckout the side only allowing one single in the inning.

Howe needed a bloop and a blast to win the game in walk-off fashion, but went down quickly with a lineout by Reagan, a strikeout of Griffin and a strikeout of Hartsfield to end the game.

During the final frame, Howe and Van Alstyne fans, who were commingled in the stands, brought the game to a momentary halt by officials on the field. The rivalry between the two schools which is approximately 100 years old seems to not have lost any luster through the years.

Lady Bulldogs blow out Van Alstyne, 12-2 to finish district play

Howe senior Dani Ross slides in safely against Van Alstyne on Wednesday night. Michelle Carney/Howe Enterprise

Despite being delayed by one day due to field conditions and despite trailing early in the game, the Howe Lady Bulldogs (13-4) finished out district play by scoring 12 unanswered runs and slammed the door shut on the District 10-3A schedule with a record of 9-3. The losses came to Leonard and twice to Lone Oak.

Madisyn Hargrove got the start for Howe. Van Alstyne led off the game with a single and took advantage of two Howe errors to score the first two runs of the game. But Howe's Erin Blackburn led off the Howe first with a single and would cut the Van Alstyne lead in half on a sacrifice fly to center by Peyton Streetman.

In the bottom of the second inning, Howe not only tied the game, but put together a four-run inning which started again Blackburn driving in Ross on a single. Streetman and Stubblefield each singled in the inning which resulted in runs and a 5-2 lead after two.

Howe had a five-run fourth inning which started when Kamryn Fulenchek drove in Ross. Streetman drove in Blackburn, who had tripled, and Kayla Anderson's single drove in Hargrove who reached on an error. At the end of the fourth, Howe led 10-2.

Anderson's double in the fifth inning drove in Blackburn and Streetman to give Howe the 12-2 win.

Hargrove earned the win for the Lady Bulldogs by throwing five innings, allowing two runs, two hits, striking out seven, and walking one.

Howe History Minute: The Interurban
From "90s...Then and Now; A Historical Cookbook", 1991

In the early 1900s Grayson County held an election and voted the county dry. All saloons were closed and replaced with other businesses.

In 1905 the Texas Traction Lines started making plans for the Interurban to come through Howe. In November of 1906 construction was begun on the Interurban tracks.

By 1907 the population of Howe had increased to 800. Businesses in Howe included: two drug stores (J.P. Harding and J.H. Hatcher), Luther Tolson Toys, S.W. Young General Store, Roy Webb Tailor for Men's Clothing, Haizlip's Hardware & Furniture (did you know that before there were funeral homes, you bought a casket at a furniture store?), Houston & Texas Central Railroad, Howe Telephone Company (T.A. Rowe, manager), P.J. Waldrop Grocery, The Farmers National Bank, O.T. Lyon & Son's Lumber Company, Howe Grain & Mercantile Company, McCoy & McCoy Hardware, and a John Deere dealer who displayed farm implements on the block where Charlotte's Country Cuts now stands (editors note: This is the northeast corner of Haning Street east of the railroad tracks).

Churches in Howe in 1907 included: the Cumberland Presbyterian church (small in number but made up for it in spirit and activity. Rev. J.L. Frazier was pastor and C.E. Davis was superintendent); Christian Church (home of devoted workers with W.J. Haywood of Anna as new pastor and W.H. Echols as superintendent); Baptist Church (Rev. T.E. Carter supplied this church with preaching two Sundays a month, R.C. Bush was superintendent); and Methodist (pastor was Rev. W.B. Byars and G.E. Duke was superintendent).

The Texas Traction Company put in the interurban into operation on July 1, 1908. The tracks went down Denny Street with a ticket agent at the drugstore on the northeast corner of Haning and Denny (where Bob Estep is now located). (Editor's note: the location is now the Howe EDC and Chamber of Commerce. The ticket window is now bricked in and the words "You Are Here" are painted over the location). Owners of the drug store were Will Collins and Porter Harding. If you look real close at the west wall of this building, you can see where an opening was bricked in. These bricks replaced a large bay window where the ticket agent had his desk so he could watch for the Interurban coming from the north as well as the south. Dr. Sadler had an office in the back of the drugstore. The Interurban tracks were moved when Denny Street (it was then Highway 75) was paved. The tracks were moved east and ran down the alley between City Hall and the Police Station. This alley continues along side of the K&N Feed and Price Hanning's Garage. (Editor's note: the K&N Feed Store was razed some years ago. It was located across from Don's Smokehouse which is now a parking lot). After the move, the ticket agent's office was located near the present Police Station (across to the east from City Hall today in 2017) and the freight office was where the domino hall is now (Peggy's Porch in 2017). The Interurban had passenger cars with padded wicker seats, as well as mail and freight cars. At one time the Interurban ran every thirty minutes. In 1934 you could ride for two cents a mile and children rode free. The Interurban ran between Denison and Dallas. The Interurban made its last trip through Howe on Dec. 31, 1948. They just could not compete with the automobile.

In 1907 there were three doctors in town: Dr. Joseph O. Matthews and Dr. R.W. Sadler had their office in the back of the Harding Drug and Dr. Daniel C.L. Shelley's office was in Hatcher's Drug Store. (Later George Stockton bought the drug store and moved it as Stockton Drug to where Frantz Enterprise is now located (This location in 2017 is now the Howe Mercantile). Dr. Shelley moved his office to this location also). Other doctors in Howe were Drs. Lemmon, Higgenbotham, another Dr. Shelley (a cousin of Dr. Daniel Shelley) and Dr. Bowen was the last Howe doctor.

In 1908 Howe ISD had its first graduating class. Artie Callaway was the class valedictorian. This same year her future husband, George Stockton, bought out Hatcher Drug Store which was located where the SNAP Center is today (Editor's note: This building was between the Feed Store and what is now apartments. The location is part of what is now a parking lot in 2017).

By 1909 the population of Howe had increased to 1,000. The thriving city boasted three grain elevators, three dry good stores, three grocery stores, two drug stores, two blacksmith and wagon repair shops, one bank and a $15,000 public school building (containing all "modern appliances and equipment") and four churches (Baptist, Methodist, Christian, and Presbyterian).

Storms do damage on Walnut Street

The storm that ripped through Howe last Sunday night ripped down a tree on Walnut Street which caused damage to a chain link fence. No other damage was reported.

Parents can guide but children make their own choices

How many parents have waited for the day when their child's eyes would suddenly be opened and like the prodigal they will finally see the truth and change their ways? Mothers and fathers dearly love their kids, but unfortunately, things do not always go as planned and many difficult children have caused their parents much worry, sadness, and disappointment. It is easy to blame the parents, but I do not believe that all liability can be laid at their doorstep. Parents have the perfect opportunity to present constructive thinking, discipline and a sense of right and wrong into their children's mind and spirit within the formative years, however this does not always guarantee the child will continue in the direction they were pointed. We guide and provide for our children, but they have a mind of their own.

Children are like sponges when it comes to learning and are very curious about what they observe, which gives every parent the dual opportunity to not only be the instructors but also the responsibility to demonstrate what they believe in front of them. We must also realize that children are vulnerable to other outside influences and have the ability to embrace whatever they want. So, how important is it to protect and guard the mind and spirit of a young child? Many experts agree that the first six years in a child's life is his or her most important years of mental, emotional and spiritual development. It is believed that the foundation that is laid within the individual's conscience during this crucial period of time becomes the decision filter they will use for the rest of their life.

It is no secret that young couples are inexperienced when they begin raising children of their own, but a key to success can be connected back to their own childhood. The generational cycle of curses and blessings are very real and it is generally accepted that knowledge is transferred from generation to generation whether it be positive or negative and is directly associated with behavior. It is wonderful when parents realize their own lack of understanding and make it a priority to improve the cycle for the sake of their children. Instead of a "rolling the dice" attitude, there are many wonderful educational resources that are Biblically based with constructive spiritual principals.

Does the concept of good parents producing good children always work? Through the years, I have talked with many broken-hearted parents that have wondered where they went wrong. They are good people who lived a decent moral life, took their kids to church, corrected them and tried to teach them the best they could. In these times of trying to console, the scripture found in Proverbs 22:6, usually finds its way to the surface. "Train up a child in the way they should go, and when they are old, they will not depart from it." This passage reminds us that if good seed has been planted within the heart of the child, God's living Word will eventually germinate and become manifested later in life. I'm sure many bewildered parents have been waiting a long time to see this miracle, and we could speculate forever, but I have come to the conclusion that when a person becomes an adult they simply choose what type of life they want to live.

For moms and dads that have reflected on the past and where they have made mistakes, we can all ask God to forgive us - and He will. It is important that we stop blaming ourselves for the choices our child is making. The Lord is aware of the situation and is listening to our prayers. He loves us and our children and is filled with understanding and compassion. So, let us continue having faith and hope in His promises that never fail and remember, it is never too late to talk with our children and sincerely share our heart with them. There is nothing impossible with God and He can make a way where there seems to be no way.

"Confess your faults one to another, and pray one for another, that you may be healed. The effectual (unceasing) fervent prayer of a righteous person accomplishes much" James 5:16.

Company imported some Klumpes in the early 1950s. Originally the figures had two sewn-on identifying cardboard tags.

Several years ago, I encountered an interesting category of dolls at an estate sale of a veteran doll collector. I had never seen this type of doll before and it took considerable research to find anything written about them in any doll books. My friend, Dawn Herlocker (200 Years of Dolls, volumes I and II, Antique Trader Books), was the first to document these dolls.

These caricature figures, called Klumpes, were made of felt over wire with painted mask faces. They were produced in Barcelona, Spain, between 1950 and the mid-1970s. The figures represent professionals, hobbyists, Spanish dancers, historical characters, and contemporary males and females performing a wide variety of tasks. Of the more than 200 or more different figures, the most common are Spanish dancers, bullfighters, and doctors. Effanbee Doll

The dolls average 10-12 inches in height and are elaborately dressed with highly detailed clothing and accessories. Prices range from $25-$95 for average unadorned figures to $225 for elaborate figures, mint-in-box with accessories.

HES Teacher of the Month

My name is Rebecca Fife and I am a third grade ELAR teacher at Howe Elementary. I graduated from Texas A&M-Commerce in May 2016 with a Bachelor's Degree in Interdisciplinary Studies EC-6. This is my first year teaching at Howe Elementary, and I am truly enjoying the experience.

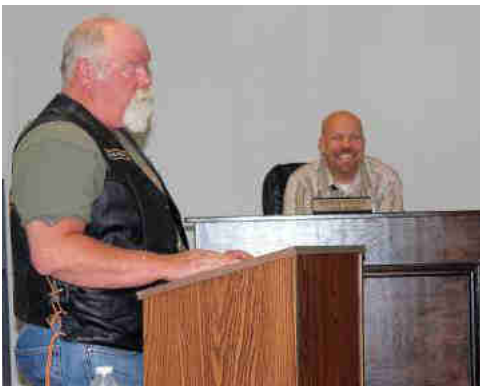

Rebecca Fife

I grew up in Indiana and later moved to the Southeast. I eventually made my way west to Leonard, TX where I have lived for the past 11 years with my husband and six kids. We raise a few head of cattle and enjoy living the country life. In my spare time I love to travel, sew, work in my yard, and spend time with Annie, my grandbaby.

I am fulfilling a childhood dream - to teach. I love that when I wake each morning I get to do what I love. I feel blessed to work with your children and some very inspiring and dedicated educators at Howe ISD.

City Council suspends Oncor rate increase, sets up negotiation

City Administrator Joe Shephard traded in his customary suit to welcome the bikers in honor of the Mayor's Proclamation.

The mega power company Oncor has requested a rate increase. But before doing so, they must go to the Public Utility Commission (PUC) for approval.

"It seems like this is happening more often. For awhile it was once per year, and then every six months and now it seems like it's every three months." said City

Administrator Joe Shephard.

Typically, Oncor will contact the PUC needing extra revenue for improvements. Cities involved in an association will fight to curb rate hikes deemed unnecessary to municipalities. In short, it becomes negotiating tools with attorneys involved.

"We go through this all the time." said Shephard. "Oncor knows they're not going to get this much, our attorneys know that they're going to get more than what they should, so it's a negotiation."

Had the council approved it, the rate increase would have taken affect regardless. However, by suspending the increase it allows for the negotiations to take place.

The Howe City Council voted to suspend the rate increase 4 to 1 with Debbie Lowery the only dissenting vote.

Texas History Minute

Dr. Ken Bridges

Dr. Bridges is a Texas native, writer, and history professor. He can be reached at drkenbridges@gmail.com.

An obstacle can be an opportunity for an enterprising spirit. This was the case for Texas inventor Bette Nesmith Graham. What had been an annoyance for typists led to the struggling single mother creating a new tool for offices and a multi-million dollar business. A single inspiration led Graham to invent the typing correction fluid she came to call Liquid Paper.

Born Bette Clair McMurray in Dallas in March 1924, she grew up in San Antonio. She was a difficult student in school as her stubborn personality led her to clash often with her teachers. As a result, she dropped out at age 17 and later completed night school. She married Warren Nesmith in 1942, and the couple had a son, Michael, later that year.

Her husband left to serve in World War II in 1942. After his return, the marriage collapsed; and the couple divorced in 1946. Newly divorced and having a young son to care for, she found a job as a secretary. Unfortunately, she did not know how to type very well, which was a vital office skill.

After her father's death, Nesmith moved back to Dallas with her mother and sister. She accepted a secretarial position at Texas Bank and Trust in the early 1950s and eventually worked her way to the position of executive secretary. However, she still made mistakes when typing.

Typewriter erasers were available, but their effectiveness were limited to the kind of typewriter ribbon used and often did not erase completely. In professions where precision were essential to avoiding any type of legal problem, this meant absolute perfection with any typed document. As such, even the slightest mistake meant that the typist had to begin again.

This wasted time and paper and caused considerable frustration, from newspapers to students typing reports to businesses eager for efficiency and perfection.

One day, she happened to observe some sign painters. While precision was important in their work as well, she noted that they did not start over completely when they made a mistake – they simply painted over it. Inspired, she began applying water-based paint to typing mistakes. Before long, other secretaries began to find out about her correction fluid, and it soon became a hit. She steadily refined the formula to make it dry faster and soon had a profitable side business selling her correction fluid to secretaries across Dallas.

By 1956, she was filling orders full time out of her home for "Mistake Out," as she called it. Her now-teenaged son and his friends often helped fill the orders as demand steadily increased. In 1958, she changed the name to "Liquid Paper," and applied for and received a patent and trademark for her product.

She soon received national attention for her innovation. In 1958, General Electric placed the first large corporate order, for 400 bottles. At that point, she started offering Liquid Paper in different colors as not all documents were on white paper.

Changes came to her personal life as well. She married Robert Graham in 1962. Her son, Michael Nesmith had grown up and developed a successful acting and musical career, eventually co-starring with the pop group The Monkees. In the meantime, Liquid Paper steadily grew.

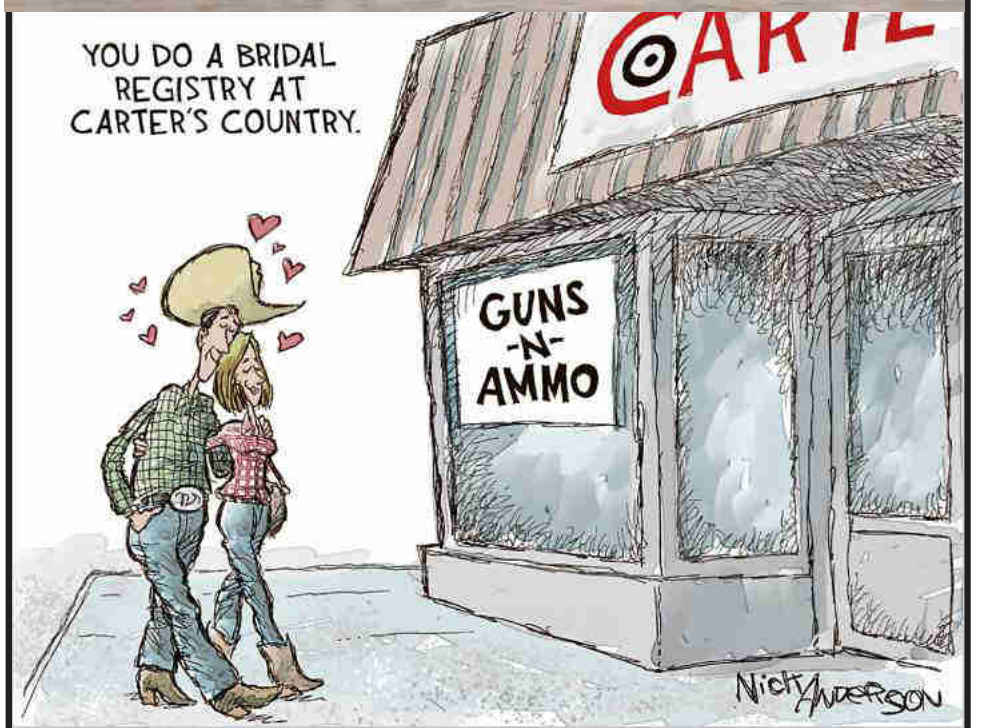

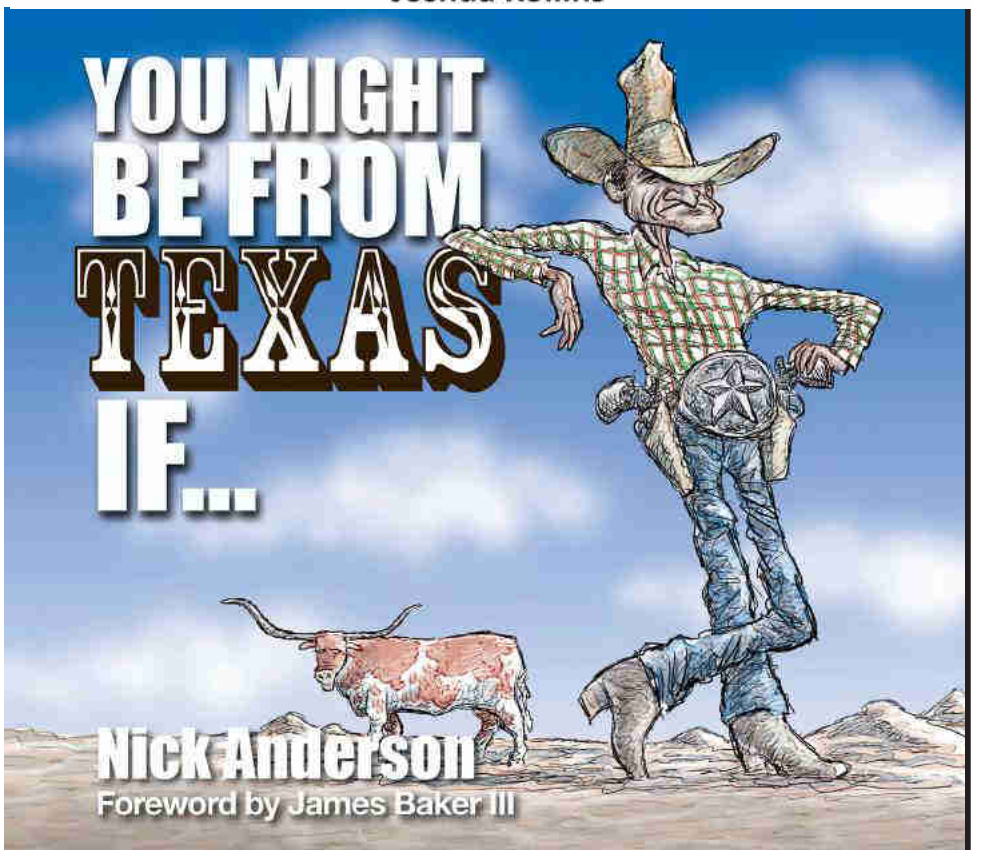

By 1964, the company was producing 5,000 bottles per week. By 1967, the company was working out of its own factory site in Dallas. Ten years after she launched Liquid Paper, the company was making 10,000 bottles per day and made $1 million in sales for the first time (more than $7 million in 2017 dollars). The company sold one million bottles in 1970 alone.

Graham moved her company into a new, 35,000-square foot facility in Dallas in 1975. Remembering her own struggles, she made sure that the site had special amenities for her employees, including a library and a day care center. Employees noted that she was practical and generous and had made emphasizing quality over profit a focal point of the business. She established the Betty Claire McMurray Foundation in 1976, named after her mother, to help women in business.

As her health began to fail, Graham sold Liquid Paper to the Gillette Company, known mostly for selling razors, in September 1979 for $47.5 million (or $169.5 million in 2017 dollars). Graham died in May 1980 at the age of 56. In spite of the eclipse of the typewriter by the modern computer, Liquid Paper remains a popular product. Sometimes a simple observation and hard work can produce a multi-million dollar innovation.

one year like it has this year." said Hudson.

The transition led to a new offensive coordinator and a new offensive approach to football. Michael Hartsfield was hired from a list of approximately 25 applicants. Hudson says that it was Hartsfield's energy that sold him and ultimately landed him the job.

"If you don't have enough guys on the staff with energy, the kids will hit a lull." said Hudson. "You need those guys to come in with that energy. That's what Dale (West) did. He had the same amount of experience as Michael, almost to a tee. The same amount of schools he's been at - always with the same people. If you look at those two resumes, they're almost identical. Only one runs a slot-T and one runs the wing-T."

Hartfield is a native of Van Alstyne which should bring some added flavor to the Silver Spike, as if any was needed. His Wing-T should be very familiar to Bulldogs fans as prior to the most recent successful run in the program's history, Howe's "Post-War Glory Days" happened from 1985-1991 when Howe featured the wing-T offense under Jim Fryar and later Joey McQueen. Most casual fans will not see much of a difference from the slot-T philosophy to the wing-T philosophy. Over the past three years, Howe has rushed for an astonishing and nearly unimaginative 4,000 plus yards each season and have blown the doors off of competition due in most part to fitting the proper philosophies to match the players' strengths. But Hudson says that changes were going to happen even if West stayed. Having a 6' 5" receiver in Ty Harvey, who will now split out, can change the approach and can force defenses to get out of the box. In the slot-T, Howe in the last three years combined threw the ball, on average, 1.89 times per game with many halfback passes included in that total. Howe fans might expect to average around four to five in the wing-T, same philosophy, but a variance of the approach.

"I think you're beating your head against a wall when you don't change." said Hudson. "There's a reason Gunter changed. They've run three different offenses in the last three years. They do what matches their kids and we have to do the same."

Meagan Garrett was hired to be the new head volleyball coach and also junior varsity basketball and track. She's been in Lone Oak the last couple of years.

Tiffany Moreland has also been hired. She's been in Denison and Commerce and most recently Wolfe City.

"It's very difficult to hire a female coach." said Hudson. "There's not a lot of them out there that coach. A lot of them don't stay in it that long because of having babies and families. We were able to get some ladies in here with very good experience and we're excited about that. Right now we don't have a woman out there as a track coach and we all have girls and that's okay, but you need a woman out there."

Other changes that will be taking place is at the varsity baseball level where Heath Grant has announced to the team that he is getting away from the high school coaching staff due to needing more time with his family.

Hudson says that he has a verbal agreement from another high-profile coach with, but it has not been finalized by the school board just yet.

"It's been stable for the last few years and it kind of spoils you, especially in a small school." said Hudson.

VOLUME IV

HOWE, GRAYSON COUNTY, TEXAS, THURSDAY, APRIL 20, 1967

NUMBER 41

HOWE'S THAT ?

Life should be a little easier now, for a few months, for a lot of people.

About all of the first-of-the-year deadlines have passed, and if you didn't forget any of them, you're above average.

Voter registration, auto licenses, auto inspections, property taxes, and one other, income taxes are all, or should have been taken care of by last Monday.

Looks like the powers that be would spread these burdens and privileges out over the entire year.

o-o-o-o

This rainfall we've been receiving the past several days, is hard to tabulate.

It's been raining more on one side of town one day, then vice-versa, etc.

However, most of the North Texas area has been receiving more than necessary, while the Howe area has been measuring lesser amounts. Hope this is not the summer supply all in one week.

o-o-o-o

Rose Ann Armstrong, who was burned last week when she stuck a bobby pin into an electrical outlet, is reported to be doing well. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Armstrong of Howe. Mrs. Armstrong said this week that the burns were not as serious as first believed.

o-o-o-o

Sign on the door of Adorn Beauty Shop Tuesday morning: "Sorry we are closed. I have the mumps.

Naomi Krajewski"

The note went on to explain that she was trying to locate a recent partner, Peggy Bell, to handle the firm's business, and Peggy is on the job at present.

Guess everybody has difficulties now and then. We received a cut, about four stitches worth, on our typing finger last weekend, and the wife, secretary, janitor, housekeeper has been pecking out a few lines on the typesetting machine while taking care of our number one son, who was home in bed with a slight brain concussion.

Always heard things could be worse.

o-o-o-o

Ab Reeves and Bro. Bill went fishing again the other day. Didn't catch a single mud hen. Nothing but fish.

Parent-Teacher Association Elects Officers Thursday

Leon Thornhill was elected president of the Howe Parent-Teacher Association at regular monthly meeting last Thursday. He replaces Mrs. Bob Bonner, who was elected vice-president for the forthcoming term.

Other officers named were: Mrs. Stanley Stewart, secretary; Mrs. Bob Fagala, treasurer; Mrs. Ray Houston, parliamentarian, and Mrs. N. D. Moses, historian.

Committee chairmen are: Program, Mrs. C. L. Pooi; membership, Mrs. Joe Matthews, Mrs. O. C. Miller and Mrs. Bell Murdock; ways and means, Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Harmon; projects, Mrs. Tom Gouard; art, Mrs. Earl King; hospitality, Mrs. Arnold Dutton and Mrs. Robert Cooper; legislation, Mrs. Ted Austin; publications, Mrs. James Rayburn; publicity, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Walker; year books, Mrs. Harold Taylor.

Program for the meeting was presented by Bob White. Topic was "New Resources for Better Learning," and an illustrated lecture of a day in the Howe School system.

Third and fourth grades provided entertainment.

Telephone Service Meeting Tonight At Dorchester

Paul Spence, District Community Manager, and Don Crumby from the Whitewright office of Northeast Texas Telephone Company will meet with members of the Dorchester Community Club at 7:30 p.m. Thursday.

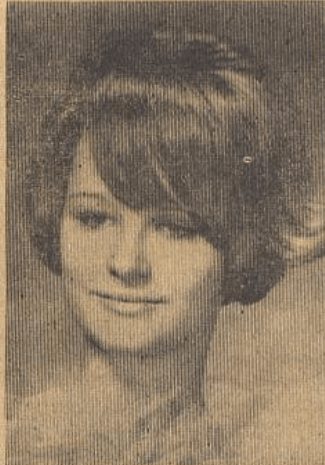

The representatives are meeting with the Dorchester organization in regard to a petition by residents recently submitted to the company relating to telephone service.

Persons interested in the project are urged to be present.

Howe Students Take Three First Places In Interscholastic Events

Howe students returned with three first place awards Saturday from the Interscholastic League Events held at Austin College.

Howe's that...

VOLUNTEER SPIRIT - (From Thomas W. Pauken, Director of ACTION) - This is the story of a western town that is proving the spirit of the old West's voluntarism is just as vigorous today as it was way back when. Cannonville, Utah, near Bryce Canyon, is not much larger than a postage stamp, but its 158 residents and its enterprising mayor, Laurie Holley, have made it a special place to live.

Eight years ago when Mayor Holley was elected, the town needed a new water system; that, or Cannonville was on the way to becoming a ghost town. Through the Mayor's efforts, a federal grant was obtained and local bonds sold. Together they saved the day. Having an ample water supply was an incentive to the townspeople; they were anxious to make Cannonville prosper and grow. Even though there were no more funds available, they decided they needed a community center. As Laurie Holley told Valerie Schulthie, a reporter with the Salt Lake City Deseret News, everyone with a vehicle headed for the hills and brought back rocks. Others cut, hauled and peeled logs. A local contractor donated his crew's time and labor to oversee construction. Like an old-fashioned house raising, the town raised the community center and made it an all-purpose gathering place for local and social groups. Inspired, they decided to take on the development of a town recreation park. On their own time and with their own planning and effort, they landscaped, built and installed playground and picnic equipment, planting the area with trees and shrubs.

Next, at Mayor Holley's suggestions, a survey of priorities was conducted by Cannonville volunteers through a Utah State University program. As a result, townspeople agreed to sign up for one of four building and beautification committees. A fire station was found to be the number one priority, and volunteers went forth to raise funds for its equipment.

The fact is that while Cannonville's residents would never change the town's name, it could be called Volunteerville, for the people who live there have found that the best and the surest way to get done what needs to be done is to join in and do it together.

President Reagan has placed a new emphasis on voluntarism, its importance in our society, its value to the community and the sense of personal responsibility it affords. The people of Cannonville, Utah are an on-going example of what he is talking about.

WORKING TOGETHER - That is a key phrase in getting something done. Howe is privileged to have a number of people who volunteer their time and efforts along with their money to help make Howe a better place to live. Volunteers man the fire trucks to help protect our community from the threat of fire. Volunteers work with young boys and girls each summer to give them a sports program. Volunteers have worked hard to give Howe a public library (and they are still working hard to help keep it going). Volunteers help the band, drill team, and athletic programs at the high school.

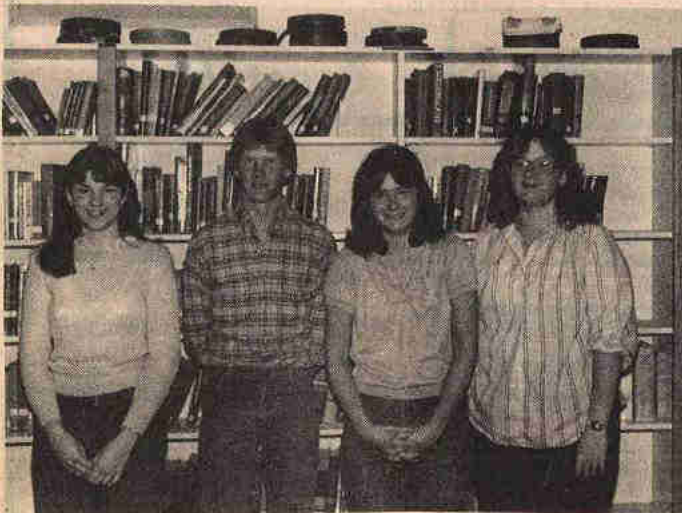

But we have only touched the tip of the iceberg, so to speak, of the potential that this town has to offer. If everyone in town would help, in any capacity - large or small, just think of the things that can be done. You don't have to be rich. You don't have to be talented. You don't have to know a lot of influential people. If you could give an hour here and there, you can help in some way.

Volunteer help is often needed for such things as baking a cake or pie for a bake sale; or telephoning several people to remind them of what needs to be done or to ask for their help; or addressing envelopes; or stapling papers together; or many, many other tasks that would take a small amount of time.

Instead of complaining of this problem or that one if we put our time and efforts into solving the problem, maybe we can lick the problem. If you read the story above, a key statement you should note is "the surest way to get done what needs to be done is to join in and do it together."

And remember, there's no limit to the amount of work that can be done when no one cares who gets the credit.

Former Councilman Addresses Council On Rumor Of Wrongdoing

Former councilman O.B. Powers addressed the Howe City Council Thursday night, April 15, concerning rumors that were spread during the recent election stating he had used his office (on council) for special privileges.

According to this rumor, in Nov., 1980 Powers had the city crew install a gas line on his property to be hooked up to a trailer that was to be used by the new police chief, Tom Griffith. Then after the line was installed, Powers found an excuse to get Griffith to move and Powers never paid for the work, rumor said. (Note: On June 3, 1981 Tom Griffith and his wife were indicted by the Grayson County Grand Jury on a criminal mischief complaint alleging that they took property from a trailer when they moved. The trailer, owned by Charles Mendias of the Tyler area, was repossessed in Jan., 1981. At that time Griffith moved to a house on S. Denny. Although warrants were issued for Griffith and his wife, no arrests were made because the Griffiths had left Grayson County.)

Thursday night, Powers produced a bill from Akins Plumbing for the gas line and a cancelled (personal) check for the amount to show the council he had indeed paid for the gas line.

Powers further stated that the city crew did hook up sewer and water in Nov., 1980 to the trailer on the order of then mayor Glynn Hestand. Hestand at first told Powers there would be no charge since the water lines belonged to Powers. Later Hestand changed this and a bill was sent to Powers for $120 on Jan. 1, 1981 - more than a month after the work was done. (Usual city procedure is to collect tap fees before a work order for hook up is written.) Powers said he did not pay the bill because it was on his own lines.

In an interview, Powers told the Howe Enterprise he wanted to straighten out the mess and make sure the council and the town know exactly what happened so there can be no accusation of wrong doing.

At the council meeting Powers addressed several remarks directly to Carol Cox who was in the audience. He told her she was messing with something she knew nothing about. He said, "If you want to find out something, come ask me; I'll tell you. But don't mess with my personal business."

"I'm getting tired of this," he added. "I put up with it all the while I was on council." He also said he felt she had misled the council and referred to the demolition projects in town in which she had told council the whole lot had to be cleared off. Powers said he had found out that that is not true. He said Mrs. Cox should resign (from the Community Block Committee - she has been serving on this for several years for the city of Howe.)

Powers also said, "If I'm not mistaken, this lady here (Mrs. Cox) has been up to the telephone company trying to get the City of Howe billed for cutting a telephone cable in two. Is that right?"

Mrs. Cox said, "No, it is not. Why don't you get your story straight?"

Powers said someone matching her description and using her name had been to the phone company. Mrs. Cox told him he had the wrong story and Powers said, "I hope so."

Several council members commented on Powers' statements. Sam Haigis said he felt that former mayor Hestand authorized the work just as Powers had said. Haigis remembered when the council hired Griffith and Hestand helped get him moved to town as quickly as possible.

Jack Floodas added that a city vehicle was used to bring some of Griffith's belongings to Howe to help him move because of what was felt to be an "emergency" situation - getting the new chief on the job. (The previous police chief had resigned and Howe needed the police protection.)

Floodas said he regretted the matter having to come before council. He said, "If it comes to the point where a

Mandrell Show A Success

Over 2000 people found themselves "Spellbound" with Louise Mandrell last Friday night, April 16. It will be a night long remembered for it was a tremendous accomplishment which greatly benefited the Library and Ms. Mandrell gave a fantastic performance.

Many people were able to meet her personally and were very pleased with her warmth and friendliness. She is a great person and it was a treat for her to represent the Howe Public Library.

It was a special pleasure to get to know and work with not only Louise, but also her band members and those with her. In fact, many of the ladies found the all-male band members quite impressive (by the way, they are all single except one).

The "Friends" wish to say Thank You to everyone who helped in any way from buying a ticket to loading "Caper Trouspers."

To quote Mr. Arnold Dutton, "Only Howe could do it!"

Summer Sports News

Six businesses in Howe have made donations to be used for new benches in the dugouts at the baseball and softball fields. Those businesses are Howe Enterprise, Family Pharmacy, Dean's Garage, Estep Appliance, Dr. Roxanne Smith, and Monsanto Ag Center.

Work days have been scheduled for Saturday, April 24, and Saturday, May 1, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. The fields need to be readied for this summer's games and there is much work to be done. Volunteers are needed to help - please call Gary Engel at 532-6143, Gerald Hickox at 532-5410, or Mark Keene at 532-5462 if you have some free time and are willing to help.

The league meeting has been set for Monday, April 26, at 7 p.m. in the Tom Bean High School cafeteria. All commissioners and coaches are encouraged to attend to vote on rules and policy for this season.

The Sports League still needs a refrigerator. If anyone has one to donate or to sell at a reasonable price, please call Gary Engel.

Volunteers are still needed to umpire games and to work in the concession stand. Umpires will be paid at the same rate as last year.

The next meeting for Howe coaches will be Monday, May 10, 6:30 p.m. in the school cafeteria.

Sales Tax Rebate

Sales tax rebate for the period ending April 9 for Howe is $708.71, compared to last year's at this time of $575.64. 1982 payments to date are $7,425.60, a 12% increase over last year's total of $6,605.79.

The one percent city sales tax is collected along with the state's four percent and rebated monthly to the city.

Over $19,000 was raised by the Friends through ticket sales and ads. Ms. Mandrell's performance cost was $15,600. After the other expenses (facilities, lights and sound, etc.) the library made approximately $1500. Although the profit was not as much as desired, every penny was well spent. Ms. Mandrell's show was the best ever in the Texomaland area.

Puppet Show

All children who are interested are invited to a puppet show at the Howe Public Library Saturday morning, April 24, beginning at 10 a.m.

An open house was held at the library Monday night, April 19. Entries in the logo contest and book mark contest were displayed. Winners in the two contests will be announced later this week.

The library is open Monday through Friday, from 1 to 5 p.m. and on Saturdays from 9-11 a.m. Books available cover a wide range of subjects and interests. All area residents are urged to visit the library to see the facilities and to use the resources gathered there. Librarian Paula Boyd will be happy to assist anyone in finding a special book or subject.

NEVER TOO YOUNG TO ENJOY THE LIBRARY - Two year old Cariana Coffey found a chair her size and a book to read while visiting the Howe Public Library during Open House Monday, April 19. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Coffey of Howe.

The Texomaland area was treated to a rare experience last Friday night with the appearance of Louise Mandrell of the famous Mandrell Sisters. Her hour and fifteen minute performance was action packed with singing, dance routines and the playing of at least ten different instruments.

Since she did not share billing with any other entertainer, she put on the whole show and it was very enjoyable. Her costumes were beautiful. One of her songs, "She Believes In Me," was dedicated to her sister, Barbara. The stage setting of helium filled balloons set the atmosphere for a party and she made sure the audience enjoyed themselves. No one was disappointed in the quality of the show.

A special thanks needs to be given to the Howe Volunteer Fire Department who helped in every way possible to make the show a success. They worked with lighting, security, directing traffic and other ways. The highlight of the night came during the autograph session when they presented Ms. Mandrell with a T-shirt making her an honorary member of the Howe Volunteer Fire Dept. She was very pleased with this presentation.

Many thanks to Jack Floodas who provided the caps and also worked with the lighting. Thanks to the uniformed security who had to keep Ms. Mandrell in visual contact at all times.

Thanks to members of the Friends group who worked everywhere and to Mary and Robin Stonebarger and Monda Ainsworth for helping sell programs. Also to Kerri and Kelli Norman, friends tonight!

Paula Powell and Jana Norman for selling programs. Appreciation is given to Edna Dutton, Ora Mae Arterbery, and Glenna Hutchens for working with the tickets. A big thanks to those who worked with security, tickets, etc. - Walt Schneider, Sondra Williams, Tom Nelson, Jerry Park, Gary Frank, David Wortham, Gary Engel, Ken Fenton, Cathy Care, Ken Vickers, Barbara and Tom Mrozinski, Kathy Puckett, Sandra Akins, Lana Rideout, Bill & Jean Mullins, Mike Crocker, Jerry Campbell, Mike Montgomery, Mike Mize, and Robin Todd.

Fred Holcomb did a fantastic job as emcee and taking pictures for the library. A special thank you to Lavonna Clinton, fund raising chairwoman, who planned and organized a successful show.

Also we would like to thank Sweeney's and The Gentry at Sher-Den Mall for helping us sell tickets and also Interiors Unlimited in Sherman.

The warmth of Ms. Mandrell on and off the stage made the night one to remember. She was very sincere and in her performance thanked the library for bringing her and also encouraged everyone to read and to enjoy the library.

The Friends Group appreciates everyone who helped in any way and wants to thank the people of Howe for supporting the show in such a grand way. As one young man remarked after the show, "The Howe Library has sure made a lot of friends tonight!"

Howe's That . .

WE NEED TO SEND A MESSAGE - to the world that we in Howe will not tolerate drug pushers and gun carriers in our schools.

A "Letter to the Editor" published in this paper last week asked for volunteers to help make Howe schools and all Grayson County schools - drug free and gun free. The writer of the letter, Eugene Lund of Sherman, will be working with Howe Supt. Dr. Wayne King to help arrange an assembly program whereby students and the community will be made aware of this effort.

Signs need to be placed at each of the schools and at the football stadium. The more signs the better, but at least four signs are needed right away.

Signs making Howe schools "Drug Free/Gun Free" can be purchased for about $20 a piece. Businesses or individuals who would like to contribute to this effort may send a check or money order to the Howe Chamber of Commerce, Box 250, Howe, TX 75459. Please indicate that the donation is for the "drug free" signs.

Also volunteers who would like to help with this program should contact Lana Rideout at 532-6012 or Dr. King at 532-5518.

HUNTING FOR EASTER EGGS - Although grandson Jordan is only 18 months old, it didn't take him long to catch on to the game of hiding Easter eggs and then hunting for them - especially the candy eggs. He came over to Nana Lana's house for a while Sunday and we hid some candy eggs for him to find. Of course, the hiding places weren't too difficult. We videotaped it and he enjoyed watching himself on TV trying to find the eggs.

Honor rolls will appear next week.

Health

BACK PAIN CAN BE CONTROLLED - You don't have to just tolerate back pain.

Preventive measures can help. For example, when seated for prolonged periods:

-Sit tall with hips pushed back in the chair, thighs parallel to the floor.

-At work, use a firm, straight-back chair with armrest and padded support for lower back. Your feet should rest flat on the floor or on a footrest.

-Avoid bending over a desk for long periods of time.

These and other tips are in a free booklet available from Baylor College of Medicine.

To obtain a copy, send a stamped, self-addressed business-size envelope to "Managing Back Pain," Room 176B, Baylor College of Medicine, Houston, TX 77030.

School Board Mulls Facility Usage Guidelines

On Monday, April 20, Howe School Board members discussed at length a new policy with guidelines for the use of school facilities (gyms, cafeteria, etc.) by non-school groups.

Among items they wish included are a deposit and a strict enforcement of rules governing the buildings, especially the gyms.

Several board members disagreed on whether or not the high school gym should be used for other than school functions. It was noted that the Howe Youth Basketball group with over 200 students used the high school gym as well as the middle school gym this year with no problems. However, the usage of the high school gym was supervised by Howe Head Coach Joey McQueen whose children were involved in the basketball group.

Concerns were voiced about possible damage to the gym floor (which is expensive to repair), but other board members stated they feel that parents and taxpayers expect to be able to use the school facilities including the high school gym.

Dr. King is working on the wording of the policy to satisfy the concerns of the board as well as accommodate patrons. The policy will be on the agenda of the May meeting for a final reading and adoption.

In other business the board:

*Approved an amended Gifted/Talented policy.

*Tabled the bid of Johnson Controls for energy management.

*Set Drivers' Ed fee at $150.

*Approved transfer applications for 1992-93.

Dr. King reported that enrollment is steady at 896 and that the average daily attendance has been also been very good despite various illnesses going around.

Mike Mannery was honored as "Employee of the month." (See separate article.)

Employee of Month

Mike Mannery has been selected as employee of the month for Howe ISD for April. He is employed in the maintenance department. Mike is in charge of grounds, so you will often see him about town riding a tractor or pushing a mower. Playgrounds, the football field, and the baseball field are all maintained by Mike. When he gets caught up with outside work, he goes to the principals, custodians and teachers looking for things to be done in their respective buildings.

Mike is also a bus driver for on the of the district routes. In addition to his daily regular route, he transports to the Grayson County Special Education Center where students with handicapping conditions may attend classes in instructional settings which better meet their needs. Throughout the year, Mike also drives many Howe students to and from locations for field trips.

Mike and his wife, Karen, live in Sherman. He is originally from Whitewright where he was a 1986 graduate. He has been employed by Howe ISD for five years. Dr. King said, "He is a hard and willing worker. He is appreciated for the work he does, his attitude toward getting the job done and his helpfulness on all campuses."

Even though plans are only in the preliminary stage, reunion activities will include pre-game ceremonies Friday night (Oct. 2), a reception for former students/faculty after the homecoming football game & events that run all day Saturday (Oct. 3) including a sit-down meal, tours of Howe, individual class celebrations and lots of visiting time.

Reunion organizers will mail reunion information to everyone for whom they have current addresses, so responses are needed promptly.

Howe Community Library Requests Funding Increase From City

Citing a steady increase in usage of local library resources, Peggy Bradley and Jean Norman asked the Howe City Council to consider an increase in funding to the Howe Community Library when they begin their 1993-94 budget this summer.

Bradley, HCL librarian, reported an increase in "city patrons" from 3,484 in 1989-90 to 5,357 in 1990-91. During 1991-92 (Sept.-Mar) an average of 412 city patrons have used the library. (Since the library is a joint city-school library, Mrs. Bradley keeps a separate count of library usage by adults and after school usage by children for her city patron listing.)

Mrs. Bradley also told council that a committee has met twice to help the library set goals and make plans for future library growth.

Jean Norman, representing the Friends of the HCL and also the HCL Library Board, explained to the council that the library would like to like to add literacy and GED programs. She also called on several people in the audience to voice their support of the community library.

Donna Jarma, HHS English teacher, said when she came to HHS 15 years ago, the school's library was one classroom with some paperback books. She praised the present library with its many resources which her students have recently used for research papers. Tina Watson, HHS senior, noted that at the Sherman library she had trouble locating materials, but "the Howe library is very convenient to use." Marty Cannaday asked the council to "go out on a limb... invest in something worthwhile... we can put so much into our children through a library."

Mrs. Norman also asked several people in the audience to stand: those who serve on the Friends Board, those who serve on the Library Board, and others who have worked on the recently formed community committee.

In other business, the council:

*Approved a resolution to make a $1,000 payment as Howe's portion on the Intermodal Transportation Planning (which includes the TAPS program). They also approved a resolution on the boundary of the area served.

*Approved a variance of 10% for a 50' lot at 306 E. Tutt. The request from Junior Dan Adkins was to allow a house to be built on the property with a variance on side yard requirements. The council's 10% variance would allow side yards of 5' instead of the ordinance required 7' because of the lot's small size.

*Approved a zoning change from R1a to C3 for M.E. Curtis at 411 W. Haning.

Absentee Balloting Ends April 28

Absentee balloting for the May 2 city and school elections continues through April 28. Absentee balloting for the Howe City election and for the Howe School trustee election is being held at the Howe City Hall between the hours of 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. weekdays.

On May 2 the Howe city election will be conducted at the Howe Middle School. The Howe school election will be conducted at the Howe Middle School and at the Dorchester Baptist Church from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m.

Howe's that ...

by Lana Rideout

When I was 12, my family moved from Fort Worth to Dallas. Both my grandmothers still lived in Fort Worth, so every summer my sister and I would spend at least one week with Gran Brown (who also lived very close to my other grandmother).

My sister and I along with Gran Brown would ride the bus to downtown Fort Worth where there were blocks and blocks of stores - some fancy, some small, and all interesting to girls who were 12 and 8. Gran would usually buy some fabric and thread (she liked to sew) and maybe a few more gadgets of some kind. Sometimes she would have a list of items, but we didn't want to get too much as we would have to carry it until we got on the bus to go back to Gran's house.

The highlight to me of this trip downtown was a stop at Woolworth's Five and Dime Store. The treasures found in Woolworth's rival any dollar store of today. And after we bought a few odds and ends such as paper dolls, colors, pads of paper, etc., we sat down at the "soda fountain" and each ordered a banana split topped with scoops of real ice cream, whipped cream, chocolate sauce and a bright red maraschino cherry (stem and all). And it only cost 39 cents.

Gran did not have a television in those years when we visited her. So after supper, we would sit outside under the trees that lined the yard. The metal lawn chairs were sturdy and not too uncomfortable. We looked up at the sky as the sun was setting and watched for the first star to appear so we could make a wish.

We talked our school and friends in Dallas and Gran would tell us stories of her childhood and of our mother's childhood. It was a magical time to me then and it still is

HHS Library Dedication Sunday, April 22, 2 pm

A ceremony to dedicate the HHS library to honor Dr. Wayne King will be held Sunday, April 22, at 2 pm at Howe High School.

Dr. King served as HISD Superintendent in Howe for 12 years, from 1991-2002. King worked with the school board and community during the building of the new high school which opened with the 2000-2001 school year. The $12 million building contained a full gymnasium and practice gym, a large cafeteria, library, ag-building, many classrooms, conference rooms and state-of-the-art technology. The former high school was renovated into what is now the middle school for students in grades 5-8.

Dr. King also led the district to upgrade all the facilities and also working with the academic structure so that Howe students would continue to excel in competitions and attain their educational goals.

Everyone is invited to attend this dedication.

GCC South Campus returning to prairie land

by Dale Rideout

Grayson County College is taking a step back in time at their South campus in Van Alstyne. They have about 77 acres of land that is being planted with native trees and grasses to return the area to native blackland prairie.

Two weeks ago they planted about 670 native trees in five or six different "pods" to create various areas of wooded land with the grassland between. Already there are two natural "pods" on the campus with various types of wildlife, such as deer and coyotes. Currently these animals must run through an open area to get from one pod to another. When these new pods begin growing, there will be a chain from the two natural areas that the wildlife can use, traveling under cover of wooded areas.

Using grants and advice from state agencies, GCC was able to purchase these trees and get them planted. There were many volunteers helping, including teachers, staff, and students as well as high school students from area schools.

Most of the trees are about six feet tall and should be growing well soon. Currently you will not see much if you drive by the campus, but given a few weeks with the trees growing and putting on leaves, you should get an idea of the "finished product."

There are future "dreams" of a mile long, paved walking path and a small lake. This is not just a feature to add beauty, but will be a place for students to learn first hand about native wildlife and plants.

Wildflowers are also being used to decorate other areas around the campus.

OGDEN, UTAH

Hestand retires from 40-year law enforcement career

With 40 years in law enforcement, Howe High School graduate David Hestand, 64, retired earlier this month. He ended his career as Weber State University Deputy Police Chief.

The son of Glynn and Mary Hestand of Howe, David began his career working for the Texas Highway Department in 1967. He also worked in the Grayson County Sheriff's Office when Woody Blanton was Sheriff.

He took a trip to Utah to visit a friend and ended up moving there to work at Weber State. During 31 years with the university, he worked with four police chiefs and five university presidents.

In an article in the Ogden Standard Examiner, Hestand said, "I'm leaving law enforcement with a big smile on my face. I've had a great career. I couldn't have written a better script for myself."

Hired on at the university in 1975, Hestand said that after a change in the department structure, the officers began teaching classes on safety and were more in the public eye.

Hestand wrote the program to help expand the police department to the entire campus. Every building on campus has signs and the campus has become more proactive in its approach to public safety.

Dane LeBlanc, WSU Police Chief, said that Hestand has been a valuable asset to the department. He said, "He has been a good, loyal employee and friend." He also stated that he appreciated Hestand's jovial demeanor, as law enforcement can be a stressful environment.

LeBlanc also praised Hestand for keeping the training logs up to date and making sure each officer complies with training requirements.

In the newspaper article on Hestand's retirement, David told about having the assignment of working on VIP security and protection. Among those he served as bodyguard for during their visits to the university were Charleton Heston, former LDS Church President Spencer Kimball, former U.S. President Gerald Ford, and Henry Kissinger.

David visited with Heston during lunch, as the two men compared genealogies and the similarity of their last names. David said some of his ancestors changed their name to Heston several generations back.

Hestand is looking forward to the new era of his life. He plans to travel more, visiting his family in Texas and children who live in other states.

HOWE FIRST GRADE

Cowboy 'cook-out'

First Grade recently finished a unit on Texas and ended the week with Cowboy/Cowgirl Day. The First Graders were able to celebrate with a "Chuck Wagon Cookout."

They sang songs, told stories, and ate some grub (a small snack of cornbread and grape "coffee") around a pretend campfire. It was a rootin' tootin' good time.
