HOWE'S THAT

Jesse Farrer was a senior when I was a freshman. Several of the seniors enjoyed being royal turds to us, but that wasn't the case with Jesse. He was the protector of all. As a matter of fact, during the late stages of my freshman year I began dating a girl in the junior class. He told me that if I did her wrong that he'd be knocking on my door. I never forgot that. I've never met anyone with as much determination, passion, self-sacrifice, and love (although Coach Steve Simmons is in that conversation). I've never seen anyone draw that much respect from his teammates as a player. I've never witnessed anyone so eat up with Christ that he was so willing to use his deteriorating experience with cancer to draw others closer to God. I'll never meet anyone again like Jesse Farrer. We are rejoicing in his victory but losing someone so important in our lives is difficult. See ya in a little bit, Jesse.

EDITOR'S NOTE—This column is reserved as an editorial column and may not necessarily reflect the Bulk Trash Pickup 2nd Friday of each month in Howe.

Leaving it all on the field

Jesse Farrer lost his battle with cancer early Wednesday morning after making it to his daughter's "Senior Night" for the Tom Bean Lady Cats Softball. In true Jesse Farrer fashion—he kept going to the bitter end and soaked it all in. Farrer was the associate pastor at Community Bible Fellowship and one of the most revered men in the county. Full story on page 4.

House fire on Haning Street

On Monday at 1:02 pm, the Howe Fire Department was dispatched to a house in the 200 block of Haning for smoke coming out from under the house. When ladder 21 arrived on scene there was fire showing from the window on the back side. The Ladder 21 crew made entry through the back door of the home and found the fire in a back bedroom. The fire was contained to the bedroom on the back side and the rest of the home has smoke and water damage.

TRASH-OFF

April 17, 2021

It's time to spring clean Texas and Keep Howe Beautiful wants to start with the hometown. They will be hosting the annual Texas Trash-Off on Saturday April 17, 2021 from 9 am to noon and are seeking those who will volunteer to help pick up Howe.

Keep Howe Beautiful and volunteers will meet at 8:45 a.m. at Summit Gardens located at 100 E. O'Connell, downtown Howe. There you will be provided with trash bags and an area to work. Students from Austin College will be volunteering their time.

Feed My Sheep searching for land to build food shelter

The Feed My Sheep local food pantry is desperately seeking land to build a new stand-alone facility. In order to receive grants, the organization must have their own property of purchase or lease. Since the beginning of the organization in 2016, the group has used the building behind First United Methodist Church. However, they are unable to qualify for grants in that location. For those who can help, please contact Carolyn Cherry.

Allen Michael Middleton, 1941-2021

Born July 28, 1941 in Dallas, Texas, to Margaret Dailey Middleton and Arthur John Middleton. Died April 2, 2021 after a valiant battle with throat cancer.

Survived by wife Jane Ann Cooper Middleton, daughter Jamie Middleton Washington and son-in-law George Washington of Alexandria, Virginia, two granddaughters Quinn Bailey Washington and Shay Elise Washington, brothers Clark Middleton and wife Madeleine, Paul Middleton, Steve Middleton, and sister Peggy "Bunny" Middleton Guest, and nieces and nephews, sister-in-law Sue Janway and husband Billy, and Paz and Yvette Kohavi.

Predeceased by parents, Arthur John and Margaret Middleton, in-laws Dorothy and Elwyn Cooper, and daughter Janet Middleton Kohavi.

Mike was a retired Air Force Major, a meteorologist and former Hurricane Hunter. He then pursued a teaching career at Leonard High School, Tom Bean High School, Van Alstyne High School, and Howe High School. After retiring from teaching Mike loved to spend time substitute teaching at Howe High School, working out with his buddies at Core Fit Gym, and entertaining his granddaughters. Mike was a long-time member of and greeter at First United Methodist Church in Howe and a member of the ACT Sunday School Class.

The family has decided to postpone a formal memorial service for Mike until later in the summer due to concerns related to the pandemic. For those wishing to honor Mike with a remembrance, the family suggests "Feed My Sheep" food pantry, First United Methodist Church in Howe, 810 N. Denny Street, Howe, TX 75459, or a charity of your choice.

Pitching, pitching, pitching

Every baseball guru will tell you that the game is completely controlled by pitching. The Howe Bulldogs (7-13) dominated in that area this week as their pitching staff combined for 28 strikeouts in 14.2 innings against Blue Ridge. On Tuesday, the Bulldog offense helped out with 10 runs on 10 hits to win 10-5 and Friday saw the pitchers' duel go into extra innings as Howe pulled out a 2-1 win in the eighth inning. The two district wins were the first for Howe and the first since the final district game in 2019 thanks to last season's district schedule seeing only one game due to COVID.

On Tuesday, Sophomore Matt Hayes struck out 11 hitters in six innings, allowing no earned runs on two hits and four walks. He exited the game with the Bulldogs leading, 10-1 after throwing 104 pitches. Fellow sophomore Ryan Hough drove in two runs on two doubles. Luke Lopez also drove in two runs and Austin Haley, Dylan Hughs, and Kaleb McNutt each had two hits.

Howe's first run came in the second inning when McNutt singled home Hughs. Moments later, sophomore Carson Daniels scored on an error.

In the third inning, Hughs doubled home Haley and Ethan Lopez reached on an error that scored Hughs.

Howe put a 5-spot on the board in the sixth inning to put the game seemingly out of reach, but Hughs came in to relieve Hayes in the seventh and the Tigers scored four earned runs on three hits and two walks.

On Friday, Parker Pecina took to the hill and dazzled Howe fans by allowing only three hits in 7.1 innings, striking out 14 and walking none. He allowed no earned runs. With 117 pitches into the game and leading, 2-1, he handed the ball to Daniels to finish the win and he was able to strike out Tiger leadoff hitter Darland for the game's final out.

Howe was also held to three hits on the evening which two of them came from Hughs. The other came from Ethan Lopez. Pecina drew Howe's only walk in the game.

Howe took a 1-0 lead when Ethan Lopez doubled home Hughs in the top of the fourth. Blue Ridge tied in the bottom half of the inning. The eventual game-winning run came in the top of the eighth when Hughs doubled home Hough who reached on an error.

Howe will travel to Bells on Tuesday and finish the 2-game series with the Panthers at home on Friday.

Leaving it all on the field

Jesse Farrer was a warrior in all things he did in life.
Courtesy photos.

Throughout life, we are inundated with people that pass through our journey. Friends from childhood become strangers in adulthood. The vast majority, maybe even 99 percent of people that you come in contact with during your journey on this planet are just passersby. Then there are the 0.99 percent that you remain in close contact with. The remaining is a 0.01 percent. Those people are the ones in your circle that make such an impression on you that it makes you want to be around them and hug them and talk for hours on end. Jesse Farrer, to herds of people in Southern Grayson county was in their 0.01 percent.

Farrer was born to Jesse P. and Paula Farrer in 1970 and attended Howe schools. Approaching high school, Farrer was not the biggest, fastest, or strongest as was the motto of Howe Bulldogs Head Coach Jim Fryar at the time. Howe had many really good athletes, although Farrer was not among the purest. But Farrer had one other component that Fryar put above all the other features - Jesse Farrer had the heart of the fiercest lion in the jungle, a championship mentality, and the desire to do everything he could to make his team better. The determination, dedication, and self-sacrifice created a special bond between Farrer and Fryar. While working ferociously to get bigger, faster, and stronger, he suffered numerous knee injuries on the field which would most likely end the football careers of 99.99 percent of players in today's era. But Farrer was that 0.01 percent that never quit, never loafed, never stopped until the final whistle had sounded. Jesse Farrer playing on one leg was better than anyone else that dared try to move ahead of him in the depth chart. The Howe Bulldogs during his three years of varsity were 23-9 with two playoff appearances. At a football banquet, Fryar gave an award to Farrer and told the audience about the obstacles that the often-injured player went through and his overwhelming desire to be on the field and be there for his teammates. That night Fryar told the audience, "I love Jesse Farrer!" After his speech, there was not a dry eye in the room because all had seen the special bond between a coach and his 0.01 percent player.

On Wednesday, current Howe Bulldogs Head Coach Bill Jehling announced that he would not issue Farrer's jersey number 75 for the 2021 season. Matthew Bearden, who had worn 75 for the past two seasons, will switch to number 60 which was worn by his Bulldog grandfather Jimmie Wormsbaker. Ironically, Wormsbaker's number 60 was not issued in the 2009 season and is the only other number to have that honor.

“Ladder 21 crew did a fantastic work containing the fire. The occupants were able to escape the structure and had no injuries,” stated from the Howe Fire Department Facebook page.

Also on the scene were the Van Alstyne Fire Department and Tom Bean Fire Department for mutual aid. Grayson County Fire Marshall John Weda said the fire was caused by a discarded cigarette butt and a strong south wind that blew it into an exposed wood floor joist.

1994 and proceeded to change his allegiance from Bulldog-land to Tom Cat-land as his daughters began school at Tom Bean ISD. He even served as president of the school board and coached his daughters Abby and Chloe's youth league sports.

But the constant for Farrer's life has been his undeniable faith in Jesus Christ. While in Tom Bean, working with the youth of the community, he led many to Christ and served as a mentor to a generation of young people. Finding that his calling in life, after a long career working for Grayson County, Farrer took a leap of faith and retired at a young age and began his ministry full-time at Community Bible Fellowship as the associate pastor. It was there that his mission began play to out.

Just as the worst year of all-time began, on January 8, 2020, Farrer went to Parkland Hospital in Dallas to begin treatments for cancer that was found during a PET scan that day. They also found a spot on his lungs and his bones. But just as the Jesse Farrer that Coach Fryar knew and loved, the fighter came out in him and he told his church members not to worry that God was in control and that "It's Gonna Be OK" which became the battle cry for Jesse's fight through cancer. Soon after, t-shirts were made by Community Bible Fellowship church members that were sold to raise money. A fundraiser was held in Tom Bean that reminded one of the movie It's a Wonderful Life where a $5 BBQ and auction raised over $40,000.

No doctor, no nurse, no disease ever met a fighter like Jesse Farrer. But after a year of battling the disease and making great strides, he received bad news on March 3 of this year. The cancer had been seen on his spleen and in his lymph nodes.

“We’ve got some problems but we’re going to work through that,” said Farrer in a Facebook video posted that day. “We’re going to Houston on Monday and we’re going to move forward. I know the Lord’s got it no matter what. I’ve been told I was a miracle that I should have been gone a year ago. I see this stuff and what He does, and it doesn’t always end like I want it to. I’d like to go back to normal. I’ve been on chemo since February 2 last year and radiation.”

During the video, an emotional Farrer admitted to being tired and then thanked the Lord for the cancer.

“It’s hard to thank Him for it,” said Farrer. “But it’s not because it’s brought me so much closer to Him. And guess what, it’s brought a lot of other people closer to Him too. So, He’s used it and what’s better than being used by the Lord, right? If He’ll use something that I’m going to through to help somebody else or somebody get closer to Him then it’s all been worth it, amen. This ain’t about me, this ain’t about you – this is all about Him and His glory.”

In a later video he shared on March 19, he stressed the importance of friendship in his life and said the Lord has blessed him with so many friends. He talked about the fundraiser and that he was overwhelmed by the love and that the best part of the night was getting to see all the people although he only was able to visit with a fraction of them.

“I feel blessed beyond all measure,” said Farrer as he closed with Proverbs 17:17 A friend loves at all times, and a brother is born for a time of adversity.

Weak and barely able to get around, Farrer would not be denied a final moment on the field as his daughter had “Senior Night” for the Tom Bean Lady Cats. He made it on the field for that moment and just like as a young Bulldog wearing the number 75, he left it all there. A few hours later, he passed away.

Jesse Farrer was a friend to many and in many people’s 0.01 percent.

Lady Bulldogs drop two to Whitewright and Bonham

Kaitlyn Fuhr goes for a ball just out of her reach.

The Howe Lady Bulldogs (3-11) suffered two losses last week. On Tuesday, Howe hosted Whitewright who took a 11-2 win. On Friday, the Lady Bulldogs bussed to Gunter where they were cut down, 12-3.

Micaiah Franklin started on Tuesday in the circle and allowed seven earned runs on 12 hits while walking only one and striking out two. She was relieved by Rilyn Murphy who didn't allow a run in her 1.1 innings of work.

Freshman Emery Snapp led Howe with two hits on the evening. She drove in one of Howe's two RBI as Alexia Womack accounted for the other.

Howe's runs came in the fourth inning when Womack doubled home Ryleigh Craven. Snapp then drove home Womack.

On Friday, Franklin again pitched four innings. She gave up only one earned run on five hits, walked four and struck out two. Murphy relieved her and allowed two earned runs on four hits, walking one and striking out two.

Howe had only three hits which came from Franklin, Womack, and Gracie Lankford. Womack and Talia Bjorn had the two RBI for Howe. Runs were scored by Hannah Dwyer, Womack, and Kaitlyn Fuhr.

Howe will play at Blue Ridge on Tuesday and at home against Bells on Friday.

The Howe Area Chamber of Commerce is organized for the purpose of advancing the commercial, industrial, civic and general interest of the City of Howe, Texas.

Howe, Texas is at the intersection of U.S. Highway 75, State Highway 5, and Farm Road 902, on the Southern Pacific line ten miles south of Sherman in southern Grayson County. Howe is the highest point between the Red River and the Gulf of Mexico at 873 ft above sea level. The city was originated in 1872. The Howe Area Chamber of Commerce was first organized in 1964, with President Cleon Hamilton. It was reorganized in 1972 with Ray Hamilton as president. In 1984, it was once again reorganized with President James Ogle. In 2015, the organization revamped for the fourth time under new leadership from President Robert Cannaday. The current elected president in 2021 is Monte Walker.

City of Howe

SECONDS COUNT IN AN EMERGENCY! That's why the City of Howe has instituted the CodeRED Emergency Notification System - an ultra high-speed telephone communication service for emergency notifications.

This system allows us to telephone all or targeted areas in case of an emergency situation that requires immediate action (such as a boil-water notice, missing child or evacuation notices). The system is capable of dialing 60,000 phone numbers per hour. It then delivers a pre-recorded message describing the situations to a live person or an answering machine in the affected area possibly including instructions requiring action on the part of the recipient. Once the situation is remedied, another call will be placed to the area signaling that the issue has been addressed and that normal activities can be resumed.

The following information is required to add a telephone number into the "CodeRED" database: first and last name; address (physical address, no P.O. boxes); city; state; Zip Code; and primary phone number. The system works with cellular phones but requires a valid street address. When entering information, please fill out all of the screens because the newest data entered will replace the old data. Sign up by visiting <http://www.co.grayson.tx.us/page/oem.cred>

Shelley Luther to speak in Howe tonight

The True Texas Project in Grayson County kicked off last month with speakers Former Texas Senator Don Huffines and Former Texas Representatives Matt Rinaldi and Jonathan Stickland giving inside information on the State House. Tonight, local hair salon owner became an overnight hero of the people with national recognition. Shelley Luther will speak on her new endeavors to help Texans regain their freedoms.

The meeting will take place at the First Baptist Church youth building at 100 E. Davis Street, Howe, TX. The meeting begins at 6:30 pm with an optional prayer meeting to begin at 5:30 pm. All are welcome free of charge, mask or no mask.

Also, Serena Ashcroft will speak in regard to Unmask Texas which is a nonprofit organization working to, according to the press release, "fight back against the illegal school mandates statewide, which are requiring our children to be muzzled all day while in school or while participating in other school activities including, sports, singing, and dance."

Shelley Luther, a former school teacher, mother of two, successful singer, and owner of Salon a la Mode was living the American dream. When the government responded to the covid pandemic with overreaching mandates that shut down her business, she stood up for her family, her stylists, and the rights of all small business owners and citizens. Her refusal to apologize to a tyrannical judge for her being selfish and wanting to feed her children landed her in jail and thrust her into the international spotlight. With an enlightened sense of the current political climate, and a desire to use her platform for positive change, Shelley ran for Texas state senate; winning the jungle election, but losing the runoff in a campaign that featured Governor Greg Abbott, the same official who's mandates put her in jail, spending millions of dollars and personally endorsing her opponent to keep her from going to Austin and exposing the legislative swamp that has taken root. Shelley also went on to found the charitable organization Courage to Stand, which was designed to help small business owners and others get back on their feet, and now produces a weekly video podcast that celebrates ordinary people that have done extraordinary things in their lives, sharing their defining moments with others, in hopes that this encouragement will stimulate a wave of good works that can help heal our nation and reinvigorate the human spirit.

Serena Ashcroft is a mother of 3 children in McKinney ISD. She has served as the PTO President at Cockrill MS in McKinney, as well as a private music teacher and choir director of the McKinney Children's Choir. She is the co-founder of the Make Greatness Academy for homeschooled and disadvantaged children that provides education from certified teachers during this "covid crisis."

She has also been a licensed Realtor for 22 years.

Serena is a natural leader and is a vocal advocate for children, their well-being and education. She has spent hours researching, advocating and connecting with many families, parents and teachers across Texas to bring this information out front which led to forming the non-profit, www.unmasktexas.com

She has been very vocal about the harms of masking our children in public schools and how it's affecting their mental health and well-being. She urges school boards to act independently, and make decisions based on solid facts, data and not feelings, politics or government agencies. Independent school districts are solely responsible for the well-being, education and success of the students within their jurisdiction.

Texas History Minute

Ken Bridges

Accidents happen. People make wrong turns. Sometimes these end badly, sometimes not. One supposed wrong turn became part of an aviation legend. And with it, Texas native Douglas Corrigan became known for one of the most bizarre feats in aviation history – the transatlantic flight that went the wrong way.

Douglas Corrigan was born in Galveston in 1907, less than four years after the Wright Brothers completed their historic first flight. His father was an engineer, and the family moved often. But his home life was fractious, and his parents divorced when he was still young. Eventually, he ended up with his mother, sister, and brother in Los Angeles.

He dropped out of high school as a teenager and took odd jobs in construction. In 1925, he happened across a pilot offering plane rides for $2.50. Curious, Corrigan paid the fee, hopped into the Curtiss JN-4 Jenny, and instantly fell in love with flying. He began taking lessons, and five months later, he was a licensed pilot.

Not long after he earned his license, he began working for the Ryan Aircraft Co. in San Diego, California. He helped assemble Charles Lindbergh’s custom-built Spirit of St. Louis that would later be used for the historic first transatlantic flight in May 1927. In the meantime, Corrigan continued to perfect his own piloting skills. He eventually began performing aerial stunts in company airplanes on his lunch breaks, much to the frustration of his employers.

After the success of Lindbergh’s flight, Corrigan decided he wanted to replicate the feat on his own. In 1933, he bought a used Curtiss Robin OX-5 for $300. The plane was a mess, but Corrigan rebuilt it and modified it over the next several years.

In 1935, he applied for clearance to fly across the sea from New York to Ireland non-stop. Aviation officials in New York immediately declared the plane unfit for the flight, citing a number of structural and mechanical problems. But he was cleared to fly the plane back to California. After two more years of repairs and extensive modifications, Corrigan applied repeatedly, but his plane was rejected each time.

In July 1938, he flew from California to New York hoping to receive permission to finally make the flight. After he landed, he was refused again. He spent several days making repairs, and at 5 AM on July 17, he departed from New York and headed east. Along the way, fuel started leaking into the cockpit, forcing Corrigan to punch a hole in the floor of the plane with a screwdriver to let the fuel escape safely. He arrived in Ireland 28 hours later. Corrigan claimed that his compass was broken and that he flew above the clouds and never realized he was flying over the ocean so he never noticed his “mistake.”

For safety reasons, all pilots must file a flight plan with federal aviation authorities before each flight. Corrigan’s flight plan stated he intended to fly back to California. In response, Corrigan’s license was suspended for two weeks, the exact time it took to ship his plane back home – by boat.

After the news broke, The New York Post ran the headline “Hail Wrong Way Corrigan” in reverse. When he arrived back in the United States, he was treated to a ticker-tape parade before a throng of well-wishes estimated by newspapers at close to a million people.

Flights across the Atlantic were not so unusual by this point. Wiley Post, himself a Texas native, had completed the same trip in 1931; and Amelia Earhart became the first woman to make the flight in 1932. Seaplanes regularly crossed the Atlantic, while Zeppelin airships, the German hydrogen-filled blimps, made routine flights across the Atlantic. “Wrong Way” Corrigan was the fourth to fly from New York to Ireland non-stop in a fixed-wing aircraft, but the circumstances with his misdirection, humility, and broken-down aircraft won the hearts of millions.

Whether the flight was planned or whether it really was an accident has been debated for years. Corrigan nevertheless insisted throughout his entire life that the flight was an accident, at least publicly. “Honest, I meant to fly to California,” he said.

He took the jokes in stride. He published an autobiography titled That’s My Story and even endorsed a “Wrong-Way” novelty watch that ran backward.

After the acclaim of his trip faded, Corrigan returned to a simple life. During World War II, Corrigan quietly served as a test pilot for the Army Air Force and flew new planes to bases as part of the Air Transport Command. He stepped away from aviation as a career by 1950.

Corrigan died in December 1995 in California at age 87. The plane from his famed transatlantic flight is on display at the Planes of Fame Museum in Chino, California.

Faith is more than knowledge

Have you ever made plans to do something, but it did not work out? I'm sure that most of us have. Disappointment is not a stranger, especially to those who are ambitious. There is no doubt the more a person tries to accomplish something, the more failures they will encounter. This does not mean that all the doors are locked forever but included within the process of advancement, it's necessary to learn discipline and self-control while experiencing frustration and distress. Sometimes our diligence brings success while on other occasions we discover that our imaginations are not going to be immediately fulfilled. Even though this is deeply painful, it does not imply that we should just go to bed and cover up our heads. On the contrary! We do not have time to waste feeling sorry for ourselves because there is much work to do. It's prophesied about Jesus in Isaiah chapter 50 that His face would be set hard as a flint despite knowing the agony awaiting Him. The Messiah had a steadfast determination to obey His Father and nothing would deter Him.

There are many intersections in our journey and sometimes it's difficult how to know which way to go. Instead of being determined to proceed up the mountain, many end up building their house on the side of the path and living there. A crossroad is a place of decision that requires spiritual wisdom and discernment from the Lord to keep us from making bad decisions. Staying active with a positive attitude even if we miss the mark is better than lying on the couch and hoping that opportunity will fall on our head. Being honest with ourselves and being willing to adjust our views will go a long way toward making sure we are on the same page with Him. Sometimes our failures are trying to reveal that our dreams are not a part of God's original plan for our lives. When our visions are not lined up with His will, we are responsible to change our direction. However, if we are convinced we've heard His voice but are still waiting for our breakthrough, be patient and persevere, it's only a matter of time before we will receive what He promised.

We've read the account of one of the most successful inventors of all time, Thomas Edison. He was responsible for over one thousand patents and became famous for his ideas but he is equally respected for his perseverance and his perspective on failure. Humans indeed have variations when it comes to their mental "wiring" and, in Edison's brain, there was a bulldog determination with the ability to view consistent failure as simply another stepping stone on the pathway to success. In general, most individuals after several valiant attempts, are more than willing to throw in the towel but unlike the average person, disappointment did not quench Edison's burning passion to succeed. With several years of research and experimenting, it took 10,000 failures before Edison finally perfected the light-bulb. Nonetheless, rather than accepting failure the other 9,999 times, he is quoted as saying, "I did not fail, I merely discovered 9,999 ways that do not work!" In simple terms, he made up his mind that he was never going to give up.

Today, there may be something you are sensing in your heart that God has called you to do and I want to encourage you that it can be done! Jesus said, "The things which are impossible with men are possible with God." Is there anything that God cannot accomplish through you? When we have the opportunity to obey God, it reminds me of when our dad would tell us to jump and he would promise to catch us. When we grow up and are faced with jumping into the unknown, it's common to be more afraid of falling than being confident that God wants to see us fly. Yes, there are seasons when we are tempted to have a pity party, but whatever is keeping you from being what Jesus died for you to be is the obstacle that only you can conquer. To succeed, one must come to the point where fear cannot prevent and discouragement cannot persuade. Many are disappointed with their lives but the answer is always the same. We can choose to surrender and remain the same or we can become an unstoppable instrument in God's hands and accomplish our destiny for His glory.

Verse of the week

Hebrews 9:15 For this reason Christ is the mediator of a new covenant, that those who are called may receive the promised eternal inheritance—now that he has died as a ransom to set them free from the sins committed under the first covenant.

How to save more effectively

Taylor Kovar

Hey Taylor: For some reason, even as my earnings go up, my savings stay flat. I haven't made any big purchases or changes, so I feel like I need some advice on how to save more effectively. - Calvin

Hey Calvin: This is a pretty common phenomenon, actually. If your tendency is already to spend—meaning you have the money personality of a Spender—you'll never save by default. You have to make the conscious decision to save; otherwise, the money that hits your bank account will leave as fast as it arrives. It won't be easy, but here are some ways to save better.

Think twice... then a third time. Whether it's ordering the filet mignon, splurging on a weekend getaway, or having the choice to pay for parking instead of driving a little longer to find a street spot, you need to sit through your first instinct. Your initial reaction will almost always lead you astray because paying an extra $10 or $20 doesn't feel like a big deal, especially as your earnings go up. Unfortunately, as you're aware, all that spending adds up and suddenly you've got nothing left over to put into your IRA. As often as possible, you'll need to talk yourself out of the easy, more expensive option.

Schedule retirement contributions. Part of the reason people overspend is that they feel like money is just sitting around. The solution? Get that money out of your bank account and into a retirement account. At first, you might feel anxious about it, like you need that money to spend and you're depriving yourself of it. After a while, you'll start to enjoy investing, and watching your retirement account grow over time is almost as much fun as spending. If you need more motivation, putting money into an IRA is spending! You're buying stocks and bonds and giving your money a chance to grow. A little change of mindset will help you see the benefit of saving without becoming bored.

Check your monthly fees. From utilities to insurance to every other type of subscription, there's a good chance you're paying for something that you don't really use. Or, and this is just as common, you overpay for a service. When was the last time you looked at your car insurance policy? Or looked over your credit card statement to see what recurring charges are just slipping through your fingers? If you don't mind spending, you might turn a blind eye to bad spending. Fix that and you'll quickly save a decent amount of money.

Living with children

John Rosemond

A sixth-grade teacher recently shared the following story with me: Two girls in her class were making fun of a classmate whose family was struggling financially. The girl was socially awkward and had no friends. The mocking was taking place both at school and on social media. As I read the teacher's email, I reminisced about what being in the sixth grade was like in the late 1950s, before smart phones, video games, and social media began corrupting childhood. Actually, I have no idea what it was like for girls because girls were the stuff of fantasy only, and believe it or not, lots of boys still had no interest in girls and vice versa. I have, however, talked to lots of women my age who tell me that girlhood back then was not marked by the sorts of personal and social dramas that mark it today. Some girls, I am told (and was aware), formed cliques, but open bullying of other girls was a rarity.

In this case, one of the girls' parents were intolerant of misbehavior while the other set of parents took great umbrage at anyone who reported it. Teachers walked on eggshells with them for fear of the proverbial hotseat. The teacher in question, however, was nearing the end of her career and was not easily intimidated. A "final straw" incident occurred one day and said teacher informed both girls that their parents would be informed. One begged her not to, saying that she would get into a surfeit of trouble. The other girl basically dared the teacher to tell her parents.

"You'll get in trouble," she said, "not me." Children are very perceptive.

The teacher told both parents what had happened, pointing out that the bullying and teasing had gone on for some time. Sure enough, the latter set of parents became their daughter's apologists. They denied that she was even capable of such cruelty, blamed her partner in crime for being a bad influence, and implied that the victim was her own worst enemy. They then complained to the principal, who insisted that the teacher to apologize to them. She refused and told the principal that he ought to be ashamed of himself.

The other girl's parents also became furious, but at the right person. The next day, their daughter apologized to the teacher and to the victim – tearfully and in front of the entire class, no less. She broke off relations with her cohort and began making sincere efforts to make friends with her less advantaged classmate. She also mentioned to the teacher that her smart phone had been confiscated indefinitely.

The heroes in the story are the parents who held their daughter to high standards and forced her repentance. Along with a teacher who stood up for what is right in an environment where right and wrong have become confused, they are to be applauded for making the world a better place. "but one ISM in America—and that's AMERICANISM"

The Howe Messenger

VOLUME XVIII HOWE, GRAYSON COUNTY, TEXAS, FRIDAY, APRIL 11, 1941 NUMBER 12

This Week In the News

PREPARED BY STAFF WRITER

STATE

Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel late Friday signed the anti-strike bill which makes an act of violence in connection with strike or lock-out a penitentiary offense.

Open house was held Sunday at the new $7,500,000 North American Aviation plant near Dallas and an estimated 60,000 persons visited the plant.

The old magic money belt scheme was worked last week on an aged Ellis county farmer, it was revealed Monday when he looked at the belt to see if his $7,600 had doubled as had been predicted by a gypsy fortune teller five days earlier.

The House of Representatives again Tuesday voted against reconsideration of Gov. O'Daniel's proposal to appropriate $26,820,000 from the general fund for social security purposes.

A resolution urging Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel to seek the U. S. senate seat vacated by the death of Morris Sheppard was adopted by the Texas House of Representatives Thursday.

NATIONAL

Strikes continue to hold up the national defense program, although the most serious handicap was removed Sunday night when a settlement was again reached in the Allis-Chalmers dispute at Milwaukee.

The United States government Sunday ordered military and other supplies rushed to Yugoslavia to help resist the German invasion.

Earl W. Graser, famed as the "Lone Ranger" of the air, waves, was instantly killed early Tuesday in an automobile collision at Farmington, Mich.

Italy demanded Wednesday the recall of Capt. William C. Bentley, assistant American military attache in Rome, supposedly in reprisal for a request from the American government that the Italian naval attache in this country be recalled because of his complicity in the sabotaging of Italian ships in American harbors.

INTERNATIONAL

The long expected outbreak of war in the Balkans came early Sunday morning when Adolf Hitler by way of radio ordered his troops to begin an invasion of Yugoslavia and Greece.

Mrs. Joe Cox Jr. and son of Sherman visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. P. Slaughter, Tuesday.

UNDER THE Dome at Austin

By GORDON K. SHEARE, United Press Staff Correspondent

Austin—(UP)—One thousand Texas gunmen, picked from among former Texas Rangers, sheriffs, police and military veterans will be offered to President Roosevelt for whatever use he may designate in the national emergency, former Ranger Captain Frank Hamer and others propose.

The force will be limited to 1,000 men to be picked for their known dependency under difficult situations. They will be selected by Hamer from volunteer ranks. No uniform will be worn, there will be no drills nor insignia.

As Hamer described the proposed organization a member's equipment will consist of a pistol and an inclination.

Hamer is one of the most famous of the later day Texas Rangers. He was in the national eye after he and Texas Ranger Mannie Gault tracked down Clyde Barrow and Barrow's cigar smoking girl companion, Bonnie Parker in the pair was sought for alleged killing of a state highway patrolman.

If the offer is accepted there may be seen a revival of the non-uniformed Texas Rangers who have been connected in fact and fiction inseparably with the state's frontier days.

The Rangers several years ago were merged into the state safety department.

Another of Texas' picturesque big hatted Rangers also is active in the national defense, Capt. Bill Sterling is liaison officer of the Eighth Corps Area of the United States Army, with headquarters at Fort Sam Houston, San Antonio.

Sterling was the first Ranger to become adjutant general of the state and to be given command of both the Rangers and the National Guard of Texas.

Another former adjutant general who later became a ranger, is W. D. Cope. Cope will be adjutant of the new defense scout force under plans of the organizers, Tom Martin, veteran of World War No. 1 and former police chief of San Antonio but now a radio broadcaster and columnist, is another of the organizers.

Postcard enlistments which will do away with all red tape are planned for the outfit. The volunteers will be sifted by Hamer and be requested to keep headquarters informed where they can be reached on a moment's notice.

The Texas Senate this week did what members say is unprecedented in legislative history of the state. A $16,536,744 appropriation bill was passed without a single amendment. There were 30 votes to one on suspending rules to facilitate the passage.

"That's some sort of a record," remarked Gov. Coke R. Stevenson of Junction as he declined to cast a vote that would have broken a tie on the only proposed amendment that had a sort of a chance.

Though there were no amendments to the bill as reported to the Senate by Chairman A. M. Aikin Jr. of the Senate Finance Committee there were two changes in the printed copies of the bill—both due to errors.

One added $400,000 a year to the appropriation for Terrell State Hospital to replace the main hospital structure in two years. The other eliminated pay for a dog-sergeant at the Gatesville school for boys. Senators on the committee already had decided that dogs should not be used to track down boys who ran away from the institution. Instead they propose to make the place one from which the youthful offenders will not try to escape.

Sen. W. C. Graves of Dallas is doing double duty in the Texas Senate at this session. Because his seat adjoins that of Sen. J. Franklin Spears of San Antonio and

Senator Sheppard Dies Wednesday

FUNERAL SET FOR 3 P. M. SATURDAY IN TEXARKANA

Washington — Senator Morris Sheppard of Texas, dean of Congress, "father of national prohibition" and chairman of the Senate military affairs committee since 1932, died at Walter Reed General Hospital at 5:30 a. m. Wednesday.

Due to the fact that Congress is virtually in recess until April 14, decision was reached not to conduct a state funeral for Senator Sheppard in the Senate chamber as his rank warrants. Instead the body was to lie in state in the Senate chamber from 3 until 5 p. m. Thursday, with a military guard. A military escort then accompanied the body to the union station, where a military guard was maintained until departure of the train at 8:20 p. m.

ANNOUNCEMENT MADE OF MARCH 8 MARRIAGE

Announcement has been made of the marriage of Miss Hulen Holloway of Marlin to Herma Reeves of Vernon.

Mrs. Reeves is the daughter of G. W. Holloway of the Celtic community. She is a graduate of the Howe high school and Baylor-Belton college and has taught school for the past seven or eight years.

Mr. and Mrs. Reeves will make their home at Vernon after the close of her school.

CHRISTIAN MISSIONARY SOCIETY MEETS

The Women's Missionary society of the Howe Christian church met Tuesday afternoon for a mission study program and the election of officers.

Mrs. W. W. Collins presided at the business session at which the following officers were elected for the coming six months: Mrs. M. L. Walling, president; Mrs. Elton Watson, vice president; Mrs. Top Mackey, secretary-treasurer.

HOWE SENIOR CLASS SELECTS FAVORITES

The members of the Howe senior class have elected student favorites as follows:

Most popular boy, Billy Halzlip; most popular girl, Wanda Stegall; most handsome boy, Charles Wilson; most beautiful girl, Viola Banks; best citizen boy, Clarence Sexton; best citizen girl, Iris Brinkley; best athlete boy, M. H. Jeter; best athletic girl, Dorothy Jane Davis.

Mrs. Mame Roberts attended the flower show in Dallas Saturday.

HOWE HONOR STUDENTS ARE NAMED

Honor students for the 1941 Howe graduating class were named Thursday. Miss Dorothy Davis, daughter of Wesley Davis, was named valedictorian.

Community Club Adopts By-Laws

More than 100 persons were in attendance at the first regular meeting of the Howe community organization at the school auditorium last night.

The committee did not select a name for the organization and it was decided to leave selection of a name to the membership.

Mrs. Leonard George was in charge of the program which was presented following the business session. The program was opened by the audience singing "God Bless America."

Program for Union Services Prepared

The following programs have been arranged for the two union Easter services to be held here Sunday by members of the Baptist, Presbyterian, Methodist and Christian churches.

Rev. Nat Farley pronounced the invocation. Next meeting of the organization will be held Thursday, April 24 at 8 p. m.

Grayson Farmers Organizing

Sherman—Arthur Badgett of Whitewright was elected president of the Grayson county unit of the Texas farm bureau at an organization meeting in Sherman Tuesday night.

A. B. Jolley, Dallas county agent, spoke on general agricultural conditions after being presented by County Agent V. O. Teddlie.

Thirty men paid membership fees in the organization and an intensive membership campaign was planned, with a number of workers to take part.

The farm bureau replaced the old Texas Agricultural Association. Its purpose is to look after the interests of the farmer politically, financially and every other way particularly in examination of legislation affecting agriculture.

The membership fee is two dollars per year. The bureau is affiliated with the national farm bureau, the leading farm federation and the only one that has been active in working for the interests of the south.

James Powell, student at Donon teachers college, is at home for the Easter vacations.

Mr. and Mrs. Keith Poole of Sherman visited in Howe Wednesday.

TEACHERS RE-ELECTED BY SCHOOL BOARD

The board of trustees for the Howe Independent School district Monday night re-elected four teachers of the faculty, deferring action on other teachers.

Funeral Services For Piper Child

Funeral services for Billie Raymond Piper, two-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Piper were to be held at Era at 11 a. m. this (Friday) morning.

Billie Raymond Piper was born Dec. 15, 1938, at Whitesboro. He is survived by his parents; one sister, Margaret Hazel Piper; grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Cass Mathews of Gainesville, and one aunt, Minnie V. Esch.

FIRST DALLAS PLANE PASSES TESTS

Dallas—(UP)—It flies, so the new North American Aviation factory here will make more like it.

The first warplane off the assembly line passed its test successfully, officials announced. Only a few minor adjustments will be necessary before mass production of the model can start.

The plane was checked for speed of 200 miles an hour, climb of 1,350 feet a minute and general maneuverability.

Two Killed Here In Collision

HEADON CRASH IN NORTH HOWE SUNDAY NIGHT HURTS TWO OTHERS

Two Van Alstyne young men were killed almost instantly and two other persons were seriously injured when a pickup truck and a transport truck collided at the highway 75 underpass in north Howe about 11 p. m. Sunday.

Roy Schooling, 23, and Morris Lewallen, 21, were the dead. Double funeral services for them were held at the Van Alstyne Baptist church at 2:30 p. m. Tuesday.

Carl Schooling, 21, brother of Roy, is in a critical condition in the Wilson N. Jones hospital in Sherman. Wilbur Garner, 901 West Nelson, Denison, was in the same hospital but his injuries were considered less serious.

Garner, age 30, was driving an automobile transport truck out of Denison and was returning to Denison with his truck empty. The Schooling youths and Lewallen occupied a nearly new Ford pickup truck and were headed south.

Lewallen was the son of Mrs. Roy Craighead of Van Alstyne. He had lived there all his life and was an ex-student of Van Alstyne high school. He was born July 3, 1919, son of Mr. and Mrs. Olin Lewallen. His father died several years ago and his mother married again.

Schooling, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Schooling of Van Alstyne and an ex-student of Van Alstyne high school. He was born March 12, 1918 at Sherman.

Survivors include his parents; two brothers, Carl of Van Alstyne and Arthur Schooling Jr. of Dallas; two grandmothers, Mrs. T. A. Ray and Mrs. Mary Schooling of Van Alstyne.

Lewallen is survived by his mother; a brother, Tyrus Lewallen of Brownwood; a sister, Mrs. M. D. West of Dallas, and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Lewallen of Van Alstyne.

The services were conducted by the Rev. Frank Johnston, Baptist pastor and the Rev. T. G. Craft, Methodist pastor.

MARRIAGE OF MISS BEUNA HOLCOMB REPORTED

Announcement has been received of the marriage of Miss Beuna Holcomb to R. Pryor Taylor which took place at Richmond March 24. They are making their home in Houston.

Mrs. Taylor is well known in the Howe community, having been associated here for several years with her brother, Grover, in the drug business.

CONDUCT RELIGIOUS CENSUS OF FORT BLISS SOLDIERS

Fort Bliss—(UP)—Army chaplains, who conducted a survey to determine the religiously-inclined soldiers stationed at this, America's largest cavalry post, found that protestants outnumber other religious groups nearly three to one.

A census of all regiments and other military units made to learn the denominational preference of soldiers showed that slightly more than 61 per cent of the post personnel was of the protestant faith. Twenty-four per cent of the men were Catholics, nine per cent Jewish and the remaining soldiers had no denominational preference.

Names of the soldiers and their organizations have been given to El Paso church leaders so that special invitations can be extended to the men to attend religious services in the city.

Mrs. Joe Cox Jr. and son of Sherman visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. P. Slaughter, Tuesday.

ENTERPRISE

THE HOWE ENTERPRISE, THURSDAY, APRIL 8, 1971 — VOL. VII — No. 38

Saturday was a busy day in Howe, what with the school board election, city council and mayor election, and the local 4-H, FHA and FFA project show.

The person who should have enjoyed the project show more than anyone else was Mrs. Alton Norman, serving as the judge in the foods and clothing division. All those cakes, pies, cookies, etc. sure looked tempting — in fact, we even offered our assistance in the sampling department, but this was declined.

Anyhow, the project show moves to Loy Lake next week and the school kids get a few days' holiday to enjoy themselves.

Future Homemaking members are "doing their thing" this week — part of National FHA week, or month, or some thing.

In addition to the serious side of the situation, the group has sponsored pie eating contests, initiated a few freshmen, and cut other capers this week. And we even captured part of it on film — which is supposed to be reproduced elsewhere in this issue.

We've heard of a few resolutions passed by the House of Representatives in Austin that couldn't have received much study, but the one passed recently as reported in the big papers takes the cookies —

Rep. Tom Moore, the chief sponsor of the resolution withdrew the commendation after it passed — saying "it might reflect unfavorably upon the dignity of this body. And I wouldn't want to do that."

The resolution:

Endorses the job by the Boston Strangler in the field of population control."

The resolution, submitted by two representatives who believed the House would pass any resolution set in front of its members, commended Albert De Salvo for "dedication and devotion to his work in population control."

The resolution also commended De Salvo for "unselfishly serving his country, his state and his community."

"This compassionate gentleman's dedication and devotion to his work has enabled the weak and lonely throughout the nation to achieve and maintain a new degree of concern for their future," the resolution stated.

O. T. Corbins Retire After 32 Years Here

A business firm established here in January, 1939, closed its doors Tuesday, April 6.

Mr. and Mrs. O. T. Corbin announced the closing this week, after operating the grocery store and service station in the same location for 32 years.

Mr. Corbin plans to "piddle around the shop," following retirement, "but we'll still be around here if anyone needs anything."

FHA Week Celebrations continued here this week. Here Sherry Muse, Sherry Bledsoe and Nelda Rogers were the markings of Freshmen — instigated by upper classmen.

Placings In 4-H, FHA FFA Project Show

Placings in the FHA division of last Saturday's Project Show are as follows:

Blue Ribbons — Bobbie Ruffin, Carla Wortham, Kathy McClellan, Michelle Schmidt, Debbie Melton, (two), Debbie Sanford, Becky Allen, Pam Littrell, Ginger Lankford, Susan Mark, Nyala Trotter, Diane Floodas, Pam Sims and Annette Bennett.

Grand Champion entry was a 3-piece outfit, pants, dress and poncho, by Debbie Melton. Diane Floodas has the reserve champion, a lemon cheese cake.

Red Ribbon winners were:

Kathy McClellan, Bonnie Baker, Nancy Hart, Terrye Soechting, Theresa Cooper, Debbie Melton, Peggy Melton, Deborah Davis, Jeanie Newman (two), Carole Johnson, Cheryl Walker, Sharon Trammell (2) Sherry Bledsoe, Kathy King, Pam Sollis (2), Anita Wheeler Cindy Cloud, Cindy Newman, Gail Johnson (2), Vickie Ranney.

White Ribbons—Teresa Hanning, Carlene Wilson, Janis Lindsey, Francine Allison, Carla Wortham, Sandra Douglas, Terrye Soechting, Debbie Melton, Russell Melton, Becky Allen, Sherry Muse, Laura Luster, Donna Word, Bonnie Armstrong, Nelda Rogers, Minnie Jo Morse, Debbie Underwood, Mary Cook, Kathie Cate and Diana Ritchie.

Winners from 4-H in the Howe FFA & 4-H Show Saturday were as follows: Lori Hellemeyer, blue ribbon on her rooster, Larry Parish's duck received a red ribbon and his lamb received a 5th place ribbon. Susan Hellemeyer's rabbits placed 2nd & 3rd both received blue ribbons.

Royce Hanning receiving a red ribbon on his rabbit. Tamela Melton's rabbit won a blue ribbon and 1st in class. Tamela's steer placed 4th in class.

Mark Wrede's cross-bred steer placed 2nd in the heavy weight, and Mark's heifer was 2nd in class with a blue ribbon. Mark also competed for showmanship in the beef division. Mark's heavy weight Angus won a 2nd place ribbon in class and Reserve Angus Breed.

Peggy Melton received a 5th place ribbon on her heavy weight steer, red ribbon on her rabbit and a red ribbon on a 2 piece dress.

Russell Melton's young Angus heifer placed 1st in her class with a blue ribbon and a Reserve ribbon in the Breeding Beef Division. His art flowers made of egg cartons received a white ribbon.

BUTTS, McMILLION, JAY, ELECTED TO CITY OFFICES; BLEDSOE, CULP TO SCHOOL BOARD IN LIGHT VOTE

All incumbents seeking return to office were re-elected in balloting here Saturday in both the school board and city official races.

Dr. Ned Culp was returned to a place on the school board, with a newcomer, Ray Bledsoe. Bledsoe polled 203 votes to top the field of seven candidates for two positions. Not seeking re-election was Billy Murdock of Dorchester.

Lloyd Butts was elected mayor, replacing Dug Wortham, who did not seek re-election. Wortham has served two terms as head of the city government. Butts polled 171 ballots, compared to 61 for Price Hanning, other mayor candidate.

City Councilmen Overton E. Jay and Jimmy Don McMillion were returned to council seats, polling 178 and 121 votes, respectively. Dwain Roberts received 106 votes and Herman B. Davis, 56 in the same race.

The vote in the school board race was:

- Bledsoe, 203
- Culp, 191
- Jack Norman, 153
- John Hash, 24
- Mrs. Eva Lois Smith, 20
- Mrs. Shirley Melton, 16
- Donald R. Baird 6

School Board Reorganizes

School board was reorganized at regular monthly meeting Monday night, when one new member was seated and officers elected for the coming year.

Ray Bledsoe, winner of last Saturday's election, was seated, replacing Billy Murdock.

New officers named were: Dr. Ned Culp, president; Leon Thornhill, vice president; and James L. Davis, secretary.

Culp expressed appreciation to former Board President Grady Lankford, for his work through the office during the past year, and named two members to head committees for the coming year. Thornhill was named to sports, with Jimmy Sutton to assist administrators in upgrading the school curriculum.

In other business, the board authorized contracts for teachers, with the exception of three, one of which will probably be reconsidered at a later date, one school board member said Wednesday.

Contracts not renewed were those of Royd Malmstrom, who had informed Principal L. H. Linker that he was going to Europe this summer, and Larry Miller, who had told Linker he had made applications for another job.

Request by Librarian Mrs. Gerald Hickox for a leave of absence during the first semester next fall was denied.

"Because it would be almost impossible to hire a replacement for only one semester," board decided. Custodians, bus drivers and cafeteria help were re-hired.

Program for students requiring special education is under study following a discussion on the matter and one individual case here within the past year. According to board member James Davis, schools must furnish either a special education class with a teacher or a testing program whereby students requiring the special teaching can be transferred to Sherman where facilities are available. The program is financed by the state, Davis said "and we can have this program by making application."

Mrs. Davis, also present at the meeting, said it took six months to trace down the procedure for obtaining the special services. Further investigation of the program is to be made.

School calendar for the '71-72 year was approved, listing four semesters instead of the usual six. Reports of students will be made on a nine-week basis, with students doing unsatisfactory work issued teacher reports between semesters.

Ray Bledsoe Heads Board

Voters in the Howe and Dorchester areas returned two incumbents to the Howe Independent School District Board of Trustees from among a 13-candidate field Saturday.

But then Monday night the board met and changed its internal organization.

Ray Bledsoe, who is beginning his sixth year as a board member, edged out Jack Norman, 4-3, for the presidency of the board. Norman has been president the past two years.

Norman becomes vice president and William Powell secretary.

In the trustee election Saturday Leon Thornhill ran strong in both the Howe and Dorchester areas to pile up 238 votes to lead the ticket. Thornhill has been on the board for nine years. Billy Joe Wheeler, who has served one term, ran second on the strength of a good showing in Howe, polling a total of 180 votes.

For the third spot to fill the seat of Jimmy Sutton who did not seek re-election, Leon Williams on the strength of a heavy Dorchester vote edged out Sam Haigis, 163 votes to 154.

A total of 493 people voted in the election—45 in Dorchester and 448 in Howe.

Other vote totals in order of finish were Bob Williams, 127; James Davis, 124; Curtis Simmons, 106; Lela Nolen, 101; Jesse Stonebarger, 74; Raymond Turner, 55; William Allen, 49; James Stewart, 42; and Bennie Parrent, 15.

Mack Davis received five write-in votes, while William Powell, Ernest Bennett and G.T. McDonough received one each.

The voting breakdown was as follows:

	Howe	Dor.	Total
Wheeler	174	6	180
J. Davis	119	5	124
Stewart	15	27	42
Nolen	94	7	101

Brother, Sister Winners

A pair of Charolais cross steers owned by a brother and sister were named grand and reserve champion this week of the local FHA and 4-H Livestock Show on the eve of this week's big competition at Loy Lake.

Grand champion was a nearly white Charolais shown by Glen Culp, and the reserve champion was shown by his sister, Jill. Both animals came from the heavy steer class.

The showmanship award for steers went to Ken Helvey and his angus.

The two Culp children obtained their calves from their grandfather, J.D. Nix, of Lamesa, Tex. The calves were chosen for them by the late Raymond Hutchens, Howe High School vocational agriculture teacher who died just prior to the opening of school last fall.

Top prize winners in the other divisions of the local show, which was held Monday because of rain on Saturday, were:

Fat lambs—Mike McPherson, grand champion; Lynda Butts, reserve champion; Philip Schneider, showmanship.

Judge for this year's show was Bob Greenway, Hunt County agent, from Greenville.

Bank Plans Stock Issue

Howe State Bank, which continues to outstrip all other banks in Grayson County in its rate of growth, is seeking to sharply increase its capital through a new stock issue in order to keep pace with its rate of growth.

The board of directors of the bank has called for a special meeting of stockholders at 4 p.m. April 20 to approve an increase of 4,820 shares of bank stock to be sold at $40 per share. This would give the bank $192,800 in additional capital funds.

Bank Chairman Joe Wallace, in a letter to stockholders calling the meeting, explained that the pre-emptive rights of all stockholders would be honored. That means that each stockholder has the right to buy a bloc of stock in proportion to his present holdings.

However, Wallace said, it is expected that some stockholders will not exercise the right and "we hope to have a large block available to distribute to people who have expressed a desire to own stock in the bank...We will attempt to place the stock where it will do the bank the most good."

Wallace explained the decision to issue the new stock:

"The decision to increase the capital of the bank is due to the fact that we have enjoyed extraordinary growth, espe-

Howe City Council will reorganize next week with two new members following an election Saturday in which one incumbent did not seek re-election and another was defeated.

Newcomers Bob Bowers and J.W. Reed were elected to places on council along with incumbent Hugh Hawkins, who led the ticket.

Leaving council are L.H. Linker who did not seek re-election and Dalton Burks who ran fourth in an eight-candidate race for three council places. Burks had been on council since last fall when he was appointed to the vacancy created by the resignation of Darrell Wineinger.

A total of 361 votes were cast in the election, which was considered a heavy vote for a local election.

Council will meet next Thursday night in its regular meeting to canvass the vote and administer the oath to new members.

The complete unofficial results of Saturday's election:

Bob Bowers	210
Dalton Burks	157
David Burrell	11
Hugh Hawkins	239
Karen Keller	127
Kay McDaniel	59
J.W. Reed	203

Wheels Stolen

Two Ford wheels, minus tires, were stolen last Friday from the yard of Bobby Starnes, 113 O'Connell St.

Police Chief Jerry Hallmark said that Starnes reported to police that the wheels had been placed in the yard for a garage sale and that sometime between 7 p.m. and midnight Friday, someone made off with them. They were valued at $40 each.

HHS Students Place High in UIL

Howe High School students took three of the four top places in typing, won the persuasive speaking contest and placed in a number of other events Tuesday in the district Interscholastic League Contests at Grayson County College.

In typing, David Salling won first, Jean Wallace second and Debbie Spegal fourth among the 18 students who participated in the contest.

Salling had a score of 138 with a perfect paper. Jean

Wallace had a 128 with two mistakes.

In persuasive speaking Jeff Williams took first place and Edwin Allison fourth.

Winners of the first three places in each event became eligible to compete in the regional UIL contests April 23 and 24 at Tarleton State College at Stephenville.

Fourth place finishers will be alternates.

Other results for Howe students:

Spelling—Vicki Langdon, third; Kim Randolph, fourth and Leslie Breeding, sixth.

Informative speaking—Regina Mitchell, third; Mark Johnson, fourth.

Slide rule—Greg Burton, fourth.

Number sense—Mark England, fifth; Richard Malnory, sixth.

New Printing Partnership Formed by Howe Enterprise

DAVID CHAVIS

David Chavis, an experienced printer from Sherman, has gone into partnership with the Enterprise Printing Co. of Howe, according to James L. Echols, owner of the Howe Enterprise.

Chavis joined the firm full-time this week.

Echols said that the new partnership involves only the printing company which does all types of printing for area businesses, institutions and individuals.

The newspaper, The Howe Enterprise, is still owned solely by Mr. and Mrs. Echols. The change in the printing company became necessary, Echols said, because of the increasing volume of business in both the newspaper and Printing company. Chavis will devote full-time to the printing business. Chavis, 32, has been with a Sherman printing firm for six years and has nine years' total printing experience in Texas. Chavis is married to the former Leasetta Miller of Harold, Tex. They have two children.

BEST CLASS AA DRILL TEAM IN THE STATE

Morris, Pam Martin, Jr. Lt. Kanette Cadenhead, Lisa Fernandez, Leigh Ann Salling, Tamra Ogle and Michelle Kannenberg. Seated are Captain Lisa Stewart, Co-captain Genni Straw and Director Bettye Mullins.

Howe's that...

CONGRESSMAN'S WIFE - Mary Ellen Hall, wife of Ralph Hall, 4th District Congressman, is writing monthly columns concerning her experiences in Washington, D.C. This month's column is addressed to her grandson, Jay.

Do you remember all those Sundays in Rockwall that we drove hurriedly home from Church, only to discover that we were locked out? We looked longingly through the kitchen window at all that good food. We were really on the "outside looking in." Today I want to tell you about being on the "inside looking out."

February is usually a good month to do paperwork, sit by a cozy fire, or just day dream and observe. I chose to observe, so from my point of view you might be interested in knowing something about the duties of the staff members in your grandfather's office.

Just inside 1223 Longworth Building, to the left of the door, sits a pretty young lady whose name is Marnie Crawford. Marnie's title is Receptionist. Don't form a fast opinion of the word receptionist for it has many connotations. First, you must be long-suffering, by that I mean smile even when it hurts. A guest book lays on her desk waiting for a visitor to sign his or her name and address. The visitor asks questions, tells Marnie his or her purpose in being there, and usually requests to speak with your grandfather. Amidst all the questions, Marnie answers the telephone (it rings often), sets up White House tours, types letters to those who have visited previously, and makes arrangements for special requests. She also offers them coffee, which she serves with sugar, cream, and a smile.

Next on the left sits Floyd Shumpert. He is a personable young man from Terrell, Texas. Floyd is a Legislative Aide. He deals with legislative issues on Agriculture, Defense, Science and Technology, and Veterans. This means if there is any legislation regarding these issues, he has researched it and has it at his fingertips. Floyd has an optimistic outlook on life. He said the best way to find new places in Washington is to get lost. Anytime I ask him to help me, he just smiles and says, "My pleasure, no problem."

Rebecca Mathews is Press Secretary. We call her "Becky." She is a classy young lady who keeps her camera full of ever ready batteries. By that I mean she is alert and efficient in her duties. She takes care of all press relations, as well as legislative issues dealing with the budget and education. She works hard, smiles a great deal, and is always willing to help those (being me) in need of information.

The shape of the main office appears to be a capital T and a half with the same crossing. Mike McAdams sits at the left back of that T facing the front. Mike was born in the city and is much at home in the legislative field. His title is Legislative Assistant. He researches and prepares legislative issues dealing with energy and health. Mike knows the correct things to say, and the right time to say them. He is a hard worker and looks and acts the part of an intellectual. The future is waiting for young executives such as Mike.

Grace Warren's desk faces the front of the right side of 1223. The name Grace describes her well. She is thoughtful, soft-spoken, and pretty. Grace handles legislative issues dealing with Public Works (lakes, road, etc.) Social Security, the elderly and Grants. Researching and answering all of these issues for the constituents of the Fourth Congressional District is a terrific work load. Grace stays busy and is quite efficient and thorough.

Highlighters - State Champs Again

Once again the Howe Highlighters returned triumphant from Austin. For the second straight year the Highlighters have returned from the Texas Drill Team tournament of champions designated the Best Class AA Drill Team in the Lone Star State.

In their quest for the state championship the Highlighters received a gold State of Texas plaque, a plaque for their superior ratings and a special mention award for the choreography in their prop routine to the hit recording "Whip It" performed with 8-foot whips.

The Highlighters were greeted at the state capitol by the office of the local state representative, Bob Bush. The girls then were taken on educational tours of the state capitol and the LBJ library.

The Highlighters are directed by Bettye Mullins. The Friendswood High School (Wranglettes) of Houston were judged the Best Class 4A and McCullough High School of Austin Best Class 5A.

Two GCC Seats Go To Howe Men

In the Grayson County College board of trustees election, two of the three seats were won by Howe area men.

Howe farmer-businessman Jack Norman, 41, led all five candidates for the three at-large regular terms on the college board with 3,676 votes.

Dorchester Grain Co. president, John Chumbley, 37, was second with 3,640 votes and Bill Wilcox, a 62-year old banker-investor of Denison, got the other six-year term with 3,471 votes. Losing out in the race were L.M. Wright with 2,982 votes and Gus Jones with 3,390 votes.

In a race for a two-year term, Dr. Roy Riddels, 56, a Sherman veterinarian, won with 5,713 votes over Jon Karau, 62, of Pottsboro. Billy McFatrige of White-wright, 49, was unopposed for the four years remaining on a term he was serving by appointment. He received 6,024 votes.

Band In Six Flags Festival

The Howe High School Band has been accepted in the 1981 Six Flags Over Texas Open Band Festival.

Under the direction of Mr. Elmer Schenk, the group will compete against 90 or more groups in one of the country's largest and most prestigious music competitions. Participating groups are afforded an opportunity to compete against groups outside their regular competition area.

In addition to the Open Band Festival, nearly 200 groups are expected to compete in Marching Band, Invitational Band and Orchestra, Open and Invitational Choral Festivals.

Top groups will be selected by such nationally known judges as Frank Piersol, University of Iowa; Howard Nicar, Vanderbilt University; and Dr. R. Lynn Whitten, University of Colorado.

The Open Band competition will be held April 10 and 11 in Ed Landreth Auditorium, TCU, Fort Worth. The students and others attending the festivals will visit the Six Flags Over Texas park, including a Friday night concert by Sister Sledge, and a chance to ride Six Flags' newest thrill ride, Conquistador, the flying ship of Spain.

Write-In Votes Put Reed In Mayor's Seat

Two hundred nineteen Howe voters wrote in the name of J.W. Reed to elect him Mayor of Howe on Saturday, April 4. Incumbent Glyn Hestand received 158 votes and Jack Berry, 83.

About 50% of the registered voters cast votes in Saturday's election which was described as the largest turnout in the city's history.

Reed's name was stricken from the ballot due to a legal technicality because he filed with the city secretary instead of the mayor. A write-in campaign was then begun in Reed's behalf.

In the city council race, the two incumbents, R.L. Cate and Jack Floodas were re-elected.

Cate lead all candidates with 245 votes, followed by Floodas with 221. Others on the ballot were Jim Mayo with 205 votes, Carol Cox with 143 and Tim Buchanan with 78.

A total of 467 ballots were cast in the election.

Our HOWE PUBLIC LIBRARY needs your support. Make plans now to attend. Parents help your children develop their talents to help make our night a successful one.

If you have any suggestions we would appreciate them. Either call one of the Library Board or FRIENDS Board members or write the Howe Public Library, Box 335, Howe.

Candidates' Campaign Reports Filed

Texas Municipal Election Law requires city candidates who receive contributions or spend money on their campaign to file a report with the City Hall on certain dates during the election campaign. These reports are open record and may be viewed by the public.

The latest report was filed seven days before the election. According to the reports filed in Howe, the following candidates list contributions and/or expenditures.

J.W. Reed received $299.73 from various persons and spent $197.65.

R.L. Cate received $91.97 in contributions and spent $91.97.

Jack Floodas received $156.25 in contributions and spent $134.25.

Jim Mayo received $28.40 and spent $3.00.

Carol Cox spent $30.98.

Jack Berry spent $42.99.

Another report is due 30 days after the election. Candidates who do not receive contributions or spend any money on the campaign are not required to file a report.

Howe's that...

PEOPLE WHO HAVE IT ALL TOGETHER - don't always have it all together. Before you envy someone else, maybe you should try walking in his shoes for a while. It might not be a bed of roses after all.

Your attitude will determine how satisfied you are with what life has given you. Don't bemoan the fact that life may have handed you a lemon. Do you think you are the only one to ever get a lemon. You're not. Most people (rich or poor, unknown or famous) have their share of problems -- lemons if you will. If you swallow that lemon whole, you are bound to go around with a sour look and attitude. But by adding a little sugar, water, and ice cubes - Lemonade!

Instead of sitting around wishing you were rich or famous and saying "if only..." -- why not make the best of what you have. In fact you might try a little and make it better than best. And if you need some help, remember the One who created the world. He is always ready to listen when you need someone.

RAMBLINGS - If you like romance, adventure and comedy, you'll like Romancing The Stone (a movie now showing at the Plitt Plaza in Sherman). The movie is in the tradition of the hit movie, Raiders of the Lost Ark. (But with only one snake instead of thousands!). The movie is rated PG - it has a few vulgar expressions and some violence. The emphasis of the movie is on having fun and it is a movie that I found so entertaining I did not want it to end.

Another restaurant has opened in Sherman on what some people call "restaurant Row" (Hwy. 75 from Gibson's to SherDen Mall). Hoots (across from Gibson's) will be featuring family meals and they have banquet and meeting rooms too. The manager of the restaurant is Pete Howe who lives in Sherman. I understand that he opened at bank account at the Howe State Bank because of his last name. Someone in the bank asked him if his dad owned the bank.

Our weather has been wet a lot lately. Seems like it rains about every day or two. (Maybe it's April showers time!) On Tuesday of this week we had some thunder showers which included some small pea-sized hail. I have noticed lots of tulips are beginning to pop up and blue bonnets too. Spring time is certainly a lovely time of year -- all the colors of flowers are especially brilliant in the bright sunlight.

CAP Hold Exercise

Members of the Texoma Composite Squadron, Civil Air Patrol, and members from other units from the north Texas area took part in a nation-wide exercise held Sunday at Grayson County Airport.

Col. Mark Moore and Col. Don Contwell of the Air Force, members of the Disaster Relief Evaluations Communications Operations Team, were on hand for the day's activities.

Sign in was 0700 Sunday with 32 senior members, 23 cadets, three aircraft, 18 vehicles, one communications trailer and an emergency medical unit.

The Texoma Composite Squadron was the host to other teams in this section as the state of Texas was divided into sections for the exercise. All the Civil Air Patrol units of the United States Air Force in the country were called in on this exercise.

session. Personnel reported to their assigned duties. The entire exercise was directed from Wing Headquarters by sideband radio.

Exercises included first aid and other emergencies. Three aircraft searched different areas to access simulated damage. One aircraft, upon its return, was supposedly contaminated by radiation. Radiological teams were alerted and went to the decontamination area. The plane and crew were checked for radiation and when through the decontamination process.

At the end of the exercise Col. Moore and Col. Contwell gave part of their evaluation saying the exercise as a whole looked very good. A full report will be given later on the test of how well the CAP groups could handle the emergency situations.

Science Fair

The Howe Middle School Science Fair will be Tuesday, April 17, at 6:30 p.m. in the middle school gym. The students are hard at work on their projects. Their efforts are being directed by the Science teachers, Mr. Reinhard, Mrs. Rice, and Mrs. King.

Election Results

In the April 7 elections a total of 245 ballots were cast in the city council election and a total of 387 ballots were cast for the school board. (Thirty-five people voted at the Dorchester polling place and 352 voted in Howe.)

City Council
In the Howe City Council election all three candidates on the ballot were elected to office. Incumbents Jim Huckaby and Sam Haigis received 225 and 215 votes respectively. Carol Cox won election with 163 votes.

A total of 53 write-in votes were also cast. R.L. Cate, councilman who did not seek re-election, received the most write-ins - 16 votes. Others receiving more than one vote were Buford Sauceman (2), Jack Floodas (4), Clementine

Johnson (2), J.W. Reed (3), Stan Pullum (4), Elmer Schenk (2), Overton Jay (3), Jimmy Bearden (2), and Norma Wallace (2). Receiving one vote each were Scott Taylor, Gary Engel, Connie Clark, Don Gilstrap, Cindy Lankford, Vincent Hash, O.B. Powers, Keith Gary, Michael Jackson, Glenn Fulton, Tim Buchanan, Don Peacock, and J.D. Finney.

School Board
In the Howe School Board election incumbent Jimmy Bearden was re-elected with 250 votes. Glenn Fulton, a former school board member, was also elected to the board. His vote total was 203. The three unsuccessful candidates were Bill Smith with 140, Dan Coffey with 96, and Vincent Hash with 50.

Council Meets

The Howe City Council met Monday, April 9, at 7 p.m. to verify the election results. Jim Huckaby, Sam Haigis, and Carol Cox were declared the winners and the oath of office was administered to each. Councilman Duward Mills was elected mayor pro tem

School Board Meets

The Howe School Board met at 7 p.m. Monday, April 9, to canvass the election and declare the winners. A plaque in recognition of his six years of service on the school board was presented to David Catching who did not seek re-election.

Officers elected for the school board are President Jim Bearden, Vice President Alton Norman, and Secretary Carolyn Cavender.

In the regular board meeting which began at 7:30 student transfers for 1984-85 were approved. The board decided to offer the remaining Dorchester school property for bids.

The board accepted the resignation of Middle School secretary Kay McDaniel who is moving from Howe.

The board also had a lengthy discussion of the impact of the new curriculum, H. Ross Perot's ideas and the UIL reforms. The board also discussed a detailed report of the buildings and the transportation fleet.

Bike-A-Thon Set

Bike-a-thon chairman Wes Lankford is asking area residents to participate in the St. Jude Children's Research Hospital "Wheels-for-Life" Bike-a-thon to be held Saturday, April 28, at the high school parking lot.

Volunteer workers and riders are needed for the Bike-a-thon to raise funds for the world-famous research center and its battle against childhood cancer and other catastrophic childhood diseases.

Wes said this year's ride is being dedicated to Terry, a leukemia patient at St. Jude. "By riding for Terry, we'll really be helping all stricken children since research is the only way these illnesses can be conquered," Wes said.

"We're looking for people who will contribute some of their time and energy to help children live. We really need bike riders, since they are the ones who can make this Bike-a-thon successful."

In the Bike-a-thon, riders enlist sponsors who donate a sum for each mile completed. Riders who raise $25 will receive a St. Jude t-shirt, and those raising $75 will also receive a barrel tote bag. Sponsor forms are available at Howe Middle School, Howe Elementary School and 1026 Swanner.

"You can put your muscles to work for a child's life in this Bike-a-thon," Wes said. "We need every bike and every rider."

Interested persons can contact Wes Lankford at 1026 Swanner, 532-6364.

St. Jude Hospital was founded by entertainer Danny Thomas, and operates primarily from public contributions.

Howe's that...

EVERYONE IS BUSY - trying to raise a family, make a living, etc. Sometimes it seems no one wants to get involved in serving the community. The May 4 city election has drawn little response. Robert Trapp is the only candidate for council with two vacancies to be filled. Only one person has declared himself a write-in candidate for the position of mayor, Price Hanning. If there are others in town who wish to be considered a write-in candidate for either mayor or council, please contact the ENTERPRISE. We will let folks know how you feel.

The community of Howe has a lot to offer residents. Improvements have been made over the years. But we need people who are willing to help plan and work for Howe's future. We don't want to be just a suburb of Sherman.

Each town and community is different. Over the years Howe's volunteer groups have done much to help our community grow and have services that many towns our size or even larger aren't able to get - a library, track, etc. We also have an excellent volunteer fire department. Our school strives to educate all area children to meet their highest potential. These are a few of the things that make Howe a good place to live.

Surely there are folks reading this who want to be a part of

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Mrs. Wood, a resident of Howe, recently died at the age of 46. Three of her children are still school age.)

Dear Friends (All Howe Residents),
After four years on your city council and much prayerful consideration, I have decided not to seek re-election for city council on May 4.

My feelings and emotions are very mixed at this writing. I have great respect for our mayor, fellow council members, P&Z board members, Parks & Recreation board members, city employees, police and fire department. It has been my pleasure and privilege to have worked with such qualified, concerned, and caring people. At the same time I feel the need to re-route my energies and spend more time doing the Lord's work and volunteer work.

The city and community of Howe has been my home for 14 1/2 years. More importantly, I have grown to love and appreciate ALL of you. There will always be a SPECIAL place in my heart for each of you. My prayers will always be that God prosper the community with wise, compassionate and understanding leaders as well as cooperative residents.

I would like to thank each of you for the opportunity to have served this fine community. I'd also like to thank my girls, Shelly and Susan, who have been my strength and support. Without their love, patience and prayers, all my efforts would have been in vain.

It is my sincere wish that each of you continue to support and back your elected officials, the police and fire department; and show your new council members the same gracious and loving support you've shown me in the past years.

I thank ALL of you and wish you Joy, Peace and Love today and always.

With appreciation and great respect, I am, yours truly,
Phyllis Stoffregen,
Councilwoman

New Gift Shop Opens In Howe

If you are looking a gift that is interesting or different, drop by the Country Gift Gallery, Howe's newest gift shop located on the west end of Mitchell's Shopping Center (former location of Ruthie's Bridal Boutique).

Nyala Williams, owner, of the shop, has a large selection of gifts of all types from ceramics to wood to T-shirts and jewelry and more. She has a group of air freshener dolls (air freshener disguised as pigs, cats, cows, rabbits, etc.). She has T-shirts and tuxedo shirts (with spin art) along with ceramic necklaces. Hairbows, earrings, wall hangings, wreaths, cookie jars, potato and onion bins, toy boxes and chairs, and carousel animals are also for sale.

For busy parents who need to bring their children along, there is a unique "children only" play area for the youngsters to color and play while the parents shop. And each "good child" will receive a sucker and balloon when they leave.

Nyala has lived in Howe since 1964. Her husband, Bruce from Denison, works for Oscar Mayer. They have two daughters, Laynie, 15, and Amelia, 8.

The Country Gift Gallery is open Tuesday through Friday, 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. and Saturdays, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Phone number is 532-6886.

Free Seminar Set On Parenting

"Three Ways To Parent" will be held Saturday, April 20, from 9 a.m. to noon at the Grayson County College Bible Chair. The free seminar will deal with raising children ages three months to 10 years.

Special Election Costs

by Dale Rideout

An estimated budget for the Special Election on May 4 was presented to commissioners in the Monday, April 8, meeting. Commissioners approved the budget of $30,913 as presented by Sara Jackson. This special election is to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Curt Seidlits. Ron Clark is the Republican candidate and Rogers Sanders is running on the Democratic ticket. This election is to fill the unexpired term only and both candidates must run again in November for the new term.

Pauline Murray of Denison was chosen to fill a spot on the Salary Grievance Committee. One of the earlier chosen committee members has not responded, so another name had to be drawn.

Commissioners accepted the monthly reports from the Tax

Assessor-Collector, County Treasurer, Litter Control Officer, Commissioners report on Roads & Bridges and the Revenues, Expenditures and Accounts report.

In other actions the commissioners:

*Approved a variance to minimum lot size on property in Preston Shores.

*Approved changing the polling site for precinct 18 from Hyde Park Presbyterian Church to Hyde Park Elementary School for the special election, May 4, 1996.

*Approved corrections to the fixed asset inventory.

*Accepted a petition of land owners in precinct 2 to close a road in the Ambrose area.

*Approved payment of the current bills.

They adjourned the meeting until April 15 at 10 a.m.

Howe Teen Drowns In Local Pond

Howe High School student Michael Bradford, 16, drowned in a private pond in Howe Monday, April 8.

Bradford and a friend were fishing and boating on a pond on the property of Jack Harwell on Duke Street during their school holiday. Around noon the boat capsized into the 50-degree water. Bradford's friend was able to swim to the shore and call for help.

Bradford, evidently swimming against the wind, was unable to reach shore and was pulled down into the pond.

According to Grayson County Sheriff Deputy Dusty Hunt, neither boy was wearing a life jacket.

Responding to the scene were Howe Volunteer Fire Dept. first responders, Howe Police, Grayson County Sheriff's deputies and Texas Parks & Wildlife personnel.

At 2:20 p.m. Bradford's body was recovered from the 12-foot deep pond, approximately 15 feet from shore.

On Tuesday morning, Howe High School Principal Randy Hancock and other HISD staff members counseled with teachers and students concerning the loss. Hancock noted that it is always a trying time when a young person is lost in an accident.

Texans Declare War On Trash

It's an all-out war against litter: on Saturday, April 13 - 130,000 Adopt-a-Highway and Keep Texas Beautiful volunteers will lash out against litter, cleaning state and county roads, city streets and parks in the 11th annual "Great Texas Trash-Off." Part of the Texas Department of Transportation's (TxDOT), the "Don't Mess With Texas" anti-litter campaign's Trash-Off is one of the nation's largest one-day cleanups.

Twenty-six Adopt-a-Highway groups in Grayson County will rid state roads of litter, while Keep Texas Beautiful groups around the state spruce up city streets, county roads and parks. Statewide, Adopt-a-Highway groups expect to pick up more than 7 million gallons of litter.

According to Stacy Richardson, Adopt-a-Highway coordinator for the Paris District of TxDOT which includes Grayson County, the combined efforts of the Great Texas Trash-Off, Don't Mess With Texas and Adopt-a-Highway have changed behavior about littering and reduced the amount of litter on Texas roads.

"Awareness of TxDOT's anti-litter programs is very high in the state, and we've made great strides in reducing roadside litter," she said. "The Great Texas Trash-Off is one single day on which we hope to see the whole state cleaner for the traveling public. Our hope is that

Expo '96 Focuses On Texoma Senior Citizens

A major Texoma consumer group, larger than the entire population of the city of Sherman, will be the focus of attention on Friday, April 19. A special day-long event, Expo '96 has been planned with the mature market in mind; i.e. consumers 55 years of age and older.

The event will include two nationally recognized celebrities, a fundraising walk-a-thon, and the presentation of the 1996 Texoma Senior Hall of Fame Award.

The day will begin at 7:30 a.m. in the center court of Sher-Den Mall with the "Have A Heart Walk-a-thon" benefiting the RSVP program, Elder Watch, and other Texoma Senior Citizen programs. Registration fee is $2 and walkers must collect a minimum of $8 from sponsors. There is no age requirement to participate in this event.

The main event will kick off in the Sher-Den Mall beginning at 9 a.m. with the Senior Expo Exhibit Hall Grand Opening. Over 150 exhibitors will be on hand to demonstrate a variety of products and services available in the Texoma Region focused on the mature market. There is no entrance fee for the main event.

At 10:30 a.m. Texas Attorney General Dan Morales will address the issues of "Consumer Awareness" and "Frauds and Scams." At 11:30 a.m. off-stage in the food court, J.C. Penney will present their "Easy Dressing Fashion Show." A variety of local food vendors will also be located in the food court with meals available for $2 each.

Entertaining on stage at noon will be the Dallas Tap Dazzlers. With an average age of 60, this exciting group of jazz-tap dancers has performed over 400 times at many events.

At 1 p.m. a special ceremony will recognize the induction of the sixth honoree into the Texoma Senior Hall of Fame and at 1:15 p.m. Former First Lady Rosalynn Carter will take the stage to share her experiences as a caregiver. After her speech she will be available to sign copies of her book, Helping Yourself Help Others: A Book for Caregivers, which will be available for sale at Expo '96.

For more information, contact the Area Agency on Aging of Texoma at 903-813-3581 or 1-800-677-8264.

SNOW! IN TEXAS! IN APRIL?!

My daughter Jamie who lives in Mt. Pleasant told me about a trip her family made to Abilene last Friday. They had not watched the weather report and were surprised to arrive in Abilene wearing light jackets to find it snowing. By the time they left, Abilene had over 8 inches of snow.

They wrapped Caleb, who just turned one, in a blanket to keep him warm, but he kept trying to get his head out so he could see the snow.

Jamie who attends a Friday class at Abilene Christian University said one of her classmates had a sunburn from the nice weather just two days earlier. Our Texas weather sure has been something these past few months!!!

Friday night, Nanny and Papa got to babysit with two of our grandchildren. Christian, 5, and Dominique, almost 2, came over for a few hours. Christian has several card games (Old Maid, Crazy Apes, Colors & Shapes, etc.) and he wanted to play them all. And Dominique wanted to play too. So we played cards for a while.

Dominique also wanted to read books and Papa read to her while I played cards with Christian. Then after a bit, we all colored pictures. In addition it was "TGIF" on Channel 8 and we watched the family shows such as "Family Matters" and "Muppets Tonight."

Dominique is at the age where she wants to do everything and say everything her brother does and says. She also repeats the words as she is read to.

Last week when we called San Antonio and talked to Jordan, 5, he decided that we wanted to also talk to "Pokey" - his puppy. So he put the phone down near Pokey and told her to talk to us. Amber was asleep that day. But that worked out okay because this Sunday when we called Jordan was asleep and we got to talk to Amber about what she got for Easter.

ATTENTION CANDIDATES for Howe, Gunter and Dorchester city and school elections: The Howe Enterprise would like to print a statement from you concerning your candidacy for office. There is no charge for printing these statements. We need biographical information and a brief statement on why you are running for office or what you would like to do for the city or school. These articles will be run in either the April 25 or May 2 issue of the paper in order to give voters a chance to read them before voting. Deadline for submitting your statement is Friday, April 19 at 3 p.m. If you would like more information, please call 532-6012.

Howe's That...

by Lana Rideout

PARENTS AND GRANDPARENTS are always proud to see their children and grandchildren perform. Also many members of the community enjoy seeing the children and grandchildren of their friends as they excel.

In Howe (and in Grayson County), we are lucky to have a lot of folks who support the various programs and activities of the youth of our community. You often see large groups attending athletic events, music programs, plays, livestock shows, etc. in order to support the youngsters involved.

Last week I got to watch my granddaughter Amber as she performed with classmates in the play, "A Needle Fights For Freedom".

Also on Sunday night at church my grandson, Christian participated in leadership training activities as he led a song (his first time with a large audience) and participated as one of the main characters in a puppet play.

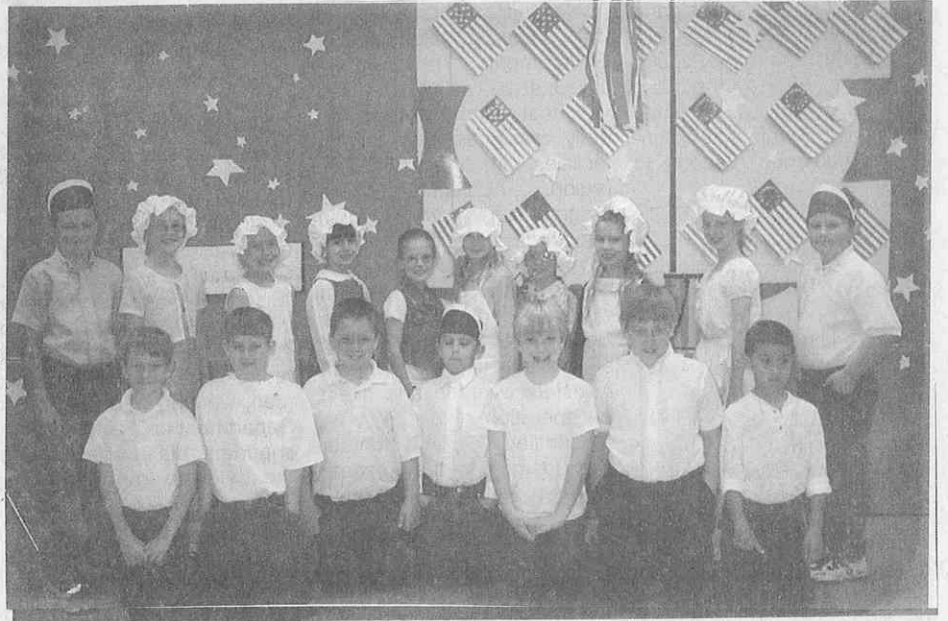

For several weeks I have been printing photos of high school band members who are going to state competition in solos and/or ensembles. And at this time of year there are many student accomplishments found in the pages of this paper. Most of those students are the children and grandchildren of friends. I am just as proud of their accomplishments as if they were my family.

Also you will find in the pages of the Texoma Enterprise, stories about the accomplishments of those youth who live in Tioga, Gunter, Tom Bean, Savoy and other places.

These students need to be recognized for their accomplishments. If you know of someone who needs to be recognized, please let me know. Call 532-6012 or e-mail your information to howeenterprise@texoma.net

Happiness

"Happiness lies in the joy of achievement and the thrill of creative effort." Franklin Roosevelt ***

A Needle Fights For Freedom

Mrs. Chumbley's 2nd grade class recently presented the play, "A Needle Fights For Freedom" to grades K-2 and parents.

This is the story of Betsy Ross creating our first U.S. flag. Prior to the presentation of the play, the students had studied about the American Revolutionary War and the birth of our nations with the original 13 colonies. Also the student constructed both types of flags the first colonists used with 13 stars being displayed in the two different arrangements.

The class would like to thank all parents who took time out of their day to come so that the students could share knowledge gained during the study.

Three HISD Teachers To Retire

Three Howe ISD teachers are retiring at the end of this school year: Betty Chumbley, 2nd grade teacher; Margaret Troxtell, middle school math teacher; and Larry Macon, high school biology and chemistry teacher.

At their April 9 meeting, the school board also accepted the resignations of Amy Reed, first grade teacher, and Sally McCommon, 3rd grade teacher. The board employed Jasara Poet for the first grade position and Stacy Sisk for the third grade position. Both Poet and Sisk are recent graduates of Southeastern Oklahoma State University.

Most of the meeting was routine with the following actions being taken:

*Approval of 35 student transfers. Twenty-three of these students will be paying the $1000 annual tuition. Ten of the transfers are children of HISD employees and two are grandfathered (their was in the HISD system before the change of policy concerning transfers.)

*Approval of Local Policy Update 65 with changes that reflect changes in state and federal law. According to Supt. Beryl Sears, there are no major changes from this update.

*Approval of a waiver to use early release days for the next three years for staff development on technology.

*Approval of a budget amendment putting a total of $300,000 in a construction account for the renovation of the former ag shop into the Howe Community Library. Of this amount, $100,000 comes from the Friends of the Library account with $90,000 from grants and $10,000 from local money raised by the Friends group. The renovation is projected to cost about $285,000. The renovation work began the first of this week and is expected to be completed by the first of August.

During the administrative reports, High School Principal Kevin Wilson told the board that he and a group of parents are working on organizing a post-graduation all-night party for the students to celebrate in a safe environment.

Howe's That

Howe has always been known as a community that helps each other out. The greatest things about small towns is that very aspect of tribalism so some degree. In last week's edition, you saw the front page of the house fire on Walnut Street. It was the home of Tim and Kathy Becker who moved to Howe nine years ago. While living here, they've never asked anyone for anything and now are in need of everything and are asking their neighbors for a little help. They have already met with Linda Wall and were able to get some clothes from Peggy's Porch. A storage facility in Van Alstyne has donated space for three months.

The Beckers lost everything from eating utensils to furniture. Their home insurance paid for the mortgage to be covered, but not the house to be demolished.

In the coming days, we will be able to tell you how you can help. In the meantime, you can donate money by depositing into the Howe Chamber of Commerce account at Independent Bank and all money deposited for the Becker family will go to them.

Palio's Pizza Cafe coming to Howe

The long awaited secret has been revealed. Palio's Pizza Cafe is to open in approximately a month and a half in Howe. Owner Harry Awad says that Howe's location the smallest town size of any of the 42 Palio's locations, but thinks the future of the city is bright.

Full story in the coming weeks.

Howe Middle School Band receive "ones" at UIL

The UIL Concert and Sight Reading contest took place in Anna last week and the Howe Middle School Band came up with aces among some pretty steep competition. The band prepares for three pieces which include a march and two contrasting styles off

 HOWE, TEXAS

This coming Saturday is Keep Howe Beautiful's "Trash-Off." They are asking citizens to come together to clean up Howe by picking up trash and they have special incentives for those who care to do so. There will be cash laying around on the ground along with gift certificates from local businesses. Those who actually do volunteer to pick up trash could actually make some money.

Volunteers of all ages are asked to meet at 10 am at the Howe Development Alliance building at 101 E. Haning St. KHB is asking volunteers to bring gloves and proper shoes. Trash bags will be provided.

Howe Athletic Booster Club seeking board members

The Howe Athletic Booster Club will be holding board member elections during the May meeting. Any interested party may run for any position they choose. Ken Honaker and Tammy Griffin plan to continue to serve as president and treasurer respectively, however, the positions of vice president and secretary will be open and need to be filled. Anyone interested in serving on the board please contact HABC President Ken Honaker. He can be reached at khonaker06@gmail.com.
